Although Leon was getting more distant from the river of magma, the heat wasn't decreasing . Leon also couldn't help but wonder why the hell the temperature wasn't falling despite the fact that Fire Resistance leveled up a lot .

'I guess even the flesh of this damn thing even emanates a lot of heat . . . Still, considering the size of this monster . . . how the hell this thing can emanate so much heat every single moment? It doesn't run out of fuel? Even if its recovery is high, the consumption of food would also be immense . . . ‘

Leon couldn't help but compare that those parasites he was eating were like bacteria everyone would have on their bodies . Most likely, those would enter anyone's body through the ingestion of food . But he still was having difficulties accepting that because it would mean he would be inside of a creature that was perhaps as long as the solar system where Earth was . . . . Whenever Leon thought about that, he would lose his focus and wonder what the hell was that assimilation system and why it did exist if he could grant the opportunity to a creature reach that size . . . that was a very troublesome question because Leon was a curious guy . Since he was curious, he would waste too much time thinking about some things that there were impossible to explain . At least with the knowledge and experience he has .

‘I have to keep my focus . . . I already have too many doubts in my mind to keep pondering about insane things . ‘

Even though Leon was getting more and more distant from the river of magma, surprisingly enough, his surroundings weren't getting dark . Probably because the heat was being generated by mana, and at the same time, it was illuminating the place . The magma creatures also stopped coming to attack Leon, but he felt that that wasn't enough .

‘It would be great if I could meditate or activate Zen and keep opening this path . . . but I can't . So what else can I do ?‘

Although using Telekinesis to move that needle didn't cost him much mana, Leon was spending a lot of mana to repair the needle . So, he had to obtain status points outside of the battles and without having to stop that . . . the only thing Leon could really do was use his stamina or do some exercises to increase his status a little bit . However, both of them would make him hungry, and the food there was scarce, and Leon still disliked it . . . even when he was starving .

‘I wonder if the meat of this thing is better than those damn things . . . ‘

‘Yep . . . I am very picky . . . ‘

Regardless, since Leon was destroying the flesh that had the format of cells, something started to bother him . Was that cell oversized because he was inside of colossal creature, or the cell had his size because he got smaller? If the second option was true . . . would he return to his normal size once he kills or leaves the creature ?

‘Geez . . . why the hell I always lose my focus . . . ‘

Congratulations! The skill Telekinesis has leveled up .

You obtained 01 status points .

Just when Leon wanted to forget those questions, he at least confirmed that that colossal creature was part of the assimilation system . Telekinesis was leveling up pretty fast, considering that Leon was controlling a single object . Little by little, things were starting to make some sense, but soon Leon couldn't help but sigh when he found a layer of rocks . When he touched it, he burned his hands .

‘I already know what is on the other side . . . ‘

Five minutes later, after finally leaving the path he created, Leon found another river of magma, and the scenario in front of him wasn't much different from the one he left behind . In the end, it wasn't all that surprising that Leon would find that . He was inside a gigantic creature, so it was only apparent that he would find several parts of its body that were identical in structure . Even if Leon try to create a path upward, he was pretty sure that the same thing would happen again and again for a very long time .

‘I'm tired of this shit . . . ‘

Recently, Leon has been repeating that a lot . It couldn't be helped, but that now was his favorite sentence . It was a bit uncomfortable, but Leon decided to use Zen in the path he just created since he also would be able to level up Fire Resistance in there without suffering all that much . He needed more status points to open his next path faster . . . but when he looked behind, Leon saw the cells he destroyed regenerating at an astounding speed .

‘Shit . . . I guess it was only obvious that would happen . ‘

Novel Chapter 382

Chapter 382: 382

After Leon's daily dose of self-harm, that was the training to level up his Fire Resistance, Leon created another hideout hidden in the layer of earth and rocks of the ceiling of . . . whatever the hell he was . It was already more than clear that he wouldn't escape that hellhole anytime soon, but he decided to create a mithril needle every day to increase his digging speed . Instead of stopping one hour from repairing those, he would use another to open the path once a needle loses its tip . He would fix them later once he stops to rests .

'It is also a good idea to use several needles at the same time to open the path faster, but that also means that I will have to decrease my sleeping hours even more . '

It wasn't the same thing, but Leon decided to use the moments he uses Zen as moments of rest . . . it wasn't a good idea, but he had no other choice . As long as Sleep Resistance keeps leveling up, the effects of his tiredness would decrease, probably .

For the time being, Leon decided to level up Zen as much as possible . He would need that skill in order to save some time creating the mithril needles . Besides, he also intended to increase their size in order to increase their piercing power and durability . Meditation could help with that, but Zen was much more efficient .

‘I should stop allocating points into recovery once it reaches 2500 . . . even though that stat will help me train my spells more frequently, it will become less useful once I learn how to drain mana from my opponents . ‘

Leon felt like almost a month had passed since he arrived on that hellhole, and since then, he didn't increase his intelligence using status . Zen increased it a little, but it wasn't enough . Without seeing his intelligence growing, Leon couldn't feel his power growing, so that was necessary .

Mithril Needle

It grants you Strength +80, Speed + 40, Dexterity + 40 .

‘Mmm . . . I guess this time, I didn't do well since I made the weapon faster, thanks to Zen . ‘

Leon was a bit disappointed, but since he made the weapon in twelve hours instead of twenty-four, he didn't let that bother him for long . At the very least, that gave him some good piece of information . . . he could make better weapons if he focuses a little and more and work minutely .

‘I don't have time, but . . . what else can I do ?‘

Until now, Leon only moved forward . . . the only times he retreated; he did that because he had no other choice . It was a retreat or die, but now he was questioning if only moving forward was the best option . If he had taken his time and accessed things with caution, he could have saved himself from many problems . If Leon had decided not to ally himself with the harvesters, two hundred years wouldn't have passed on earth while he was away... but he also wouldn't have obtained Volt's fragment's power .

'I don't even know if such a long time has even passed on Earth... it is just the worst-case scenario . '

That being said, Leon was pretty sure that he was in a place where time passed faster than Miebos... Regardless, questioning his past choices now that he knew the outcome of them was a waste of time . In the end, the true worst-case scenario would be Leon dying full of regrets... he was doing his best whenever possible to avoid that .

Once Leon finished the path upward and found almost the exact same place he left below, he resumed the task of creating another mithril needle . This time, he didn't even waste time sighing upon realizing that his efforts didn't take him to the exit of that place . It was meaningless...

Time and time again, the same thing happened . Leon dug and just found another maze-like space... but time and time again instead of stopping to sigh or complain, he just moved forward . Leon endured the pain to increase his Fire Resistance, and once he did it, he created a hideout and created another mithril needle .

That whole process repeated itself seven times, and once Leon had ten mithril needles, he started to increase their size, but soon he stopped . It was obvious, but something wrong with that place... Leon understood that he couldn't escape from there, and he was there to suffer when his Fire Resistance reached level two hundred fifty, and the heat didn't decrease even a single bit .

Chapter 383: 383

‘I wonder why I didn’t notice this sooner . . . ‘

Leon was inside a gigantic creature; it was obvious . However, it was impossible that something alive as large as the solar system could exist . . . a living being couldn’t become that large, it didn’t make any sense . So, Leon reached a conclusion . . . he was inside a living trap .

‘I don’t know if this is a pet of that bastard or not . . . but it is clear that this thing can distort the space inside himself . The only thing I can do to leave this place is to explode the whole thing . . . or find the key to cancel this power . ‘

The shadowy figure wanted to make Leon stronger . . . why ? It was impossible to find the correct answer, but Leon had a few hypotheses . Maybe the shadowy figure would find another way to control him once their level of power gets close to each other, or he would just kill him to become stronger . Usually, one could only grow stronger fast facing stronger opponents, but the stronger the one gets, the harder it becomes to find anyone who could be worthy of their time . . . Although it wasn’t the best option, it was better to use spells on weak targets than practicing them against nothing .

‘I guess that bastard wants to use me as a guinea pig to practice some skill or spell he developed . ‘

It was insane that a living being could think of another living being just as a tool to get stronger or to reach such a simple goal, However, it wasn’t surprising that the sense of morals of someone would deviate after living for thousands of years . Leon could easily imagine humans acting like that if they have thousands of years to nurture their ego . In the past, even though some people weren't actually more powerful, but just rich, some individuals gave no value to other people's lives .

‘Since he sent me to this place, does he want to level up a fire-type spell ?
No . . . I can't just assume things . Regardless, that bastard wants to kill me, and I can't leave this place . What can I do to solve those problems ?‘

Leon's best option not to die was to level up Heal and Regeneration in order to save some mana from using Full-Recover . Harming himself was easy, Leon just have to stay near the magma, but would that solve the problem ? Wouldn't that just prolong his torment in case he becomes a guinea pig to the shadowy figure ? Leon found the answer; he shouldn't search for the exit . . . he must kill the beast .

‘I lack the mana to do that . . . but if I manage to learn how to absorb mana, then I will have a chance to succeed before that bastard teleports me again . ‘

Leon created another hideout, but this time he created it very close to the monster's flesh . The creature was so big that even Mana Dominion couldn't recognize its presence since it was much bigger than the effective area of the skill . Despite that, even though Leon's hand was starting to burn, he could feel the mana inside of it .

Leon tried several things, inserting his mana and forcing the mana of the monster to go to his body, envelop his mana on the cell of the creature, and consume it . . . Leon even tried to use mithril as a catalyst to drain the mana . After trying that for several days, he gave up . The answer wasn't something so simple .

After receiving those notifications, Leon recalled that he could feel mana inside the magma creatures . . . could he use Mana-Eater on them? If that was the case, could he suck the mana of the magma?

‘Even if I can, I’m not looking for that easy option . . . I want to absorb all the mana of this freak, not only a small part . ‘

Leon had an idea when he received that notification, instead of trying to absorb mana itself, how about trying to absorb the heat? It was clear that the monsters as using its mana to keep emanating so much heat, after all . Unfortunately, the heat only increased Leon’s body temperature, and he couldn’t control it at any level .

‘I can feel the heat . . . why can’t control it? Is it because it doesn’t have my mana? I should have been able to control it thanks to Pyromancy . . . ‘

Even if Leon has Pyromancy, it made sense that he couldn’t control the heat caused by something far more powerful . Besides, if he wanted to absorb the heat, he wouldn't actually learn how to absorb mana . He would learn Fire Absorption . So, it looked that it wasn't the right path .

'How about I use the same method I use when I use Seal?'

It would be hard since when Leon uses Seal, he covers the entire body of the monster, and that was something he couldn't do . So, he had to adapt the skill a little bit . . . After destroying a bit of flesh, Leon covered the wound with his mana . Despite that, he couldn't feel anything because the mana of that part dispersed when he destroyed it . Chapter 384: 384

Leon tried to suck the mana of the flesh while his own mana was in touch with it. However, that didn't work. . . . it was like he was trying to drink the water of a bottle by making a small hole on the bottle. The hole was so small and ridiculous that it was like it wasn't even there.

'I guess this is a failure. . . . Although I want to drain the mana, this isn't the way I imagined it would be. In the end, draining mana from a distance and without putting myself at risk is a crazy wish.'

Suddenly, the damaged flesh started to repair itself, and Leon's mana began to disperse. Being so close to that process was scary and disgusting, but Leon didn't take out his hand. He decided to take that risk in order to feel the mana inside that small amount of flesh even more . . . even if he had to lose a hand .

Surprisingly, the regeneration stopped when it touched Leon's hand . His hand was being pressed against it, but it wasn't that painful . Regardless, even though the cell wasn't completely healed, Leon could feel its mana inside of it . The temperature of his arm started to increase due to the heat, but he endured again .

‘What now . . . ‘

Leon was in a hurry, but it wasn't like that would help him to learn the spell faster . Anyway, Leon wouldn't stop until he finally learns that damn skill . Since Leon's skin was starting to burn, he was forced to activate Regeneration to counter that . Then Leon felt his arm getting hotter .

‘What the . . . ‘

It was weird, his arm was getting hotter, but the temperature of the ambient didn't increase . . . when Leon focused his attention, he felt that the nearby mana was approaching more and more his arm .

‘Is the mana of the cell reacting to my mana ?‘

That was very weird . . . it wasn't like healing magic had that kind of effect . So, Leon couldn't help but get confused . The more his arm healed, the more the creature's mana got stuck to Leon's arm . . . it was like the cell was trying to transmit mana to Leon, but why ?

'Is it because I'm healing myself? Or is it because my arm is losing mana to heal itself?'

Leon decided to use all his mana and see what would happen, but after creating a small mithril needle, the mana didn't get absorbed by his arm . After using all his mana, the flesh sent Leon the same amount of mana, and now he was feeling as if his left arm was inside magma . . . even though no damage was being caused .

'Most likely . . . the cells transmit mana to all body parts that are lacking mana . So, since I left my arm inside the flesh, it is treating as if I'm part of the monster . . . it is a really dumb cell . '

Leon didn't know if that would work, but it was worth a try . He covered his arm with a thin layer of mana and then tried to mix it with the monster's mana . He succeeded, but only obtained control of the same amount of mana he used . So, the mana on his arm that he could control duplicated .

'Well . . . now, how do I make the mana return to inside my body?'

Before Leon could start to think, the mana got absorbed, and then he understood everything . Just like Seal, the target had to be alive for the skill to work . However, the body of the target couldn't be damaged . . . well, at least the part which Leon had to touch in order to drain the mana . But the most important rule was, he had to use mana to absorb mana . The mana he would obtain would be the double of the mana he uses . At level one, he could only absorb two points of mana .

‘In the end, I got ahead of myself . . . I was already feeling the mana, but I didn't try to absorb using mana . The spell is relatively simple . . . but it must have some requirements . Regardless, it looks like even this skill has limits . If the level max is 1000, then I cannot drain more than two thousand points of mana of a target . ‘

Leon took out his arm from the flesh and started to use it . Another weird thing, the skill was passive when he had the mithril spear of the devourers, but now it was an active skill . It was just like the Gloves of Regeneration . . . In any case, that actually helped Leon, since he could only use Fast Conjunction and Multi-Conjunction .

In just one hour, Leon leveled up Mana Absorption until it reached level fifty, it wasn't enough for his plans, but he started anyway . . . Little by little Leon was creating a mithril spear, the biggest mithril spear he had made so far, and he couldn't help but smirk since he would create the weapon using the mana of the monster he is going to kill, not only that, he also would use his spirit to create the biggest magic weapon of the universe . . . probably .

'The problem will be to move such a thing later . . . well, one problem at a time .'

Leon tried to suck the mana of the flesh while his own mana was in touch with . However, that didnt work . . . it was like he was trying to drink the water of a bottle by making a small hole on the bottle . The hole was so small and ridiculous that it was like it wasnt even there .

I guess this is a failure . . . Although I want to drain the mana, this isnt the way I imagined it would be . In the end, draining mana from a distance and without putting myself at risk is a crazy wish .

Suddenly, the damaged flesh started to repair itself, and Leons mana begun to disperse . Being so close to that process was scary and disgusting, but Leon didnt take out his hand . He decided to take that risk in order to feel the mana inside that small amount of flesh even more . . . even if he had to lose a hand .

Surprisingly, the regeneration stopped when it touched Leons hand . His hand was being pressed against it, but it wasnt that painful . Regardless, even though the cell wasnt completely healed, Leon could feel its mana inside of it . The temperature of his arm started to increase due to the heat, but he endured again .

What now . . .

Leon was in a hurry, but it wasnt like that would help him to learn the spell faster . Anyway, Leon wouldnt stop until he finally learns that damn skill . Since Leons skin was starting to burn, he was forced to activate Regeneration to counter that . Then Leon felt his arm getting hotter .

What the . . .

Chapter 385: 385

Since Leon was already sick of that hellhole, he decided to make his spear hollow in order to move faster . He would open a path, and by moving inside the spear, Leon wouldn't have waste time . Even though that was his plan to save time and mana, things weren't going fast enough . Even if Leon uses Haste and multiplies by three the speed he could drain mana, he could only create two grams of mithril per second . It was very impressive but not enough considering Leon's goal .

‘If by some miracle I reach the max level of this thing in less than a month, it still will take months to finish the spear . . . ‘

After two hours, the spear already had Leon’s size, and he was fortunate enough that there was no sign of the mana ending or of the monster reacting . Still, time was of the essence .

Just attacking the flesh of the monster wasn't enough since it could regenerate, but if Leon leaves the mithril spear stuck on the flesh, it will prevent the healing was, and at the same time, it would of stack up the damage caused . Leon had to be smart because he couldn't do three things at the same time; he could only use Mana Absorption in one hand and create the mithril spear with the other . At least by using those active skills, Leon didn't have to worry about his concentration . Also, after several level-ups, Leon managed to reach one of his goals, his recovery reached 2500 points, and now he could focus on increasing his intelligence again .

There was also a chance that the creature could react in some way before Leon finishes the weapon and causes critical damage and then stop him from finishing it . That would be very annoying, but it wasn't like Leon had much choice . Although the tip of the spear was more or less finished, he couldn't finish the butt of it because if he does that, he would have problems lifting the spear and make it grow upward .

‘Shall I add some spikes around the spear? I bet it would make this damn thing suffer a lot . . . it is a pity that I would have to waste a lot of time to create that . ‘

In the end, Leon didn't have time to be nasty and make that living prison suffer . Just killing was more than enough for the time being . Regardless, Leon had to work non-stop for one week to create a mithril spear long enough that could pierce two layers of those maze-like paths . Leon forgot that he would most likely penetrate a river of magma, so he almost wet himself when he saw magma flowing inside the spear .

Afterward, things got a little faster since several skills leveled up . However, even after Mana Absorption reached the level two hundred, Leon still had to work for three days straight in order to pierce another layer of space inside the creature .

‘Since it has come to this, I guess I don't have to worry about this monster suddenly trying to kill me . . . unless I destroy some vital organ, it will just ignore me . Rather, this thing even knows that I'm inside of its body?‘

Either way, Leon wouldn't change his attitude, but he couldn't help but think that he would love to have such a chance again . Although it was dangerous, the next time he finds another unbelievable gigantic monster, he would stay inside for a while just to have access to nearly infinite mana and train his spells .

After working hard for one month, Leon's spear was already seven hundred meters long and now pierced through twenty layers of flesh, magma, and rocks . . . Still, Leon couldn't see the end of it . Regardless, now Leon could penetrate one layer of rock, magma, and flesh every single day, and he also discovered something . After leveling up, Mana Absorption to the level three hundred, the beast stopped emitting its hellish heat . Leon could absorb one million mana points every ten minutes, and that was the same amount the monster could recover in that time .

'I don't know if feel happy that I can produce one kilogram of mithril every ten minutes . . . or if I feel scared that a creature that has one million points in recovery can exist . . . '

After confirming that and noticing that nothing changed on his surroundings, Leon confirmed that nothing would happen to him . So, he started to work even faster . . .

‘Yeah, I know . . . no need to tell me . ‘

Leon didn’t have time to worry about such insanity, so he just kept increasing the size of the mithril spear . Regardless, after analyzing the beast, Leon managed to discover that the thing had to rest for six hours before it could restore all its mana . He used that to organize the time he would use to rest . That being said, it looked like Leon couldn’t increase the speed of his progress, it was only obvious, but even the mana of that hellish creature had a limit .

‘What can I do to speed up this process ?‘

Leon had some ideas, but first, he had some tests to make . First, he tried to move the mithril spear upward using a large steel platform . That would help him save a lot of mana, but that would only be possible if the steel can endure the small moments where the flesh could transmit its heat . If the flesh couldn't damage or melt the steel, then it would work .

Leon decreased by half the amount of time he needed to pierce a layer of that thing's body . However, another problem appeared . The weapon was getting too heavy that the steel base was getting crushed by the weapon's weight .

Leon created another tip for the spear, the second one would be pointed downward, and even without Leon's help, it started to pierce the creature's flesh, all thanks to the massive weight of the weapon . I have to learn a spell to counter Teleportation .

Novel Chapter 387

Chapter 387: 387

Leon already knew what he needed, a spell that could counter any spell that may change the space around him or force him to move . Such a spell wouldn't only counter teleportation . It also would counter Telekinesis, Gravity, and skills like that . The plan to be fast enough to evade those was a good one, but a bit unrealistic . Leon couldn't keep himself focused at all times to dodge such spells, after all .

‘Fortunately, I have a terrific source of mana with me . So, I don't have to worry about the cost of mana to learn such spell . . . the problem later will be how I will keep the spell active every single moment . And it if was a spell that consumes my mana to prevent such attacks, for how long I will be able to counter? Those are good questions, which I can't answer right now . ‘

The only way Leon could think of how to do that would be to keep himself holding something rich in mithril at all times . However, until now, he didn't find mithril lying around, and considering his past experiences, Leon would be a fool to wait to found such useful things . The only option left was to create mithril or stay close to monsters in order to use Mana Absorption .

‘I will worry about such problems later . . . the shadowy figure probably is a persistent bastard . However, even he won't bother me all that much once I counter his actions a few times . . . probably . ‘

Anyway, Leon had to learn the spell and worry about such things later . His first idea of how to learn the skill he wanted was to improve Mana Barrier .

Leon activated it and confirmed that it could counter the heat of the magma and even the cold . Leon already knew that it could counter poison, but now that Leon thought about it, it didn't counter gravity when he learned it . He didn't feel all that much the effects of the gravity under the city of Miebos because his Gravity Resistance was high and because he got physically strong .

‘This spell has to active automatically in case something happens, but it would be a pain if it blocks the entrance of even oxygen . . . After learning that, creating a sphere and thickening that mana in it was easy; however, creating the same layer of mana instantly was very complicated . When Leon learned Mana Armor, Mana Shield, and Mana Barrier, he didn't have to worry about the speed . . . it was like he returned to the moment where he learned the basics of offensive magic .

Doing the same thing, Leon learned Anti-Gravity Field . However, would both of those be enough to counter forced teleportation ? At least, in theory, the answer was yes since Telekinesis and Gravity were used by mana on their purest form . Teleportation was probably the same thing, at least Leon thought that was the case since Transfer worked like that .

‘Wait a minute . . . If I can do that with Telekinesis and Gravity, then . . . ‘

Leon focused on emitting his mana to his surroundings as fast and violently as possible . Much to his surprise, he soon obtained a notification but opened his eyes widely when he felt those effects .

Congratulations! You have learned the skill: Anti-Mana Field .

You obtained 01 status points .

‘Oh, boy . . . I thought this would solve all my problems, but this is quite scary . ‘

Just like when Leon uses Mana Concealment, he couldn't use spells when Anti-Mana Field was active . However, the skill was much complicated than that . Leon couldn't use mana, and he could block magic attacks as long as he has mana, but he also couldn't feel the effects of his passive skills . It was a skill that made him turn into an almost ordinary human again . . .

‘This skill will certainly prevent forced teleportation, but while I fight, I will have to deactivate the skill, and that will give the chances to my enemies to use Teleport and summoning again . . . I can never catch a break . ‘

It was a bit too much to hope that Leon could learn spells and then solve his problems just like that . However, he couldn't help but feel like he just learned something that could cause many problems in the future for him . Although Leon solved one of his issues quite fast . . . he only felt like sighing .

‘I guess speed is the answer to everything . . . if I become fast enough, I won't have to worry about such problems . ‘

Leon already knew what he needed, a spell that could counter any spell that may change the space around him or force him to move . Such a spell wouldnt only counter teleportation . It also would counter Telekinesis, Gravity, and skills like that . The plan to be fast enough to evade those was a good one, but a bit unrealistic . Leon couldnt keep himself focused at all times to dodge such spells, after all .

Fortunately, I have a terrific source of mana with me . So, I dont have to worry about the cost of mana to learn such spell . . . the problem later will be how I will keep the spell active every single moment . And it if was a spell that consumes my mana to prevent such attacks, for how long I will be able to counter? Those are good questions, which I cant answer right now .

The only way Leon could think of how to do that would be to keep himself holding something rich in mithril at all times . However, until now, he didnt find mithril lying around, and considering his past experiences, Leon would be a fool to wait to found such useful things . The only option left was to create mithril or stay close to monsters in order to use Mana Absorption .

I will worry about such problems later . . . the shadowy figure probably is a persistent bastard . However, even he wont bother me all that much once I counter his actions a few times . . . probably .

Anyway, Leon had to learn the spell and worry about such things later . His first idea of how to learn the skill he wanted was to improve Mana Barrier . Leon activated it and confirmed that it could counter the heat of the magma and even the cold . Leon already knew that it could counter poison, but now that Leon thought about it, it didnt counter gravity when he learned it . He didnt feel all that much the effects of the gravity under the city of Miebos because his Gravity Resistance was high and because he got physically strong .

It took Leon a few days, but he managed to level Anti-Mana Field up to level fifty . It was better to make that skill as efficient as possible while he can because Leon would need a lot of mana to counter the spells of the shadowy figure .

Regardless, Leon felt like he had always wasted too much time inside that creature . So, he didn't only resume his job but also sped up things quite a bit by making more steel than mithril . In a single week, Leon managed to decrease the health of the creature until it reached five percent of its maximum . However, things changed after that . . . the whole place started to tremble, and his spear started to suck everything, even Leon .

‘Oh shit . . . this reaction and effect . . . This thing is really in outer space .

Leon tried to seal the hollow space inside his spear with several layers of steel, and he finally managed to stop his body from being sucked to outside of the monster . However, the beast was still trembling, and as if that wasn't enough, it started to move to somewhere . . . the sudden movement made Leon hit his body against the rocks below him . The movement had been so strong that his body only stopped after hearing the frozen river of magma .

‘Shit . . . I should have kept Mana Armor active . . . ‘

Leon used Full-Recover, and the next moment, he was back on his feet . However, things were starting to get cold really quickly, not only that . The air was getting heavy to breathe .

‘I have to seal the hollow parts of the spear for the time being . . . the oxygen is being sucked to outside of the monster . I can produce it, but . . . ‘

The sudden movement finally stopped, and the body wasn't trembling, but Leon could feel that the creature was moving to somewhere . It would be troublesome if it were getting close to the shadowy figure, so Leon hurried to finish the spear and kill the beast .

The more Leon was approaching to finish his spear, the more he could feel the creature slowing down its movements . Eventually, even the lower part of the spear reached the outside of the snake's body, and Leon felt his body being sucked again . He also sealed the lower part of the spear, but Leon couldn't help but frown since the snake still had some health .

Considering that it was the fruit of half a year of work, it wasn't that surprising that Leon obtained eight hundred status points . The status of the spear was also insane, after all . Regardless, that was only the beginning . Leon used Seal to put the spirit of the snake on that weapon . . . but the skill failed .

Leon shot Plasma Arrows around until the health of the creature's health dropped to five thousand . After that, he used Seal again, but even though the cost of the skill was supposed to be only fifty points of mana, Leon used one hundred times more .

‘Ugh . . . this is . . . ‘

Novel Chapter 389

Chapter 389: 389

Leon was in shock . He couldn't understand why he was so suddenly returning to Earth . . . no, why the snake was heading there . While Leon was thinking about that, he saw the dead snake passing by Mars at an astounding speed . It was quite surprising that such speed didn't crush his body, but it was probably because he was still inside the spear, and he did an excellent job making it thin, but stable .

'This creature once started to move a few days ago . . . so why it suddenly started to move and why toward Earth? Did that bastard do something? Or the creature finally felt my mana and heading to a place where I left some trails there?'

Either way, it didn't matter . Although the creature slowed down upon death, it still would hit earth . . . it was like the creature made a path using its mana or somehow managed to make its body get attracted by Earth, like a magnet . . . Still, Leon had to stop the beast, but Leon could really do one thing to succeed . . . use Summon Zombie .

'Why do I always have to use this damn spell whenever I am against the wall? This has to be a joke . . . '

Leon didn't have much time, even though the snake died, it was still flying at unbelievable speed . . . Leon only had a few minutes before impact . He had no other choice but to use Summon Zombie because the creature wouldn't be able to slow down so fast . In the end, Leon did it .

The beast probably didn't hear Leon since he was so small, and he was very far away from its head . But Leon felt the snake moving its body and slowing down . . . thanks to it, his body hit against the mithril spear and Leon broke his nose . Ten minutes later, the creature finally stopped in the middle of the outer space, and Leon sighed in relief . . . Earth was still very far away, but at the same time, it looked so close . . . at least it was much closer than any point Leon had been in the last six or seven years . He could see the place clearly thanks to Sharp Eyes, but only after he calmed down, he understood that things looked a bit different on Earth . . . America and Africa looked more prominent, and the shapes of the continents were a bit different than Leon recalled .

‘Oh boy . . . how many years have passed while I was away?’

Leon probably could use Transfer and appear back on Earth, but he couldn’t leave his zombie nearby . Although he didn’t want to use that skill, Leon would need such a creature if the lizard or the shadowy figure do something again . . .

‘It is not like I can make this thing ‘park’ on Earth . . . how big is this anyway?’

‘Yep . . . I can’t let this on Earth . It is too big . . . I wonder if it can stay on the moon . . . where is the moon?’

Leon frowned when he didn’t see the moon, but then he recalled that it might have been on the side of the planet . After deciding to approach slowly, the zombie snake obeyed Leon’s thought and begun to fly . . . it was quite a good vehicle, it was like a spaceship that could be controlled by thoughts . Regardless, Leon didn’t know if leaving such a massive beast on the moon would cause some sort of disaster, but Leon decided to keep it nearby in case he needs to use it . Besides, it would be an excellent weapon to threaten anyone who may try to screw with Leon .

Regardless, Leon was running out of oxygen, so he decided to return to the interior of the zombie snake in order to create some oxygen . . . things would get messy inside his Mana Barrier if he doesn't refresh the air inside of it .

Once Leon returned, he was close enough to see that Earth was a bit more green than usual . During his student years, he saw many maps, and all of them showed that the area where he lived was quite brown . . . but now it was green . A lot of years have passed, Leon knew that, and even though more trees were good, Leon couldn't feel happy about it . Leon couldn't help but frown while he was falling . After using Transfer, Leon appeared in the middle of the atmosphere and now, he couldn't help but wonder if he had gone to the right place . . . Leon recognized the terrain to some extent, but he couldn't see any decent landmark .

Before Leon could land, he started to fly and confirmed that the zombie snake was still on the place he left . Although he couldn't see it perfectly, Leon could see a massive 'stain' on the sky . It extended from one horizon to the other, after all . Regardless, Leon landed on the gigantic forest and activated Anti-Mana Field . Now that he was finally back, he couldn't leave any bastard to summon or teleport him again .

‘I guess I should be fine for the time being . . . if something happens, I can always grab the mithril spear and drain its mana . Mmm? What is this?’

After taking a few steps, Leon noticed that he was above a paved street . There was a thick layer of sand above it, but Leon noticed a curb under his feet . The forest was too dense to confirm that he was indeed at the place once it was Las Vegas, but it wouldn't be long to find any sign of civilization . Even if one thousand years have passed, he was bound to find the remaining buildings and houses .

‘Let's see . . . I can't use any active skill, and my passive skills don't work either . However, it looks like my other status are working . . . it is like I'm not ordinary human again . I'm just a survivor with pathetic status . ‘

Leon's health and stamina were low, but he would be able to run in case something happens . If the worst comes to worst, he can always cancel Anti-Mana Field for a second and use Transfer .

After Leon started to walk, it didn't take long before he could find a monster . Rather, the beast found him . Suddenly four blocks of earth appeared out nowhere and smashed Leon . . . Well, only sand hit Leon . The blocks of earth became dust soon after it got one meter away from Leon .

‘Tsk . . . I got too much used to Mana Dominion . . . ‘

Leon looked around and didn't find the enemy . He only noticed what had attacked him after he saw a random tree, slightly trembling . Leon didn't think twice and used Plasma Arrow and destroyed the creature completely . . . it was a trent . . . a monster tree .

'Oops . . . I can't use . . . Mmm ?'

Leon frowned when after noticing that he attacked instantly, but he frowned, even more, when Anti-Mana Field was reactivated soon after he cast Plasma Arrow . He cast an Earth Bullet and confirmed that the spell activated soon after Leon attacked . . . in the brief fraction of a second, the spell deactivated and activated without caring about Leon's will .

'I see . . . so it works like that . In the end, this is a spell . . . a mage's tool, a spell that put the mage at risk like that can't exist . Although the spell has its demerits, it has some advantages, too . '

While Leon was thinking about that, the entire area started to tremble . No, it wasn't the area . . . the trees were shaking, and Leon couldn't help but frown when he used Appraisal on them .

‘Hey, hey . . . what the hell is going on? A forest of treants? And all of them are stronger than angels?’

Before Leon could think of an explanation, several blocks of earth started to appear around him again and again . Leon could counter Earthquake and save a lot of mana just by flying a little bit, but his mana was quickly decreasing because Anti-Mana Field was countering Earth Execution .

‘Too many enemies, and I am not here to fight . . . ‘ Leon flew high and escaped from the monsters’ reach, but their attacks didn’t stop even after he was three hundred meters above them . ‘I have to look for any traces of Amanda’s house, but . . . if there is a horde of monsters here, then I won’t find anything . ‘

Leon bit his lips . . . Las Vegas was no more . Although it was crazy, it looked like Earth became greener thanks to those trends . They were more robust than the ordinary angels, so it wouldn’t be weird if that were on the fourth stage of assimilation . The angels were the strongest monsters on Celosie and Dasaliv, after all .

‘I have to see how things are in New York . . . I should be able to collect some good pieces of information there . ‘

Leon could only hope that Sarah and Tom were still there, but considering that at least two hundred years have passed on Earth since he disappeared, it was very unlikely that they were still the leaders . . . Regardless, Leon didn’t have any other option, and he used Transfer toward New York while his lips were leaving a trail of blood behind .

Leon couldn't help but frown while he was falling . After using Transfer, Leon appeared in the middle of the atmosphere and now, he couldn't help but wonder if he had gone to the right place . . . Leon recognized the terrain to some extent, but he couldn't see any decent landmark .
