

The Three Little Guardian Angels Chapter 2529

Chapter 2529

Nollace massaged his nose and fell silent.

When he visited the palace the other day, his father came to him and told him about the cabinet meeting. Then, Cecilia came to the company and became his assistant. He knew that this was all done by the Taylors.

The Taylors told everyone that they were loyal to the family by mentioning their many contributions to the royal family. However, in fact, they just wanted to control the royal family.

When his grandfather was alive, the Taylors had done something behind everyone's back because they were dissatisfied with Yorrick being made Minister of Finance

At that time, his grandfather kicked a minister close to the Taylors out of the cabinet to tell them to behave themselves. Therefore, the Taylors had been keeping a very low profile since then.

Now that his grandfather had passed away and his mother had succeeded the throne, they started to become active again.

Not only did they get Cecilia to his side, but they even started to gather up a group of people and tried to stop Daisy from becoming the princess.

When he was not the "prince," these people were not like this at all.

Hedeon felt a chill down his spine when he looked at Nollace's face. "Nolly, are you sure you don't want to do anything about her? She's so cocky."

Nollace squinted and said, "Do you think it's that easy to uproot an aristocratic family? Besides, the Taylors are special. When my grandfather was still alive, he couldn't get any evidence on the Taylors, and this means that Elder Master Taylor isn't someone we can easily deal with."

Hedeon scratched his cheek and mumbled, "I can never understand the fight between the nobles."

Nollace patted his shoulder and said, "Alright. Just keep an eye on her. I'll handle it."

When Nollace was leaving the company in the evening, Cecilia came down from a Lamborghini and took off her sunglasses. "Your Highness."

He stopped in his tracks and looked at Cecilia coldly. "Yes?"

Cecilia stopped in front of him and smiled at him confidently. "Do you have time now, Your Highness? I wonder if I could have dinner with you?"

Nollace smiled at her and said, "I'm sorry, but I don't have time."

When he was about to leave, Cecilia continued. "My father hopes that we can have dinner together. Your Highness, it's okay if you reject me, but can you reject my father?"

Nollace's face sank.

At the Blue Valley Manor...

Daisie came downstairs and walked toward the table. She sat down, and just when she picked up the fork, Madam Ames came forward and said, "Ma'am, Mr. Knowles said he'll be eating outside and told us to inform you that you don't have to wait for him."

Daisie picked up a cherry. She did not know why but she felt a little bit annoyed when the things that Cecilia said this afternoon surfaced in her mind. "You don't have to purposely tell me about it. I know he's busy entertaining his guests."

Madam Ames was stunned for a moment and lowered his head. "Mr. Knowles is indeed entertaining his guests. You should try to understand him..."

"Do all of you think that I'm an unreasonable person as well?"

All of the maids were stunned, and Madam Ames smiled awkwardly, "Of course, we don't think like that."

“If you don’t think like that, then you don’t need to tell me anything. Can I force him to come back for dinner if he doesn’t want to come back? I can eat dinner by myself as well.”

Daisie took a few bites and felt nauseous. She got up, rushed to the bathroom, and vomited all of the food she had eaten.

Madam Ames’s voice came from outside the door. “Are you all right, ma’am?”

Daisie flushed the toilet and opened the door. “I’m fine. I don’t have any appetite, so I’m going upstairs.”

At the restaurant...

Cecilia gently swirled her glass of wine and lifted her eyes to look at the handsome man sitting across her. She had heard of him when he was the young heir of the Knowles.

Chapter 2530

It was just that Cecilia was more interested in benefits than looks. However, now that Nollace’s mother had succeeded as the queen, it made him the prince, and his son would be the future king.

Of course, it could only be his and her son.

Cecilia took a sip from the wine and said, “Your Highness, don’t you think it’s a bit disrespectful to be distracted when you’re having dinner with me?”

Nollace tapped his finger on the table and said, “Ms. Taylor, I hope you understand one thing. I came here to have dinner with you because you asked me to. I’m just fulfilling your request, and it doesn’t mean that I intend to have this meal with you.”

The smile on Cecilia’s face froze. However, she was taught to maintain her manners in a situation like this, so she kept smiling and said, “Is it because you’re worried about your wife?”

Nollace did not say anything.

Cecilia crossed her fingers under her chin and smirked. “Your wife is indeed beautiful. She’s the typical beauty from Zlovakia, but unfortunately, beauty won’t bring you anything you want. With your current status, you can always choose a beautiful and capable woman as your wife to assist you.”

After she finished speaking, she placed her hand on top of his. Her nails were varnished a brilliant shade of red as she caressed his skin. “In my opinion, I’m more suitable to be your wife than that delicate woman.”

A hint of coldness crossed Nollace’s eyes. He looked at Cecilia calmly and asked, “Really?”

Cecilia smiled vibrantly and said, “What she can give you, I can give you more. Besides, the Goldmanns don’t have any say in the royal family’s affairs. As for me, I’ll not only be your wife, but I’ll also be your partner in business and politics.”

Nollace withdrew his hand and picked up a napkin to wipe where she had touched it. “Do you know me?” “I’m sure I can if you give me some time.”

He placed the napkin on the table and said, “I don’t like being controlled by a woman.”

She was stunned for a moment but soon came to her senses and smiled. “I won’t do that to you.” With a smile, Nollace replied, “And I don’t like a woman who thinks she’s smart. For example, you.” Cecilia’s face sank. “What do you mean by this, Your Highness?”

Nollace leaned against the back of the chair and said, “Do you really think you can get me to do whatever you want me to do by bringing up your father? It seems to me that you’ve underestimated me.

“Even your father doesn’t dare to say something like that in front of me. And what you’re saying seems to indicate to me that the Taylors have more power than the royal family and that you can twist me around your fingers.”

Cecilia's expression changed. She gripped the glass tightly and forced a smile on her face. "That's not what I mean. My father is loyal to the royal family and does everything out of his concern for the royal family."

"If your father really cares about the royal family that much, then he should mind his own business and not interfere with the royal family or my family affairs."

Nollace picked up the glass and finished the wine in one gulp. He placed the glass on the table and rose to his feet. "If you really think that your family has so much power, then I'm really wondering if the Taylors are really loyal to the royal family or if you guys have some kind of agenda."

After he finished speaking, he picked up his jacket and left.

Cecilia gnashed her teeth. She was so angry that she nearly crushed the glass in her hand.

She would never forget the things that happened today. After she kicked that woman away and became the princess, she would let him know the consequences of looking down on her.

It was already 9:00 p.m. when Nollace returned to the manor. Madam Ames was kind of surprised to see him back so soon.

'Did Ms. Taylor fail to keep him?'

Nollace took off his jacket and placed it on his arms. While he was taking off his tie, he asked, "Where is Daisy?"

Chapter 2531

Madam Ames replied, "Mrs. Knowles is already asleep."

Nollace responded with a faint hum and asked, "Has she eaten?"

Madam

Ames answered truthfully, "She did eat but vomited after that. Her appetite is still not too good." Nollace frowned and hurried upstairs.

When he came to the bedroom, the lights in the bedroom were off. He only turned on the bedside light because he was afraid that the chandelier would wake her up as it was too bright.

Daisie lay on her side on the bed, sleeping very restlessly. Nollace walked to the edge of the bed, sat down, and reached out to pat her. However, she woke up as soon as she felt his caress.

Nollace smiled. "Haven't you fallen asleep?"

Daisie sat up slowly. "You've come home?"

"Yeah, I was dealing with some affairs."

He threw his coat on the chaise longue. He did not hide the fact that he went out on a dinner appointment on purpose, but he did not think it was necessary to talk to her about the meal.

Daisie leaned against the head of the bed and stared at him. "Did you go to a dinner appointment with someone else?"

He paused and looked back at Daisie.

Daisie then approached him, smelled him, and raised her brows. "You drank some wine and reek of a woman's perfume. It's Armani's white tea perfume. Isn't it the same perfume as the one used by the sexy and gorgeous-looking female assistant from earlier today?"

Nollace rubbed his forehead and chuckled out of slight anger. "Do you have the nose of a dog? I didn't even get close to her, and you can already smell her perfume?"

"Heh, you wouldn't even give me the truth if I didn't recognize the smell, would you?"

He placed his palm on the back of her hand and coaxed her softly. "Daisie, I indeed ate dinner with her, but it's not what you think."

Daisie turned her head away and did not utter a single word.

Nollace hugged her. “Don’t be angry, but do remember to give me a call before you go to the company in the future. Don’t get close to her.”

Daisie lowered her eyes. “Is the company busy?”

He was slightly startled and looked down at her. “Why do you ask that?”

Daisie lowered her head. “I don’t know that you’re busy, and I have no idea what’s happening in the company. I always think that you’ll be able to stay at home with me more often. Do you think that I’m very petulant?”

“Daisie...”

“You won’t let me do anything, and you won’t tell me anything. To them, I’m only a clingy wife who only knows how to make your life difficult.” Daisie burst into tears. “But I don’t want to do so either. Ever since I became pregnant, I haven’t been able to keep my emotions under control, and I dislike myself for becoming fat and ugly. I hate this... Boohoo!”

Nollace sealed her lips with a kiss.

After a while, he gently wiped away the tears on her cheek with his fingertips. “I don’t dislike you now, and I don’t think you’re troublesome or clingy.”

Daisie pushed him away and lay down with her back to him. “I’m going to sleep already. I’m in a bad mood, so don’t mess with me.”

Nollace gave off a helpless smile.

After taking a shower, he climbed onto the bed carefully so that he would not disturb her. After lying* down, seeing that Daisie was already asleep, he stretched out his hand and took her into his arms, “Good night, love.”

At noon the next day, Mia called Freyja and found her way to the villa according to the address given to her. She was shocked when she saw the luxurious villa in front of her.

‘Isn’t this a little too grand to be true?’

One of the servants brought Mia into the living room. Freyja was sitting on the couch, drinking tea while waiting for her. “You’ve come.”

Mia returned to her senses and walked toward her.

Freyja asked the servant to pour Mia a cup of tea. “Take a seat.”

After sitting down, Mia asked cautiously, “W–Why did you ask me to come to you?”

Freyja chuckled and put down her teacup. “I can lend you some money to cover your brother’s surgery expenses.”

Mia was taken aback. “What?”

“That’s right, that’s what you heard. I know you want to help your brother recover his eyesight so he can live a normal life. I’m willing to help you.”

Chapter 2532

“You...” Mia pursed her lips and lowered her head. “I’ve done something really bad to you, and you’re still willing to help me out?”

J

“First of all, you did it for your younger brother, didn’t you? Although it’s wrong to steal someone else’s wallet because you want to heal him, I can see that you’re not hopelessly bad.” Freyja placed a card on the table and moved toward her. “There is $30,000 here, and I’ll lend it to you. I’ll then introduce you to a job after your brother’s surgery is over and his eyesight is restored. You can slowly return the money to me after you start working.”

Mia picked up the card and looked at her incredulously. “Are you really willing to help me?”

Freyja smiled. “I have lent you all the money that you need, and you can now contact the hospital to reschedule the surgery. What’s there left to doubt?”

Mia got up abruptly and knelt on the ground. Freyja stood up instantly and helped her up. “What are you doing? Get up already.”

Mia looked up at her with tears streaming down her cheeks. “You’re such a good person. Boohoo, I’ll do whatever you want me to do in the future. I’ll even kill someone for you if that’s what you want!”

She laughed. “What are you thinking? I don’t want you to do such illegal things. You must promise me that you’ll never steal another wallet, no matter what.”

Mia got up with Freyja’s help and wiped her tears with her sleeve. “I promise I’ll never steal a wallet again in the future. If I ever steal again, I’ll get hit by a car as soon as I step outside.”

“Geez, touch wood. Take back what you just said. I believe you.” Freyja patted her on the shoulder, thought of something, and asked her, “By the way, don’t you have parents?”

Mia shook her head. “I’m an orphan. I was forced to leave the orphanage to work before I turned 18. I met my brother in the orphanage. He is very poor and was abandoned by his parents at the orphanage’s gates on a snowy day eight years ago.”

Freyja’s brows creased.

“I never thought that you’d be so kind to him even though you two aren’t even related by blood.” “Because he was abandoned by his parents, just like me.” When Mia mentioned her relatives to Freyja, her eyes looked cold as it seemed that she had no feelings for the parents who had abandoned them. Freyja could not help but take another look at Mia.

‘She seems to be in her early 20s and has dyed her hair red. Although she’s dressed like a young female ruffian and looks unrestrained and arrogant, the kindness that she possesses deep down can still be seen. ‘At least she didn’t abandon her brother, who has no blood relationship with her, and she stole money in order to cure his eyes.’

Freyja noticed that Mia had wheat-colored skin and some tiny freckles on her cheeks. Her facial features looked well-defined and beautiful, especially her blue eyes.

It was just that dyeing her hair red really conflicted with her appearance. “I think you should dye your hair back.”

“Huh?” Mia stroked her hair. “Isn’t it pretty?”

Freyja was helpless. “I’ll be introducing you to a job. If you dress up like this, who will dare to hire you? You must look good as soon as you dye your hair back.”

It was the first time Mia got praised for her looks, so she felt a little embarrassed, but she nodded. “Okay, then I’ll dye my hair back when I get back.”

Three days later, Freyja invested $1,500,000 in the nursing home to establish the “Hope” Foundation. The nun wrote a letter of appreciation and entrusted Mia to send it to Freyja.

After reading the content of the appreciation letter, Freyja felt warm deep down. As for the nun, it was obvious to her that her prayers and hard work over the years must have been heard and now rewarded.

Mia looked at her. “The manager has already hired a contractor to renovate the nursing home. With this fund, the manager and others finally don’t have to work so hard.”

Chapter 2533

Freyja placed the letter down and looked up at Mia, who had dyed her hair back. “Flax-colored hair suits you quite well.”

J

Mia smiled and said, “As you advised, I removed the red dye, and it became like this after the red faded.”

“Has your brother’s surgery been scheduled?”

She nodded with a smile. “Yeah, it’s been arranged, and the surgery will take place in a few days, so he doesn’t have to wait so long anymore.”

Freyja got up, walked toward her, and placed her hands on her shoulders. “Then I’ll bring you to a job interview now.”

Mia followed her, chattering and asking along the way, “What’s the job? Where are we going for the interview? Will it be difficult?”

Freyja stopped in front of the car, opened the door, and let her get in first. “You’ll know when you get there.”

“Oh, okay.” She got into the car obediently.

Soon, the car arrived at Blue Valley Manor.

Mia stuck her face against the car window, stared at the huge courtyard, and was once again shocked. What she had been seeing nowadays had really shown her the lifestyles of the top one percenters and their attitude toward life.

Freyja led her out of the car.

A few servants were trimming the garden in the courtyard. When they saw two women arriving at the manor, one of them got up and asked, “May I know who you’re here for?”

Freyja answered, “We’re here for Mrs. Knowles.”

The servant hurriedly responded, “Please give me a minute. I’ll let Mrs. Knowles know about your arrival.”

When the servant entered the manor, she happened to run into Madam Ames, who was walking down the stairs.

Seeing her rushing in, Madam Ames asked, “What’s wrong?”

The servant replied, “There are two ladies outside, and they’re here looking for Mrs. Knowles.”

Madam Ames was stunned for a moment and looked out of the window.

‘I don’t know either of them. Are they Mrs. Knowles’ friends?’

She gave it a thought for a while and ordered, “Let them in.”

After the servant reported their arrival, Freyja took Mia into the living room.

Mia looked around, feeling extremely dazzled. She could not imagine the identity of the people who lived here.

Madam Ames scrutinized their appearances. “May I know who you are?”

Freyja smiled. “I’m Ms. Pruitt, and I’m here to meet Mrs. Knowles. Please let her know about my visit.”

‘Pruitt... Could it be that she’s from the Pruitts?’

Madam Ames forced a smile. “Mrs. Knowles hasn’t been feeling too well recently and has already gone to rest.”

“She’s not feeling well?” Freyja narrowed her eyes. “Have you called a doctor here to see her?”

“No, it’s just that Mrs. Knowles is currently pregnant, so she’s recently been a little more irritable and lethargic than usual.”

Freyja took a closer look at Madam Ames too. “Who’s the one who hired you?”

“I’ll go upstairs and see her.” Freyja walked past her and wanted to go upstairs.

However, Madam Ames stopped her immediately. “But Mrs. Knowles said that she doesn’t want to be disturbed. You’ll be making my job difficult if you do so.”

At that moment, Daisy’s voice came from upstairs. “Can’t even my friends come to pay me a visit?”

Madam Ames subconsciously panicked. “Ma’am...“

Coincidentally, Freyja caught a glimpse of her nervousness. She did not say anything but gazed at Daisy.” Daisy, are you okay?”

Daisy came downstairs. “I’m fine. I came out once I heard your voice.”

Freyja supported her as they walked, looked back at Madam Ames, led Daisy to the couch, and sat down. “I know you’re bored, so I’ve found you an employee that can accompany you.”

Daisy was confused.

Freyja asked Mia to come over and introduced her to Daisy. “Her name is Mia, and she’s a nice young lady.”

Mia scratched her cheeks, smiled, thought of something, and quickly bowed. “Hello, Mrs. Knowles. It’s nice to meet you!”

Daisy smiled at her and asked Freyja in a low voice, “Why would you bring her here?”

Freyja leaned closer to her and replied in a low voice, “Trust me, this young lady is a friendly one. Plus, I don’t think the woman that Nollace hired for you is reliable.”

Chapter 2534

Daisy was taken aback and took a glance at Madam Ames. “But Nollace is the one who hired her.”

“She stopped me from meeting you just now, so don’t you think it’s strange? Logically, whenever there’s a guest, she should notify you, the mistress of the manor, no matter what. But she didn’t even notify you, and she was already certain you would drive us away. I can almost feel that this woman is up to something.”

‘A woman’s sixth sense is known to be very accurate. How could an employee have the right to decide on her employer’s behalf?’

‘I don’t believe that Nollace has given her such authority.’

Daisie pursed her lips tightly and did not utter a single word.

Freyja sat upright and took her hand. “Alright, this girl is looking for a job, and I’m not in need of an employee now. That’s why I’m introducing her to you. Don’t worry. I have an eye for a great employee.”

Daisie naturally trusted Freyja, so she nodded. “Okay, I’ll let her stay.”

Freyja got up and walked toward Mia. “You’ll be working here from now on.”

After that, she whispered in her ear, “Remember to keep an eye on Madam Ames behind you at all times. Report to me whenever she acts suspiciously.”

Mia had always been a smart person, and she understood what Freyja meant in an instant. “Understood, leave it to me.”

After Freyja left, Madam Ames walked up to Daisie. “Ma’am, do you really want to keep her? But we’re not in a shortage of servants.”

“She’s an assistant that my second sister-in-law introduced to me.” Daisie looked up at Madam Ames with a calm expression. “Is there a problem with my decision to let her stay?”

“But you have to get Mr. Knowles’s permission-”

Daisie stood up abruptly. “I know Nollace’s the one who hired you, but I’m his wife, and I have a say in who to hire too. Are you saying that what I’ve decided to do is incorrect?”

Madam Ames lowered her head. “Of course not, ma’am. You’ve misunderstood.”

“Do your job, and don’t worry about me doing my part.” After saying that, Daisie walked to the stairwell and looked back at Mia. “You can come up with me.”

Mia nodded with a smile. “Okay.”

Madam Ames watched as they went upstairs and pursed her lips.

‘That woman arranged for someone to work here all of a sudden. Things are getting more and more difficult.’

She quickly took out her cell phone and sent Cecelia a text message, and soon received a reply from her.

[I believe that you can handle it well. You do know what to do, don't you?]

Madam Ames was stunned. It was obvious that Cecelia wanted her to come up with another plan.

In the afternoon...

Mia accompanied Daisy to go on a stroll in the courtyard. Seeing that Daisy looked rather sullen, she blinked and came up with an idea. "Mrs. Knowles, can I tell you a joke?"

Daisy was taken aback and nodded.

Mia began by telling a short story. "Once upon a time, there was a little boy who was practicing the violin while his father was reading the newspaper. And along with the sound of the boy's violin, his pet dog began to bark and howl. Finally, his father could not bear it any longer and complained: Can't you play something that the dog doesn't understand?"

After a few seconds of silence, Daisy burst out, chuckling.

Seeing her smile, Mia continued. "I have another one.

A guy went to see his psychologist alone and asked: Doc, I keep having these alternating, recurring dreams. First I'm a teepee, then I'm a wigwam; then I'm a teepee again, then I'm a wigwam, and then I'm a teepee again... These dreams are driving me nuts. What's wrong with me?"

"The psychologist replied very calmly: It's simple, you're two tents."

After saying that, Mia made a speechless expression to enhance the joke's effect.

Daisy's chuckle intensified, and she seemed to realize that Mia was trying to cheer her up.

"Thank you." Mia patted her chest. "You're welcome. It's my job to make you feel happy!"

Mia returned to her senses and walked toward her.

Freyja asked the servant to pour Mia a cup of tea. “Take a seat.”

After sitting down, Mia asked cautiously, “W–Why did you ask me to come to you?”

Freyja chuckled and put down her teacup. “I can lend you some money to cover your brother’s surgery expenses.”

Mia was taken aback. “What?”

“That’s right, that’s what you heard. I know you want to help your brother recover his eyesight so he can live a normal life. I’m willing to help you.”

Chapter 2532

“You...” Mia pursed her lips and lowered her head. “I’ve done something really bad to you, and you’re still willing to help me out?”

J

“First of all, you did it for your younger brother, didn’t you? Although it’s wrong to steal someone else’s wallet because you want to heal him, I can see that you’re not hopelessly bad.” Freyja placed a card on the table and moved toward her. “There is $30,000 here, and I’ll lend it to you. I’ll then introduce you to a job after your brother’s surgery is over and his eyesight is restored. You can slowly return the money to me after you start working.”

Mia picked up the card and looked at her incredulously. “Are you really willing to help me?”

Freyja smiled. “I have lent you all the money that you need, and you can now contact the hospital to reschedule the surgery. What’s there left to doubt?”

Mia got up abruptly and knelt on the ground. Freyja stood up instantly and helped her up. “What are you doing? Get up already.”

Mia looked up at her with tears streaming down her cheeks. “You’re such a good person. Boohoo, I’ll do whatever you want me to do in the future. I’ll even kill someone for you if that’s what you want!”

She laughed. “What are you thinking? I don’t want you to do such illegal things. You must promise me that you’ll never steal another wallet, no matter what.”

Mia got up with Freyja’s help and wiped her tears with her sleeve. “I promise I’ll never steal a wallet again in the future. If I ever steal again, I’ll get hit by a car as soon as I step outside.”

“Geez, touch wood. Take back what you just said. I believe you.” Freyja patted her on the shoulder, thought of something, and asked her, “By the way, don’t you have parents?”

Mia shook her head. “I’m an orphan.

I was forced to leave the orphanage to work before I turned 18. I met my brother in the orphanage. He is very poor and was abandoned by his parents at the orphanage’s gates on a snowy day eight years ago.”

Freyja’s brows creased.

“I never thought that you’d be so kind to him even though you two aren’t even related by blood.” “Because he was abandoned by his parents, just like me.” When Mia mentioned her relatives to Freyja, her eyes looked cold as it seemed that she had no feelings for the parents who had abandoned them. Freyja could not help but take another look at Mia.

‘She seems to be in her early 20s and has dyed her hair red. Although she’s dressed like a young female ruffian and looks unrestrained and arrogant, the kindness that she possesses deep down can still be seen. ‘At least she didn’t abandon her brother, who has no blood relationship with her, and she stole money in order to cure his eyes.’

Freyja noticed that Mia had wheat-colored skin and some tiny freckles on her cheeks. Her facial features looked well-defined and beautiful, especially her blue eyes.

It was just that dyeing her hair red really conflicted with her appearance. “I think you should dye your hair back.”

“Huh?” Mia stroked her hair. “Isn’t it pretty?”

Freyja was helpless. “I’ll be introducing you to a job. If you dress up like this, who will dare to hire you? You must look good as soon as you dye your hair back.”

It was the first time Mia got praised for her looks, so she felt a little embarrassed, but she nodded. “Okay, then I’ll dye my hair back when I get back.”

Three days later, Freyja invested $1,500,000 in the nursing home to establish the “Hope” Foundation. The nun wrote a letter of appreciation and entrusted Mia to send it to Freyja.

After reading the content of the appreciation letter, Freyja felt warm deep down. As for the nun, it was obvious to her that her prayers and hard work over the years must have been heard and now rewarded.

Mia looked at her. “The manager has already hired a contractor to renovate the nursing home. With this fund, the manager and others finally don’t have to work so hard.”

Chapter 2533

Freyja placed the letter down and looked up at Mia, who had dyed her hair back. “Flax-colored hair suits you quite well.”

J

Mia smiled and said, “As you advised, I removed the red dye, and it became like this after the red faded.”

“Has your brother’s surgery been scheduled?”

She nodded with a smile. “Yeah, it’s been arranged, and the surgery will take place in a few days, so he doesn’t have to wait so long anymore.”

Freyja got up, walked toward her, and placed her hands on her shoulders. “Then I’ll bring you to a job interview now.”

Mia followed her, chattering and asking along the way, “What’s the job? Where are we going for the interview? Will it be difficult?”

Freyja stopped in front of the car, opened the door, and let her get in first. “You’ll know when you get there.”

“Oh, okay.” She got into the car obediently.

Soon, the car arrived at Blue Valley Manor.

Mia stuck her face against the car window, stared at the huge courtyard, and was once again shocked. What she had been seeing nowadays had really shown her the lifestyles of the top one percenters and their attitude toward life.

Freyja led her out of the car.

A few servants were trimming the garden in the courtyard. When they saw two women arriving at the manor, one of them got up and asked, "May I know who you're here for?"

Freyja answered, "We're here for Mrs. Knowles."

The servant hurriedly responded, "Please give me a minute. I'll let Mrs. Knowles know about your arrival."

When the servant entered the manor, she happened to run into Madam Ames, who was walking down the stairs.

Seeing her rushing in, Madam Ames asked, "What's wrong?"

The servant replied, "There are two ladies outside, and they're here looking for Mrs. Knowles."

Madam Ames was stunned for a moment and looked out of the window.

"I don't know either of them. Are they Mrs. Knowles' friends?"

She gave it a thought for a while and ordered, "Let them in."

After the servant reported their arrival, Freyja took Mia into the living room.

Mia looked around, feeling extremely dazzled. She could not imagine the identity of the people who lived here.

Madam Ames scrutinized their appearances. "May I know who you are?"

Freyja smiled. "I'm Ms. Pruitt, and I'm here to meet Mrs. Knowles. Please let her know about my visit."

‘Pruitt... Could it be that she’s from the Pruitts?’

Madam Ames forced a smile. “Mrs. Knowles hasn’t been feeling too well recently and has already gone to rest.”

“She’s not feeling well?” Freyja narrowed her eyes. “Have you called a doctor here to see her?”

Freyja took a closer look at Madam Ames too. “Who’s the one who hired you?”

“I’ll go upstairs and see her.” Freyja walked past her and wanted to go upstairs.

However, Madam Ames stopped her immediately. “But Mrs. Knowles said that she doesn’t want to be disturbed. You’ll be making my job difficult if you do so.”

At that moment, Daisy’s voice came from upstairs. “Can’t even my friends come to pay me a visit?”

Madam Ames subconsciously panicked. “Ma’am...‘

Coincidentally, Freyja caught a glimpse of her nervousness. She did not say anything but gazed at Daisy.” Daisy, are you okay?”

Daisy came downstairs. “I’m fine. I came out once I heard your voice.”

Freyja supported her as they walked, looked back at Madam Ames, led Daisy to the couch, and sat down. “I know you’re bored, so I’ve found you an employee that can accompany you.”

Daisy was confused.

Freyja asked Mia to come over and introduced her to Daisy. “Her name is Mia, and she’s a nice young lady.”

Mia scratched her cheeks, smiled, thought of something, and quickly bowed. “Hello, Mrs. Knowles. It’s nice to meet you!”

Daisie smiled at her and asked Freyja in a low voice, “Why would you bring her here?”

Freyja leaned closer to her and replied in a low voice, “Trust me, this young lady is a friendly one. Plus, I don’t think the woman that Nollace hired for you is reliable.”

Chapter 2534

Daisie was taken aback and took a glance at Madam Ames. “But Nollace is the one who hired her.”

“She stopped me from meeting you just now, so don’t you think it’s strange? Logically, whenever there’s a guest, she should notify you, the mistress of the manor, no matter what. But she didn’t even notify you, and she was already certain you would drive us away. I can almost feel that this woman is up to something.”

‘A woman’s sixth sense is known to be very accurate. How could an employee have the right to decide on her employer’s behalf?’

‘I don’t believe that Nollace has given her such authority.’

Daisie pursed her lips tightly and did not utter a single word.

Freyja sat upright and took her hand. “Alright, this girl is looking for a job, and I’m not in need of an employee now. That’s why I’m introducing her to you. Don’t worry. I have an eye for a great employee.”

Daisie naturally trusted Freyja, so she nodded. “Okay, I’ll let her stay.”

Freyja got up and walked toward Mia. “You’ll be working here from now on.”

After that, she whispered in her ear, “Remember to keep an eye on Madam Ames behind you at all times. Report to me whenever she acts suspiciously.”

Mia had always been a smart person, and she understood what Freyja meant in an instant. “Understood, leave it to me.”

After Freyja left, Madam Ames walked up to Daisy. “Ma’am, do you really want to keep her? But we’re not in a shortage of servants.”

“She’s an assistant that my second sister-in-law introduced to me.” Daisy looked up at Madam Ames with a calm expression. “Is there a problem with my decision to let her stay?”

“But you have to get Mr. Knowles’s permission-”

Daisy stood up abruptly. “I know Nollace’s the one who hired you, but I’m his wife, and I have a say in who to hire too. Are you saying that what I’ve decided to do is incorrect?”

Madam Ames lowered her head. “Of course not, ma’am. You’ve misunderstood.”

“Do your job, and don’t worry about me doing my part.” After saying that, Daisy walked to the stairwell and looked back at Mia. “You can come up with me.”

Mia nodded with a smile. “Okay.”

Madam Ames watched as they went upstairs and pursed her lips.

‘That woman arranged for someone to work here all of a sudden. Things are getting more and more difficult.’

She quickly took out her cell phone and sent Cecelia a text message, and soon received a reply from her.

[I believe that you can handle it well. You do know what to do, don’t you?]

Madam Ames was stunned. It was obvious that Cecelia wanted her to come up with another plan.

In the afternoon...

Mia accompanied Daisy to go on a stroll in the courtyard. Seeing that Daisy looked rather sullen, she blinked and came up with an idea. “Mrs. Knowles, can I tell you a joke?”

Daisie was taken aback and nodded.

Mia began by telling a short story. “Once upon a time, there was a little boy who was practicing the violin while his father was reading the newspaper. And along with the sound of the boy’s violin, his pet dog began to bark and howl. Finally, his father could not bear it any longer and complained: Can’t you play something that the dog doesn’t understand?”

After a few seconds of silence, Daisie burst out, chuckling.

Seeing her smile, Mia continued. “I have another one. A guy went to see his psychologist alone and asked: Doc, I keep having these alternating, recurring dreams. First I’m a teepee, then I’m a wigwam; then I’m a teepee again, then I’m a wigwam, and then I’m a teepee again... These dreams are driving me nuts. What’s wrong with me?”

“The psychologist replied very calmly: It’s simple, you’re two tents.”

After saying that, Mia made a speechless expression to enhance the joke’s effect.

Daisie’s chuckle intensified, and she seemed to realize that Mia was trying to cheer her up.

“Thank you.” Mia patted her chest. “You’re welcome. It’s my job to make you feel happy!”

Chapter 2535

Daisie sat on a bench in the garden and asked Mia to sit as well. “Will you miss your family when you’re staying abroad?”

Mia froze for a moment and then lowered her gaze. “I have no family.”

“I’m so sorry. I didn’t know about that.”

Mia waved her hand immediately. “It’s okay. You don’t have to apologize to me. I’ve already gotten used to it. I’m an orphan, and I don’t have much of an impression of my parents now, so even if others mention them around me, I won’t feel offended at all.”

Daisie leaned back into the back of the bench. "Since I got pregnant, I've rarely contacted anyone from outside this manor."

"You're pregnant?" Mia was surprised.

Daisie squinted and grinned. "Can't you see it?"

Mia took a short glimpse at her belly. "Ah, I can see it now. The dean said that pregnancy takes a huge toll on a woman's body. You'll get emotionally unstable, and your body will become bloated and fat. You'll also lose appetite and can't sleep well at night, but you don't look very fat."

Daisie chuckled. "Do I really not look fat?"

Mia shook her head and then said, "Perhaps it has something to do with your physique. When I was a volunteer at the orphanage, a woman got pregnant there, and I didn't even notice that she had a big belly when she was eight months in."

"Really?"

"I wouldn't lie to you. Maybe it's because she looked very petite and she loved wearing loose clothes. We only thought that she had put on some weight and only got to know that she was pregnant after she had given birth." Mia also leaned back and sighed. "It's a pity that the woman was abandoned by her man in the end, and she had to abandon the baby at the orphanage because she couldn't afford to raise the child."

Daisie was about to ask her something when Madam Ames interrupted them. "Ma'am, Mr. Knowles has returned."

She responded calmly, "Okay."

Madam Ames took a glance at Mia and left.

Knowing that Daisie had not been very happy recently, Nollace returned early today and bought Daisie her favorite dessert and a box of prunes while he was on his way back.

He passed the dessert and prunes to the servant.

Madam Ames walked into the living room. “Sir, a lady who calls herself Ms. Pruitt brought a woman over today and said she would stay here with Mrs. Knowles from now on.”

Nollace turned his head. “Ms. Pruitt is my wife’s second sister-in-law, so I trust the person she introduced.”

‘I know that the Pruitts are his close relatives, but he doesn’t even doubt the person that Ms. Pruitt left here. My job is getting harder and harder as the second goes by. I’ve only managed to gain his trust, got hired as the steward, and had all the maids in the family placed under my control. But here comes an extra person, and she’s been arranged to stay here by Ms. Pruitt.

‘I think she will not only refuse to help me out but will even ruin my plans along the way.

‘I must live up to Ms. Taylor’s high hopes.’

“I know you trust Ms. Pruitt, but the woman that Ms. Pruitt brought here is of unknown origin, so I’m worried that Ms. Pruitt might fall into someone else’s trap.”

Immediately after saying that, Madam Ames added, “I just went to the courtyard to see ma’am, and I heard that woman telling her something about someone pregnant getting abandoned. Ma’am has been emotionally unstable ever since she got pregnant, so wouldn’t that make her imagination run even wilder?”

Seeing Nollace’s sullen expression, Madam Ames heaved a sigh of relief inwardly.

‘As long as he becomes suspicious of that woman and objects to her staying here, she won’t be allowed to stay any longer.

‘I must remove all obstacles for Ms. Taylor.’

Daisie and Mia stepped into the living room, chit-chatting and chuckling out loud. Nollace took a glance at the woman walking beside her and frowned.

Seeing him, Daisie stopped in front of him with a smile and raised her eyebrows. “Nollace, you’re back so early. Don’t you have dinner appointments to attend to?”

Nollace stared at her face, feeling a little helpless.

‘Since the other night, she’s been bringing up the phrase “dinner appointment” over and over again. It seems that she’s very jealous about that night.’

Chapter 2536

Nollace wrapped his arms around her waist. “I won’t go out for dinner anymore. I’ll come back to accompany my wife daily from now on.”

Daisie froze for a moment and then gently pushed him away. “How can you not attend dinner appointments? You’re the director and president of the company. If I don’t let you go, I really can’t imagine what others will think of me. I’d surely get into trouble if someone else were to say that I’m not a considerate wife.”

He frowned. “Who would dare to say so?”

“How could I know?”

Daisie went to the dining table and sat down. Seeing the prunes on the table, she picked up one and put it in her mouth. “Sour food is still the best.”

Nollace walked to her side, propped his hands against the surface of the table, leaned over, stared at her, and laughed. “Are you still angry?”

She replied, “No, what’s there to be angry about?”

Nollace asked the servant to bring the dessert over. “I bought you something that you love.”

Daisie raised her head. “You purposely bought it for me?”

Nollace stroked her hair with his long fingers. “Apart from you, who would have the power to make me make my way through a few stores just to get my hands on our favorite flavor?”

Daisie hooked her index finger, motioning him to come closer. Seeing that, Nollace lowered his head, and she pecked him on the cheek. “This is your reward.”

His smile intensified as he finally managed to coax his wife.

Only then did Daisy think about Mia. “By the way, Mia will work here in the manor from now on. I’m very satisfied with her performance.”

Nollace took a glance at the woman named Mia indifferently.

Mia lowered her head and could not help but feel just how scary this man was!

Madam Ames’ expression changed slightly. “But ma’am, this woman is of unknown origin-”

“What do you mean by unknown origin? Is it because she’s an orphan? Madam Ames, are you discriminating against orphans?” Daisy interrupted her with a smirk.

Madam Ames gazed at Nollace. Seeing that Nollace had not spoken, she felt a little anxious. “I’m only trying to look out for your well-being, ma’am. Not to mention that the manor isn’t short of manpower now. Apart from that, you’re now pregnant. If someone were to put harm in your way, things would become very troublesome.”

“Everyone here is getting paid to work in the manor. Who would do anything to harm me?” Daisy peeled the prune casually. “Are you telling me that I don’t even have the right to keep someone here?”

After saying that, she stared at Nollace pitifully. “Nollace, how about you swap me out as the mistress of this manor? Look, none of the people that you hired will even listen to what I say. They are all your employees to start with, and all they do is work together to come at me, making me feel like an outsider.” Madam Ames broke into a cold sweat and did not dare look at Nollace.

The servants stood on the side cowardly and did not utter a single word.

Nollace narrowed his eyes as he knew that Daisy would not say these words for no reason. After a short while, he lifted his hand and rubbed her on the head. “If you want to keep her, you can keep her. I’ll leave her employment to you.”

“Sir-”

“My wife is the mistress of this manor. Do you people have any questions about this?” Nollace’s gaze swept across the room and stopped on Madam Ames.

Madam Ames shook and lowered her head. “No, I don’t have any questions.”

‘I have to think of another way now.’

Madam Ames walked up to Mia and was about to give Mia orders when Daisy said, “There’s no need for you to arrange chores for her. She’s not required to take orders from you.”

Madam Ames was astonished. She stared at Daisy in surprise and at the same time, asked Nollace for his opinion.

Nollace glanced at Daisy. He noticed that she was exhilarated, so he agreed to her arrangement. “She can do anything she wants.”

Madam Ames gnashed her teeth secretly and wondered if Daisy knew something.

‘It looks like I’ll have to report this to Ms. Taylor.’

Back in the bedroom...

Nollace picked up Daisy and put her down on the bed. “What has happened within these few days? Are you not very satisfied with Madam Ames? Why have you been targeting her recently?”

Daisy looked at him. “Are you satisfied with her performance?”

Nollace thought for a while. “She’s great at housekeeping. At least the house has been kept in an orderly manner when it’s under her management.”
