

UNEXPECTED TEMPTATION: BILLIONAIRE LOVE STORIES CHAPTER 111

Angelia Selosvone

I drove my car to Colton Restaurant where me and Alex will meet. Actually I'm damn nervous and felt that weird feelings that I've never experience before.

As I arrived at the restaurant, I got out from my car and walked inside.

"Oh my, are you Angelia Selosvone?" The staff asked me and I politely smiled.

"Yes I am."

"I'm a big fan! Oh sorry. Any reservation? Or?"

"Under the name of Mr. North." I smiled and chuckled, she checked her paper.

"This way miss." She lead me to the corner of the restaurant near the window. I saw Alex already sitting there and he looked serious at his phone reading something. I coughed and he looked up to me.

"Hey baby." He stood up and gave me a peck on my lips causing me to shock a little bit. I smiled to hide my nervousness.

"Hey."

"Here's the menu sir and miss." The staff earlier gave us the menu, she waited for us to order.

"One cheese chicken sandwich." I ordered.

"One tuna sandwich and ice americano." Alex ordered.

"How about your drink miss?" The waitress asked.

"Strawberry yoghurt juice please." I smiled and she left, I looked at Alex and he smirked.

"Should I state this to the press or what?" I asked and raised my eyebrows.

"No need, we'll walk together outside and just stroll around New York will do." He said.

"I can call you Alex then."

"Of course little Angel." He stated.

"I don't like you calling me that, Angel is enough." I hissed and he laughed.

"Baby, I don't care. I like calling you that." Alex smirked.

"You look nice today." I commented as he wear a white tee and a jeans, his hair was styled up.

"You look sexy too babe." I hate that nickname, because it gave me a lot of sparks.

"What should I do today?" I asked.

"Just play as my lovely girlfriend will do." He smiled.

"Angel?" I turned to see Nathan Derolent and I smiled. I stood up and hugged him.

"How are you beautiful?" He asked.

"I'm good and you?" I heard a cough and I turned to Alex.

"Nathan this is Alex, my boyfriend." I said and I saw his face fell. I felt sorry for him because Nathan likes me for quite some time now but what can I do? I don't like him.

"Who is this Angel?" Alex sneaked his hand to my waist and kissed the side of my head possessively.

"Nathan is my friend, we used to play on a series together." I said.

"Nice to meet you man." Nathan said and shook Alex's hand.

"Good to meet my girlfriend's friend."

"Okay then, I'll see you around Angel." He hugged me again and I smiled.

"Okay." He walked away and I sat down again.

"He likes you, isn't he?" Alex asked and I nodded.

"You can date him if you want." Alex said and I scoffed.

"Even If I date why would I tell you anyway?" I rolled my eyes, the food arrived. He might be attractive, handsome and have money but he's quite annoying. He's quite bipolar. I hate that side of him but my heart says differently. I hate that.

"What color do you like?" I asked hating the silence between us.

"Black."

"Do you like watching a movie?" I asked.

"Yes." He answered shortly, I rolled my eyes. I rather eat silently then talking to this man in front of me. He's no fun in everyway.

I stood up wanting to go to the toilet. I walked to the toilet but as I walked to the small hallway. Someone caught my wrist, I looked up to see Nathan.

"Hey." I said.

"When do you start dating?" He asked.

"Quite for awhile." I said and he looked sad.

"I never thought you will have someone this fast." He looked at my hand and caressed it.

"We don't know when that feeling come Nathan, I'm sorry."

"I will make you happy Angel, you're too kind to be with that man." He said in a little hint of angry tone.

"Nathan it's my choice."

"But still.."

"I'm sorry Nathan, it's jus-"

"What's going on here?" I jumped a little as Alex appeared glaring at Nathan.

"She's my girlfriend so can you let that hand go?" He pointed but he looked at Nathan like he's going to kill him.

"Go Nathan." I said and he looked at me.

"Please." I whispered and he nodded. He went away and Alex still still gave him a glare.

"And I thought you say that I can date that guy?" I asked as I crossed my arms in front of my chest.

"I change my mind about him, you can date anyone else but him." He said and I rolled my eyes. Entering the toilet and quickly did my business. As I walked out Alex crashed his lips to mine suddenly. I was more than shock because I didn't expect that coming.

"Let's go." He said holding my hand.

"But I haven't-"

"Your bag." He gave me my bag and we walked out from the restaurant. A couple of people recognized me and whispered something, we started to walk on the side road.

"How did you get here?" Alex asked.

"I bring my car." I answered.

"How cool my girlfriend is!" He kissed my cheek and put his around my shoulder. I slipped my arm around his hips.

"How surprise are you if I told you that I love racing?" I whispered to his ear and kissed it, he turned to me disbelief.

"You're lying!" His eyes widen.

"Wait in front of my house tomorrow night at 11 and close your mouth, you might catch a fly." I kissed his cheek again and smirked.