Oh no!

When he got it Seeing that, a feeling of dread arose in him.

Now Elin has sized her up. and found her to be a beautiful woman.

Helga is different from Shelly in that she looks more mature and attractive. .

It's Shelly.

"Miss Watson, you clearly misunderstood Garry."

"Well, I...

Helga had been observing them silently for a few minutes.

She put her best foot forward and planted an amiable smile on her face as she approached Elin.

"Miss Watson, you have clearly misunderstood Garry.

He is not that kind of person.

He really has your interests at heart.

Actually, he went out of his way and sought help from many people for you.

He even requested my help to try and secure that place for you.

Elin had been paying attention to Shelly and had not even noticed the girl standing next to her.

Now Elin sized her up and found her to be quite a beautiful woman.

Helga was different from Shelly in that she appeared more mature and glamorous.

She had a delicate yet gorgeous look.

It was her bright, limpid eyes that brought out her ex quy in her pocket, Elin kept a constant smile on her face.

She really was a very charming and attractive woman.

Elin pulled Garry towards her and held his hand.

She said, "Garry, I've got some natural raw coffee beans from the best ecological farm in Ethiopia.

After being baked and brewed, the divine aroma and unsurpassed taste will have you crying out for more.

Can you say no to having a cup of delicious coffee with me now?" "Well, I..." Garry stammered.

He instinctively felt that someone was staring coldly at his back.

His gut feeling was so strong that he literally felt darts plunging into his back.

It was Shelly.

When he realized that, an ominous feeling arose in his heart.

Oh no! He had almost forgotten that Shelly was also there.
