

Triplets on SM 141

Chapter 141

Molly just realized how long his eyelashes were His lips were pale under his sharp nose, and it was looking rather enticing

Molly could feel her cheeks bum as she immediately looked away, afraid to continue staring

“His beauty is dangerous! Molly did not want to interrupt his work, but she started to feel conflicted when she looked at the food she had brought ove Suddenly, a voice rang behind her “What brings you here?”

Molly tumed and looked in the direction of Sean’s voice. “I brought the soup over for you, it’s for nourishment I figured that you didn’t eat much, so I brought some dessert over as well Eat some, don’t upset your gut ”

Sean sal there as his gaze fell on Molly

She did not look as disoriented as she was before, and she talked in a slightly formal manner again But still, it was a lot better than the way she talked to him when they first met. He looked away and his gaze fumed gentle when he saw the dishes next to her. Thank you.” Molly smiled and served him the food

Tony entered the study carefully after quietly pushing the door open He looked inside and walked in alter noticing tal Scin was not busy with work

“Excuse me, Miss Molly. Do you have any pills for migraines?” “For who?”

“My mom,” Tony replied immediately This was brought up during his call with his mother and Molly happened to be a skilled doctor, so he worked up luis courage to ask her for some medication.

“I do,” Molly answered Natly.

“Well then, is it for sale, Miss Molly?” Tony’s look was filled with anticipation

Though Molly was a doctor, Tony knew that she would not just accept any Gise. He had understood this fact when he begged her to treat Seui’s legs back then

However, he still could not help but asklier. After all, they had gotten rather close to each other these days “Of course. Since we’re close now, I’ll give you a 50% discount” Molly did not make it hard for him “Thank you, Dr. May! Thank you so much!” Tony thanked her gleefully. He did not expect Molly to be so easy-going, let alone give him a discount! But his joy did not last long as a chill ran down his spine. His heart immediately plummeted.

He turned around slowly and met Sean’s cold stare.

His ecstasy vanished in an instant, and he even felt a chill.

‘Why does the study feel so spooky today?’ ‘I don’t know, but I’m afraid to ask as well! Molly did not notice the weird tension and went back to get some medication for Tony.

"I'll be leaving now, boss. Just call for me when you need me." Tony was afraid to stay after Molly left, so he left the study with Molly.

Sean was speechless.

He found it a little unfair.

'Tony asked her for medication and she agreed to it easily. She even gave him a discount!' 'Why didn't I get such a treatment from her?'

11

Molly was oblivious to these. After she gave Tony the medication, she did not leave and went back to the study instead. "Take your time, I'll have a look around." Molly pointed at the wall full of books. 'Honestly, I'm intrigued.'

"Have Sean read all these books? There's a lot of them!" Molly wondered.

Other than the wall that was opposite the door, the other three walls were filled with books.

There were countless books, and they were all arranged neatly. Furthermore, Molly did not find any dust on any book. Everything was clean and tidy. She paced back and forth before stopping at one spot. She looked surprised as she said, "You read medical books as well?" Sean took a sip of the herbal soup as a surge of warmth flowed into his body. "Yeah, I read it when I have time to spare." Molly nodded. 'It's understandable, his legs are badly injured.' "Do you understand it?" Her eyes swept across the books while she asked. "Not really, but I can look it up." When Sean responded, Molly's gaze landed on a particular book on his shelf. "Oh my God!" Molly exclaimed as she wondered, 'This is an extremely rare book. I didn't expect Sean to own one!'

"What's wrong?" Sean asked from the other side of the room.

Molly's eyes sparkled as she stared at the book on the shelf. "Can I read these books?" Molly had been looking for that book for a very long time! "Of course. I can give it to you if you like it."

Chapter 142 "Never mind that." Molly did not want to own it.

Chapter 142

"Never mind that." Molly did not want to own it.

"The rich sure lives lavishly," she thought.

That medical book was extremely expensive. Even if Sean wanted to give it to her, she would not be able to accept it. "I'll just come here to read it when I'm free"

Besides, it did not matter where Molly read it. She had already found it anyway. Molly pulled out the book and carried it to the armchair next to the shelf to read. The book was printed clearly, and the material of the pages was smooth and pleasing to touch.

She was absorbed into the content of the book almost instantly, and she flipped the pages gently. She did not even dare to put in any force when she held the edge of the page as she did not want to wrinkle it.

Sean looked down as usual, busy with his work

They looked extremely focused when they went into their serious mode, but the whole picture of them looked strangely harmonious.

Unbeknownst to them, it was late at night. Tony went to knock on their door and disrupted the quietness in the room.

The two of them stared at Tony, and they looked slightly confused and... Upset? It was like Tony had disturbed them both.

Tony held the doorknob and cleared his throat awkwardly before telling them why he was there.

“Miss Molly, your kids are here since you’re not at home.” Molly was shocked

She was too absorbed in the book that she had almost forgotten about her children!

Just when she was closing the book, the door was pushed wide open. The triplets ran over to her and hugged her as they asked, “What are you doing here, mommy?”

Claudia yawned endlessly as she looked tired, but she still kept her eyes open as she wrapped her arms around her mother’s arm.

They were extremely curious about their daddy and mommy’s progress! So, they fought back their sleepiness and ran over. “I’m reading. There’s a rare book over here and turns out, Uncle Sean owns one. Mommy was too focused, so I forgot to go home.”

Molly explained as she looked at them, who went to look for her even when they were tired. It was endearing and hilarious at the same time, but Molly still had a fuzzy feeling in her heart. ‘What?! Reading?!’ The triplets immediately pulled a long face ‘We purposely gave you some alone time together and this is all you’ve done?!’ Ben was a little disappointed as he asked, “Did you have a good day today, mommy?” The triplets looked at Molly’s mother as they waited for her answer “It was pretty good,” Molly answered without hesitating as medical knowledge brought her joy. Claudia shook Molly’s arm to make Molly divert her attention to her before saying in a cute tone, “Then, what did you and Uncle Sean do?” Molly looked at her and pinched her chubby cheek “The usual, we ate and read.” Ben wanted to facepalm after listening to her response. ‘Isn’t this no progress at all? Can mommy be smarter and put her beauty to good use?!’ ‘She could’ve seduced daddy with her charms or something! Alex sighed to himself as well. Their amazing mother was a complete newbie when it came to love and relationships Molly obviously did not catch what the triplets were trying to express. “How was your day in the hospital?” Molly asked her kids. The triplets were immediately energized when they thought back about their day in the hospital. “Uncle Brycen gave us a lot of presents. It’s very cool and I love it!” “Claudia’s doll too, it’s really cute!” From their tone, it was evident that they liked Brycen. Molly smiled, “Yeah? That’s nice.” ‘Brycen sure has a way with kids,’ Molly wondered as she looked gloomy. ‘First, Sean. And now, Brycen too.’ ‘I am the one who raised these kiddos, not

Molly cursed in her head as she listened to the triplet’s chatter. She then urged them, “Alright, it’s getting late. It’s time for you to go home, take a shower, and go to bed.”

Sean's treatment was about to start as well. If they stayed longer, they would delay his sleep time.

The triplets were very obedient. They smiled as they bid Sean farewell when they left." Goodnight, Uncle Sean!"

While the triplets left, Molly turned and looked at Sean as she suggested, "Let's do it here, it's late."

Sean did not mind, so he nodded as a response. Molly got Tony to take her needle case as Sean got to the couch. Then, Molly bent forward and calmly rolled up Sean's pantlegs. She exposed a certain area on his legs and pulled out a needle from her needle case before jamming the needle into that point precisely. The treatment that night included a needle treatment and a massage, as usual. So, Sean and Molly worked together tacitly. Sean still looked uneasy. His lips were pursed, and his eyes fluttered strangely. Though his body still could not get used to it, he was taking it a lot better than before.

Half an hour later, the time was up. Molly pulled out the needles and closed her needle case before squatting next to Sean's legs. She started to massage his legs to improve his circulation. They were both focused on the treatment, so none of them noticed that someone came over downstairs.

"Mr. Anderson, Mrs. Anderson." The butler quickly opened the door to invite them in. The visitors were Ricky and Alice.

They had just left a business partner's banquet and happened to pass by. Alice remembered what Abigail said to them, so her curiosity about the woman in Sean's house only grew stronger.

Since they were nearby, they might as well pay Sean a visit. Alice looked at the empty living hall and asked, "Where's Sean?"

"Mr. Anderson is at his study."

Ricky and Alice would visit Terahis Grove from time to time, so the butler did not know the intention of their visit.

"It's inconvenient for him to come down, so we'll just see him upstairs ourselves."

The butler knew that Sean was in the middle of his treatment with Molly, but since they were Sean's parents, he did not stop them.

So, Ricky and Alice went upstairs. Alice was just thinking about ways to fish out details about that woman from Sean until she saw Ricky standing still at the study's door. She did not know what he saw. The door was slightly closed as Alice went to have a look curiously. That was the moment she saw what was happening through the gap... A young woman was almost leaning on Sean's legs as she stroked his thighs with her fair hands!

The woman's back was to the door, blocking their view. So, all Ricky and Alice could see was her arms moving as they fondled Sean's body! Alice was stupefied. At the very next second, they heard the woman, who was gluing herself onto their son, asking, "How does it feel?"

"Heavens! Oh my God, w-what are they doing?!" Alice quickly covered her eyes as she thought she had walked in on her son

Alice turned as she covered her face. She could not bear to continue watching

Ricky had looked away awkwardly as well.

At the same time, their actions had alerted the people in the room.

Molly remained quiet as she looked at the pair outside the door.

She had never seen them in her life.

The middle-aged man looked somewhat similar to Sean, but his presence was much stronger. He was fierce without even being angry.

The woman was graceful and in a good shape. Judging from her well-maintained skin, she did not look over 40 years old...

There was one thing that they shared, and that was them not wanting to see her together with Sean.

'They're probably Sean's parents,' Molly wondered.

Chapter 144

When Molly concluded this, she stopped and stood up.

'Why would his parents visit him at such an hour?'

Very quickly, she thought of the young lady who came to see Sean two days ago. "Dad, mom, why are you here?" Sean was stunned too. Both parties exchanged glances and Molly stood aside. That was the moment when Ricky and Alice realized that things were not what they expected after seeing what Molly was blocking them from seeing. Ricky pushed the door open, and their field of vision expanded. Alice was finally relieved. "Thank God, thank God!"

"Thank God it was just us overthinking.'

They were both from the upper-class society, so they had seen their fair share of grand occasions. Thus, they were able to put on a normal expression in an instant.

"This is?" Alice's focus was obviously on Molly. While she was asking Sean, her eyes were busy scanning Molly. Molly was extremely beautiful and there was a hint of coldness to her beauty, and Alice rarely found women to look this breathtakingly lovely. She instantly understood the reason that Abigail felt threatened by Molly. "This is Dr. May, a doctor that I specifically hired. She had been treating me recently," Sean explained to his parents. 'Our son hired her personally.' Ricky and Alice let out a sigh of relief as they thought, 'Thank God she's not a random, messed -up woman.'

Without their crazy assumptions, their attitude toward Molly became more respectful after knowing that she was a doctor who could treat their son's legs.

"Good evening," Molly said to them. She was polite but did not sound intimidated in the very least. She looked natural and her tone had the right amount of formality.

“Oh, Dr. May is treating you. Your father and I saw the two of you leaning very close to each other. What kind of treatment are you undergoing?” Alice smiled and asked as she brought up the incident where they misunderstood them.

Molly was a little confused when she heard her. ‘Were we that close?’

However, she still explained patiently, “Mr. Anderson hadn’t worked his legs for a long time, so the massage has to be incorporated into the treatment plan to improve his circulation and to prevent his muscles from shrinking.”

Ricky and Alice heard her explanation and realized that they had really misunderstood them, so they did not say anything further. Sean arched his brows as he sharply noticed that his parents’ ‘concern’ toward Molly was excessive. They were not such welcoming people. Straightforwardly, he said, “Why are you here? If it’s for nothing, I have a treatment going on.

He was asking them to leave. Molly looked down as she stared at the ground. Her expression remained the same as if she did not hear anything. Alice’s heart dropped. She was worried that Sean was angry, so she quickly said, “Nothing much. Your father and I just happened to pass by, so we figured we would come to see you.

Since you’re busy, we’ll make a move now.” Sean nodded as a response when she was done speaking. He stared at them quietly and watched as they turned. Suddenly, Alice turned back. She almost forgot the reason for her visit!

“By the way, son, Abigail’s birthday is in the next two days. Your father and I will attend, so you should come too.” Sean frowned and answered coldly, “I’m busy that day. We’ll see how it goes.” Alice wanted to respond, but Sean put his hand on hers and gestured outside with his eyes, signaling her to leave. She looked at Molly and figured that it was best to not bring up certain things in front of an outsider. Furthermore, she knew how stubborn her son was too. ‘Bah, I’ll take about this next time.’

Chapter 145

After Ricky and Alice left, Molly proceeded with the treatment. She just took his parents’ arrival as a small interlude

Compared to Alice’s words, Molly was more bothered by Sean attending the banquet. “Don’t forget what I told you. Sure, you can join the banquet, but you can’t drink alcohol. If you do and make all the past treatments go to waste, you can get another doctor.”

She was not a tolerable person. If her patient did not listen to her, she could not do anything to help them as well.

Sean remembered Molly had said the same thing last time, so he said seriously, “Don’t worry, Dr. May. I won’t join the banquet, so I won’t even touch any alcohol!”

“Hopefully.” Molly looked at him, but she did not sound like she believed him.

When she was done with the massage, it was time for Sean to soak in his medicated bath. Molly handed it over to Tony and went back home. When she got home, she realized that Grandpa Dave and the triplets had all gone to sleep. Her gaze then fell on the shelf.

Placed on the shelf were a few more figurines.

Molly smiled as she thought, 'They really brought quite a number of those back. I hope they didn't take all of Brycen's collection.' She arranged them neatly before going upstairs to sleep. The next morning, the triplets went for a morning walk with Grandpa Dave and Sean, as per usual. When they got back, Molly called out to them.

"We're here for quite some time already, and you've all been staying at home for a long time. I know you're smart, but you still have to study. Studying makes people smarter.

"Mommy is an adult, but I've never stopped studying medicine. That's why mommy decided to enroll you all into programs.

"You'll be attending skill training classes."

Molly wanted to enroll them in class, but she was democratic. "You have the right to choose, but you can't object to this." She handed them their right to choose.

She knew how bright her kids were. For that exact reason, she could not let their gift go to Waste

The triplets were bombed by this news, but they were not surprised. Without the slightest hesitation, Alex said, "I like Math Olympiad, chess, and martial arts." He was rather interested in three of these.

Ben's interest was similar to Alex's. "I like robotics class, horseback riding, and fencing."

He wanted his very own robot!

Both Alex and Ben had their own interests, so Claudia thought about it as she rested her chubby cheek on her round fists. "I like art, calligraphy, and piano," she answered nicely.

"Can I learn with Alex and Ben?"

"Sure, mommy will note this down and enroll you. But... you all have to learn Math Olympiad, art, piano, and calligraphy. Horseback riding, fencing, and martial arts are just a hobby. It can't strengthen your knowledge. Since we're back in Northfolk, you have to learn more words!

As a mother, Molly had it easy as the triplets had their own way of thinking. However, she had to be their guide. She could not let them have their way all the time.

The triplets obviously agreed with Molly.

Next to them was Tony, and he was stupefied.

"That's it? You really do have a mind of your own, don't you?" He was in disbelief as he looked at Molly.

'They're still young. Shouldn't Molly, as a mother, arrange their classes for them?' Tony did not know, but this way of communication was the norm in their household. The triplets had gotten used to communicating with Molly like that as well, so they did not understand Tony's surprise

“Of course, we’re not 3-year-olds anymore. We have to have our own judgment. Besides, we can’t give up once we start our training,” Alex said to Tony seriously.

Chapter 146

Tony sighed. “Even if you’re not 3-year-olds, you’re still five. Are kids nowadays so dope?” Standing before them, Tony was even embarrassed to say that he was a top scorer in an elite school.

No matter how smart he was, he had never made his own decisions when he was 5 years old.

The triplet’s mature words made Grandpa Dave very happy. “Your mommy is right. We can’t give up. You’re all good kids.” He had watched all of his grandchildren growing up, but none of them had made him as gratified as the triplets did.

Sean was next to them, but no one knew what he was thinking. When Molly confirmed what her kids were about to study, he voiced out.

“If the kids want to learn Math Olympiad and calligraphy, I have a recommendation.” He rarely took the initiative to help with such matters.

He was sharing his connections with Molly.

However, it was nothing strange to Tony anymore.

He knew how much Sean liked the triplets.

Besides, who would not like such obedient, bright, and adorable kids? “Yeah! My boss knows a guy,” Tony chimed in.

“My boss was a student of that professor as well. That old man is a literature God! He used to be a professor at Julson University. He’s now retired and living at home. Many people from Julson wanted to learn from him, but they can’t even contact him.”

Tony did not forget to commend that professor. “Miss Molly, the professor my boss is recommending to you will never let you down.” As Molly was listening to Tony, she was already very shocked when she heard him mention “Julson University”.

That was a prestigious school, and it was the top local university. Furthermore, it had a name for itself internationally as well. For the professor to work there, it was evident that he was extremely skilled Besides, Sean was not an average person. If he got the professor to teach him, it only meant that the professor was the best of the best.

“Thank you very much, then, Mr. Anderson.” Molly naturally did not object as she figured that her kids could get a better education.

The triplets grinned widely. They exchanged looks and immediately knew what each other was thinking.

‘Daddy’s teacher will be teaching us, so we can experience daddy’s childhood when he was studying!’

“Thank you, Uncle Sean!” Ben leaped over to Sean and pecked him on the cheek. “I want to thank Uncle Sean too!!” Claudia exclaimed. She did not want to be outdone, so she ran to Sean’s other cheek and kissed him happily. "We will be hard working and win you, Uncle Sean!" Alex was more grounded than the both of them. He did not fly to Sean as they did, but the joy on his face could not be hidden.

"Good luck!" Sean encouraged Alex as he stroked his head.

Molly gladly called them all for breakfast. After their breakfast, Sean was about to head back to his place to work, but he did not forget what he promised Molly and her kids.

When he had time to spare, he made a call.

The person answered in an instant.

He was the professor who used to teach Sean.

"Yeah, I'm hoping you could teach a few students." Sean immediately cut to the chase after greeting him. An old, carefree voice echoed from the other end of the phone. "You only call me when you need me, kid. You disappear when you're busy, and when you contact me, you have a favor for me."

From the professor's tone, it was obvious that he was very close with Sean.

Chapter 148

The air tensed up in the room.

Alice's eyes twitched; she was not having it. She raised her chin and stared at her son, who was a lot taller than her. Suddenly, her heart was filled with sadness.

'He's right. Standing in front of me is no longer the boy that I have to be worried about.' She looked at her son's cold expression and her heart tightened. She was feeling a lot of things, but most importantly, she was just worried. What mother would not wish the best for their child? Alice did not want to argue with her son as well, so she sighed and stared at him. She could only give in. "I don't want to force you... But you should consider some time, okay? I just want you to be happy."

'My son is extremely outstanding, so I just want him to have the best partner. Why can't he understand?'

Sean loosened his clenched fists.

His expression was not as cold as it was before, and he looked askance at Alice. "I'm happy

Right after he said that, Molly appeared at the door. She was there to call him over for dinner, but when she saw Alice in her formal dress there, she was shocked.

'What a coincidence. We meet again.'

Molly put on a natural expression as she greeted Alice politely, "Mrs. Anderson." Alice was in a beautiful gown and her makeup seemed like it was carefully done. She looked like she was going to attend a banquet, so Molly figured that she was going to Abigail's birthday. She remembered them bringing this up when she met Ricky and Alice a few days ago. When Alice saw Molly again, she paid more attention to Molly. She glanced at Molly a few times and said, "Dr. May, I didn't have the chance to chat with you since everything was too rushed the last time we met. Thank you for treating my son's legs."

'But still, do they have to meet so often for the treatment?'

"This doctor looks quite close with Sean. They don't look like they share a normal doctor patient relationship.'

Alice wondered.

Alice's tone was gentle, and her mannerism was soft. Even though she was in a luxurious gown, she did not give off a snobby or unapproachable vibe.

"No worries, it's my job." Molly rarely saw a wealthy family being so modest and humble, so answered.

she smiled faintly as she answered.

"Dr. May, what are the chances of my son's leg recovering? We've hired many doctors for him before, but they've all said that his chances of standing up are slim..." Alice's voice eventually died out as she spoke. She looked worried as she stared at Molly with concern. 'Seems like the Anderson family were pretty worried about Sean's legs as well.' Molly was unmoved. As a doctor, she had gone through countless scenarios and conversations like this.

She responded calmly, "It's indeed very slim, but I will try my best.".. ., 2014| Molly's tone was euphemistic. Alice did not ask any further questions as well. She had already gotten used to it after so many years, so she did not carry high hopes. "Thank you, Dr. May. By the way, I didn't catch your name. You look really young as well, are you from Northfolk?" She started talking to Molly in a soft tone and was always smiling. Her attitude was very welcoming, so Molly did not feel repelled by her. But Molly squinted at the sudden change of topic. Her tone remained the same as she answered, "My name is Molly May. "I'm from Northfolk, but I've been living and studying abroad previously. I just came back here recently."

Chapter 149

Molly rarely talked about herself, so she just briefly answered Alice now that Alice had asked her.

"Just came back?' Alice wondered.

Alice was immediately relieved. She knew what kind of person Sean was. So, she figured that there was nothing going on between them as they had just known each other for a short amount of time. Sean could sense his mother's intention from her questions, so he frowned and reminded his mother coldly, "Mom, it's about time. I'll get the driver to send you there." "It's okay, the driver is waiting downstairs." Alice waved. She obviously knew what her son was trying to say. Besides, the banquet was starting soon, so she did not want to be late. She looked at Molly again before she left.

"I'm putting my son in your hands now, Dr. May." She then smiled politely at Molly and left, though she was feeling rather defeated. 'Why does that rascal always chase me out in front of outsiders?' When Alice left, Molly asked, "Did your mother misunderstand us or something..." She was not stupid. She instantly knew Alice's motive when she heard her questions, so she was worried that she might make Alice misunderstand them further.

But Sean did not want her to be involved in this as he did not want to drag Molly down. So, he said flatly, "Not at all. You don't have to bother."

Molly did not think further as she did not have time for a relationship anyway. She nodded and said, "Come on, let's eat. I've prepared dinner already."

Sean nodded.

After some time, Alice arrived at the hotel where Abigail was having a birthday banquet. The floor of the hall was covered in a red carpet, and the security was at the entrance, checking the guests orderly to stop any suspicious people and look out for any harmful items.

The hotel was extravagant and loud.

There was a fountain in the middle of the hall, and a carved goddess sculpture was sitting in the middle of the fountain. It was delicate and realistic. The water rushed up from below and poured out from her palms in an endless cycle.

Abigail and her parents were ushering the guests at the entrance. When they saw Ricky and Alice, Abigail's eyes sparkled as she walked up to them with a smile.

Her makeup was soft and elegant, and she was wearing a plain white gown that brought out her enticing curves. The hem of her skirt would move as she walk, and she looked like a blooming flower on a lake with her graceful walk.

gen 149

However, she only saw Ricky and Alice in her anticipation-filled gaze. She started to panic as she subconsciously held her mother's hand tighter.

Her mother, Sarah, immediately understood her and squeezed her hand to console her. She then smiled and said, "It's an honor for the both of you to grace us with your presence." Sarah had a dignified manner, unlike Alice, who was gentle. "You're flattering us," Ricky and Alice responded with a smile. "Good evening, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson. I'm glad you can make it." Abigail greeted them politely and gracefully. Alice smiled at her as she nodded. She automatically compared Abigail with Molly in her head. 'If Dr. May dolled herself up, she'd be ten times better-looking than Abigail.' Molly's unique and sophisticated aura was hard to ignore. Then, the two families exchanged a few lines and Sarah found the right time to ask Alice, "Why didn't Sean come with you?" Abigail immediately looked up with anticipation. Even her palms were covered in sweat as she looked at them. Alice's expression remained the same, but she replied apologetically, "He is too busy with work. He puts his all into his work, so he couldn't make time to come with us."

Alice felt rather bad when Sean was mentioned.

A few days ago in the Anderson residence, she guaranteed Abigail affirmatively that she would bring Sean together with her.

Chapter 150

Ricky apologized as well, "We're really sorry. Hope you can understand."

Even Ricky apologized, so the Nolan family did not ask any further.

Abigail's anticipation turned to disappointment. She was dispirited, but she could not do anything about it. The light in her eyes died down, but she still smiled and said, "It's okay, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson. I'm already happy enough that you're able to come."

She looked down and smiled, but she could not. The corners of her lips were stiff as she looked down at her skirt and hurt silently.

Sarah wrapped her arm around her daughter when she saw that Abigail was sad. Of course, she was slightly unhappy with Sean.

'We are family friends with the Andersons, and Abigail had personally given him an invite. It's just to celebrate her birthday, but Sean still couldn't be bothered to show up.'

'How smug.'

Though she was complaining in her head, she did not show it on her face and was looking as modest as she was.

At the same time, in Terahis Grove. The triplets exchanged looks at the dinner table.

Ben asked hesitantly, "Uncle Sean, we saw a good-looking person coming out of your house. Who is she?"

The triplets widened their eyes with curiosity.

Sean thought of Alice, who just left his place, and figured that they might have seen his mother. So, he smiled and responded, "It's my mother." The triplets blinked. 'It's grandma!' they wondered elatedly. But they really could not tell! Alice looked really young! Alex smiled as she praised Alice, "Uncle Sean, your mother is really young!" "Yeah! She took really good care of her skin. I really couldn't tell! I thought she was just a pretty lady!" Claudia smiled with her eyes as she exclaimed excitedly.

Alex nodded as he was very happy as well.

They did not expect to see their grandma that day! Sean looked at the endearing triplets and smiled, "If she heard your praises, she'd be overjoyed." Even the cold and distant Sean Anderson could not withstand the triplet's charms, let alone someone else.

Molly was a little confused. 'Why are these three rascals so warm to the Anderson family? Is it because they're all good-looking?' 'Or are they just bored of me already?' Molly was rather jealous as she interrupted the excessively lively atmosphere and said in a slightly unhappy tone, "You shouldn't talk when you eat. Stop chattering and finish your food."

The triplets immediately kept quiet and looked down at their food as they gobbled it down. Sean looked at them and thought they did not like to talk while they were eating, so he stopped looking. After dinner.

Sean had some work to do.

“I’ll be going home now.” Sean then thanked Grandpa Dave after explaining. Normally, Sean and Grandpa Dave would play some chess after their meal. “Alright, go ahead.” Grandpa Dave watched as the butler pushed Sean out before looking at his granddaughter, who was cleaning the table. “Why did Mrs. Anderson come over?” Sean and Molly were neighbors, so it was easy for them to notice what was going on with one another

Needless to say, Grandpa Dave saw Alice as well, and she was wearing a formal outfit.

Though he was old, he was not foolish. He knew Alice was going to attend a banquet.

Molly paused whatever she was doing as she did not expect Grandpa Dave to notice these.
