

A Twist Of Fate: Heir To The World's Wealthiest Man
Chapter 70 Delicious Dishes

Summary

Fraser covered his red and swollen face with his hand and exclaimed incredulously: "He's the heir to the Smith Corporation?"

Jaime continued to curse with a dark face. "

Hearing that, Arius flew into a fit of rage and was about to shout back at Fraser.

To appease Garry, Arius stood there as he introduced many delicious dishes

Fraser covered his red and swollen face with his hand and exclaimed in disbelief, `He's the successor of the Smith

Group? That's impossible! His family just runs a shopping mall in the countryside! He is a parvenu.`Hearing this, Arius flew into a rage and was about to yell back at Fraser.

But Jaime was quicker to react.

He directly kicked Fraser to the floor, ashamed of the rude remarks that his son had said.

`Shut up! You useless thing!` Jaime continued to curse with a dark expression on his face.

`How many times have I told you? You should be kind to others! But wha at Fraser, indicating him to thank Garry as well.

Although he was reluctant, Fraser was forced to speak.

`Thank...

Thank you.`A knock on the door caught everyone's attention.

Finally, the waiter arrived with the dishes they ordered.

`Come over and have a seat.`Garry sat down and motioned them to sit down in front of him.

To fawn on Garry, Arius remained standing as he introduced a variety of delicacies.

`Mr.

Smith, these are Phoenix Brain Soup, Crystalline Fish Bone Soup, Roast Piglet, Fish Spine Soup, and Steamed Cabbage

in Supreme Soup...`.
