

A Twist Of Fate: Heir To The World's Wealthiest Man
Chapter 69 The Unexpected

Summary

Rayne, I thank you for this meeting. "Don't you know that today's meeting is very important?"

As soon as they entered the private room, Garry saw a grumpy middle-aged man.

He was none other than Jaime.

When Jaime heard the door open, he looked up and saw his son, Fraser.

"Why are you late?" he grunted with frustration.

Just then, Jaime saw Fraser resting his hand on a young man's shoulder.

"Fraser, be serious.

You're an adult, so behave like one!" he snapped viciously.

"Don't you know that today's meeting is important? How could you bring an outsider with you?"

"Dad." Fraser chuckled, ignoring his father's words.

"Mr. _____

Rayne, I thank you for this meeting." He beamed.

Arius' eyes blazed with anger when he saw a strange young man grabbing Garry's collar.

"Stop it!" Arius rushed over and slapped Fraser hard across the face.

Fraser was taken aback.

He rubbed his stinging cheek and looked at Arius with wide eyes.

Ignoring him, Arius ran toward Garry and bowed before him.

"Mr.

Smith, are you okay?" Jaime's and Fraser's eyes widened in horror.

They couldn't understand what was going on.
