

Triplets on SM 291

Chapter 291

The triplets were playing in the backyard while Molly drank tea with Grandpa Dave and Sean in the pavilion.

Molly made that tea personally. It could help with digestion and stomach problem. There was no better time to drink it after a meal.

“Thank you.” Sean took the cup from her.

Molly poured the tea into both of their cups before looking at Grandpa Dave to roughly tell him what happened in the hospital just now. she told him that she had decided to let Benjamin be her surgeon. She was only going to assist him, but it would greatly increase the surgery’s chances of success.

Grandpa Dave heard it, and he did not feel too good about it. The May family owed Molly way too much, and Lara had never done anything as Molly’s mother. He thought that Molly had given in a lot to do that.

‘She’s still a kind kid, after all.’

Grandpa Dave thought about that while looking at her sadly. He would sometimes wish that Molly could be less kind and sensible. He even wanted her to be more capricious and carefree since he would be there to clean up her mess anyway.

After that, Grandpa Dave patted the back of her hand, looking warm. “You’re a good kid,” he said.

Molly smiled faintly and bowed her head down to have a sip of her tea.

Sean was sitting there silently. He looked up and stared at Molly when he heard her talking about that before tightening his grip on the cup.

‘Ms. May is both virtuous and competent. Her mindset is way too mature for her age.’ That was his first time meeting a lady like her. Molly was professional at her job, not arrogant, patient, and very tolerant too. she was one in a million.

Sean shifted his gaze away and took a sip too. The tea that tasted slightly better filled his mouth, but he could only feel a hint of extreme sweetness in his heart. He was secretly moved.

The next day in the hospital.

Benjamin was in the ward. He looked at the May family and Lara, who was in bed before he said coldly, “The surgery only had a thirty percent of success rate, but it’s expected to be raised to sixty percent now.”

He was there to update them. That was a result of him studying with Molly and Caitlyn yesterday. It was not an easy task to raise the success rate by so much in a heart transplant surgery.

Nathan and Walter were delighted. Their eyes were locked on him when they asked, “Really?!”

They had heard about Dr. Forbes from the Forbes Family, but they did not know he was so capable.

Lara was the happiest in the room. She was thrilled and surprised. Her hands were shaking while she said excitedly, "Doctor, doctor! Is that true?"

She felt like she had been brought back to life after hearing Benjamin's news!

Benjamin looked at them and nodded. He continued to speak coldly as if he was not affected by their joy at all, "I would suggest going to another hospital if you weren't Molly's mom because I didn't want to save a person like you at all."

He was very straightforward. His words were like a sharp knife stabbing the three of them.

Walter's face darkened, and the happiness in his eyes went away. He held his feeling of displeasure back before he said with a frown, "Dr. Forbes, how could you say things like that?"

The old him would have taught this arrogant kid a lesson if Benjamin was not the second heir of the Forbes Family and his wife's current only hope.

Nathan was just as displeased as his father after hearing what Benjamin said.

"That's just how I talk." Benjamin always looked amicable, but a trace of arrogance could be seen on his face now. However, he was not trying to hide it in his gleaming eyes at all.

He ignored Walter and Nathan. Then, he looked at Lara and said coldly.

"Molly is the reason why we could raise the success rate of this surgery. Thank her if you're feeling grateful, otherwise, I wouldn't have cared about you at all. Also, Molly was the one who came up with the surgical plan. She's the reason why you can still be alive! However, you don't have to feel indebted to her. She's only doing this to return the favor to you for giving birth to her. None of you in the May family will have the right to ever bother her again after this."

Chapter 292

Benjamin did not feel like staying in this revolting ward for another second. He turned around and left right after he was done speaking, leaving the three of them shocked in the ward.

'Molly?'

'Did he say that Molly is the reason why we have a success rate of sixty percent?!'

Lara sat in a daze on the hospital bed. She was puzzled. She would never expect Molly to do that. To her, Molly was just a heartless and evil woman who wanted her to be dead more than everybody else.

Nathan had mixed feelings too. To him, it seemed like everything changed in one night. It turned out that the sister he grew up with was a wicked person who had done a lot of terrible things, but his biological sister, who was chased out of the family, turned out to be the one who was going to save his mother.

In the next couple of days, the hospital was doing everything it could to prepare for the surgery. They finished everything in advance according to Benjamin's wish.

Molly went to the hospital twice when the hospital was preparing for the surgery. However, she stopped going to the hospital after double-checking Benjamin's surgical plan and workflow.

In the meantime, the University of Northfolk published an announcement that caused a sensation and was broadcasted on the news right away.

That was because the announcement had something to do with the May family.

In broad outline, the university stated that Diana stole her roommate's artwork. Also, she misled the public intentionally, which affected the school's investigation on that matter. In the end, they expelled the wrong student, Bailey Myers.

So, the university would like to apologize, and they were willing to work with the relevant departments and Bailey to reinvestigate this matter. They also wanted to compensate Bailey and clear her name.

At the same time, the university also revoked Diana's graduation certificate.

That was everything written in the announcement. Numbers of news outlets took turns broadcasting the news, and they also criticized the capitalists for getting involved in education without holding back. Their actions caused a lot of normal students and parents to face unfair treatment.

Afterward, Bailey posted a status saying that she had already hired a lawyer and she would authorize the lawyer to be fully in charge of everything on Facebook. "The delayed justice is finally here." She said in the Facebook post.

Her post was shared by a lot of people, and it even reached a total number of shares of several hundred thousand!

As for Diana, she was also taken away by the relevant party.

Therefore, it could be seen how big a scene it caused. It made people wonder what secrets, wrath, and immoderation were hidden by those who looked glamorous on the outside.

Molly saw the news when she was having lunch, but she was not really bothered by it. Diana was just not worth Molly to feel anything for her.

Besides, she had been through too many difficulties and setbacks, she was wiser than a lot of people her age, and her mind was more mature and stable. Also, she also saw a lot of hypocrisy in humanity, which caused her to be aloof.

She was spitted on by millions, and what happened to her was known by almost the entire Northfolk.

Now, she did everything herself to get her to where she stood without anybody else's help.

As for Diana, she did something wrong to violate the law, so she had to be punished by the law. It was what she deserved, and there was nothing for her to feel sympathetic about.

Molly only felt bad for the innocent Bailey, she had to take everything on for no reason, and she also suffered mental illness because of it before going through a dark time in her life.

Grandpa Dave looked disdainful as he said scornfully, "How embarrassing."

He already said that he would not admit Diana as his granddaughter, but his son and daughter-in-law just would not listen to him. 'Look at what happened, she just embarrassed the entire family!'

Tony thought to himself after hearing what Grandpa Dave said. Then, he spoke, "I guess that Diana might have to spend at least two years in there."

The news got too much public attention. It was just difficult if somebody were to intervene and get her out of this!

Chapter 293

Nathan heard about how Molly was arrested, and he went to the police station right away.

The name of the heir of the Lu Family was still considered influential. Nathan got to meet with Diana a while after he arrived at the police station.

Molly had no other way to deny what she did after the university found out about what really happened. She became very depressed from the moment she was arrested until she arrived at the police station.

However, when the police told her that Nathan had come to see her, her eyes brightened. 3

"Bro, you're finally here to see me. You've got to help me. I can't go to prison. Bro, hire a lawyer for me. Use your connections. I can't go to jail...." Diana was really scared this time."

Her life would be ruined if she went to prison. There was no way she could be in the community anymore, even though she could return to the May family, she was so worried that she started babbling.

Nathan looked at Diana without saying anything. Suddenly, he heard a sound from the door behind him. The both of them turned around, and they saw Samson, Linda, and Caden.

Obviously, they heard about what happened to Diana, and they came to visit her.

They heard Diana's voice as soon as they came in, and they saw Nathan too.

Samson and Linda went through a difficult time to finally get their daughter back. They felt terrible at what happened to Diana as they begged Nathan for help.

"Mr. May, I'm glad that you're here to see Diana. Please, you've got to help her. Her future can't be ended like this."

Linda pushed Caden, who was standing beside her, away and said to Nathan, "Please just help her considering the fact that both of you grew up together."

Nathan did not really care about what they said. He just looked at Diana and asked flatly, "What do you want me to do?"

Diana thought that Nathan agreed to help her after hearing what he said. Her eyes brightened as she responded immediately, "Hire a lawyer for me. We can think about how to deal with the scandal later as long as I don't go to prison. Bro, you've got to think of a way to get me out of here now."

Molly was very happy and excited. Her words disappointed Nathan to his bones. 'She isn't repenting at all. 2

'Deal with the scandal later?

'What is she even thinking?

'Her actions almost caused somebody to lose her life, yet she doesn't feel the slightest remorse. She's even expecting to live a carefree life after getting out of here.'

Nathan was utterly disappointed in Diana.

"The best I can do is find a lawyer for you. I can't help you with the other things."

Nathan looked emotionless. He gave Diana a last look and said that before turning around to leave.

Diana fell back on the chair after seeing how unhesitant Nathan was while leaving.

'He isn't going to help me anymore. He's not bringing me to leave with him.'

"So what if I could win the lawsuit? My reputation is all gone. How am I going to live...?" Diana mumbled to herself.

Linda felt heartbroken after seeing her own daughter acting like that as she comforted her, "Diana, it's fine. Daddy and mommy are here. We'll be here with you."

"Haha... Hahaha..." Diana started laughing crazily as if she had heard something funny.

"Be with me? How is that going to help me at all?"

This is all Molly's fault. She's the reason why I was exposed! Molly May!" Diana was filled with hatred as she said Molly's name while grinding her teeth.

"Diana, what happened exactly? what does this have to do with Molly?" Samson and Linda were confused.

Chapter 294

But Diana said, "It's all Molly's fault! she is the reason why this is happening to me! That reporter asked me to stay away from her, so she must be the one who exposed me!"

She thought about the fact that she went to get a reporter, but there was no guilt in her heart. Instead, all she felt was resentment. Samson and Linda were not as educated, so they believed everything Diana had said.

"Molly sure is a vicious woman!" Samson was shocked and angry, when he was about to curse at Molly with Linda, they were interrupted by a voice.

"What the hell are you saying? Weren't you the one who had bad intentions in the first place? You deserved this, so who are you to put all the blame onto my sister?!" Caden was raging when he heard Diana's nonsense.

"What did you say?" Diana glared at him with her widened eyes, she did not expect him to be on Molly's side.

"I said you deserved it. You asked for this." Caden did not want Diana to miss anything he said, so he repeated himself clearly.

Diana could not take it, so she stood up abruptly. " You're as cunning as her! You're both trash! I'm going to kill you, you freaking jerk!"

Caden's words had made Diana insane, she immediately grabbed the mug on the table and threw it at him. If the security guards behind her did not hold her back, she would even lunge at Caden and beat him up.

Diana was really emotional, so the Grant family was quickly escorted, and their meeting ended there.

Diana was also taken back to be interrogated.

On the other hand, Lara was going to go for her surgery in the hospital.

Fortunately, the God of luck was on Lara's side. Benjamin disclosed the treatment plan that they put together, and the hospital received a heart from a donor who had recently passed away from a car accident. His family donated his organs, so Benjamin and a team of specialists from Northfolk's hospitals worked on Lara's surgery, which lasted for a few hours.

"It's a success!"

Molly received Benjamin's text, but she was not emotional. It was like she had expected this outcome.

At night, Molly went over to Sean's place for his treatment as usual. After she inspected his condition, she realized that his recovery progress had improved tremendously, which was also good news.

"Your legs are able to feel now, so we can incorporate a few exercise equipment. You still have to take your medication and go through the needle treatment, along with some rehabilitation training." Molly continued, "Most importantly, you have not used your legs in a while now, so you can't overwork yourself with the training. Just train for half an hour every day."

"Really?" Sean was surprised. To him, a patient who could participate in rehabilitation training was close to recovery.

"Yay! You're going to recover soon, Uncle Sean!" The triplets cheered happily next to them.

"A doctor doesn't lie to her patients. But you really can't rush things, so you must train according to my schedule for you." Molly reminded him as she was worried that Sean would be too excited and train behind her back, which would only injure his legs further.

Sean nodded and suppressed his excitement. He understood Molly's intentions. "I have a gym at home, but it's been some time since I used it. Come with me and see which is suitable for me, please."

He led the way, and Molly followed him to his gym together with the triplets.

Chapter 295

Sean's gym was huge, and Molly realized that his gym was fully equipped when she entered. It was almost perfect, like a professional gym.

"Not bad. They're all okay. You can do the training yourself, and I'll make time to monitor you every day," Molly said as she looked at the exercise machines.

“Sure,” Sean responded with a smile. “Us too, us too!” Ben and Alex immediately raised their hands. “We can train with you too, Uncle Sean!”

‘Boys are always attracted by these exercising machines,’ Claudia thought as she shook her head.

“I’m a girl. I don’t like to train, so I’m going to skip that. But I can keep you company and talk with you, Uncle Sean. That way, you won’t be bored anymore.”

Molly could not help but smile and pinched Claudia’s chubby cheeks.

Sean also extended his arm to brush Claudia’s head when he was suddenly reminded of something, “By the way, are you still considering whether to let Ben join the skateboard club?” Sean asked Molly.

He had forgotten about this matter due to his busy schedule for the past few days.

“The coach has been contacting me, but I figured that Ben is still too young, so he’s still growing. That’s why I rejected him. When he gets older a few years later and is still interested in it, I’ll contact the coach for him,” Molly answered with a smile.

Though Molly gave her children the right to make their own decision, she was still their mother. She could not bear to see Ben go through tough training at such a young age.

Besides, Ben had given it a go before. When he got home after one session of training, there was a bruise on him that was as big as an adult’s fist. It was even swollen.

Molly even thought that something had happened to Ben while he was out, but Ben told her that he had just fallen a few times.

Molly was heartbroken to see him going through training like that.

“Fair enough. He’s really too young for something like that,” Sean agreed.

Molly did not like to delay things, so Sean’s rehabilitation training started the day after she had his treatment all planned out.

She came up with a rehabilitation training plan that mostly targeted his leg strength.

Since he was in a wheelchair for far too long, his leg muscles were definitely affected, so they had to train his legs.

Furthermore, it had been some time since Sean walked, so Molly’s treatment plan was extremely taxing for him. They were barely ten minutes in, and Sean had already started to sweat excessively.

“You can do it, Uncle Sean!” Claudia wiped away his sweat thoughtfully. Ben and Alex were cheering Sean on as well. “You can do it, Uncle Sean! You can do it!”

But Molly just watched in silence, not saying a word.

As a doctor, she knew how exhaust rehabilitation training can be.

Treatments alone were insufficient. Treatment depended on the doctor, whereas rehabilitation training only depended on the patient’s will. Besides, there were patients who gave up during rehabilitation training

But Sean did not.

Molly set half an hour for him, and he sustained for half an hour. When he sat down, he felt like he was going to collapse, as if he had used up all of his energy.

Though he was tired, he was happy. 'I could feel in his legs! My legs can move!

Sean had even more hope of walking again.

The emotions in his eyes cannot lie. When Molly looked at him, a smile grew on her face as well.

Chapter 296

"Keep it up, and I'll make you stand again!" Persistence was the first step to success.

Sean looked deeply into Molly's eyes. "I will."

The next day. Molly was too busy to watch Sean train, so she got her kids to fill her in while she went to the hospital.

Brycen can remove the cast on his legs, which were severely injured. Hence, his cast could not be removed like an ordinary patient. Molly still needed to inspect the condition of his legs

If his bones were not straight he needed to go for another surgery.

However, even if his bones were straight, it would not be easy for Molly as well. She had to treat his damaged nerves, which needed a lot of time and effort

Molly was thinking about Brycen's treatment plan when she opened his ward's door. There were two other people in his room. Nathan and another man

Though that man did not look old, he had long hair and prominent features. He was a good-looking guy. despite his odd image

He was sort of gloomy, as if he had not seen the sun in a long while. He had a sulking vibe and was a very thin person with heavily dark eye circles.

Molly looked at his familiar features before looking at Brycen and Nathan. She then concluded that that man was her third brother, who she had never met before.

Molly's guess was right. The stranger in Brycen's ward was really the youngest son of her family He was her third brother, Sawyer May

When Molly knew his identity, she just nodded lightly to him as a greeting

That was their first meeting, but Sawyer was just a stranger to her Up to that day, Molly had never called Brycen her brother before, let alone Nathan

Molly immediately walked to Brycen's bed to look at the condition of his legs

Sawyer was also mentally judging his sister and was acting rather distant as well

He was naturally a sad person, so he was always cold toward all of his family members

“Whatever you have to say to him, keep it for tonight. I have to run a check-up on him now” Molly was not talking directly to anyone.

Brycen immediately responded happily, “Sure, let’s go.”

To him, his legs recovering was already something to be happy about. Furthermore, talking to Molly was far better than talking to his brothers, to who he had nothing much to talk about as well

Then, Molly and a few doctors went into an examination room with Brycen.

She did everything with her own effort. She worked on the equipment to check on Brycen’s condition and monitored the status of the screen of the machine, detailed and careful.

There were a number of procedures, so two hours had passed when Brycen was finally done with his check-up.

The nurse pushed him back to his room, but Nathan and Sawyer were still in there, and the atmosphere in the room was extremely tense

They had been in his room in silence for two hours, and none of them spoke a word. Though they were family, they were extremely distant from one another.

Even if they wanted to talk to each other, they would not know where to start.

When Brycen was being carried to his bed, they went over to lend a hand.

Then, Molly came over and said to all of them, “The report is out, and you’re recovering faster than expected, so there’s no need for another surgery. But we have to start treating the damaged nerves in your legs now.”

She then looked at Brycen “You still have a long way to go before standing up again. The way I see it now, you probably have to wait two years before you can start driving again.”

Chapter 297

Brycen could not help but grin widely. He was very positive about this and was satisfied as long as he could stand again

He did not hold back on his compliments and said, ‘No wonder you’re my sister. You’re a genius! You’re incredible!’

Nathan and Sawyer looked at him despondently

Molly looked at him with disdain as she felt that he was just flattering her, “Stop licking my boots

Though she was harsh in her words, she was actually really happy

Brycen hit his chest and said in a serious tone. “I’m serious! You’re really amazing, Molly Russell looked for every well-known doctor in the world, but none of them could help me You’re the only one who can do it easily! I knew it. You’re better than every doctor out there!”

“To me, Molly is the best and no one can change my mind’ he thought

Molly was amused by his serious face, so she raised her brows and said, “If you use your sweet words on girls, you might already get a girlfriend by now and not stay a single pringle Stop using them on me.”

Brycen chuckled He was unaware that he was gradually exposing his strong affection for his sister, and everyone could see it.

But Molly did not forget about the main concern. Now that the report was out, she simply explained the treatment plan to him and reminded him, “You can be discharged tomorrow if your condition is stable Then, I’ll take time to go to your place to treat you every day

The wheels in Brycen’s head spun fast, and his eyes glistened cheekily as he had an idea

“Molly. Grandpa told me that your house is massive, yeah?”

He chuckled and continued, “Nice, then let’s stay together. That way, you won’t have to leave your house every day What’s going to happen if the weather is bad that day? Besides, you can have more time with your children if you’re at home, isn’t it? Anyway, you must have an extra room for me, right? Can you consider taking me, a patient, in?”

Brycen had really worked his head to be closer to Molly and the triplets

Nathan could not help but frown when he heard Brycen’s suggestion. “You have a room in our house

You idiot! Brycen thought

Brycen immediately switched up and glared at Nathan

‘Is Nathan blind? Doesn’t he know what I’m trying to do?

I really should get Russell to get Nathan an eye doctor

Molly looked over as well. She was confused as she thought, ‘Me? Going to the May residence? Are you serious?’

Nathan finally understood them when he saw that they were glaring at him and suddenly felt a chill running down his back. He immediately choked on his words and fell silent

Brycen immediately expressed his intentions, I’m not going back to the May residence I want to stay with Molly and my niece and nephews!”

He then looked at Molly pleadingly “Molly, I love the kids. Please let me stay with all of you!”

Molly furrowed her brows as she thought, ‘This sounds wrong...’

“Please. Molly. I’m begging you! Don’t they miss me too? You can’t reject me! You’ll break you kids’ hearts!” She furrowed her brows even tighter. “What is he even saying?

“Molly, please!!! I’ve been overseas for so long, so I’ve never actually stayed with grandpa, and grandpa loves me. Can you bear to see him traveling around to visit me?”

Brycen was rambling on shamelessly, and Molly was getting dizzy. She was so frustrated that she wanted him to just stop talking. Besides, what the hell is he even saying?!"

Chapter 298

"Just save it. Your legs are injured, but you're still talking so much.' Molly was stupefied as she said disdainfully. "You can stay, but my house is not a retirement home. You have to pay for the rent and food, and you've got to pay them on time. I'll kick you out if you owe me money."

Brycen got what he wanted, so he was beaming. "Not a problem!"

Sawyer was a little taken aback when he watched them.

He really did not expect Brycen to be so close to Molly.

He felt that his existence in such a happy scene was an eyesore, so he got up and said to Brycen, "Congratulations, Brycen. I'll be making a move now."

That was the first time Molly heard Sawyer's voice, which was lazy and tired, as if he had no energy

She looked at him and frowned slightly as Sawyer was serious about leaving

Brycen sighed and grumbled, "Why are you still like that? You're so anti-social! You just got here not long ago, and you're leaving now I've never seen your face when there was so much going on in our family last time, either. Don't you want your family anymore?*"

Sawyer immediately stopped pulling the door open and froze on the spot, still standing in Brycen's ward.

He took a deep breath and said with his back toward them. "That's not true."

Nathan was unhappy as well. They were brothers, and Sawyer wanted to leave just like that, which was really upsetting

"Since you're back, just stay at home. Brycen can't make it, but you can, right?"

'We're family, and he rarely comes home. What's the point if he doesn't even want to stay at home?"

Sawyer's hand on the doorknob fell as he took another deep breath He turned to look at Nathan sadly. but his tone was still tired and cold, "No, thanks!"

His response was strong, and his expression was dark as if he was going to leave abruptly at the very next second, so the rest of them were stunned

Nathan and Brycen were quiet for a long time,

In the end, Molly was the one who walked toward him and passed him a bottle of pills. She shoved it into his pale hand and said calmly. "If you believe me, take one of these if you can't sleep at night"

She proceeded to look at his deep dark eye circles and kept quiet She then walked past him and went out of Brycen's room,

Sawyer seemed to freeze as his blood immediately stopped. He looked at Molly open-mouthed as he was shocked

“How does she know that I have serious insomnia?”

He looked at the bottle of pills in his hand as his thoughts filled his head. He had that condition for many years.

In the beginning, he had insomnia due to neuralgia. Then, it slowly became consistent, and he would have to suffer a long time whenever it struck him and would always lose sleep.

Such torture was making him more depressed, agitated, and even more anti-social. Furthermore, his weight was dropping fast too.

Sawyer had gone to see a doctor before but to no avail. His condition never improved, and all he could feel was his life slipping away.

For that reason, he was constantly fighting a hopeless battle. How would he have the time and energy to visit his family?

Even the fact that his sister was a highly skilled doctor was not enough to evoke any emotion in him.

No matter how good the doctor was, no one could save him.

Molly did not think much about it. She practiced alternative medicine and was not a psychic. She could not do a full body check-up just by looking at Sawyer’s face. If she could, she would already be a God.

All she could tell was that Sawyer had suffered from insomnia for a long period of time, but she was not sure of his other condition. As a doctor, her instinct told her to give him the pills, and that was all.

Chapter 299

The two other people in the room were stunned when they saw the pill bottle. Nathan stared at him and asked, “Do you have trouble sleeping? “Why didn’t I know about this?”

“Besides, how serious is his insomnia? Is it so serious that he has to take pills?”

Sawyer responded half-heartedly, “I just can’t sleep well at night.”

He then opened the door and left the hospital right away, going back to the hotel that he had already booked.

When he was back at his hotel, he drew the curtains, making the room dark and gloomy.

He did not switch on the light. All he did was just sit on the couch in a daze, and his attention span was extremely low.

In the blink of an eye, he stayed in that position for the whole day.

The faint light from outside had vanished, and the sky turned as dark as his room. It was already 10 pm.

Sawyer washed his face and immediately lay on his bed without even changing his clothes. He was sleeping on his blanket, and the air-conditioner was on, but he could not feel a thing.

He was ready to fall asleep, but as soon as he closed his eyes, his mind was messy again. Since he was forcing himself to sleep, it was almost impossible for him to fall asleep.

Sawyer frowned as he always did, and the complicated thoughts that were filling his head had channeled into an emotion. It was making him agitated. He felt like a worm was in his head, and it was eating away his sanity

Subsequently, the familiar feeling swarmed over his body. His head hurt, and he could not stop it. His expression turned worse, with his brows closely knitted as he was suffering,

Suddenly, he thought of the bottle of pills that Molly had given him, which was just on the table in front of the couch.

But he stayed in the same position. His trembling fingers were clenched into fists.

Sawyer just lay on his bed in pain as he allowed his insomnia to devour him whole. He had lost hope in every doctor in the world.

Just like a drowned person, he stopped struggling and calling out for help. He had lost his will to live.

The next day.

Molly did not go to the hospital as Russell had already taken Brycen to her place early in the morning.

They looked at the luxurious mansion before them as shock and envy were written all over their face

“What kinda rich neighborhood is this?”

Brycen said in awe. “You’re so cool, Molly! Your place is way better than the May residence! I knew I made the right choice!”

He then thought, “Molly is the best doctor in town, so she’s not a normal person. It’s natural for her to stay in a neighborhood like this.” Disdained, Molly spoke as she looked at them, who were acting like peasants who had never been to the city “That’s enough. Stop flattering me, okay? Come in and stop blocking the way.” Brycen responded immediately and went into her home as he explained himself, “I’m just complimenting you, alright?!”

“The triplets are studying upstairs. I told them that you’ll be here, so they’ll come back down when they’re done studying You can play with each other then. Grandpa is taking a walk outside now, and he’ll be back in a while.”

Molly then walked to the kitchen and continued, “You can put your things in your room and do some cleaning up yourself. Your room is the one that’s furthest away from the stairs upstairs.

When she was done talking, she suddenly felt that Brycen was like her fourth child... “How strange!

She immediately shook off the feeling and started preparing some food

Brycen responded to her and got Russell to take him upstairs.

In the afternoon, during lunchtime. It was the first time Brycen had tasted Molly’s cooking, which was amazing! “It’s even better than the food from the restaurant that Russell goes to

"It's absolutely delicious! I've never eaten such tasty food in my life! You're a great cook, Molly!" Brycen immediately ate more food right after he praised Molly, looking like he was enjoying it

Chapter 300

Brycen munched and looked satisfied with the food. "Mr Anderson, do you come here to my sister's place to eat often?" he asked Sean, who was sitting opposite him.

It was his first time meeting Sean Molly had already introduced Sean to him. Though he was always overseas, "Sean Anderson" was a name that was well-known everywhere

Even if he did not want to know about him, he could not!

Though he was startled at first, he figured that it was a good thing if his sister got together with a person with power and high status

Besides, both of them looked close to each other

Sean responded flatly. "Yeah."

Brycen stopped eating and finished what was left in his mouth before he said bitterly, "Oh man, I'm so jealous of you! If I were you, I'd come here to eat such good food every day too!"

Grandpa Dave looked at him and was amused "it's been some time since I saw you. You're such a chatterbox! The house is livelier now."

The triplets nodded as they agreed with their great-grandpa

Alex said, "Uncle Brycen, maybe it's because you've been too lonely and bored in the hospital Now when you're with more people, it's only natural for you to talk more

Brycen was very satisfied with what Alex said, "You know me too well, Alex"

He even winked at Alex, which made the triplets extremely happy

Molly just sat next to them and listened to their conversation, smiling from time to time.

"Brycen, is Sawyer back?" Grandpa Dave asked "If he's free, get him to eat with me here tomorrow

Brycen immediately nodded as he was scooping a dish.

Right after he was done with lunch, he immediately called Sawyer Grandpa Dave was sitting next to them while he drank some tea, eyeing him from the corner of his eye.

Sawyer was awakened by Brycen's call. He squinted in displeasure as he looked at the screen before answering in a fed-up tone. "What do you want?"

"I want to invite you over for a meal, Brycen said from the other end of the phone

Sawyer wanted to reject him as he only slept for an hour last night, which was making him extremely tired. He did not even want to move an inch

Suddenly, Brycen said, "Grandpa invited you." And he successfully stopped Sawyer from rejecting him.

“Grandpa?

He had no other choice but to agree, so he said, ‘Okay! “Sure, then let’s meet tomorrow night. I’ll send you the address. Brycen immediately hung up after he informed Sawyer

The next time Molly saw Sawyer, she looked at him coldly as she arched her brows.

‘Didn’t he take medicine?

Sawyer was in worse shape than he was before. He was looking extremely weak and exhausted with his dark eye circles. His lips were pale white, as if he was malnourished as well.

This time, even Brycen could tell the difference. “What’s wrong with you? Did you overwork yourself?

‘What’s wrong with Sawyer? Why does he look so drained? Grandpa Dave frowned as his face darkened. “I haven’t met you for years, and you’re so skinny now. Even if you’re obsessed with art, you should have a limit. What are you going to do if you overwork yourself?

The triplets sat next to Brycen as they looked at him curiously. This uncle looks so scary! He looks like he doesn’t have enough sleep!

Sawyer was in a hard place, but he maintained a calm expression as he nodded slowly.

Slow response time,’ Molly thought as she was certain that he did not touch the pills that she had given him. But she was not going to say anything about it as well

If the patient himself did not want to cooperate with the doctor’s treatment, everything she said and did would be unnecessary. Besides, she was never a nosy person

She did not want to waste her time on patients who just accepted death and wanted to give up on their treatment
