All of a sudden, a series of loud sound echoed in the amusement park.

Everyone except Garry looked up at the sky in awe.

The cold breeze blew and bright red roses fell from the sky, making the place look even more magical.

People who were in the swimming pool screamed and rushed to the poolside to take photos of the scenery.

The turbulent crowd pushed Frieda into Garry's arms.

`I'm sorry, Mr.

Smith.

Did I hurt you?` Frieda whispered in his ear.

Her soft hand reached for Garry's, revealing her affection towards him.
