

The Pinnacle of Life – Chapter 1156

Alex said, “You can’t even imagine it! In the valley, there indeed is the former site of Ganoderma. But, it has been occupied by others, turning it into a drug den...”

He briefly recounted the matter.

Cheryl’s eyes widened as she listened. Her face was full of horror.

“So, you just spent twenty minutes wiping out the entire nest of the drug den?”

“Did you expect me to keep it until New Year? Let’s go and take a look. There are a few women inside, and they look quite pitiful!” Alex said, “Also, I didn’t find the plaque of Ganoderma even after searching around for it.”

That was the most important thing. Then, the two immediately went to Ganoderma. When they entered the entrance, they could hear Yasmyn’s heart shattering cries.

Cheryl was a doctor with benevolence, so she immediately rushed forward. When she saw the scene inside, she was instantly startled. She hurriedly turned around and covered Alex’s eyes. “Don’t look!”

Alex was a little speechless. “I’ve been inside before this already.”

Very quickly, Alex released all the women from the cages in the three dark rooms. However, he soon found that it was a wrong decision! Those women had long been corroded by the venom. They seemed to have become beasts the moment they were released, leaving only basic instinct inside them. They kept shouting “Give me the Fairy Medicine. Give me the Fairy medicine!” and then wrapped their arms around whoever they saw.

Well, the women were wearing nothing. They were smelly, dirty and sick too.

What should they do if they got infected by them?

Cheryl was so frightened that she hurriedly hid behind Alex.

Leaving with no choice, Alex could only shove them back into the cages.

Yasmyn had carried her younger sister in her arms, coming out of the cage at this time. She also had a lame leg, so it was very difficult for her to walk. She fell to the ground as soon as she stepped out of the iron cage.

Cheryl quickly stepped forward to help her.

Alex asked, "Miss Mack, where are you and your sister from?"

Yasmyn replied somewhat sadly, "Our hometown is Michigan."

After speaking, she suddenly knelt down in front of Alex. "Bro, can you please do me a favor? I really don't have the ability to take my sister out of the rainforest. Can you help me contact the police? There's no signal here, and I don't have a handphone."

"Get up first."

"Bro, please, promise me! I know that you all are good people. I won't get up if you don't agree to it!"

Cheryl's compassionate heart was moved by the display, so she helped Yasmyn off the ground and said, "Don't worry! Forget about contacting the police, we'll definitely bring you sisters back to Michigan. We're from California, and it's not that far from Michigan."

Alex instead said, "People from Divine Constabulary will come later! There are also two speedboats on the river below, so you can completely rest assured!"

“How did you both come here?” Cheryl asked.

Yasmyn looked even more depressed at the question.

“My sister just graduated from university in July this year. She came with a few classmates to Southwestern Province for a trip to celebrate their graduation. I didn’t expect her to disappear on the second night. We tried everything we could but we couldn’t find her.”

“Later, I came to Morro to search for her whereabouts. Finally, I found my sister’s whereabouts under the guidance of a kindhearted local.”

“But, when I first arrived here, I was found by their people and even detained here to work for them. I saw with my own eyes how those monsters tortured my sister, but I had no choice but to bear with it and wait for an opportunity. But...”

She was just a weak woman. Her leg had been broken as well. How many chances could she get?

If it weren’t for Alex coming here today, she probably would never have any chances for the rest of her life.

Bam!

Alex kicked the black and white haired man in the chest.

“A person like you simply deserves a thousand deaths for your sins! I’m asking you now, where’s Ganoderma’s plaque?”

The black and white haired man was stunned. “Why are you looking for Ganoderma’s plaque?”

“You don’t need to know about this.”

“I... I don't know.”

“You will know!” Alex beckoned toward Maiko Chiba. “I'll hand over this old thing to you! You can torture him however you like, as long as he doesn't die.”
