She didn't expect Garry to come here.
Her face was aglow when he stared at her.

'Does he find me strange dress like this?' Leyla thought.

Her face flushed, so she lowered her head to avoid his eyes.

But she didn't want to be impolite, so she greeted him timidly.

`Hello, Garry.

Are you here for lunch?`But as soon as these words came out of her mouth, she regretted it.

How could she be so stupid to ask such a nonsense question?
What else would Garry do in a restaurant aside from having lunch? Embarrassed, Leyla blushed even more.

Garry stared at her.

For a moment, he was stunned by her beauty.
