

A Twist Of Fate: Heir To The World's Wealthiest Man
Chapter 89 Misunderstanding

Summary

"

" There is a restaurant in Phoenix City Square that is about to be vacant.

"Which restaurant is that?"

The smile on Shelly's face was warm and familiar, but somehow it sent chills down her spine.

"There's a restaurant called Gentleman Restaurant on the sixth floor," said Garry.

Looking at the familiar girl in front of her, Garry felt a little embarrassed."

With a smiling, Shelly crossed her arms over her chest and said, "Garry, I heard that you have a fiancée.

there are already many good places that are already rented out and others will not. "

Helga nodded gently.

"Well, this place is near the school.

"You have to be Shelly Brooks, right?

*****

Looking at the familiar girl in front of him, Garry felt a little embarrassed.

`Shelly, what are you doing here?`Well, this place is near the school.

Is it so strange if I show up all of a sudden?

`With a smile, Shelly folded her arms over her chest and said, `Garry, I heard that you have a fiancée.

Why don't you introduce me to her?

`The smile on Shelly's face was warm and familiar, but for some reason, it sent a chill down his spine.

`You must be Shelly Brooks, right?` Also smiling, Helga added, Read full chapter come good locations have already been rented out, and the others just won't do.

``There is a restaurant in Phoenix City Square that's about to be vacated.

I don't know if you are interested in it or not.

Besides, Helga happens to know people from the Merchants Department of Phoenix City Square.

I believe they can give you a big discount.`Helga nodded gently.

`Which restaurant is it?` Shelly asked, interested in the idea.

`A restaurant called the Gentleman Restaurant on the sixth floor,` Garry said.