

UNEXPECTED TEMPTATION: BILLIONAIRE LOVE STORIES CHAPTER 74

Sky Locason

"No I want 40% of the deal." I said as I pushed the paper in front of him smirking.

"25% that's it."

"40% or nothing." I said and he seems to think about it. He tapped his pen nervously and closed his eyes. I will get this deal and hold 40% of the shares.

"40% it is." He said as he signed the paper, he stood up and shake my hand to seal the deal.

"I'll send the money this afternoon sir." I said and he nodded. He walked out and I can't help but smile in victory.

My phone suddenly rings and I saw it's Vander.

"Hey man." I answered the call.

"Yo! Locason!"

"What's up?"

"I see your name is all over the internet now" I raised my eyebrows what the hell is he saying?

"So you didn't know?" He asked since I didn't answered him anything.

"What is it?"

"Open .redheart, check the recent post." Vander chuckled on the other side, I made my way back to my office and opened my iMac. I kept Vander on loudspeaker and typed the url.

After it's loaded, the first title that I see is '7 Gold Lifes', I clicked the title and it loads to another page.

7 Gold Lifes

7 Billionares who rule America from all aspect, they control and run America with their own company and their own power.

They're surround by money, fame and women.

Almost all people envy them, every man want to be like them and every woman want them. They're worshipped by people because they got the face, the charm and the money that everyone aim.

Shouldn't they treat us ordinary people equally? They might be Billionares with tons of money inside their pocket but shouldn't they respect others the same?

Just because ordinary people are one level below them, it doesn't mean they can be rude to us. It doesn't mean they can do everything they like without thinking about others, it doesn't mean he always has that power. Never underestimate someone, because you'll never know what that person has.

Aaron Samuel, Alexander North, Max Cesantio, Kenneth Domanco, Sky Locason, Blake Coster, Luke Hastington and Sebastian Cesborn are known with their powers right?

Well what if I tell the world that one of them has a temper problem and treat ordinary people so lowly.

I know with this new post people will judge me, mock me, block me or whatever but I want to tell you guys that the people you guys worship are freaking rude, evil and don't have a heart.

Sky Locason

Sky Locason indeed is one of girls favorite, light brown eyes, defined muscles, tall, sexy but.. bad attitude? Is a no no definitely.

Bad attitude, bad temper, bad brain and everything bad describes that person. No wonder he's still single! Who would want to stand that bad attitude and temper? Ha ha ha.

Or.... He might be a gay.

They might be perfect from outside but from the inside, they're all just rude, cruel and evil Billionaires who only want money and fame.. lastly.. women.

I despise them,

Red Heart xo.

My hand tightened as I read the post, my anger quickly rised up to my head.

"Sky? You there?" Vander asked.

"Who is this Red Heart girl?" I asked angrily, wanting to punch my computer immediately.

"No one knows her identity, if she wrote that she must be hurt by you so badly." Vander chuckled.

"F you." I ended the call and quickly dial Mario's phone. After a few beeps, he answered the phone.

"Find the Red Heart girl and give it to me her profile as fast as you can!" I growled and held my phone tightly. I re-read the post again and again.

"Right away sir, anything else?" He asked.

"I want you to find her before tomorrow." I said.

"Copy that." I hung up and suddenly got a call from Domanco, I quickly picked it up.

"What?" I snapped.

"Come to Hastington Rooftop now, Samuel going to get his punishment." He said and then hung up immediately. I walked out from my office and quickly go down to the lobby.

Taking my car and drove to Hastington Hotel, I gripped my steering wheel tightly. Still completely pissed because of that post.

Gay? Bad temper? Bad attitude? Bad brain?

I'm going to get this person and teach her a lesson. Never Challenge The Billionaire's in any way because she will just get burn. Playing with fire is not good and she just tried with one.

Arriving at the Hastings hotel I make my way to the lift, press R button and insert the gold card. It takes me to the rooftop, I walked out from the lift and found Luke standing observing the city.

"Locason." He smirked as he glanced at me.

"Hastington." I nodded a little.

"I saw the blog post." He said and I can't help but glare at him, he chuckled.

"Is she your mistress from last night?" Luke asked.

"I don't think so" I shook my head.

"Oh look who's here? Bad temper guy." I heard Max mocking tone.

"Shut the f up!"

"That's the temper huh?" Sebastian entered and I can't help but want to beat these guys.

"I swear it makes me laugh so hard reading that article" Max laughed.

"What are you going to go?" Alexander joined.

"Sue her and I need you all to write about it too." I smirked thinking about my sudden plan to sue her.

"No one knows this girl Sky." Sebastian said.

"We can find her with money you stupid. Track her!" I said and he laughed out loud.

"Bad brain? Bad temper? Bad attitude? Dude this girl is brave." Luke said laughed his butt off.

"Nice article, loser." I heard Kenneth said after joining us.

"I'm going to teach her a lesson to not to mess with us." I said in a cold tone.

"She challenged us alright." Alex patted my shoulder lightly and I can't help but sigh.

"Aaron buddy." Alex greeted Aaron and that makes us all turn to our prey.

"Congratulations!" Ken mocked him and he rolled his eyes.

"I'm ready." Luke smirked and prepared his fist.

"The first guy who broke the rules bud." Sebastian chuckled and we all already looked at each other to finish this poor bud.

"Been waiting for this." I said because this is the perfect time to let out my anger towards that girl on him.

"The first guy who broke it and since you choose this, let's begin." Max slung his fist towards Aaron's face hard, He dropped to the ground but got up in time.

After beating Aaron up, he got a call from Sophia so it makes him excuse himself first. Kenneth, Alex and Sebastian went away too because they got business to take care of. I forgot to tell Aaron about this girl, maybe later on.

"Are you sure sueing her is the only way?" Max asked as he took a look at his fist.

"Yeah." I answered him.

"You must have hurt her very bad." Luke said.

"I wonder who she is." I closed my eyes as I felt the wind run through my face.

"Girls are like that.. If they got hurt , they let out their emotion without thinking." I turned to Luke who just gave his best speech.

"Expert." Max smirked.

"I have a sister who loves to cry because of you, asshole, I knew that all right." Luke turned to at Max and Max just smirked lightly.

"I'll find this girl and show her who is she messing with!" I sighed and tightened my hand into a fist.