

The Three Little Guardian Angels Chapter 2491

Chapter 2491

Her boyfriend smiled widely, then turned to say to the two men, "Did you hear that? This woman is a gift from my darling."

Shannon continued. "Remember to record the best parts."

The two men were excited and approached Freyja with bad intentions.

Freyja tried to break free, but the ropes were too tight. She clenched her jaw and calmed down to figure out a plan.

When the two men tried to touch her, Freyja suddenly laughed. They would be even more excited if she started crying out of fear.

But her chuckle threw them off.

Shannon glared at her. "You're in our hands now. Why are you laughing?"

"You touched my phone, didn't you?"

The two men looked at each other, then at Shannon. "So what if we did?"

"I hope you didn't turn it off."

"Get to the point!"

Freyja controlled her fear and continued smiling. "That's unfortunate. You would still have time if you didn't switch it off. My phone is linked to my husband's. Once it's switched off and he can't track my coordinates, he will be notified and will get here in no time."

"You're bluffing. There's no way your location can be detected when the phone is switched off. How would your husband be able to find this place?"

Shannon scoffed. "Even if he could, he would be too late."

"You've heard about hacking, right? Shannon, haven't you always been curious about who my husband is? I'll tell you."

Freyja's eyes grew cold. "He lied and said that he's a businessman, but he's actually a hacker. Where do you think he gets his money from? Do you think a normal hacker can drive a luxury car? Haven't you seen his setup before?"

The men hesitated because they had all seen Colton, including Shannon's boyfriend. He really didn't look like a businessman.

Shannon's expression changed, but she still wouldn't let her go. "Enough with this b*llsh it. So what if he's a hacker? Do you think he can save you?"

Freyja looked calm and collected. "I can't rely on him, but even if you go on with your plan and record your video, are you sure you want to post it?"

"I don't care about my name. Even if the video goes online, he can easily delete it. If you want to destroy me, I don't care, but you need to think clearly about that. It will be easy for him to find information about you. If he sends them to the police and they start investigating, you won't get away.

"Shannon, it's fine if you want to destroy your own future, but are you going to do that to your boyfriend too?"

"You're too careless. Of all the places, you chose to bring me to his villa. Isn't he going to be in trouble?"

Shannon was stunned. She turned to look at him, who looked angry.

"Honey, don't listen to her. She's lying!"

Freyja didn't give her a chance to mess things up. "I'm in your hands, so why would I lie? Shannon, what benefit would this bring? Are you going to pay them?"

"Even kidnappers know they should ask for money from the family members, but they're helping you for no reward. You seem to be very good at using your boyfriend. I hope when the police get here, you won't pin all this on your boyfriend."

Chapter 2492

Freyja was betting that Shannon's boyfriend and the two men weren't dumb.

And as expected, the boyfriend glared at her. "Did you bring her to my villa so that you can pin it on us if anything happens?"

Shannon did ask for his help to attack a woman, and he obliged.

However, when they brought her over, he thought this would just end with the woman staying silent about the incident.

He didn't know that the woman had a skillful husband. After what she said, he had to carefully consider everything.

He couldn't destroy his own future for a woman.

"No, honey, listen to me. She's just scaring us. She can't-"

"Not everyone is as dumb as you are. Do you think your boyfriend will bet on you? Can you do anything that will benefit him?"

Freyja then winked at the boyfriend. "I, however, can. Instead of having a girlfriend who only knows about spending your money and getting you in trouble, I don't mind having a lover. I could invest 1.5 billion dollars into your company. Cash or gold bars, you decide."

Shannon yelled at her, "1.5 billion dollars? Freyja Pruitt, stop bluffing. Do you think you have that kind of money?"

Freyja replied with a calm expression, "Have you heard of the rumors?"

Shannon froze. 'Rumors?'

Freyja raised her brows. "King William is my grandfather. After his passing, I received an inheritance. 1.5 billion dollars isn't even 1/3 of it."

The two men were shocked. She was the granddaughter of King Williams!

Even Shannon's boyfriend was shocked.

Shannon rushed over and grabbed Freyja by her clothes. "B*llshit. How could you be his granddaughter? Aren't you-"

Freyja still looked calm. "You already knew it. I guess you didn't tell them who I am."

"..."

Shannon's boyfriend walked forward and pushed her away. "You knew that she's the king's granddaughter!?"

She shuddered as she shook her head. "... I didn't..."

She knew that Freyja's mother, who was incarcerated, was the 'illegitimate' daughter of the king. Everyone in Yaramoor knew that.

She just didn't want to admit it.

Freyja smirked. "Do you want to look into it? If I'm lying, you can do anything you want to do to me. I won't fight back."

Shannon's boyfriend immediately got a call and walked aside to answer it. "Dad?"

The man said something, and his face dropped. After he hung up, he turned around and walked toward Shannon. Before she could react, a hard slap hit her face.

The two men stood aside and watched without the intention of stopping him.

He was still angry, so he grabbed her hair. "You b*tch! Are you trying to get me in trouble?"

Shannon's scalp hurt, so she screamed, "No, I wasn't trying to! Don't listen to her!"

Shannon tried to explain and wanted her boyfriend to believe her. If it wasn't because of that call, he probably would have.

He kicked Shannon to the foot of the bed.

Freyja felt the bed shake. That was how hard he kicked her.

She looked toward Shannon, who instinctively curled up into a ball to protect herself. It seemed like that wasn't the first time he hit her.

Chapter 2493

Come to think of it, Shannon always showed off to her friends how well her boyfriend treated her and how nice her life was, but all of that was overcompensation for her broken ego.

Police sirens were heard from the window. The officers came over, and the two men immediately released Freyja and destroyed the video camera.

The door was suddenly kicked open. It was Colton.

When he saw that Freyja was still dressed and had no signs of injury, he breathed a sigh of relief.

Shannon's boyfriend smiled and walked forward. "It's just a misunderstanding. We were n't planning on doing anything to your wife-"

Before he could finish, Colton's fist connected with his face, and he flew backward.

Colton hugged Freyja and pointed at the men. "If this isn't a misunderstanding, you're going to have a painful death."

The officers rushed over, then Colton said something to the leader, who got his men to arrest everyone for questioning.

When they got to the car, Colton started taking off her clothes. She pushed him away in shock. "What are you doing?"

He calmly replied, "I'm checking if you're hurt."

"No."

"Are you sure?"

Freyja was helpless. "Why would I lie? They didn't do anything to me."

Colton looked at him but didn't speak.

Freyja turned her face away. "If you don't believe me, you can check when we go home ..."

"I'm not in the mood for jokes, Freyja Pruitt."

Colton was probably angry because he called Freyja by her full name. "Do you know how worried your dad and I were? What could have happened to you if I didn't go look for you at the college and checked the surveillance tapes?"

All he knew was that he had done a lot of things in a short time and had been distressed. He just wanted to get to her as soon as possible.

He couldn't let anything delay him because he was worried that he would miss anything or even when he reached, she would have...

"I'm sorry." She pressed her lips together and looked down. "It won't happen again."

She wouldn't let him be so worried anymore.

Colton pulled her into his arms. "It won't happen again, never."

The next day, the college openly expelled Shannon.

Leia and everyone else stood at the notice board and read the notice. She soon pushed through the crowd.

After Freyja got there, she bumped into Leia in the corridor and walked toward her.

Leia looked at her. "Did anything... happen to you yesterday?"

Freyja smiled and replied, "Nope. I heard that you helped a lot. Thank you."

Leia lowered her head. "I didn't know Shannon would do such a thing."

After she was expelled, she wouldn't be accepted into any institute in Yaramoor. She wouldn't even be able to get into a good company for work.

Freyja sighed. "If she thought about the consequences, she wouldn't have done all that."
"

"

Leia smiled sadly. "I guess that's life, isn't it?" She paused for a few seconds. "By the way, tomorrow's the coronation. Are you excited?"

Freyja chuckled and walked next to her. "Somewhat."

On the day of the coronation...

Diana got up early to get ready. The entire process was very complicated and grand. A lot of members of the media waited outside the palace before the sun came up to get the best spot for photos.

The entire lavish grand hall was filled with people running around.

In the guest room, Daisy tried on a few gowns but couldn't tighten the waist, so she couldn't wear most of the court dresses. She ended up wearing a custom-made gown.

The Three Little Guardian Angels Chapter 2492

Freyja was betting that Shannon's boyfriend and the two men weren't dumb.

And as expected, the boyfriend glared at her. "Did you bring her to my villa so that you can pin it on us if anything happens?"

Shannon did ask for his help to attack a woman, and he obliged.

However, when they brought her over, he thought this would just end with the woman staying silent about the incident.

He didn't know that the woman had a skillful husband. After what she said, he had to carefully consider everything.

He couldn't destroy his own future for a woman.

"No, honey, listen to me. She's just scaring us. She can't-"

"Not everyone is as dumb as you are. Do you think your boyfriend will bet on you? Can you do anything that will benefit him?"

Freyja then winked at the boyfriend. "I, however, can. Instead of having a girlfriend who only knows about spending your money and getting you in trouble, I don't mind having a lover. I could invest 1.5 billion dollars into your company. Cash or gold bars, you decide."

Shannon yelled at her, "1.5 billion dollars? Freyja Pruitt, stop bluffing. Do you think you have that kind of money?"

Freyja replied with a calm expression, "Have you heard of the rumors?"

Shannon froze. 'Rumors?'

Freyja raised her brows. "King William is my grandfather. After his passing, I received an inheritance. 1.5 billion dollars isn't even 1/3 of it."

The two men were shocked. She was the granddaughter of King Williams!

Even Shannon's boyfriend was shocked.

Shannon rushed over and grabbed Freyja by her clothes. "B*llshit. How could you be his granddaughter? Aren't you-"

Freyja still looked calm. "You already knew it. I guess you didn't tell them who I am."

"..."

Shannon's boyfriend walked forward and pushed her away. "You knew that she's the king's granddaughter!?"

She shuddered as she shook her head. "... I didn't..."

She knew that Freyja's mother, who was incarcerated, was the 'illegitimate' daughter of the king. Everyone in Yaramoor knew that.

She just didn't want to admit it.

Freyja smirked. "Do you want to look into it? If I'm lying, you can do anything you want to me. I won't fight back."

Shannon's boyfriend immediately got a call and walked aside to answer it. "Dad?"

The man said something, and his face dropped. After he hung up, he turned around and walked toward Shannon. Before she could react, a hard slap hit her face.

The two men stood aside and watched without the intention of stopping him.

He was still angry, so he grabbed her hair. "You b*tch! Are you trying to get me in trouble?"

Shannon's scalp hurt, so she screamed, "No, I wasn't trying to! Don't listen to her!"

Shannon tried to explain and wanted her boyfriend to believe her. If it wasn't because of that call, he probably would have.

He kicked Shannon to the foot of the bed.

Freyja felt the bed shake. That was how hard he kicked her.

She looked toward Shannon, who instinctively curled up into a ball to protect herself. It seemed like that wasn't the first time he hit her.

Chapter 2493

Come to think of it, Shannon always showed off to her friends how well her boyfriend treated her and how nice her life was, but all of that was overcompensation for her broken ego.

Police sirens were heard from the window. The officers came over, and the two men immediately released Freyja and destroyed the video camera.

The door was suddenly kicked open. It was Colton.

When he saw that Freyja was still dressed and had no signs of injury, he breathed a sigh of relief.

Shannon's boyfriend smiled and walked forward. "It's just a misunderstanding. We were n't planning on doing anything to your wife-"

Before he could finish, Colton's fist connected with his face, and he flew backward.

Colton hugged Freyja and pointed at the men. "If this isn't a misunderstanding, you're going to have a painful death."

The officers rushed over, then Colton said something to the leader, who got his men to arrest everyone for questioning.

When they got to the car, Colton started taking off her clothes. She pushed him away in shock. "What are you doing?"

He calmly replied, "I'm checking if you're hurt."

"No."

"Are you sure?"

Freyja was helpless. "Why would I lie? They didn't do anything to me."

Colton looked at him but didn't speak.

Freyja turned her face away. "If you don't believe me, you can check when we go home ..."

"I'm not in the mood for jokes, Freyja Pruitt."

Colton was probably angry because he called Freyja by her full name. "Do you know how worried your dad and I were? What could have happened to you if I didn't go look for you at the college and checked the surveillance tapes?"

All he knew was that he had done a lot of things in a short time and had been distressed. He just wanted to get to her as soon as possible.

He couldn't let anything delay him because he was worried that he would miss anything or even when he reached, she would have...

“I’m sorry.” She pressed her lips together and looked down. “It won’t happen again.”

She wouldn’t let him be so worried anymore.

Colton pulled her into his arms. “It won’t happen again, never.”

The next day, the college openly expelled Shannon.

Leia and everyone else stood at the notice board and read the notice. She soon pushed through the crowd.

After Freyja got there, she bumped into Leia in the corridor and walked toward her.

Leia looked at her. “Did anything... happen to you yesterday?”

Freyja smiled and replied, “Nope. I heard that you helped a lot. Thank you.”

Leia lowered her head. “I didn’t know Shannon would do such a thing.”

After she was expelled, she wouldn’t be accepted into any institute in Yaramoor. She wouldn’t even be able to get into a good company for work.

Freyja sighed. “If she thought about the consequences, she wouldn’t have done all that.”

”

Leia smiled sadly. “I guess that’s life, isn’t it?” She paused for a few seconds. “By the way, tomorrow’s the coronation. Are you excited?”

Freyja chuckled and walked next to her. “Somewhat.”

On the day of the coronation...

Diana got up early to get ready. The entire process was very complicated and grand. A lot of members of the media waited outside the palace before the sun came up to get the best spot for photos.

The entire lavish grand hall was filled with people running around.

In the guest room, Daisy tried on a few gowns but couldn’t tighten the waist, so she couldn’t wear most of the court dresses. She ended up wearing a custom-made gown.

The Three Little Guardian Angels Chapter 2493

Chapter 2493

Come to think of it, Shannon always showed off to her friends how well her boyfriend treated her and how nice her life was, but all of that was overcompensation for her broken ego.

Police sirens were heard from the window. The officers came over, and the two men immediately released Freyja and destroyed the video camera.

The door was suddenly kicked open. It was Colton.

When he saw that Freyja was still dressed and had no signs of injury, he breathed a sigh of relief.

Shannon's boyfriend smiled and walked forward. "It's just a misunderstanding. We weren't planning on doing anything to your wife."

Before he could finish, Colton's fist connected with his face, and he flew backward.

Colton hugged Freyja and pointed at the men. "If this isn't a misunderstanding, you're going to have a painful death."

The officers rushed over, then Colton said something to the leader, who got his men to arrest everyone for questioning.

When they got to the car, Colton started taking off her clothes. She pushed him away in shock. "What are you doing?"

He calmly replied, "I'm checking if you're hurt."

"No."

"Are you sure?"

Freyja was helpless. "Why would I lie? They didn't do anything to me."

Colton looked at her but didn't speak.

Freyja turned her face away. "If you don't believe me, you can check when we go home ..."

"I'm not in the mood for jokes, Freyja Pruitt."

Colton was probably angry because he called Freyja by her full name. “Do you know how worried your dad and I were? What could have happened to you if I didn’t go look for you at the college and checked the surveillance tapes?”

All he knew was that he had done a lot of things in a short time and had been distressed. He just wanted to get to her as soon as possible.

He couldn’t let anything delay him because he was worried that he would miss anything or even when he reached, she would have...

“I’m sorry.” She pressed her lips together and looked down. “It won’t happen again.”

She wouldn’t let him be so worried anymore.

Colton pulled her into his arms. “It won’t happen again, never.”

The next day, the college openly expelled Shannon.

Leia and everyone else stood at the notice board and read the notice. She soon pushed through the crowd.

After Freyja got there, she bumped into Leia in the corridor and walked toward her.

Leia looked at her. “Did anything... happen to you yesterday?”

Freyja smiled and replied, “Nope. I heard that you helped a lot. Thank you.”

Leia lowered her head. “I didn’t know Shannon would do such a thing.”

After she was expelled, she wouldn’t be accepted into any institute in Yaramoor. She wouldn’t even be able to get into a good company for work.

Freyja sighed. “If she thought about the consequences, she wouldn’t have done all that.”

”

”

Leia smiled sadly. “I guess that’s life, isn’t it?” She paused for a few seconds. “By the way, tomorrow’s the coronation. Are you excited?”

Freyja chuckled and walked next to her. “Somewhat.”

On the day of the coronation...

Diana got up early to get ready. The entire process was very complicated and grand. A lot of members of the media waited outside the palace before the sun came up to get the best spot for photos.

The entire lavish grand hall was filled with people running around.

In the guest room, Daisy tried on a few gowns but couldn't tighten the waist, so she couldn't wear most of the court dresses. She ended up wearing a custom-made gown.

The Three Little Guardian Angels Chapter 2494

Chapter 2494

Xyla helped Daisy with her hair in front of the vanity. The royals invited Yorrick, and Xyla needed to attend because she was his family member.

Not everyone was able to attend the coronation. Not only was it the first time for Xyla, but it was also the first for Daisy.

"Alright! How are my braiding skills?"

Xyla picked up the mirror and stood behind her. Daisy saw her hair through the reflection and smiled. "It's so beautiful."

"Of course." Xyla put down the mirror. "I'm very proud of my braiding skills."

After Daisy was fully dressed, she walked out while holding up her dress. She stopped a server in the corridor and asked, "Do you know where Nollace is?"

The man pointed in a direction.

Daisy walked to the room where Nollace was. She saw that the door wasn't closed, so she carefully pushed it and went in. Nollace was in his suit and stood under the light. The server helped him put on his cape. It looked elegant and grand, like he was in a painting.

Nollace saw her through the reflection and waved for the man to leave them.

She snapped back into reality when he walked toward her and stopped in front of her. "Why are you sneaking around?"

Daisy smiled. "To peek at you."

“Do I look good?”

“Yes.”

She was so mesmerized by his beauty she couldn't think.

Nollace's lips curled as he pulled her into his arms, then kissed her on her red lips.

“You look great too.”

Her ears turned red, and she grumbled, “You're going to eat away my lipstick.”

He smiled. “Doesn't matter. You still look good.”

When the ceremony was about to begin, people filled up the hall. There were ministers, senators, elected officials, and anyone who worked for the royals.

Yorrick chatted with the guests holding a glass of wine, while Xyla spoke to the socialites and aristocrats.

When the bell tolled, Diana and her husband, Rick Knowles, stood at the door. They were both in court outfits, looking elegant and dignified. Standing behind them were Nollace and Daisy, followed by Freyja and her father, Brandon.

Everyone's eyes were on them. Even the members of the media tried to capture everything.

Diana walked to the archbishop and lowered her body and head. The archbishop held the crown that symbolized the feats of the past, placed it on her head, then handed her the staff of power.

The hall was filled with applause.

Other than that, someone else was knighted—Freyja's father.

He was now a knight and had the same status as the aristocrats.

In prison...

Sandy and the other female inmates were weeding in the field. When the work was done, she would be able to get back to her cell and wait for meal time.

All the inmates huddled together because even mealtime was limited. If they missed the time, they would have to stay hungry until dinner time.

At that moment, the television started showing the coronation ceremony.

When Sandy saw that, her pupils shrank. She immediately stood up and pushed her food off the table.” How could this be happening!?”

‘Diana is now the queen? She took over the throne!?’

The guard walked over and gave her a warning. “If you’re not going to eat, you need to leave.”

The other looked away and continued eating.

Sandy sat in her seat sadly because she had lost her appetite.

However, when she heard that her husband was knighted and had the same status as the aristocrats, she suddenly laughed hysterically. “Oh, my dad. He never gave us a chance when I was around. Now that I’m in prison, this parasite reaped the benefits!”

Chapter 2495

The other inmates looked at her as though she was crazy.

A few guards rushed over to hold her down. Sandy couldn’t accept her fate and fought back harder. “Why should you get all the benefits? I lost my son but got nothing! Diana and the Knowles, I curse you to a painful end!”

She was dragged away.

The inmates in the dining hall started talking to each other because Sandy was just a lunatic to them.

Meanwhile, at the film college...

Freyja’s father was now a knight, which meant he was an important figure in Yaramoor.

Leia and the other friends were really happy for Freyja. “A knighthood. You’re an aristocrat now.”

“No one will dare talk behind your back anymore.

“Freyja, don’t forget about us.”

Freyja smiled and closed her notebook. “Don’t worry, I won’t.”

Leia smiled and said, “I don’t think you will.”

Meanwhile, a man who walked past the lecture hall caused a commotion. A girl was shocked. "Isn't that Normal Lancell? What is he doing here?"

The Lancells were aristocrats too.

Norman was a student there, and his uncle was a multi-award-winning screenwriter in Dorywood.

Norman walked into the room, and the girls gasped because it was something unusual. Before anyone realized what had happened, he walked toward Freyja and placed a letter in her hand.

Freyja froze.

"Remember to read it." Normal took two steps back, then winked at her and left.

The pink envelope looked familiar.

Everyone there was shocked. "Is that a love letter?"

"Freyja, you have a lot of luck in love."

"Having a lot of luck while married isn't a good sign."

Freyja smiled awkwardly. "I should go speak to him to avoid any misunderstanding."

Leia asked, "Do you need me to go with you?"

She wanted to say no but remembered what Colton had said the other day and didn't want the same thing to happen again, so she smiled and nodded. "Sure."

After looking at the letter, she realized it wasn't a confession but a place to meet.

They walked to the rooftop, and Normal was there alone. They were surprised that Norman was walking on the ledge that was only about one and a half feet wide.

They were on the seventh floor, so he was not going to make it if he fell.

Leia covered her mouth. "Norman..."

What was he trying to do? Kill himself? No! Was he going to jump if Freyja rejected him?

Freyja took a deep breath and slowly walked over. "Norman, do you have any problems ? Do you want to talk about it?"

Norman stretched his arms apart for balance, then walked back and forth while looking at his feet. "There's something that I don't understand."

Freyja was curious. "What?"

Norman looked at her. "Why would the police think that Ms. Mills jumped?"

Freyja and Leia were confused. What was he talking about?

"Pruitt, don't you think that sounds familiar?"

Norman seemed to be reminding her.

Freyja looked around the rooftop, then at Norman.

Norman crossed his arms and revealed a bright smile. "Did Ms. Mill really kill herself?"

The Three Little Guardian Angels Chapter 2495

Chapter 2495

The other inmates looked at her as though she was crazy.

A few guards rushed over to hold her down. Sandy couldn't accept her fate and fought back harder. "Why should you get all the benefits? I lost my son but got nothing! Diana and the Knowles, I curse you to a painful end!"

She was dragged away.

The inmates in the dining hall started talking to each other because Sandy was just a lunatic to them.

Meanwhile, at the film college...

Freyja's father was now a knight, which meant he was an important figure in Yaramoor.

Leia and the other friends were really happy for Freyja. "A knighthood. You're an aristocrat now."

"No one will dare talk behind your back anymore.

“Freyja, don’t forget about us.”

Freyja smiled and closed her notebook. “Don’t worry, I won’t.”

Leia smiled and said, “I don’t think you will.”

Meanwhile, a man who walked past the lecture hall caused a commotion. A girl was shocked. “Isn’t that Normal Lancell? What is he doing here?”

The Lancells were aristocrats too.

Norman was a student there, and his uncle was a multi-award-winning screenwriter in Dorywood.

Norman walked into the room, and the girls gasped because it was something unusual. Before anyone realized what had happened, he walked toward Freyja and placed a letter in her hand.

Freyja froze.

“Remember to read it.” Normal took two steps back, then winked at her and left.

The pink envelope looked familiar.

Everyone there was shocked. “Is that a love letter?”

“Freyja, you have a lot of luck in love.”

“Having a lot of luck while married isn’t a good sign.”

Freyja smiled awkwardly. “I should go speak to him to avoid any misunderstanding.”

Leia asked, “Do you need me to go with you?”

She wanted to say no but remembered what Colton had said the other day and didn’t want the same thing to happen again, so she smiled and nodded. “Sure.”

After looking at the letter, she realized it wasn’t a confession but a place to meet.

They walked to the rooftop, and Normal was there alone. They were surprised that Norman was walking on the ledge that was only about one and a half feet wide.

They were on the seventh floor, so he was not going to make it if he fell.

Leia covered her mouth. "Norman..."

What was he trying to do? Kill himself? No! Was he going to jump if Freyja rejected him?

Freyja took a deep breath and slowly walked over. "Norman, do you have any problems? Do you want to talk about it?"

Norman stretched his arms apart for balance, then walked back and forth while looking at his feet. "There's something that I don't understand."

Freyja was curious. "What?"

Norman looked at her. "Why would the police think that Ms. Mills jumped?"

Freyja and Leia were confused. What was he talking about?

"Pruitt, don't you think that sounds familiar?"

Norman seemed to be reminding her.

Freyja looked around the rooftop, then at Norman.

Norman crossed his arms and revealed a bright smile. "Did Ms. Mill really kill herself?"