

The Pinnacle of Life – Chapter 0879

“No... It’s impossible. How could this be?”

“You... Who the hell are you?” Seamus Owen looked at Holly Yates in astonishment. He couldn’t accept the fact that the female ghost servant, who he worked hard for a decade to raise, had been killed this easily. She didn’t even get to make a soruid.

Her soul vanished, leaving nothing behind.

Seamus had fed this ghost servant with his own blood and his own Yang energy. He had planned to turn her into a puppet in the future. In the end...

The changes had happened too quickly, and he didn’t even have time to feel remorseful.

Holly sneered. “God-like ability? Is that all you’ve got? You randomly captured a female ghost and claimed you have godly cultivation. In that case, wouldn’t all the god-like people in America be demanding a revolution? Such childish tricks might work on an idiot, but you’ll need to study for another ten thousand years if you want to fool us!”

“Most importantly, you actually wanted to use this gimmick to trick Maya and I to sleep with you. What are you thinking?” With that, Holly stepped forward fiercely and kicked Seamus.

“I’ll block that!” Seamus raised both his hands and yelled. A black aura diffused from his body.

Although he managed to block it, his body was still sent tumbling three meters away. He spat out a mouthful of blood.

Meanwhile, Holly felt righteous, and she was not going to show any mercy. She ran over and continued to attack Seamus.

Seamus was in a miserable state. The thing he relied on the most was actually that ghost servant. In terms of martial arts cultivation, he was not even as strong as the two banner wielders who were severely injured on the ground. But he ended up going against Holly. Not only was she a real cultivator, but she was also of the rare fire attribute.

Beings like ghost servants were most afraid of fire. Hence, the female ghost was instantly annihilated. Now, Seamus couldn't even escape when Holly went after him.

Wham!

Seamus was slapped on his face, and half of his face appeared to be burned.

After that, his middle energy core was blasted apart by Holly's brute force.

His middle energy core exploded.

Seamus fell onto the ground. He felt both shocked and afraid.

He knew that he had gotten himself into serious trouble this time. There was no way he could defeat this violent young lady. If this went on, he might be beaten to death.

How could he allow that to happen?

'I must escape right away! The middle energy core is my most important part of the energy core. It contains my Demon Arts. I must find someone to help me repair it immediately. Otherwise, my life is over!' Seamus thought to himself. His eyes were red with resentment. He hated Holly from the bottom of his heart

The place where he fell was right next to Carol Rockefeller.

When Seamus saw Holly lunging at him again, he forcefully flung out a handful of poisonous powder.

“Get back!” Alex Rockefeller shouted.

Alex yanked Holly away before activating the spiritual power in his body to create a protective barrier around himself and Holly, as well as everyone behind him.

Right then, Seamus grabbed Carol and forcefully slammed against the window before scurrying out.

Alex grunted coldly.

A thunderbolt essence exploded beneath his feet, and his body turned into a residual shadow that went after Seamus.

“D*mn. How is he so fast?”

Seamus was confident in his speed of escaping because he trained hard at it before. To his surprise, he was like a pile of turd when compared to Alex. Seeing that Alex would soon catch him, Seamus made up his mind and reached for a piece of pendant in front of his chest.

This pendant was a mystical tool, and it was a gift from his master.

Once the pendant was crushed, a red light was emitted from it. It surrounded Seamus and Carol. The next moment, Seamus’ speed was amplified significantly. He turned into a beam of red light and disappeared in front of Alex’s eyes.

Alex was stunned for a moment before he frowned tensely.
