

UNEXPECTED TEMPTATION: BILLIONAIRE LOVE STORIES CHAPTER 273

Chloe Regens

"Morning!" I kissed his cheek and put my hand on his forehead again to check his temperature. He opened his eyes slowly and looked at me.

"You don't have a fever anymore." I said and cupped his face with my hands.

"I need to go to work."

"Rest one more day" I said and he looked at me.

"Chloe I-"

"I don't take excuses mister." I said and shook my head.

"Okay fine.. this is the first time I'm agreeing, what do you want to do today?" He asked, I smiled widely.

"Wanna spend the day at home or do you want to go out?" I asked excited.

"Let's just spend here, it's dangerous outside."

"First of all, let's wash your car. It's disgusting." I said and he chuckled. I got up planning to go to the bathroom but Ken caught my arm.

"Where are you going?" He asked.

"I have a small bladder Kenneth." He let me go and I quickly ran to the bathroom doing my business. I walked to see Ken falls asleep again, I smiled and made my way downstairs.

I decided to make some pancakes for breakfast. Making the batter first and then poured it into the pan. Taking out some milk and pour it into the glass.

Until I finish making the pancakes, Ken was still sleeping. I walked up again and found him still there not moving a bit. I chuckled.. he must be really tired all this time and never get a time to rest. I walked to him and carressed his face.

"Kenneth.. wake up." I whispered.

"Wake up sleepy head." I kissed his cheek and he opened his eyes.

"Where were you?" He asked but he closed his eyes again.

"Making breakfast, now let's eat so you can eat your medicine." I gave him a peck on his lips, he got up and sat on the bed. His hair were everywhere, I chuckled looking at this ordinary Kenneth. We all used to see him in suit but seeing the ordinary Ken is quite fascinating.

"Come downstairs okay?" I said and walked out from his room. I walked down again and wait for him. After a few minutes, I heard his footsteps walking downstairs.

"Chloe, it's 8 in the morning." He said.

"So? What's wrong with 8 in the morning?" I asked raising my eyebrows.

"Nothing." He said and walked to the dining room. He pointed at the seat across me and he looked at the pancakes.

"I never thought you can cook." He looked at me.

"I almost got into Master Chef, don't be little me." I glared and he chuckled. I took my knife and fork.. digging in the pancakes.

"It's good." He said.

"Is it too sweet?" I asked and he shook his head.

"After this let's clean your car and then let's go swimming okay?" I asked and he looked at me but didn't say anything.

"What?"

"So this is what my friends always brag about." He said and I raised my eyebrows.

"Huh?"

"About being happy when they're settle down, this is how it feels." He said and I smiled.

"There is someone who take care of you, kiss you in the morning, preparing you breakfast and planning the day together." He looked down.

"I thought they were stupid but they were right about it." He added. I don't want to make him sad with this, I want to make him happy. I decided not to talk about it anymore.

"Come on.. finish it up! I'm going to change first. Chop chop Kenny." I stood up and walked to him. I kissed the side of his head and ran upstairs. I changed my clothes into my tanktop and shorts, I'm not going to wash his car with my PJs on.

I walked down again and see him already drinking his milk. I smiled.

"You done?" I asked.

"Yeah." He walked to the sink and put the dishes there. I take his hand and pulled him outside.

"Are you going to wash a car or going for a walk to flirt with guys?" He looked at me and I rolled my eyes.

"Don't need to say that when you keep staring at my ass asshole." I glared and pulled him towards his car.

"What did you do to him?" I said.

"It was raining and I'm lazy to wash it off, beside I never let my driver or maid touch my car." He said.

"Morning Ken and Chloe." I turned to see Cody.

"Hey Cody.. do you know where the hose is?" I asked.

"There." Cody pointed a spot near the garden.

"You move the car." I said to Ken and he looked at Cody sadly.

"Don't give me that sad face you lazy ass." I pushed his body to get the car key first.

"I never seen him like that before." Cody laughed.

"Like what?"

"Happy."

"He's giving me that lazy face.. that's not happy." I complained.

"He's happy Chloe.. Thankyou. I better go." He gestured and I smiled. He walked away at the same time as Ken walked back to me.

"That's my boy.." I smiled and walked to the spot where Cody pointed. Taking the hose and get ready to wash it suddenly I remembered that he just got well.

"Give it to me." He said as he already park his car in front of me. I kept holding the hose my hands. How can I be so stupid for asking him this and swimming after this? He tried to pull the hose and gesturing me to let go but I didn't. I shook my head and looked at him.

"Chloe.." He said.

"Don't give me that face." He said and I pulled back the hose from him.

"Can you cook?" I asked.

"Yeah, why?"

"Can you make me something?" I asked.

"We just ate, beside we're goi-"

"Make me something, I'm starving again! I might be pregnant." I said and that's stupid.

"Pregnant?" He raised his eyebrows.

"Can you just make something for me?" I asked and looked at him smiling.

"Pregnant? Who's kid?"

"You."

"We didn't even sleep together! You're such a kid!" I smiled cheekily and pushed him inside. I chuckled seeing him like that.. after seeing him got inside. I start bathing this ugly car and asked Cody for the soap and sponge.