Angelia Selosvone

Being hand in hand with Alex is the best thing that ever happen to my life. I never thought I will love someone after my previous tragic love. I just can't stop smiling in this situation, I'm just so happy.

"Today's weather is so nice." He said as we walked on the side road enjoying the cold breeze.

"You're right."

"Have you eat?" He asked and I turned to him.

"With Kayla.. you?"

"Yeah alone." He said and I chuckled.

"Are you excited for my movie premiere?" I asked and he shook his head.

"Why?"

"You know why Angel.. don't act innocent." He hissed and I laughed.

"I'm an Angel, I am innocent. So tell me why don't you like it?" I asked.

"Don't make me kill the main lead."

"Alex, you're so mean."

"What? You're making out with him and even.. argh.."

"Even what?" I asked smiling cheeky.

"Bed scene." He sighed and I chuckled.

"That's not even real babe." I said and he turned to me glaring.

"But still skin and skin meets and mouth and mouth." I bursted out laughing.

"I like it when you're jealous, it makes me want to shoot this scene more in the future." I got a deadly glare from him.

"I'll check your script next time Angel, I'll be your manager if I have to." My eyes widen and he kissed my cheek.

"You're such a sweet guy." I smacked his arm lightly, we continued to walk and just enjoying being ordinary even there's paparazzi everywhere.

We entered the cinema and picked a movie. I bought some popcorns and walked into the studio. There's a few people.. more like couples.

"I'm so excited." I said and he turned to me smiling.

"We've both been so busy and even can't enjoy everything simple." He said and I nodded agreeing to his statement.

"Let's do this often.. can we?" I asked and he nodded. We both turned silent when suddenly the studio started to get dark. I'm excited.

Suddenly there's.. my eyes widen

Marry me, Angelia Selosvone?

I turned to Alexander completely speechless and he's already kneeling in front of me. He took out a red velvet box from his inner suit and opened it revealing a really beautiful diamond ring, I looked at him and he smiled.

"So little Angel.. will you spend the rest of your whole life with me? Have kids.. since you love the Samuel twins so much? Change your last name in mine?" He asked and I squealed.

"Yes yes yes!" I said happily and hugged him. He kissed the side of my head and I hugged him tightly. I crashed my lips to his.

After that he put the ring to my ring finger, I'm officially engaged to Alexander North.

"I love you." He said and I looked up to him can't stop smiling.

"I love you too." I hugged him again.

"I'll be your bear from now on."

"Gosh Alex, I love you so so so so much.. I can't describe how much my love to you." I said and he kissed my forehead.

"I love you too little Angel.. or should I say soon to be Mrs. North?" He smirked and I gave him a kiss again.

"Let's get married soon."

"Next month?" Alex asked.

"The sooner the better babe." I kissed his cheek and suddenly he reached his side pocket. Revealing a small light blue box, I looked at him weirdly.

"What is it?"

"Why don't you open it little Angel?" He said and I opened the box. My eyes widen and I smiled widely, I looked at Alex and attacked him with kisses again.

"You like it?"

"I love it.. this is so beautiful!"

"I design that and A is not for Angel."

"It's beautiful." It's an A initials with a detailing carve on it, it's just elegant and beautiful.

"Glad you like it." He said.

"Let's just go home." I took his hand and dragged him out from the studio.

"So you don't want to continue the date?"

"Do you want to continue the date or you want to have me all night?" I asked and he smirked.

"That's a really good option sweetheart."
