Elin's mind was working frantically, running over the recent events.

At her birthday party, Garry had publicly said that Phoenix City Square was his property.

However, everyone including herself took his announcement for a joke.

Later, at the Joy Restaurant, he denied knowing the owner of Phoenix City Square.

And now, he was in the management center of the square.

All in all, it was difficult to figure out the truth.

She couldn't understand what he got from lying to her all the time.

As Elin ruminated over this, a frown crept onto her face.

If there was a feeling she hated most of all, it was being cheated.

Garry, on the other hand, thought his day couldn't get worse.

First, Helga appeared and announced in public that she was his fiancée which messed everything up.

Shelly was evidently seemed to understand what was doing on! Garry was trying to hide his true identity in front of Elin.

And now, he was more than happy to cover up for him.

`Oh! G...Garry.` There was a tremble in Arius' voice.

Enduring the uncomfortable feeling in his heart, he said reluctantly, `I'll take care.

Thank you.` `No problem! We are relatives, Uncle Arius.

As my elder, it is my sole duty to take good care of you.

Besides, I should thank you for giving me the opportunity to learn things in Phoenix City Square.`
Garry winked again,

hoping Arius would go on with him.

Arius nodded, indicating he knew what Garry expected him to do.

Elin didn't notice the secret interaction between Arius and Garry.

Hearing the conversation between them, she was finally starting to buy the story Garry had made up.
