

Vampir Lord: Erotic RPG Chapter 16

Emura was sitting in the mansion's living room. There was a cup of tea growing cold on her side. She had various documents on the table scattered around. Most of the documents wrote about the movements of the human army. A cigarette was sitting on a glass ashtray.

"Fuckers... They really got us good." Emura spoke with a very rough voice.

The humans had formed a military alliance with the elves to wipe out the demons. Not only that, they had plans to attack the vampires, too. Emura was stressed because her former tribe had allied with the humans, according to the report.

"What happened to the crimson scaled lizard folk never interfering with other countries' wars? Peh! You dirty fucking liars."

Her hand slammed onto the desk, causing the paper to fly. Marina caught them all with her web. She then placed them neatly in order back on the desk. Emura had to admit this spider woman had an extremely high talent as a maid.

"You should drink your tea before it cools."

"Hah? Fuck you, just a little spider trying to steal my man." Emura said with a snarl.

"You shouldn't curse. It's not very ladylike. Master might discard such a grubby lizard. Who sheds her filth everywhere?" Marina said. Her mouth smirked as one of her front spider legs covering it.

The door flung open with a bang. Chuchu flew in, riding on top of Alice, whose body was now filled with armour. Once again, sending the documents flying into the air. Marina's eyes to twitch as she tied both Alice and Chuchu up in her web.

"Meep!" (I am Chuchu, the mighty princess bow down before my might!)

"Meepu!" (I am the mighty princess Chuchu's iron steed!)

She then placed all the documents neatly on the table. Before looking to the outside with joy filling her eyes.

"Master is home." Marina declared, which caused all the others to get excited.

The girls all raced to the front door. They left Chuchu and Alice behind wrapped in webbing, only able to whimper.

He finally reached home. But when passing through the familiar garden now looking like a battlefield. "Why are there countless deep holes? Who attacked my mansion?"

His feet walked towards the courtyard. However, before he could get any closer, his body was tackled down by a large woman wearing a black French maid outfit. Her arachnid body was nowhere to be found. It seemed she was at least considerate of him. He could feel her concern, with how tightly her hands gripped his back and her lips pressing against Lucian's chest. Her little spider fangs were poking into his flesh. Lucian felt déjà vu of how all the girls he met would bite or suck his blood.

"Master! I was so worried. You didn't come back! I thought we'd made you displeased." Marina was normally stoic. however, with Lucian, she seemed to lose all of her facade. Miumiu was frowning. She was sleeping comfortably and this stupid spider woman woke her up and began lacing her husband with her dirty scent.

"Wuuu!" (Stupid insect! Remove your filthy drool from my future king! Hmph!)

In the background, Alice and Chuchu finally escaped Marina's web. They started moving toward Lucian with glee. Emura stood away from the group. She fixed her eyes on the fox around his neck. "What is the demon princess doing cuddling our darling's neck? Fuck! She had a fiancé," Emura said. Her mind filled with chaos from this fresh addition.

Alice kept charging towards Lucian. She had forgotten her initial goal of seducing him. Her days were now spent enjoying her time in the mansion, playing with Chuchu and her sister. Lucian saw Chuchu was acting strange. She would normally greet him with her bragging about her being a princess. Now she was only shuddering and trying to hide behind Alice's human body as if frightened.

"Chuchu, are you okay?" Lucian asked.

The fox discovered the black rabbit as her eyes narrowed. Her body rose as she stood elegantly on Lucian's shoulder. Her three tails swayed with displeasure.

"Wuuu!" (Ara! What do we have here? My incompetent escort knight Ludris. Tell me, why are you staying at my husband's mansion after deserting me?)

"Meep... Meep!" (Your highness, keep your jokes to a limit. How could a valiant knight such as Ludris abandon the glorious demon princess?)

"These two knew each other?" Emura said quietly.

"So they are related?" Marina thought.

Lucian stood still, watching the girls interact. Blood slowly dripped from his nose as he tried to wipe it without the girls noticing. The younger girls were oblivious, but both Marina and Emura's eyes had a worry flash in their eyes.

"Damn... This is embarrassing. I haven't had a nosebleed since I was a child. I also feel starving..."

[Lucian, you direly need rest]

He ignored the warning and moved closer to his women. The stress from his battle was still throbbing in the back of his mind. His transformation had changed how his feeling and mind functioned. When he looked at all these girls, his chest filled with a desire to drink them dry and violate them until they cried in submission. He slapped his own cheeks and forced a smile upon his face. "Why do I have to force myself to smile? Is there something wrong with my face?"

After he forced his body to transform, several of his nerves and facial muscles were damaged. Now he was forced to change his expressions intentionally. The girls seemed to be desperate for skin ship as they molested him.

Miumiu and Chuchu were arguing in the distance. Lucian didn't plan to get involved unless it went too far.

Marina was currently in her half arachnid form. Her spider legs were giving Lucian a massage. She was currently standing side by side with Emura. They were both hugging him together, trying to dispel their worry.

"Are you really okay? You're not forcing yourself, right Master?" Marina whispered with her soft voice in his right ear.

"Do you need my help? I can do anything for you, owner!" Emura murmured in her rough voice on his left.

Lucian felt both their voices resonated somehow. "It feels like super HD ASMR!" He thought as his hands tried to reassure them by stroking along their hair.

I spent almost an hour calming the two girls down. Alice seemed to have tagged along with the two animal girls who entered another room. The moment I entered my room, I succumbed to the pain which I had endured since transforming.

"Siesta... I feel so much pain,"

[Lucian... That's something I cannot help with. I'm sorry]

My body fell to its knees as I tried to crawl towards my private bathroom. Blood began pouring from my nose as a throbbing pain filled my entire body. It felt like somebody was squeezing my brain like a sponge and filling my body with countless knives.

“It hurts! It hurts! It hurts! It hurts! PLEASE STOP THE PAIN!”

I tried to lift my arms but couldn't muster any power. They simply flopped by my side. Inside the reflection, I became a bloody mess. All the muscles in my body were squirming and juddering. My mouth opened to speak to Siesta once more, but my body vomited countless amounts of dark, discoloured blood, leaving my skin extremely pale.

“Siesta... please I beg you...”

Normally I could hide my fangs unless feeding. Now they were permanently displayed and much thicker. My blonde hair grew further and turn a shade of snow white. My ears grew as long as an elf with sharp points. The pain in my body seemed to intensify as even my skin and fingernails peeled away.

[Brother... You are going to become a genuine monster. Forgive me.]

Lucian fell into a state of a daydream. He remembered the vampires in the game weren't actual vampires. They were more like fantasy anime vampires, neither needing to feed to live nor did sunlight turn them into ash.

[Race Changed] [Class Changed]

[Vampire Noble: Baron]—> [Primul Vampir: First State]

[Vampire Lord]—> [Vampir Lord]

But what he was becoming was something far more evil than what this world knew as “Vampires.” He was becoming the first “True Vampir.” From this moment onwards, he would thirst for blood, from both his brides and others. His emotions would become cold and dampened requiring him to break the seals on to regain them fully. He would only feel his rage, anger and hatred becoming drastically intensified.

“ ... ”

“System, what is my current status?” A cold and charming voice sounded from Lucian's mouth.