When Ms Kim's car le my sight I took a breath before going to Somi's house. Did you hear right? yes I lied to Ms. Kim that my house is just near here in the co ee shop which is not true, I rang the doorbell and immediately the gate opened and I saw Somi's mother smiling at me and I immediately bowed to her before letting me inside their house.

"By the way Aunt good evening." I said politely tone then I bow I heard she chuckled so ly to my surprise she hugged me then I hugged auntie back.

"I told you don't be too formal call us Mom and Dad besides you're my daughter's girlfriend." Auntie said I nodded my head and smile widely,. I thank Somi's parents. I thought at first they wouldn't accept our relationship because I was just poor but I was wrong they didn't judge me. Somi's parents told me that as long as I don't hurt their child, they will support our relationship.

"Thank you Mom, anyways where's Somi?" I asked I heard Dad giggled so ly and pat my shoulder.

"She's in her room lls, you better go your ass there because she's annoyed right now while waiting for you." Dad said with a teasing smile I nodded and run upstairs I took a deep breath before I knock in Somi's door I heard a voice "Come in" so I slowly opened the door then I saw her she's sitting on her bed while holding her phone I cleared my throat she quickly looked at me when she heard some voice.

I saw her wearing my white polo which was a bit too big for her, I was surprised that she was only wearing panties. she wasn't even wearing shorts. I was stunned at the view in front of me,..when she saw me, she immediately dropped her phone and she suddenly smiled at me.

"The average life expectancy a er a heart cancer diagnosis is about six months without surgical treatment, and greater than a year when surgery is possible with some reports of patients surviving several years a er a complete resection of the tumor. It's important to remember that researchers continue to look for better ways to detect this disease early, refine current treatments, and find new ones." The doctor added so we need to find for my Dad heart donor

"We need to give him chemotherapy as soon as possible otherwise the patient's condition will get worse and he could also die." Doctor said which made my Mom cry more.

"Please doc do everything to heal my father." I begged the doctor nod and smile at me.. before she le and went to the operating room.
