The Vampire Omega by Angelic 11

Lucas stared at the priest, giving a mischievous smile, it was no doubt that the whole pack knew his mind already, that he was going to reject the omega. An Omega could not possibly rule the pack beside him. He needed someone capable enough to stay beside him when he guards the pack.

"Do you young alpha Lucas"

The priest asked again, cutting Lucas out of his thoughts.

Lucas watched the omega, her face filled with immense pain, more than he had ever seen. He was ready to reject her, but he had a plan, a plan to accept her, take her then reject her.

"Yes I do accept her as my mate"

Lucas said, at his words, a scream was heard, piercing the four walls of the room. It was Kira, she could not believe that the alpha's son had accepted that worthless thing. Bella was a whore and she had secretly lured the alpha's son, Lucas, to her disgusting trap.

"Lucas how dare you"

Kira said, wanting to run towards Lucas, but two men held her tightly, her face filled with rage and more hatred for her worthless sister.

"Take her out from the party, she disturbs the party"

The queen Luna said, and at her words, two guards came, dragging Kira out from the room. Lara stood, still dumbfounded over these changes of things that had just happened in her face. The alpha's son could not possibly be serious with his words, maybe these were his pranks, to deal with her sister Bella. She hoped so, she hoped her thoughts were true, but Lucas could not possibly prank with something that has to do with mating, the goddess was involved in these. Or could he, her thoughts were be clouded with different thoughts, likewise the entire pack, the murmurings could be heard among the pack members, no one had expected the alpha's son to have accepted the omega, it was unthinkable.

Bella stood shocked, shocked at what she had heard, Lucas had accepted her, without thinking twice, so quickly, she smelt something evil in his acceptance, there was no way Lucas would accept her unless he plans something dangerous or evil towards her.

There was a time to brace up, not think about why he had accepted her or not.

"Good, now I pronounce you mates"

The priest said again, looking at the both newly found mates, he was not much into the pack's social lifestyle, so he did not know the pack's omega, he had no interest whatsoever in the pack's status, but he was not blind to see the enmity and un comfortability going on between the two newly found mate, naturally, the female mate should be asked if she was accepting her male mate, as the male mate had been asked, but it was going to be impossible to do so because it was the alpha's son they were talking of, moreover, no woman with a right sense could reject an alpha mate. It had never been heard for, so why ask the female mate about her own decision.

Her decision won't change anything.

"Let's celebrate my son's newly found mate, finding your mate is a thing of joy.

Alpha Vincent said, baring his teeth as he spoke. The goddess had disgraced his lineage by granting him an omega for his son as a mate.

And quickly the feast began, all over again. But this time, it was filled with more gossips on how the omega must have cast a spell on Lucas.

Bella turned around, about to walk out, she could not remain in this acidic place, the feast turns out to be the worst feast she has ever encountered.

But a voice came, stopping her on her tracks, turning around, her eyes made a contact with Lucas, making her heart skip immediately.

"You leave the party so quickly, do you perhaps think you will leave so quickly, to hide away from your mate"

Lucas said, casting her a deadly smirk, not giving her time to protest, he grabbed her hands, dragging her to the dancing floor. The whole pack stood shocked at what has just happened, the omega was dancing together with them, that was unbelievable.

"Your face looks as If it just saw a ghost"

Lucas said, as he circled his hands around her waist, he felt her tense, he mentally smiled, very soon, he does have her and then rejects her.

That was all he wanted from her, dancing with her was some sacrifice he had to make so that the whole pack would believe his lies later in the future.

Bella looked low, she was not a bit comfortable that this devil was dancing with her. She found herself disgusting, that she was been touched by Lucas.

"Your tongue got tied huh"

Lucas said, but yet he never received any response from her. Bella had never danced before, not in public, the only person she had ever danced with was with her Papa. A tear glistened down her cheeks, she waved it off, not wanting the devil of a bastard to see her tears.

"Let's see how these ends"

Lucas said, quickly Bella looked up, there was danger roaming in those smiles of his, those words came with danger. And just as quickly as he had made those smile, he kept his left leg under Bella's two footings making her land her butt on the floor. A mild scream erupted from her lips, and the whole pack turned, looking at what had happened, they laughed at her. She was truly a drama queen, trying to get fake attention for herself.

Bella stood up, she was not expecting Lucas to change so quickly all because she was his mate. Holding back the tears that were trying to escape her lips, she Ran out from the room, heading towards her room, she turned towards the hall that leads to her room, someone grabbed her with full force, hitting her on the wall, making a light yelp to escape her lips, looking up, it was Kira, her eyes were red with anger. Bella could feel the rage and hatred sipping through her.

"How dare you take what belongs to me. You damn whore"

Kira said, walking towards her, bending down, she dragged her hair as she smashed her on the wall, a terrible painful scream erupted out from Bella's lips, her scream delighted Kira, a heavy laugh escaped her lips. She enjoyed torturing her little sister, if possible, she would end her life as quickly, and no one would know about it.

Again she walked towards Bella, each step she took towards her made Bella move back with pain, her previous wounds have not been healed, and she was getting newer wounds.

"And now you think you can escape that so easily"

Kira said, approaching her.

"The goddess mated him to me, I never did ask for him to be my mate, Kira"

Bella said, defending herself, she was not going to allow Kira blame her for getting mated to Lucas.

"How dare you reply me back and even rudely call my name you bitch"

Kira said, looking at her with anger,

"What are you going to do, hit me, because you are jealous I got mated to Lucas. But you are the one who is just his whore"

Bella said, it was time she learned how to speak up, she was tired of the whole pack trampling upon her.

Kira's eyes shone red with anger, her canines protruded out from her mouth.

"How dare you, OMEGA"

Kira said, tearing her fingers on Bella's skin, but this time, a scream never left her lips, she was going to show her that she was not weak, like everyone, but she had one problem though, she could not fight her sister, her sister was way stronger than her.