

The Rise of Dragon Temple By Wu Xia

Chapter 14

Chapter 14

At this time, the Kennedy family was busy making arrangements. In the meeting hall. Brandon ordered, "Alex, gather all our forces!" "Yes, sir!" There was a flash of excitement on Alex's face. After nodding, he rushed out immediately. Since the Kennedy family gradually ventured into legal businesses, Alex no longer saw this violent side of his brother. At that point, Alex had become completely unaware of the influence and reach of the Kennedy family. However, from that night onward, everyone would definitely take notice of their family. Additionally, the true horror and power of the Kennedy family would also be fully displayed in the eyes of people in Apren City for the first time. Once Alex left, Brandon's gaze fell on an inconspicuous person behind him. "Max Kennedy, I need your help. Please personally visit the Police Department and warn them not to intervene in tonight's matter." The man nodded and was about to leave. Brandon then added, "By the way, it's pointless to go to anyone but Samuel Clark." "Understood." The old man nodded and left. Brandon turned his eyes to another burly old man and said, "Francis Kennedy, contact the military located in the Southeast district. Ask for their help to investigate Joseph's background." "Alright." The old man immediately stood up. "Brandon, since the Kennedy family plans to dispatch all our members, do you need Ethan Kennedy to return as well?" "After all, he's now a commander in the military. Although Apren City does not fall under the Central region, his return would be of great help." Brandon initially wanted to refuse, but then he became silent for a few seconds. "Okay, Alex is right. The Kennedy family has been too low-key recently, so much so that everyone thinks our family could be trampled over. It's time to show our cards." Brandon continued with a sneer, "Even a good-for-nothing like Logan thinks that he can compete with us. It seems that we have been too kind in the past."

"Go ahead and ask Ethan to return to Frogua. Once this matter is over, he should train Jaylah to become a better man."

"Okay, I'll arrange it right away," Francis replied excitedly. Then, Brandon looked at the other three uncles of his and said, "Brogan Kennedy, Aaron Kennedy, and David Kennedy, your mission is even more important." "Joseph is powerful. He probably received training in the military, not to mention that he has several experts by his side, so we may need your help to defeat them." The three men exuded exceptionally strong auras. However, the moment they heard Brandon's request, a hint of fear flashed in their eyes. Since it was unlikely that Alex exaggerated Joseph's strength, they knew that their enemy would be difficult to deal with. Brogan muttered, "Brandon, we don't know much about them. Taking a conservative view, I'm afraid our chances of winning are relatively low." "We have also seen the surveillance video. Even Joseph's subordinates are extremely powerful." Hearing this, Brandon frowned. Brogan continued, "However, I've contacted two old friends of mine. They are on their way here now. As long as the opponents are not at the Master levels, we can kill them." "However, we'd have to pay a higher reward." "Could Joseph be a Master on the battlefield?" Someone asked. "Impossible!" Brogan replied with certainty, "There are nine war zones in Frogua. Over these years, no one has ever heard of someone named Joseph Dawson." Brandon relaxed a little. "Thanks, Brogan. It'd be great to have someone to help you. Otherwise, it will not matter much anyway..." Shocked, everyone then turned to look at Brandon. At the time, Brandon was no weaker than his uncle. "Did... Did you achieve a breakthrough in your skills?" Brandon smiled and denied, "Not yet, but soon. In this era, as long as we are not fighting against a Master, we will win no matter what." "Nonetheless, my breakthrough will be soon. I will enter the next realm in a year and a half at most. Initially, I planned to work on something big once I achieved success. Since Joseph came to me in advance, I will send him to hell first." In this regard, Brandon had absolute confidence. This confidence did not stem from the so-called influence of the Kennedy family, but from his own strength. Since Joseph had the guts to provoke the Kennedy family, Brandon intended to kill him directly. In Brandon's heart, the real goal was never Joseph who appeared all of a sudden, but Logan. "The Kennedy family has been too low-key recently. Did people in Apren City forget the origin of our family?" Brandon said with a smile, "It's good that this misfortune happened to Jaylah this time. This way, he can understand that there is always someone stronger than him. It's better to suffer now than to face even tougher obstacles in the future." With this incident, the Kennedy family would definitely become famous in the central region of Frogua.

Back in Frogua. The atmosphere was even tenser because all the higher-ups were already sitting here. Four men were sitting in the conference room of the headquarters. They were all people with great power and prestige. At this time, Terrance, the commander in charge of military strategy in Frogua, was standing in the room. Since the phone call last night, they had all gathered here to discuss the matter regarding Dragon Temple. After a whole night, these four high-ranking elders were still stumped. Thus, everyone's expression was extremely gloomy. Dragon Temple was a special case. Although the organization did not belong to Frogua, most members of Dragon Temple were originally from this country. Over the years, Dragon Temple had also helped Frogua solve countless problems. However, Dragon Temple was not officially part of Frogua's forces, so it was particularly tricky to deal with. Since the destruction of the Hollowtalons Organization, Dragon Temple became the most powerful force in the current era. In the meeting room, the eldest leader of Frogua, Hanson Reynolds asked calmly, "Is there still no news?" Wiping the sweat on his forehead, Terrance did not answer him. Instead, he fiddled with the projector. Soon, a picture appeared on the wall. The projection of Apren City was clearly visible. Then, Terrance enlarged the map and pointed to the four entrances of Apren City. There were several figures on the screen. Four people were manning each of the four districts. Even Terrance felt extremely stressed after seeing these four men. "These four men are the four Masters in Dragon Temple. Each of them is as capable as a war general on the battlefield." Terrance continued, "According to our intelligence, these four Masters have already sealed off the entrances and exits of the city."

Displaying a gloomy face, Hanson asked in a deep voice, "What are they trying to achieve by blocking the city gates?"
