

A Twist Of Fate: Heir To The World's Wealthiest Man
Chapter 106 A Persistent Suitor

Summary

I know I got a lot of help from you when I first started my business.

And you still don't know why I was nice to you before, and now I don't like you?

But he didn't know that Helga was ready.

"Don't forget that we are nothing but business partners".

Brenden screamed in pain, tears streaming down his face.

"I have told you countless times that I have a fiancé.

" Brenden , you "are ridiculous."

As she spoke, she raised her eyebrows.

Helga seized the opportunity.

"Ahhh!

`Brenden, you're already being unreasonable.

Can you stop talking nonsense?` Helga said aloud with a sneer.

`Don't forget that we are nothing but business partners.

I know that I got a lot of help from you when I was just starting my business.

And I really appreciate it.

I'm very grateful to you.

But when the company started turning a profit, I also gave you a lot of money in return.

We're even, so I owe you nothing now.

And do you still not know why I used to be on good terms with you before, and I dislike you now?`As she spoke, she raised her eyebrows.

`I've told you countless times that I already have a fiance.

Why don't you comd was about to throw himself at her.

But he didn't know that Helga was prepared.

Unexpectedly, she took out a bottle of pepper spray from her pocket and sprayed it on his face.

`Ahhh!`Brenden screamed in pain, tears streaming down his face.

He couldn't help sneezing and coughing, feeling like his respiratory tract was burning.

He was so uncomfortable that he roared like an injured beast.

Helga seized the chance.

She dragged Garry into the apartment building.

`Helga, you slut! I'll get you for this!`Brenden kept cursing aloud while lying on the ground.

Then his friends approached him, helped him get up, and took him away.
