

A Twist Of Fate: Heir To The World's Wealthiest Man
Chapter 90 Shelly Is Jealous

Summary

The last time Shelly went there, the restaurant was very busy. "

The receptionist knew from a little bit that the young man in front of her was the boss of Phoenix City Square , so she immediately replied: "Okay, sir."

'That's not Ly's restaurant Xiao Long?'

So he pretended to be confused and asked, "You know this restaurant too? come here is also the assignment of Gentleman Restaurant.

While waiting for the front desk to return, Garry took out his phone to play to kill time.

At this point, the door of the management center is pushed open.

For him, it was such a pleasant surprise that she could hardly believe it.

Her beautiful eyes widened, and her red lips hung open in disbelief.

Elin, on the other hand, was surprised and confused, wondering why Garry was like that. there.

Shelly was stunned for a moment.

Then she cried out in surprise, 'The Gentleman Restaurant?' 'Isn't it Bruce's restaurant?' she thought.

The last time Shelly went there, the restaurant was bustling.

It was an indication that it was so popular.

People came and went, and there was always a long queue.

The restaurant was definitely profitable.

How could Bruce want to sell it to someone else?

Her beautiful eyes widened, and her plump red lips gaped open in disbelief.

Garry's heart blossomed with joy upon seeing the look on her face.

For him, it was such a pleasant surprise that she could hardly believe it.

Garry was very proud that he was the one who brought the surprise to Shelly.

However, he couldn't reveal his identity for the time being.

So he pretended to be confused and asked, 'You know this restaurant too?' 'Yes, of course! It is quite famous.' Shelly tried her best to suppress the surprised look on her face and continue the transfer contract of Gentleman Restaurant too. The receptionist had already learned through the grapevine that the young man in front of her was the boss of Phoenix City Square, so she immediately replied, 'Okay, sir.

Please give me a moment.' She then stood up to do what was instructed to her.

While waiting for the receptionist to come back, Garry took out his phone and played with it to kill time.

At this time, the door of the management center was pushed open.

Elin came in and saw Garry at a glance.

They were both stunned when their eyes met.

Garry felt like his head ached for a while.

He knew that Elin had not given up on Gentleman Restaurant yet.

She must be here to find an opportunity to meet the boss of Phoenix City Square.

On the other hand, Elin was surprised and confused, wondering why Garry was there.

'What is he doing here? It doesn't make sense at all,' she thought.

The air between them suddenly froze.
