

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 245

Clarence Fawl grew impatient when the man forcefully tugged at his shirt. “What explanation do you want? Your daughter’s situation became worse because her body is weak. Everyone else is fine. Why is your daughter the only one experiencing those symptoms? You should ask yourself if you’ve been a good parent,” Clarence said.

“What did you say?” The man was enraged and wanted to hit Clarence. However, he knew how strict a place the hospital was. Hence, he suppressed his emotions.

However, his daughter’s situation was getting worse. Her body continued to experience spasms. Meanwhile, the monitoring device showed that her blood pressure had dropped below the safe level. An alarm went off and doctors immediately showed up for an emergency rescue.

Meanwhile, family members of other victims shook their heads and spoke. “It must have been because your daughter wasn’t treated by the legendary doctor yesterday. Otherwise, why are our family members fine? In fact, their conditions are rapidly improving. Your daughter, on the other hand, is experiencing difficulties. You shouldn’t have stopped him yesterday.”

“Yeah. That doctor is very capable. Rose Carson’s heart had stopped beating yesterday, but he managed to save Rose’s life.”

“Also, I heard that the old man who came with that doctor yesterday is the best doctor in the world from North Tokyo.”

The man had previously been suspicious of the legendary doctor yesterday. Now that he had heard what everyone said, he felt extremely regretful. His daughter was in critical condition and things didn’t look like they were getting any better.

Despite the doctors working hard to help her, it was to no avail.

Frantic, the man charged over to Clarence Fawl and started slapping him on both sides of his face repeatedly until his nose bled. "You're a murderer! If it weren't for you, why would I have refused the legendary doctor's help yesterday? It's your fault my daughter ended up like this. If anything happens to her, I'll kill you!" He screamed.

"Bullsh*t! That fellow from yesterday isn't even a doctor. I asked someone to do a background check on him. He isn't even medically trained. He's just a useless con artist. You've all been fooled by him," Clarence shouted.

Clarence was secretly jealous of Alex Rockefeller, and already convinced himself of Alex as a con artist from the beginning.

That's why he stayed up all night asking people to check on Alex. And Clarence did end up finding out quite a lot about Alex.

Clarence found out that Alex had been married long ago and that he wasn't Cheryl Coney's boyfriend. He was extremely happy to hear that. In fact, he even made a reservation for two in a high-end restaurant today. He was prepared to propose to Cheryl.

However, he didn't expect to be slapped by this darned patient's family member. It might affect his glossy image.

Meanwhile, Alex had just arrived at Cheryl's office.

To his surprise, she had also just arrived. In fact, she had very visible dark eye circles, and she seemed exhausted.

"Hey, did you stay up again last night?" Alex asked.

“Alex... Last night... Were you alright?” Cheryl froze when she saw him.

When Alex was leaving yesterday, Cheryl didn't care much. However, she felt bad after that. She was worried that she would be blamed for ruining Alex's marriage. Hence, she ended up suffering from insomnia thinking about such things.

Alex chuckled. “Did you stay up because you were worried about this? Don't worry. It's fine. But please don't pull a prank like that on me again. My life would really be at risk.”

Cheryl let out a sigh of relief, but she started feeling a little uncomfortable.

‘Dorothy Assex, aren't you rather easy to please?’ Cheryl thought to herself.

Alex picked up his phone and was prepared to leave.

He had to help Leanne Graves remove the parasite in her lower abdomen. He also needed to extract Priscilla Paytas' blood to be used as a medicinal primer. However, to find Priscilla Paytas, he needed Michelle Yowell's help.

However, a nurse suddenly came running in. “Dr. Coney, one of the patients is in a critical condition. We've tried to carry out an emergency rescue, but it looks like she won't be able to live much longer.”

Cheryl quickly ran out.

Alex's heart pounded. He figured that it was probably the woman who didn't receive his treatment last night. After thinking about it for a while, he decided to follow Cheryl.
