

The Vampire Omega by Angelic 2

Bella gave him a face-breaking slap and then pushed him with a huge force, that sent him almost smashing the floor on his blows came, hitting her on the face, each following after the other, knocking her out of her breath than she had never expected, she crashed on the wall, the blows becoming too hard to endure, the crash of her body making the wall to have a tiny crack, giving an outline of her body, which showed on the wall, as her head bashed on the wall. Then the blows stopped coming, seeing that the blows never came after a minute, she looked up, thinking that the devil was gone, but she saw him, still standing, maybe watching to know if she was dead. But the devil still maintained his pose. Lucas was not done with the girl yet, he bent towards her, watching as she groan with pain, but he never seemed to mind, he was going to have her, whether she likes it or not, he wanted her, so he will have her. Even without her own free will, he watched as she backed off closer to the wall, as he touched the hem of her dress, she groaned with pain, he saw some parts of her skin changed to red, some with purple bruises, she had brought out the best in him, but he never mind, he will have her.

“Please don’t do these, I beg you in the name of the goddess, do not do these”

Bella’s voice sounded so quiet in the room, a normal human won’t even perceive she was talking, but the beast standing in front of her was a werewolf, he could understand her, even the sound of her fast heartbeat.

“Why do you think I will listen to your pleas, after you have hurt me, we would have been enjoying ourselves now, maybe having our climax, but no, you were so stubborn and foolish, you would have been the one moaning under my arms to my delight as I bring you to the edge”

Lucas said, gritting his teeth with anger,

“But you had slapped me, and alpha’s son, the soon-to-be alpha to the Air Winder pack. Now listen, I will take you no matter how badly hurt you are, and if you dare stop me, I will make you worse than you are now”

Lucas said, not minding if there was blood on her body,

“Over my dead body will I allow you lay your filthy hands on me, I repeat, I do rather die than to allow you lay with me, you are a coward, and you do not fit to be the alpha, your father is better and wiser than you are”

Bella said, she knew she does be in trouble for her words, but she will never allow anyone to take advantage of her so easily. As expected, Lucas did not take her words to be too simple, her words have hit him like a hammer on his head, sending him wild with requited rage, if it was a death that she needed, he would offer it to her in a platter of gold.

“You keep daring me, hahaha, I can not believe that an omega could actually have the mind to talk back to me, am I losing my respect so quickly, but, since you wished for death than allowing me to have sex with you, I do offer it to you. Death is what you deserve because if I don't make sure you are dead, your tongue might be too sharp or too loose, that you might not know when you tell the whole pack I tried forcing myself with you, but no one would believe you. Why?"

Lucas said, bending down a little to whisper into her ears,

"Because they will not believe the words of an omega. But I don't want any single tarnish in my image. So I will have to silence you forever"

Lucas said, his eyes filled with murder, the zeal to kill. Bella had never seen something like these in him, in anyone, her eyes became instantly filled with fear, watching at every move that he made, so she was going to die like these, without no mate to love her, but she do accept it willingly, gladly than having any form of sexual relationship with him.

"Then I do die willingly"

She said, seeing as another look of surprise fell on his face, she did not see it coming, because, he had come with full force, attacking her on her already weak body, with full force, and just as he hit her, she crashed on the ground, welcoming the darkness that engulfed her.

Lucas looked at her, having seen how the wretched whore had collapsed, dead, he smiled, that fit her, it will teach her a lesson never to dare refuse his advances in her next life. Opening the door, he watched outside the hall, watching carefully if someone was looking, not wanting to be caught, he escaped the room, leaving the omega, lifeless.