

The Vampire Omega by Angelic 21

/ The Vampire Omega by Angelic

Bella looked around the room once more, the vampire had given her time to get used to her environment, which she was most grateful for.

The flashbacks of what happened the previous night kept hitting on her head.

Finding out Lucas was her mate, the rape, the rejection, escaping from the pack, the attack from her the rogues, her heart skipped, those weren't rogues, she could absolutely remember that those were her pack members who had come attacking her in full force.

At first, their scent possesses the scent of her pack, but when they had entered the vampire's land, they smelt like rogues.

Even though she couldn't grasp their human face when they had come attacking, but she clearly knew they were her pack members, they belong to the same pack, but why had they come, attacking her on the lands of the vampires.

It was an abomination for another creature to enter into the lands of the vampires or any other creatures without more permission, and she had wondered, why she hadn't been killed yet.

The opening of the door caused her to back away from the walls. As a man with a white coat came walking towards her, it was no doubt it was the doctor who had been appointed to check on her, but her heart skipped at every single step the man-made towards her.

Each step the man took changed his facial appearance, which was becoming blurry at first, but later on, became clear, the doctor who had come to treat her had changed to Lucas, she heard him speaking, but his words had changed to laughter instead.

A scream emitted from her lips as she pushed her body back to the headboard. Another scream emitted out from her lips again as she felt Lucas strode towards her.

She saw the door open with full force, and she saw someone strode towards her, her eyes were too heavy and blurry to grasp out who the man was, but he had the stature of a man.

She made another scream, too weak to scream again, and she saw someone running towards her, quietly she succumb to darkness, her brain too weak to accept the fact that Lucas had been in the same room with her.

"What the fuck happened to her? What the hell did you do to her?"

Blade screamed, looking at the doctor who was still shocked by what had just happened. He had only but wanted to treat the young lady, he had started speaking to her, trying to know about how she was doing, when he heard a scream emitted from her lips.

"I never did anything to her King Blade, I had only come to treat her, and she erupted into a scream. I never did anything to her, believe me, King Blade."

The doctor said, fearing for his life already, the king would not think twice to rip him apart if he do not explain what had happened to the she-wolf.

"And who had sent you to check on her?"

Blade asked, looking at his mate with sadness, he had heard her scream from his office, his sharp senses were strong enough to hear her screams and he had come running towards her in quick strides.

"The queen mother had informed me to go check on she-wolf, and when I had entered the room, she had screamed when she saw me coming towards her."

The doctor said, hoping the king believed him.

"Leave, but I want you to inform my mother that her presence is demanded in my mate's room."

Blade said, looking at his mate, but turned looking at the doctor who had not left the room yet.

"Why still standing here and not executing the task given to you?"

Blade asked, watching as the doctor bowed to him.

"Am sorry not to have grasped what you meant by mate, as I had come to know. You do not have any mate."

The doctor said, he had not planned to say the last sentence, but he wanted to clarify himself.

The blade hissed at the doctor's question, obviously unhappy that the doctor had asked him these useless questions, but it was not the doctor's fault though, not everyone had heard the news about him finding his mate, which he would have loved to make it official to the hearing of everyone's ears that he had gotten himself a mate. But he knew he couldn't, not now that his mate is in a bad shape. But he will make sure she knew who she was to him. Then make the announcement afterward when he was sure she had accepted him.

"She is my mate, got that?"

Blade said, staring at the doctor who nodded his head immediately, shocked at what the king had informed him.

Quickly, the doctor walked out of the room, running to inform the queen's mother that the king demanded her presence.

Blade stared at his mate for a while, his mate was not just scared of him, she was scared of everyone, not just him. At first, he thought she was scared of his aura, he possessed a dark aura that makes people scamper away from him, but seeing his mate scampering away from him was a terrible sight, but he would amend her fear soon enough.

He walked towards her, her running away from him every time he tried walking close to her had not given him the chance to see her features.

He lightly brushed a side of her hair, trying not to wake her up from her sleep.

She had thick black hair, which compliments her smooth face, her eyebrows fully carved as if they had been carved by an artist. Her lashes, longer than she had ever seen in any being. His eyes stretched towards her lips, her lips was deep bloody red, so tempting to his sight, he made a low growl, the sight of her lips had turned him on and with every power left in him, he left the bed, walking away from her, he knew if he stayed beside her any longer, he would take her, the mate bond was affecting him and he hoped, he had every patience in him to wait for her, till she is ready to accept him fully, would happen soon enough. That he was sure of because he would make sure that happens.

The door opened revealing his mother, immediately she stepped into the room, he made a growl, and with a light speed, he tackled his mother on the wall.

He did not care if she was his mother or not, what he cared about were his mate and her health.

"Why bring a male doctor for my mate."

The Vampire Omega by Angelic 22

/ The Vampire Omega by Angelic

Selene was dumbfounded at the question thrown towards her, her son had attacked her because she had sent a male doctor to treat his mate.

"Mother, I ask you a question."

Blade said, glaring at his mother with full anger.

"Till you leave my hold. Will you recompense me good?"

Selene said, she was stubborn with pure blood running inside of her, she will not allow her son to mistreat her, never, she was the queen and she never wished anything evil towards his mate.

"Fine, will do as you wished Selene. But I will love to hear your answer to my question."

Blade said, freeing his mother from his hold. Selene glared at him with anger.

"Your mate needs to be free with everyone, she needs to learn how to accept the entire pack, both male and female, she needs to learn how to be bold and she needs to get past her fears or whatsoever pass she had."

Selene half screamed, she knew if the vampire king continues treating his mate like a weakling, then she will not get past her fears, she will be a miserable she-wolf, leaving in her own shell.

"You have not answered my question mother. Why did you bring a male doctor to treat my mate?"

Blade asked, staring at his mother with anger. She had failed to answer his question and instead told him loads and loads of statements that he had never wanted to hear at first.

"She needed to be treated, and Mr. Klaus is the only one who can treat her wounds better than the other female doctors. I had intended to be with her when Mr. Klaus begins his treatment with her, but I was caught up with things that also needed my attention, but I had intended to be here as soon as the doctor started his treatment with her"

Selene said, staring at the wolf.

"She had requested for my presence in the room with her when she receives treatment."

Selene said, still watching the girl, who seemed to be affected by her past.

Blade quickly looked at his mother, his mate had requested for his mother's presence, but not his, instead his mate was shitty scared of him.

He made a light growl, quite displeased with the way everything sounds.

Selene looked up at the vampire king, she had heard a growl ripped off from his lips and she wondered if her words had affected the king in any way.

"She needs you, but she doesn't need me, that is quite interesting to hear. Isn't it mother?"

Blade said, looking at his mother who instead would give him an answer threw him a smile.

"You look jealous, of your own mother Blade Hemlock."

Selene said, looking at his son with interest.

"You are whipped."

Selene said, flashing him a smile.

"It's natural when you meet your mate, you get whipped and crazy for each other. Isn't that how it was for your mother?"

Blade asked, flashing her an evil smirk. Selene's mood instantly changed to sadness, her bond with the former king had broken, when she had committed the worst atrocity ever committed in all the land of the vampires and there was no doubt her son had hated her for these very acts.

"You keep silent mother."

Blade said, winking at his mother.

A light scream erupted from the bed where his mate lay.

Blade and Selene looked up towards the bed, and they saw she-wolf, struggling with the blankets, but her eyes were tightly closed as if she was battling with a deadly dream.

Without thinking twice, Blade ran towards her, holding her still, but yet, she was not responding as she kept battling with herself in the dream.

Blade wrapped his arms around her, whispering sweet words into her ears, slowly, she stopped struggling with herself, unconsciously wrapping her arms around him, and slowly, she went back to sleep.

Blade looked at her, watching the rising and falling of her breath as she slept peacefully.

"She seems to be affected too, by the bond."

Selene said, smiling widely.

Blade slightly looked up at his mother, a bubbling feeling of happiness rose in his chest, he had calmed his mate from her nightmare, he had fucking calmed her down. He had not experienced this joy in a lifetime, and he felt hope, hope that is his mate would accept him, and his arms were wide open for her to find comfort.

"You need to free her now, you need to let her go. She needs rest."

Selene said, testing the patience of her son.

Blade growled at her, not happy one bit with her words. He wished this moment would last forever, this moment of his mate, been in his arms would last for a maybe for a tiny minute, but here his mother was, trying to prevent him from having a wonderful moment with his mate.

"You do not tell me what to do with my mate. She is mine, exclusively mi.."

"I know I know, am not a fucking male that would snatch your mate away from you. But she needs rest, she is only accepting you because she is in a deep slumber. Try hugging her when she is awake, the whole castle will crumble under her scream."

Selene said, smiling lightly, expecting the worst from Blade.

A low growl ripped out from Blade's lips, he strode towards his mother, his eyes flaring with anger. He hated the thought of knowing the fact that his mate was not accepting him, but rather was ignoring him, and hearing it from another being, was not making any good, instead, it aggravated his frustration.

"Do not ever you repeat those words, never, because if you do mother, you would not like what I would do to you. Moreover, Shortly, she will accept me."

Blade said, walking out from his mother's presence, controlling his anger.

Selene knew her son's words were not empty words. He meant everything he said, when it comes to what he loves which had never happened but just once, which was loving his mate, he does make sure he protects her at all cost.

A knock came resounding on the door and the door opened, revealing a woman, in a white coat.

Selene turned abruptly looking at Blade with surprise on her face.

"Good morning king Blade, you requested my attention."

Isabella said, turning to look at the queen's mother.

"Ooh queen Selene, I never knew you were here."

Isabella said, holding her hands on her lips in surprise.

"Yes, how did you arrive here, I thought you were in Valeria, treating the other vampires who got infected with pneumonia."

Selene asked, she never liked the presence of this female doctor, Isabella had been more closer to her son than she had ever been. There was no doubt, the doctor had a thing for her son.

"I mind linked her, I told her there was an emergency and she had discarded whatsoever she was doing to attend to my request. Isn't that so doctor Everest?"

Blade said, smiling at the female doctor who gave him a cheerful smile in return.

He knew his mother and Isabella were never on good terms, but he never cared about how much they hated each other, what mattered to him was the health of his mate.

“Yes king Blade, what can I do for you?”

Isabella asked, smiling at the king.

“I need you to check on her, I need to be sure everything is intact, no broken bones or any health malfunctioning.”

Blade said, watching as Isabella strode towards his mate.

Selene watched the two, it was as if, she had been totally forgotten she was in the room. She hissed, hoping the female doctor leave the room as soon as possible.

“She is a werewolf.”

Isabella said, perceiving the scent that ripped off from the body that lay on the bed.

“Yes, she is.”

Blade said, nodding his head. It was hard to believe that the goddess had blessed him with a mate, a beautiful mate at such.

“Not just a werewolf, but his mate.”

Selene said, smiling at the doctor who looked up at the queen immediately after she made those statements.

“Ooh, that is great to hear. Congratulations king Blade”

Isabella said, her words seemed forced as if she was regretting treating the werewolf. Selene was not daft not to have recognized the anger in her words. Isabella never meant what she said.

Blade stared at his mother, wondering why she had made those statements.

He was about to open his mouth to speak when the door to the room opened, Carson stepped into the room, bowing down to the king.

“What is the problem?”

Blade asked, staring at him.

"Ashrak Azura is here, she had insisted on seeing you."

Carson said the daughter of the elder had caused a scene stating she must meet the king.

Blade made a low hiss, he looked at his mate, he never wanted to leave her side, but he knew if he ignored the elder's daughter, she would create another problem for him.

"Fine let's go. Mother watch over my mate and never leave her side!"

Blade said it was not a request, it was an order. Not giving his mother time to respond, he left the room, together with Carson. He knew his mother was not foolish enough to disobey him.

She wouldn't dare disobey him.

The Vampire Omega by Angelic 23

/ The Vampire Omega by Angelic

"It's quite obvious you do not like the king's mate."

Selene said, staring at the doctor who wouldn't dare look at her in the face.

"Why do you think I will have such feelings towards the king's mate queen Selene?"

Isabella said, looking at the queen slightly before continuing with what she was doing.

"Because it's quite obvious you do not like the girl. You love the king, the way your eyes shone with sadness when I made known about the king's slave to your hearing was not something I cannot miss in a short while."

Selene said, challenging the doctor to speak lies if what she said was false.

"I do not know what you are talking of, but what I know is that I meant good for the king's mate and the king himself."

Isabella said, defending herself from the words which the queen mother said, she was mindful of how she spoke, the queen mother might not hesitate to kill her if she whispered any foul words.

"Then why did you rush down to meet the king immediately he had asked for your presence."

Selene said, watching as the doctor removed the old bandage from her legs, applying an ailment then switching to a newer one.

"Queen Selene, the king had demanded to see me and I came running immediately to meet him as he had requested. Who am I to disobey the king's orders."

Isabella said, throwing a light smile at the queen's mother.

"Really, is that so."

Selene said, not ready to quit the argument.

"Yes, queen Selene. I do not have any hate towards the king's mate."

Selene said, tracing her fingers on the king's mate's hair, the girl looked lovely, young and innocent, too innocent to be the king's mate.

The queen's mother was right, she had a deep affection for the king, but now she had to find out that the king had a mate, she.....did not think she will get rid of those feelings.....so quickly.

"What if I have a way I can make your feelings towards the king not to be wasted. Don't you think this little she-wolf is too downgrading to have been the king's mate?"

Selene said, waiting to see the reaction of Isabella.

Isabella looked up at her quickly, the queen's mother was trying to play with her head.

"If the king belongs to me, then the gods will bring him to me if he belongs to someone else..."

Isabella said, turning to look at the king's mate,

"Then the gods will lead him to her, and the gods had already picked who is best for the king, who am I to question the god's order. I do not wish for death."

Isabella said, looking at the queen once more, she stood up, dropping some bags of drugs on the table which stood beside the bed.

"These drugs should be given to the king's mate when she awakes, and please make sure she takes a lot of apricot soup. It will make her heal faster. Goodbye queen Selene, hope to see you soonest."

Isabella said, walking out of the room. She had taken everything in her to be near the King's mate and the queen, the queen was not someone she could mess with nor tolerate.

Selene stared at the door which just closed, shocked to the brim. She was not expecting the doctor to leave so quickly, the doctor loved her son, now giving her a gift in a platter of gold and then rejecting it was not favorable.

A cough from the bed broke her from her thought and she turned quickly, staring at the bed.

She-wolf looked as if she had woken up from a nightmare.

Selene strode towards her in quick strides, holding her into her arms. She-wolf looked scared, and she knew all she needed were sweet words that she never knew how to give, but she does try.

“Shhhhh, is alright, is just a dream, whatever you dreamt was a BAAAAA dream and will never come to pass.”

Selene said, hoping her words made no effect on the girl.

Bella looked at the woman sitting on the bed beside her and comforting her.

Her hair was messed up and she was happy the huge man Blade had not seen her like this, she shook her head, getting rid of those thoughts. She had a terrible dream a few minutes ago and here she was thinking about the ruthless vampire king.

“They were after me, they were trying to get hold of me and take me back, I do not want to go back, please do not send me back.”

Bella said, tears glistening in her eyes as she spoke.

Selene stared at the wolf, she had not known her yet, but she felt pity for her, something she had never felt before for someone, not to talk of a she-wolf.

“Who was after your life”

Selene said, staring at she-wolf who quickly looked up at her, she could feel the fear that sipped out from her body. The fear was ready to capture anybody close to her, but she was not anybody, she was a vampire, a pure-blooded vampire.

“My pack. They are here!”

Bella said, standing up from the bed, with a quick swift, she jumped out from the bed, her ass landed on the floor and a scream escaped from her lips. She had forgotten that she had not healed properly.

Isabella stared at the wolf, her eyes switched up, boring daggers at the wolf. First, the she-wolf stood beside her, receiving words of kindness which she had never given to anyone in her entire half-decade life of living, and next she ran out from the bed, landing her ass on the ground.

There was no doubt, the wolf was trying to bring trouble for her.

“Come back to the bed, no werewolves are here except you. Is a good thing you are beginning to open up, but not a good thing that you are always landing your fucking ass on the floor always, do you wanna put me in trouble, by getting my head detached by the vampire king, my son?”

Isabella said, watching as she-wolf waved her head furiously, obviously scared with the thought of seeing ahead detached from one’s body all because of her.

“The vampire king kills and cuts head just for someone, but he is your son?”

Bella asked, knowing the vampiress would not help her stand up, using all the strength in her, she stood up from the ground, walking towards the bed.

Selene rolled her eyes, she had done a mistake by mentioning one of the king’s habits to her and she hoped she-wolf never one day discuss this topic in the future with the king.

“Yes, but he only does that for one person, whom you will get to know later in the future. As for me being his mother, it does matter, he is my king, and I need to obey orders”

Selene said, throwing her a smile.

“Oooh, I understand”

Bella said, she was beginning to feel free with this vampiress, but she did not know if her freedom would extend to others, maybe to the alpha king, she waved her head, no, never Will she be close to him. He possessed a dark sweet aura, and he is sexy and hot and mouthwatering more than other men she had seen, more than Lucas. Again, she waved her head, these time, more furiously, what was she thinking, comparing two dangerous men together and thinking about the appearance of the vampire king who would not hesitate to kill her if he ever had a clue of what was going on through her head.

“Why the sudden waving of the head?”

Selene asked, she had seen her wave her head multiple times and she wondered what insane thoughts runs through her head.

“Oooh, is nothing. Just a silly thought of mine.”

Bella said, giving her a light smile, a tiny pinkish blush appearing on her face.

“Ok if you say so. What is your name, please do remind me again.”

Selene said, not arguing further with the wolf.

“Am Bella Manchor”

Bella said, her last word sounding bitter on her lips.

“You bear the same name, Isabella.”

Selene said, were these a coincidence, that her son’s mate and the doctor shared the same name. Then what about the elder’s daughter, Azura, would she bear a Manchu. Selene thought, smiling at her funny thoughts.

“Is there a problem with my name queen...”

Bella said, realizing she did not know the name of the queen’s mother.

“Am queen Selene, and there is no problem with your name. I mean is your name and your parents had given you a nice name, am just thinking about a woman, who bears the same name, whom you will get to meet In the future.”

Selene said, giving her an assuring smile.

A knock on the door was heard and a young maid stepped into the room.

“Doctor Isabella had requested for an apricot drink should be made for the young girl.”

The young maiden said, bowing her head low, too scared to stare at the vampire queen, but she was curious to know who the young she-wolf was, her scent had indicted her identity.

“Ok, drop it on the table and leave.”

Selene said, watching as the maid bowed down once more, but not failing to take a look at she-wolf. Before exiting the room.

The Vampire Omega by Angelic 24

/ The Vampire Omega by Angelic

Bella stared at the food in front of her, the aroma of the food smelt nice. She inhaled, she had not seen such type of food, because it smelt good. When she was living in the pack, she was not fed properly.

“The doctor had decided you take some medicines then eat some foods so you can heal properly and regain your strength.”

Selene said the reaction she was seeing on the wolf’s face was of pity.

“Haven’t you had this kind of meal In your life before?”

Selene asked, looking at the wolf who gave her a side glance.

"I Only ate dried bread and leftover foods that fell from the King's table. I haven't tasted anything like these that sight is beholding, it seems strange knowing the fact I would taste something like these."

Bella said she had spoken the truth, she had never tasted anything as such, the food looked too good to be real or meant for her.

Selene growled at her words, quite displeased with the fact that she-wolf had never been given the best foods everyone deserved, she wondered what position she held but she decided to keep that to herself.

"Eat, unless the food gets cold."

Selene said, smiling down at her slightly.

Bella widened her eyes with surprise, obviously surprised that this food had belonged to her, something she would never believe she would eat In her entire life.

'If only Kira and Lara were here, watching as she ate a food which they thought she would never eat in her entire life, they do kill themselves in jealousy.'

She thought smiling quietly.

Immediately the food touched her lips, she moaned with excitement, she hadn't tasted anything as such, whatever she was eating was definitely the best on her list.

"Do not show people how much you loved something, it might be used against you someday. Do not make it obvious to people, both strangers or known people that you love a particular food, because it could be used against you in the future."

Selene said, smiling promptly at her.

Shariah stared at her, totally confused with what she said.

"In the future, you will understand what I meant, just follow by my rules, to keep you safe. Enemies lurk around in the castle, looking for you to devour."

Selene said, whispering the last words in her ears.

Bella froze with fear, someone was after her even in the vampire land, but why would someone be after her, she was just a newbie who has just unknowingly crossed into the vampire land, so why would anyone be after her life, or maybe, few people do not want to see her in the vampire king's palace. Well, there was one thing she would do, one thing she always does, she runs, she would escape from the vampire land today, the food had given her enough strength already.

"You speak trash Ashrak Azura, I will never mate with you, I have fucking found myself a mate."

Blade said, only a thin line was stopping him from ripping the vampiress who stood a few feet away from him apart.

"But you fucked with me, I gave you blood, we fucking had sex."

Azura said, glaring at the insane king who was ripping her plans asunder, she had been in the hospital for almost a week now, because the king had sucked her blood so damn hard that she fell, almost dead.

"And I gave you power, the power you always wanted, I gave you wealth, isn't that what you needed from me, fucking answer me, weren't we just an ordinary people, with benefits, we gave each other, what we needed"

Blade screamed at her, punching his fist on the wall, almost close to her head.

A gasp escaped Azura's lips, she could not believe the king was trying to harm her.

"I needed more to that, I always wanted a real relationship with you!"

Azura screamed, she was the one woman who could challenge the king without hesitating.

Blade stared at her for a while, the little bitch was definitely insane.

He smiled, his smile turning wider before he ripped off to huge laughter.

Azura was dumbfounded at the King's reaction, it was the first time she had seen the king laugh so hard, and she wondered maybe if it was her words that has caused him to reel with laughter.

Then slowly, she saw his laughter change into a frown, No! Not a frown, but a full-blown scary face she had never seen the king in.

He was fast, faster than any, and with full force, her body got slammed on the wall, a painful hiss escaping from her lips.

"What did I just hear you say!"

The blade hissed, caging her on the wall, his canines baring out, ready to attack, he could not believe the bitch was trying to take a foolish move on him.

"I am the one meant for you not the bitch you have as a ma.."

Her body got slammed on the wall, making a terrible painful scream escape her lips.

“How dare you bitch call my mate a bitch, you would have told me you needed death so I could file it in the council that you no longer wished to live but want to die in my hands”

Blade said, walking towards her, she was a strong vampiress, a hit on the wall would not cause many effects on her.

“She is a bitch, I heard she is a werewolf, our worst enemy, and she trembles when she sees a man, she is a whore who covers her dirty clothing under pretentious act!”

Azura screamed, without a doubt, she has hated the wolf even without meeting her and she will make sure the wolf meets her end.

Blade growled, again with a full speed, his speed was so fast that she hardly saw it coming.....

The blade slammed her body on the wall, causing a little crack to appear on the wall.

“You still speak when it is quite obvious I do not want you to.”

Blade said, he was breathing with anger, his eyes flashing between red and black. This wild untamed vampiress was trying to disrespect him.

Well, he does put her in her place.

“No matter the push, no matter the hitting, you still mine, YOU ARE MINE.....”

Azura growled, standing on feet, not hurt nor shaken with the numerous slamming the king was giving her, it was worth everything she was receiving.

Blade smiled, she really was still optimistic.

With a low speed, he caged her on the wall, he do prove to her that he never belongs to her.

With the swift of his jaw, he slammed his canines on her neck, taking a good amount of her blood; because he had bitten her so terribly, a scream escaped from her lips.

Quickly, he left her body, leaving her to fall on the ground.

He stepped away from her, he watched her as she looked up at him, her face was filled with anger.

She was not yet fully healed, but yet he sucked her blood.

She stood up, growling with anger.

"How dare you suck my bl..."

"I never sucked your blood bitch, I was trying to prove to you that you weren't mine."

Blade said, opening his mouth widely, the blood which he had sucked had turned black, thick black, it seemed like poison, but because he was a king, the vampire King, a little amount of it could not affect him. Then quickly, he wiped the blood off with a towel, thick black blood filled the towel.

"Your blood is meaningless to me, now I have found my mate. Only the blood of my mate can taste good to me."

Blade said, smiling at her, watching as her face turned red with anger, he saw a feeling which settled in her eyes, it was a feeling of.....defeat, he smiled the more, he had placed the vampiress in her position where she belongs.

"She cannot give you blood she is weak."

Azura said she was not going to quit fighting even with the measly discovery she saw. She could give him the blood, there was always a way for everything.

"Blood! Will she give me when she is ready to, she is not my blood keeper, she is my mate....to protect and to love."

Blade said, smiling, he was missing his mate already.

"And what am I to you?"

Azura said, waiting to receive the most heartbreaking news she had ever received.

Blade smiled at her, I only she was not stubborn, things would have been better. But when it involved Azura, things were never better instead it will worsen till it leads to death.

"You are just a bitch, a beneficial bitch to me."

Blade said, his words caused her to shake with pure anger and hatred, not just for the vampire king, but for his disgusting weak mate. There was only one way of making the king hers, which was getting rid of his mate. And that, would she do.

"You bast..."

"Stop Azura Ashrak!"

A voice resonated in the room, causing the two vampires to stare at who the voice belonged to. It was Alaric, the father of Azura.

“Father”

Azura said, her eyes widened with surprise, she was not expecting to see her father in here in the vampire King’s castle.

“You are better than these.”

Alaric said, looking at his daughter, before turning to glare at the vampire king.

The Vampire Omega by Angelic 25

/ The Vampire Omega by Angelic

“You do not display such kind of behavior here Azura Ashrak, the king decides whom to choose.”

Alaric said, staring at his daughter, before again turning to look at the king, giving him a low bow.

“Long live the king, I am sorry for my daughter’s evil behavior, I will make sure she is punished adequately.”

Alaric said, his face tightened at every single word he spoke.

Aiden smiled devilishly, the senior elder planned to punish his daughter which he finds amusing, he had not expected him to be so kind and good towards him, instead, he had expected him to grumble on how he had almost killed his only daughter.

“What punishment do you intend on giving her. Because your daughter is trying to crawl into a position that does not belong to her one bit, and she needs to be punished adequately, so what punishment do you plan for her, for calling the vampire king names, a disgusting name which does not befit my nature or crown.”

Blade said smiling at the two vampires, he could hear the sound of their heartbeat, sounding murderous, and he knew, if they were given a chance, they would not spare his life. But he would not give them much chance.

“I plan on locking her for a week in my mansion. She would not see the light of the day. Neither would she come disturbing your presence with insistent demands.”

Alaric said, his voice sounding edgy, rasp, and poisonous.

“What father, you cannot do these to me. You can not lock me up all because I came demanding for what belonged to me. He sucked my blood and we had sex countless times and now he find a she-wolf whom he believes is his mate. Not after what he had done to me. I cannot allow such to happen, you cannot punish me for something insane as these.”

Azura said, her face contoured with tears which slide down her jaws, she could feel the taste of her tears as they touched her lips and it tasted disgusting In her lips, she would pay her back, she would make sure she-wolf whatever her name is suffered a fatal fate in her hands and she would make sure she had a taste of her blood just as she was having a taste of her tears.

Blade laughed at the foolish words that slipped out from the spirit bitch lips.

“Your daughter is a whole pussy.....”

He heard a light growl ripped out from the elder’s lips, which made him pause on his words.

He frowned, did the elder just make a threatening growl toward him.

“Did you just make a threatening growl to me”

Blade said, his frown turning to a smile. The elder was obviously unhappy at the choice of the words he used. But he cared less.

Alaric remained quiet, not replying to his question, the king for sure had a conniving way of putting one in trouble.

“Well, I do not care if you make a growl or not. Now as I was previously said, the punishment you had just mentioned is too simple for it to be considered as a punishment, you cannot tame someone like her to remain idle in a mansion for maybe one week. That has not been heard of from Azura. So my punishment for her is to receive a twenty lashes of three horse tail whip for rudely talking to me and for insulting my mate.”

Blade said, gritting his teeth at the last sentence he made.

Azura raised her eyes Quickly staring at him. Her eyes widened with fear and more fear, the king was not possibly serious with what he had said, never was he serious, he was making a joke right?

Alaric quickly looked up at the king, surprised by the king’s words. The king does not seem as if he was joking considering the way he stared at him.

“But king blade, such punishment is too high for a woman like h..”

“Do you dare question my authority, my order, I want her to be greatly punished in front of all the councilmen and villagers and here you are questioning my authorities? Hmm, I increase it to thirty whips then.”

Blade said, Alaric widened his eyes in shock, the king had increased the punishment instead of reduced it, and not only will his daughter be punished but she will be disgraced in front of all the people's who had respected him, she will not just be disgraced, but he will be disgraced.

"Yes, king Blade."

Alaric said, bowing down his head, as he gritted his teeth with anger, the king had started a war, a war he would finish, but first, he would take things slowly. And also, the King's mate would pass through a fatal fate in his hands.

"Father, you can not possibly allow these to happen."

Azura yelled, her voice thick with anger and rage. Now she hated the king with contempt, but she will make him hers.

"You cannot do anything about these Azura, you started these, you insulted the vampire king and he supposed mate. Now I hope you bear the consequences, now let's leave and prepare yourself for your punishment."

Alaric said, baring his teeth together as he left the hall.

Ashram glared at the king who seems to enjoy everything that she was passing through, but why won't he enjoy the horrible torment he had placed her when he was the real reason behind her misery. And she hoped, she could wipe away those smirks from his face, glaring at him for the last time. She left the room in a hurry.

Blade waved his head in amusement, the two families were of the same character, trying to reap where they did not sow, but he will make sure to place them where they belonged to. But there was one thing he was concerned about, the senior elder Alaric will fight back for revenge.

Bella stared at the space, she had been kept alone in these rooms for the past three hours since she was done with consuming the most nutritious food she has ever eaten, and these had given her the strength to execute the plans she already had installed in mind to execute.

She stood up, bracing herself for her next move, she had used the little time she had to escape the mansion, she was good at playing hide and seek and she had figured out the way to the mansion by staring out through the window which has been kept, wide open for her, the only problem she had was finding her way down the door that leads out of the main mansion and also getting caught by the guards because definitely, there were guards who protect the mansion, and she had seen one stalking around the door whenever anyone opens the door.

But that was not a problem, she could fake an excuse or maybe, demand for something which can not be found in the room and which he could not resist obliging to her request.

The Vampire Omega by Angelic 26

/ The Vampire Omega by Angelic

Slowly, she strode to the door, arranging her hair, she was not going to be scared of him, she was not going to be scared of the guards or any make she encounters on her way out. Lucas had made her believe that all men were lunatics and dangerous towards a woman and she had fallen for his trap.

But it wasn't her fault if he had convinced her a lot on that mental ideology which had sounded mundane to her at first but after that.....her breath hitched, remembering the previous night, which she was trying so damn hard not to think of, but it was impossible not to think about how you are raped and abused and then rejected by the same person who was destined to be your mate and who had taken the last pride in you. And all she wanted to do was to run away, away from here, away from the entire pack whom she thinks might come looking for her, maybe, she might run to death itself.

She breathed slowly, shaking her head to get rid of those disgusting dark thoughts which were bent on ruining her mission.

"No!"

She whispered she will not allow her plans to be spoilt by Lucas. She will not allow Lucas to control her by what he had done to her, and she will make sure to get strong, preparing to fight for revenge against him and the entire pack of the Air/Wind Winder pack. A pack name that once defined her identity, but now, the pack was transforming her into someone evil. They do taste her wrath soon enough and staying here was not the right decision.

Her heart tightened when she remembered a man with dark thick hair and deep black eyes, she shivered with an unknown feeling with grazed through her body and made the hairs on her body stand upright.

The vampire king as she has come to know was making her thoughts divided, he had been invading her thoughts even in her dreams but when he invades her thoughts, he....always....saved her, from..... Lucas, her worst enemy.

She shook her head again, these two men were trying to occupy her thoughts and making way of ruining her already composed plans.

And she will never allow Lucas whom she hated and the vampire king, whom she was afraid of because an unknown source kept drawing her to him and she was avoiding him as fast as she can, two men cannot destroy her life at once.

She breathed slowly again, already mentally rehearsed the lines she would tell the guard.

Slowly, she turned the knob of the huge wooden door, which she thinks was made of a thick Lignum vitae wood, its thickness made it difficult for her to open a first, slowly the door opened, stepping out a little as she bent her head gasping for breath for a little while.

These vampires were literally strong to must have been opening these doors with ease. While she was just an ordinary wounded omega who was wolf-less. And she hoped these were the only door which was quite heavy as these. Because if all doors remain like these, She does faint at her third door.

She looked up immediately and her eyes jammed into the eyes of a man, she held her breath. Her breath in fear. She had unconsciously stared into the guard's eyes and the guard seemed not to be shocked the same way she was shocked.

"Am sorry, are you alright?"

She heard the guard say, quickly rushing towards her.

She nodded her head in a hurry, all because she had intended to escape the vampire land and she was having a series of attacks.

"Yes I am, am definitely fine, was shocked to see someone here. Ooh thank the gods you are here, I thought no one was here."

She said, quickly putting her plans into action, now she had come to believe she was a good actress, maybe in the future she does consider joining the movie industry. But right now, let her focus on her plans.

"Ooh what would you want, am here to help."

The guard said, wise enough to stay three feet away from her, he has enough knowledge of what the vampire king would do If he gets to see him standing too close to his mate.

"Oooh, thanks, but am not sure is something you would love to deal with."

Bella said, giving him a fake disappointing smile, which got the guard to look at her, quite confused about what it was that he could not handle, the she-wolf was the one who can not handle one specific thing because she was still yet to be healed by her injury which had been recently bandaged.

"I am capable of doing everything for you, as far as is within my power, speak and I will have it done immediately."

The guard said, Bella smiled, she had indeed hurt the ego of the vampire guard and thereby grabbed his ultimate attention. This was indeed where she would make her request known to him. Not wasting any further time she said.

"I need a pad."

She watched as his eyebrows scrunched up, obviously confused with her words, she smiled smugly, if only she could prolong this discussion for a while to make her say quite a memorable one but she was in a hurry to leave here.

"What?"

The vampire who stood beside her with half part of his chest opened said, surprisingly, she was not scared of him as she had been scared of the other vampires at first, these one possessed an insane obvious demeanor.

"I need a pad, am on my period, I cannot seem to find one In the room, can you inform queen Selene to help me with one, I really am stained with a lot of blood covering my bott.."

"Ok fine, I understand, I do get it as fast as I can."

The guard said, staring at her once more, before shaking his head as he blushed with embarrassment. He had perceived the scent of blood around her and he was not sure if it had come from her wounds or maybe her... He shook his head, but whatever it was she needed, she was insane staring at the king's mate once more, he left the room. She-wolf was indeed very strange.

Bella gave a satisfactory grin, obviously happy with what she had done, she almost jumped up with the victory, but she stopped herself, her injuries were not yet healed.

She steadied get breath and with a quick grasp on the knob, she turned the knob.

The Vampire Omega by Angelic 27

/ The Vampire Omega by Angelic

She turned the knob, slowly opening the door, the door was not heavy as the previous one was. She smiled, she had made a huge effort, now nothing would stop her from running this far.

Quickly without thinking twice, she ran out from the door.

But there was a problem, she did not know the way out.

She saw two men coming from the opposite direction, her heart flipped a three-sixty degree.

She went hiding on the huge Pillar which was able to cover her body, all thanks she had a tiny body because there was no way she could fit in here if she was tall and huge.

"The king punishes his slut, I heard she do be punished for defiling his order. She was disrespectful towards the king and his mate."

She heard one of the guards said, as they passed her, not suspecting for once that she was hiding behind the pillars.

Her heart tightened at what she heard, the king had a mate, the huge man with dark eyes, who she had come to know as the vampire king had a mate, a woman, and she wondered, why her heart flipped at these words.

She breathed, again, he was occupying her senses again. Waving her head quickly, she brushed off the thoughts of the vampire king off from her head, she had a mission, and she intended to execute them to the maximum without failing.

She had seen the road the vampires had exited from, quickly, she followed after them, not knowing if there was the right way to go or not.

The mansion was a big one, hiding at every interval when she sees a vampire approaching her, and she hopes no one finds out that she was missing before she finally escapes from the mansion.

A good charm was leading her in her escapades, that was the only thought that came through her mind because the mansion was so quiet that no one had seen her escape, the last door she had opened was the lead to the exit door, which had no one guarding it.

The door made a creaking sound that made her heart jump out from her throat at the noise, quickly, she ran, hiding behind the wall. These were vampires and they could hear the noise and perceive her easily and will not hesitate to take her back if they eventually caught her, but again she wondered, why would the vampires still keep her alive up till now, why wasn't she dead, the vampires and werewolves were enemies, these thought caused her to shudder, maybe, they were looking for a perfect time to kill her, but that wouldn't happen, not now she was on escaping from them if only she could find the border that different these pack from the other barren lands, things would have been easier.

Slowly, she crept out from her hiding place, the mansion was situated around thick woods, which made it more possible for her to escape, running behind trees and bushes.

"Fuck Alaric and his daughter, inform the council members that the daughter of the senior elder would be punished in front of all the councils In the civil room for insulting me and my mate, and that will take place, three days from now."

Blade said, quickly stopping on his track, something was off, first, his mansion was quiet, oddly quiet, he was not expecting a mansion filled with celebration, but the mansion was insanely quiet.

"Where are the guards?"

Blade asked, turning around to look at Carson who stared up at him quickly.

"Few of your guards were taken by Longe to search for the true identities of the rogues who might be involved in the attack as you had requested."

Carson said, bowing down a little as he spoke.

"He took all my men?"

Blade brawled, his anger coming out to the fullest, how could Longe take his men out to look for some untamed animals while he left his castle unguarded.

"No, he took a few of the guards."

Carson said, correcting the vampire king.

Blade glared at him, understanding the correction.

"Then where are the rest?"

He asked, now walking to his mate's room, he missed her, her scent, that was the only thing that could calm the raging emotions that were beginning to surge through him.

"They practice in the training ground."

Carson said, quickly Blade turned towards him, glaring at him.

"What do you mean to say, that all my men went out to train to leave castle unguarded."

Blade said, gritting his teeth with anger.

Carson nodded his head, in reply to his question. Blade sighed, finally he arrived at the little hall that leads to her room, he was surprised to meet the door widely opened, the guard whom he had ordered to guard her room was nowhere to be found, he felt his heart tightened, what was going on.

He banged the big door open, his breath hitched, he could no perceive the strawberry scent which always filled his nose anytime he was in these room with her.

He walked towards her bed, not quickly accepting the fact that his mate had suddenly disappeared under his watch.

He felt tumbled for a while. Almost losing his balance.

"Where is my mate, where is she?"

Blade growled, turning to stare at Carson.

Carson waved his head, he was confused the same way the king was also confused.

"I do not k....."

The door opened revealing Selene, holding a paper bag in her hands. Together with the guard who was guarding her room.

"Bell...."

She stopped in her tracks, seeing her son in his mate's room, but something was off about him. He looked as if he was ready to rip off ahead not just ahead, but two heads and she wondered what must have caused that.

Blade turned to look up at his mother, then his eyes glared at someone behind her, Selene turned back, to look at the guard who was standing beside her, the guard now looked stricken with fear. Without a doubt, she knew something was off, something horrible had taken place.

Blade ran with full speed, swiftly, he rammed the guard on the wall, causing a scream to escape from his lips.

He could feel the fear that oozed out from the guard who was caged under his arms, he held him on the throat, glaring at him with full intensity, without no doubt, he knew his eyes were shifting between black and red, his veins which was beginning to pop out with its greenish veins in full display.

"Where is my mate?"

Blade asked, It was a simple question, yet it held meaning.

"Mate..."

The guard whispered this was the closest he had been with the vampire king.

"Answer me, you bastard."

Blade growled with anger,

"She sent met...."

"Where is she?"

Blade asked again, all he wanted was to see his mate not to hear some silly excuses from him.

"I do not know my king, she is...."

His words were cut short when the king slammed him on the wall and another terrible scream escaped from his lips.

The blade was furious, insanely furious, he had ordered his guard to protect his mate and he could not achieve such a simple task.

Blade walked towards him, about to knock his breath off him, the guard was already stricken with fear as blood oozed out from his nose and bruises were already forming on his body. He took hold of his neck, watching as he struggled with all his power, he was about to rip off his heart...

“Stop!”

He heard a voice say, quickly he turned around, looking at the vampire who had dared commanded him not to take away a useless life. He glared at his mother with anger.

“It was not the guard’s fault, he was sent by your mate. He was sent to me. Now I demand you to free him.”

Selene said, glaring back at Blade with the same intensity he was glaring at her.

“And why would I obey your command, because you are my mother?”

Blade said, putting pressure on the vampire’s throat, making him scream out loud.

“No, not because am your mother but because I am the queen and I demands you do so, moreover, the more you stand here glaring and trying to take a guard’s life, the more your mate runs away farther from you.”

Selene said, still glaring at him. Her words earned her a growl from Blade, obviously not happy with her last statement.

Blade left the guard quickly, making the guard fall on the ground in a loud thud.

Blade gave a bitter smile, he stared at his mother. She was right, but he never liked the tone she used to speak to him. He was the vampire king.

He strode towards her, stopping two feet away from her. He said.

“Mind the way you speak to me, remember I remain your king. Also, these positions of yours would not remain with you forever, be ready, for your queenship to end.”

Throwing her a light smile, he walked towards the door, stopping for a while.

“Carson, gather the men, we run after my mate, she must not have gone far.”

Blade said, without waiting to hear any response, he left the room, running out into the woods in search of his mate.

The Vampire Omega by Angelic 28

/ The Vampire Omega by Angelic

He flung her lightly on the bed, her clothes rode up her thighs.

It was the night of their crowning as the next alpha and Luna of the pack.

Lucas smirked lightly at her, unbuckling his belt. Watching as she got rid of her dress, throwing them on the floor.

Kira smiled devilishly at him, she was the new Luna, bearing his pup in her tummy and now she had him wrapped around her fingers, the goddess had answered her prayers and got rid of the poor girl, the omega of her pack.

“Allow me to do that for you, honey. You proved to me how much you loved me and our unborn child, now allow me to spoil you so silly.”

Kira said, licking her lips as she smiled devilishly, she crawled towards him, swaying her hips as she walked towards him, she saw how he was affected by her actions and words.

Quickly, she jerked him towards her, her face facing his belt, removing his hands from his buckle, slowly, she got rid of his belt, making the piece of clothing fall on his feet in a hip, what remain of him was his briefs.

Slowly, she grabbed onto his manhood which had stretched in length, her brief actions caused a moan to escape from his lips, she smiled, happy at the effect she was causing on the alpha.

Again, she squeezed his dick, hearing as he moaned with pleasure, she knew there was the right time to implement her next tool.

Quickly, she freed the monster out from his brief, his dick stared down at her, waiting for her attention.

“I need you to suck me damn hard my whore.”

Lucas said, his voice coming out husky, she was still his exclusive whore, even though he had made her his Luna.

Kira sure knew how to turn him on without even trying.

As if waiting for his order, Kira dipped his c*ock into his mouth sucking his c*CK like a lollipop, Lucas groaned with pleasure, happy with what he was receiving from her.

“Ahhhhh, suck faster bitch.”

Lucas groaned, watching as her mouth slid up and down his co*k, she was still just his bitch even though he had made her his Luna and she was conceiving his pup.

As he fucked her mouth, his mind drifted to a weak being, her flimsy body all bent, sucking his huge dick in her tiny mouth, only that thought alone sent him wild and he groaned with more pleasure, closing his eyes tightly, the last suck was enough to make him jerk with his cum feeling in his mouth.

“Good very good, now is your turn.”

Lucas said, watching as Kira smiled down at him as if reading his thought, he saw her lay back on the bed, spreading her legs wide to his side, her pu*s*y in full display to his sight, he smiled, there was where he always wanted her, too bad that the unlucky omega was dead, he does wish to have at least a taste of her again, but, all thanks she was gone.

“Eat me out.”

Kira moaned, already aroused by the thoughts of Lucas laying in between her legs as he plugged his tongue on her arousal.

“That will I do.”

Lucas said, and slowly, he knelt directly in between her feet, kissing her legs, kissing each foot, and going upwards at every single kiss he made, he could perceive the scent of her juice, which was already sipping out to his delight, a juice flowed down from her hole and he lapped on it, tasting her sweet arousal.

Kira moaned with pleasure, these times, it felt fuller than the other times she had banged the alpha, probably because, the omega was not in the picture, obstructing her relationship with alpha Lucas.

Lucas not wasting any further time, dove his tongue into her hole, sucking her cl*t with intensity. Her body jerked as she felt his tongue taste her bud.

He was everything that she wanted, he had given her power, wealth, authority, title, dominion and now, he was bowing in between her legs, sucking the living hell out from her.

“Luuuuucaaaaasss, OH MY god”

She screamed with intense pleasure, she was reaching her climax, because she could feel the buzzing feeling ripping up from her toes down to her body, sending her wild with pleasure and she felt buckled under his last lap.

Lucas sucked the last juice that slipped down from her hole, not wanting any to be wasted.

He looked up, smiling at her.

“Should we go for the next round?”

Lucas said, watching as she nodded her head furiously, tonight was her night, their mating night and she do make sure she made him hers fully until he had forgotten about the omega.

“But I will be in charge.”

Kira said, dragging him to the bed, sitting on his stomach, she placed her lips on him, kissing him and savoring every taste of his tongue.

Lucas traced the corners of her mouth with his tongue. Loving the taste it gave him. He spread his tongue a little bit, exploring every corner of her lips, she also did the same, their actions sending his di*k to be aroused while her pus*sy glistened with more juices.

Kira slowly took hold of his co*k, she dipped his co*k in her hole.

“Ahhhhhhh, mmmhhhuuu”

Her actions make them moan with pleasure.

Slowly she began to ride him, Lucas took hold of her breast, fondling it and squeezing her huge areola. These made Kira moan more with pleasure.

Now she increased her pace, now bouncing on his dick while Lucas held onto her waist with his right hand then her breast with his left her, squeezing her ass and breast at the same time.

Moaning together with her at the intensity she was using to ride him.

“N-nyaaaahhh”

He heard a more arousing moan escape her lips, causing him to harden more in her and he felt her pu*sy become tighter against his di*k.

He felt her breath rage and he felt his balls tightening and he knew he needed to also bang her to get his satisfaction. Swiftly, he turned her over, making her face him as he climbed on her, not putting his whole weight on her, his di*k still fucking tight in her hole, he thrust inside of her, harder and faster, each thrust sending her breast to bounce up and down.

The Vampire Omega by Angelic 29

/ The Vampire Omega by Angelic

Taking hold of them and still banging her till she loses her senses, he sucked on her areola, sending her hair flying all over the place.

“Kiraaaa”

He whispered, feeling his orgasm almost ripping off from him.

“Lucassss, am commmmming”

Kira screamed so fiercely, her feet buckling as she screamed, her orgasm taking control of her. Lucas followed after her, screaming as he thrust hard in her, before releasing his contents inside her pus*y.

Lucas fell on the bed beside her, smiling at her, then quietly, he took her in his arms.

Kira smiled, there was the life she wanted.

If Bella wasn't dead. Then she does make sure she kill her for real and does not make the mistake of her coming back to the pack, to destroy her newfound life.

"These were the best sex of my life."

Lucas said, humming with happiness. Kira was the best when It came to blowing his di*k up.

"Am I better than the whore then, the one who got mated to you?"

Kira said, her voice sounding icy. She was not a fool to have missed the screams that emitted out from his room the night her worthless sister had been made Lucas mate.

But she knew, he was playing games with her, she would never have any meaning towards him.

"Oooh, you know about it?"

Lucas said, smiling tenderly at her.

Kira glared at him slightly, now taking his hands, placing them on her tummy which was still flat.

"I never miss things like these. Did you think you could hide it from me?"

Kira asked, her words made Lucas smile devilishly at her.

"No, I do not think so. Also, you do not compare yourself with a worthless wolf less being. I raped her and took everything that was left in her. At least she never died being a waste. She did something meaningful with her body."

Lucas said, but he saw a frown settle on her face.

"What is it."

He said, watching as she stared up at him.

"What if she is not dead, what if she lays somewhere, waiting for the right time to attack or revenge."

Kira said, she knew Bella was a weak being, someone who could not even speak for herself, yet she could not stop being worried about what the future held.

"Well since you seem quite worried about her existence, I will send my men to go in search for her. But I think, she is already dead or made as a beat by some rogues or deadly animals or maybe....."

Lucas said, smiling down at her. If Bella had peradventure run into the vampire land, then he knew he do not have to worry, instead, he will withdraw any attack he was planning towards the vampires and bless their soul with peace for killing his former cursed mate.

"Maybe what...."

Kira said, trying to know what his last speech was.

"Maybe she had run into the hands of the vampires and then you know the rule"

Lucas said, throwing her a smirk.

"No werewolves should step into the lands of the vampires. Unless they kill any werewolves that do so. They suck their blood till there is nothing left in it."

Kira said, smiling wildly as she remembered these rules.

"Then that means, if Bella had dived into that land, the lands of any vampire, she do be dead already, her corpse laying six feet beneath us."

Lucas said, grinning wildly.

"But yet, I will send my men to go in search for her, Incase the goddess had decided to keep her alive. I won't hesitate to slit her throat if she stays alive."

Lucas said, smiling devilishly. While Kira nodded her head in agreement.

"Why become enemies with the vampires."

Kira asked, wondering why two big different creatures, who are well known In the physical realm were not On good terms, which she finds stupid. But as the Luna she had become, she does make sure, the vampires and her kind come together on good terms.

"We fought for land, that which my father told me, the vampire king had lived for long. Very long, sure these made him ruthless as he had killed thousands of different creatures. My father, the former alpha had his hands cut off by this same vampire king. Blade Is not one to find peace with. Instead, he bargains with blood."

Lucas said, how he loathed the vampire king.

"Then that is more reason why we should make peace with him. Every creature trembles at his name. When the other pack's grabs hold that you have good ties with the vampire king, they would not hesitate to become closer to you and maybe, you can rule over them and convince them so well, that you are fit enough to make you their alpha king.”

Kira said, as the new Luna, she wanted to bring new ideas to grow the pack, and the growing of the pack meant her increasing in powers.

“You are so damn wise..... But, the vampire king, is not the one to make allies with werewolves. He considers us weaker.”

Lucas said, again gritting his teeth with anger.

“Then prove him wrong!”

Kira said, now turning to sit on his body, holding his face in her hands.

“How?”

He asked, holding onto her hands.

“Make a feast, a very big feast, invite him for the feast. It would be rude for him to reject.”

Kira said, smiling tenderly at him.

“And you do not know who the vampire king is.”

Lucas said, scrunching his brows up as he questioned her.

“I know, he would reject.”

Kira said, still the smile on her face not leaving for once.

Lucas wondered what thoughts were roaming through her head.

“Now why ask me to make a feast knowing he would not bother to come.”

Lucas said, looking quite inquisitive.

“Everyone knows what kings and leaders value much. They value their pride and their image has been tarnished. How will you feel if you were invited for a feast and you reject the offer because of abstract reasons? Well, everyone talks low of you and that means tarnishing your image. Which you would not like one bit. So the only way to avoid that is to accept the invite and avoid further abuse from the public.”

Kira said, wrapping her arms around his neck.

“And do you think the vampire king cares for things like these. Pride and image been kept clean in the eyes of humans and other beings?”

Lucas asked, sounding surprised that his Luna was wise.

“Yes he does care, no king loves to be insulted. Now let’s give it a try, won’t we.”

Kira asked, watching as Lucas closed his eyes for a while before opening them back again.

“I will have to talk to my father about these. You bring up so many good ideas. When we make the final decision, I will let you know, I need to make a lot of changes in the pack, I need my reign to be one of the best reigns in my pack. But know these, it might take months before the feast will happen. Throwing a huge feast is not something that can be easily done”

Lucas said, hoping she understood what he meant.

“Sure I know, I will be patient and wait for the reports of the elders and council.”

Kira said, now coming closer to him.

“But while you think, why don’t I make....”

Kira whispered, clutching his di*k which had awoken in anticipation of her next move.

“Your night...more memorable.”

Kira said, and without thinking twice, she placed her lips on his, sucking every trace of his mouth, as they moaned with the pleasure of the cold night.

The Vampire Omega by Angelic 30

/ The Vampire Omega by Angelic

Blade ran through the forest, his nose picking up everything scents that passed through his sight. The scents of leaves, trees, plants, flowers, and birds chirped on the trees.

He stopped! Perceiving the soft wisp of his mate’s scent. She must not have run so far, she was a weak werewolf who needed to be protected by him. At these thoughts, he ran further into the lands.

Her scent was leading him towards the pack border, which separates his pack from the land of the rogues.

Quickly, using his vampire speed, but not running too fast so that he would not miss her scent, running towards the pack borders.

Again, he perceived the scents of his pack members, as they ran towards his directions.

Concentrating his senses to locate his mate scents, which he finds more important at that minute. Knowing the fact that if she crosses his border, she would be killed, there was no denying it.

His blood boiled with fear, anger, and rage at this thought. His mate would not die nor would she be taken away from him, he wouldn't watch that happen.

She had just found out he had a mate who had run into his pack injured and now he was about to lose her in the twinkle of an eye.

Again he wondered, what must have prompted her to run away from the pack. Had anyone spoken to her illy, if anyone had, he would question her till he finds out who decided to hurt his mate without thinking twice and even causing her pain till she decides to escape?

And he won't think twice before he ripped such a person's head out from his body.

No one hurt what belongs to him.

These were the thoughts that roamed through his head as he ran through the forest.

He had made a mistake, he had not been close to his mate when he had first seen her, instead, he had made her scared and caused her fear, maybe that was the reason she was running away from his pack.

Well, he does correct his mistakes. When he finds her, he would inform her to whom she belongs to, because now he could not wait but mark her, he could not stop but think that she might disappear again, running away from him, just as she had done now, and he hoped he finds her, because from now on, he does be correcting her mistakes.

Bella ran through the forest, her legs wobbling as she ran, the cool breeze of the quiet forest made her body freeze with chills.

She did not know where she was running to, but no doubt, she was heading somewhere, out from the vampire's land.

These are bloodsuckers and by now, they must have caught a wisp of her absence in the mansion.

This means, running faster out from the pack.

Her body shivered with cold and tiredness as she ran, she would rest in the barren lands if she eventually escaped from the vampire lands and she would journey down to the lands of the human.

She has heard some stories from the pack members in her former pack that humans accept all creatures and a werewolf could start an ordinary life with them, but will only behave like a human, not transforming to their wolves.

But it was considered an abomination in the werewolf history for a werewolf or whatsoever status they belong to the werewolf clan to live as human life.

But it was not her fault though if she decides to live like a human, she had been treated with no respect, ways humans had never been treated.

But she doubted if that was a great abomination as her pack had made everyone believe, instead she believes that the greater abomination to be considered in the werewolf history, was, getting raped by the alpha who was meant to be her mate and then got rejected by him the same night he raped and took the last pride that was in her which was her virginity.

A terrible pain ripped off from her heart at that thought and quickly she ran far away from the vampire's mansion.

Men are wicked, with disgusting characters and she had come to loathe them with passion.

He froze, he was getting close to the border and he saw a figure with dark wavy hair running quickly, out from his sight, her speed surprised me.

He knew it was his mate, quickly, without thinking twice, he ran towards the border, she was getting close to the border and he needed to stop her before she crosses the border, because the rogues might be at a corner, waiting for new prey to attack.

Already knowing where she was heading to. Using his vampire's speed, he ran quickly, like a flash.

She ran, she was close to the border, more two steps, she would be in the border that separates the vampire land from the barren land.

Stopping at the front of the border, she looked back, staring at the vampire land, she waved her head, happy to be free from the bloodsuckers.

She brought her leg forward, about to step across the land.....but instead, a strong force which came with a light breeze, came, slamming her lightly on a nearby tree, making her emit a low hiss.

When she looked up, she was shocked to see a man with deep dark eyes, which were glinting between black and red as if he was holding a greater beast from breaking free staring at her.

She gasped, realizing who had caught her red-handed. It was the vampire, King Blade. The one man who had been roaming in her thoughts for a long while since she had been brought to the land.

And she felt her heartbeat drastically at how close he was to her, his body was caging hers as if preventing her from making any move, his two arms, wildly settled before her head, challenging her to make a run. Because if she does, he would capture her and pin her back to the tree and she felt her body shudder at his stare.

He was impeccable close to him that she tried to be uncomfortable with his closeness, but instead, she felt her body reacting intimately to his closeness and she felt a spark which raked her body at a simple touch of his hands which grazed her cheeks for a while, causing her to gasp with.....emotions which she had never..... felt before...

She waved her head quickly, she was about to make a terrible mistake, by getting affected by a vampire's presence, not just a vampire, but the vampire King. Who was considered to be ruthless and untamed?

She opened her lips and was about to speak

"Running away from me mate!"

She heard him speak the words that sent her almost scampering away from him, a word had made her almost dizzy for a short while and she felt herself gasping for air.