

The Pinnacle of Life – Chapter 0848

Just then, Chad's phone started ringing.

He looked at his phone screen and realized that it was a call from his uncle, Douglas Hunter. His heart dropped to his stomach.

Chad knew that Douglas was the actual general manager of Sunshine Co.. He only bluffed in front of Heather a while ago.

‘If Uncle is calling me now, does that mean this punk had actually called him?’

He took a glance at Nicholas, but didn't dare to not answer his uncle's call.

After picking it up, he said respectfully, “Uncle...”

Right after that, a loud and harsh scolding came from the other line. “Chad, you f*cking piece of shit! What are you trying to pull out there? Have you offended someone? You better kneel before Mr. Hudson and the people in front of you and beg for forgiveness so they would reconsider acquiring Sunshine Co.! If you don't, I'd break both your legs! You know I'm a man of my word!”

“U-Uncle, you... You're joking, right?”

“Who the f*ck has the time to joke around with you? Give me your location right now! I'll be there as fast as I possibly can!”

Chad was shocked. He knew his uncle's temper well it was true that he was just as cruel to family when he's mad.

‘If he said he'd break my legs, he'd actually do it.’

After Chad told him his location, Douglas hung up immediately.

Chad choked as he turned to look at Nicholas and Alex. He stuttered. “W-Who are you people?”

At that moment, Chloe was done being a mere spectator and spoke up. “Mr. Hunter, you may not know this, but the acquisition of Sunshine Co. has not been approved yet. There’s another corporation competing against you. But it seems that Sunshine Co. has no chance against them now.”

Heather was shocked. “Chloe, how did you know about this?”

Chloe relied. “Aunt, do you know where I’m currently working at?”

Heather had no idea and turned to look at her sister, Scarlett.

Scarlett said, “Chloe’s working in Lush Cosmetics.”

Heather’s mouth was agape. “Lush Cosmetics? Is it the Lush Cosmetics that had Zendaya in their commercials?”

Chloe nodded. “Yep!”

Heather’s eyes widened. “Really? But that’s Lush Cosmetics! A bottle of their cream sells for hundreds of thousands! You actually work there? Wait, but what does this have to do with Sunshine Co.?”

Chloe shook her head. “It does. Lush Cosmetics is the company that was hoping to acquire their company. The inspector of Sunshine Co. is my boyfriend. And this man... He’s Alex Rockefeller, my boss and the young director of Lush Cosmetics.”

The formal introduction shocked Heather and Chad to their core.

Scarlett and her husband were so shocked that they stood up as well, not knowing where to place their hands. They didn't expect their daughter's boss to attend her birthday celebration.

Twenty minutes later, a man rushed over hurriedly. Without hesitation, he slapped Chad across the face. "You bastard! Kneel down right now!"