

VAMPIR LORD: EROTIC RPG

Chapter 24 Dance Of The Valkyrie

(Lucian POV)

A group of goblins skittered out from the bushes. I was waiting for them to approach. The scent of a female in heat would draw these guys close from miles away.

"Siesta, can you show me my current status and the tier 2 shop?" I asked my beloved system.

I watched as the goblins approached her tent slowly. Since I was so quiet, they couldn't see me perched on a tree. 'Should I save that perverted girl?'

"Hey Siesta, how come my seduction level hasn't increased lately?"

[The quests were far too easy and the main storyline hasn't begun. I am limited until the moment you get to the academy. Please forgive me Lucian.]

'Strange, why did Siesta become so weird after that day I transformed?' I thought whilst pressing the Noble's suit option. My daily annoyance came from having no decent clothes that could withstand battle. This one was even self cleaning!

[Noble Suit purchase confirmed. Replacing current outfit.]

"Heh, this suit is pretty damn awesome. But why is it the same suit my sister chose for me to wear to the prom?" I said, feeling inquisitive.

The suit was jet black with a slim fit. My sister had chosen this suit back then. She thought I looked the coolest wearing this. It was a double-breasted suit jacket with six silver buttons. It also came with a dark red tie.

"I look like some kind of rich young master now, haha. Oh, shit, the goblins!"

My eyes looked towards the tent and they seemed to watch her act like little green perverts. I didn't really seem to feel anything, but I hated the fact other males were trying to see my prey.

"Suu, it's time to shine!"

"Puru!" (Anything for you!)

Suusuu exploded into a red light. She became my dual swords once again. The short sword in my left hand felt heavier than last time. 'Is she gaining weight?'

I leapt from the tree landing a few metres from the goblins as their heads swivelled towards me, instantly causing them to feel fear. My red longsword pointed towards them as they laughed and charge towards me with their poor quality weapons.

A small goblin struck towards my head from the right with a club whilst another stabbed at my thigh with a dagger. I lifted my left leg and kicked the dagger wielding goblin onto his ass using the momentum from the blow to spin my body and slice through the goblin with the club. The feeling of my blade sliding through his throat felt divine as the junk food like blood sprayed onto my face.

I saw another goblin charging straight towards me from the corner of my eye. This forced me to raise my short sword defensively to block the impact. My body rocked backwards a little. Although its force was weak, the grinning goblin's blow only stopped my assault for a moment. I thrust my sword into his neck with a violent lunging thrust.

"Filthy green bastard! Dare to stain my suit with your blood."

'There' should be more goblins. Where the hell are they? Did that elf get done?'

*Thud!*

Two headless goblin corpses flew out from the tent. Their heads followed with a look of utter shock on their dead faces. I was about to head towards the tent, but a tremendous force jolted my chest. I swung my sword down to intercept the silver spear heading towards my neck and grabbed the arm that held it, throwing the person to the ground and mounting her.

She had long white hair down to her ass, dark blue eyes filled with endless vigour. This woman looked like a more feral version of Mira without glasses. She looked at me with a fierce glare.

"Get your hands off me, you filthy vampire!" Her voice was alluring and filled with a commanding tone.

Her knee slammed into my body, which caused intense pain and knocking me off the mount position. I rolled three times to get some distance and observed her once more. 'Who the hell is this? Was Mira not in there?'

She did not give me the time to ask questions as her spear once again thrust towards me with a glint of silver light. "Fuck!" My red sword parried the blow, causing sparks to fly in the air. The woman stood across from me in a lowered position and acting like I'd killed her family.

This woman made me feel excitement, something I hadn't felt since that old man in the forest. I could feel my blood screaming. It told me to consume her, devour her, and make her mine. I felt a strange sense of elation. This was the first time I felt extreme emotions since the transformation.

"I tell you once more, vampire! Leave this place or die by my hand! This forest is the Elven territory!"

'Sorry, cute Elven warrior. I have to kill you!' I thought as my blade and body glowed with a red flame.

"You fucker! I will never let your foul plot succeed!" She yelled as her body shone with a holy light.

[Blade Waltz] / [Spear Sonnet]

We activated our skills at the same moment. My body fluttered like a gentle swan approaching her with grace and elegance. Her skill was intrusive yet pure, with her spear stabbing towards me three times towards my heart and throat. I nimbly stepped on one leg, kicking her first strike, flicking up my left wrist to deflect her second blow.

My body spun around hers as she also twirled to build momentum for her last strike toward my neck. I didn't parry the blow. I used my right arm as it whirled in a semicircle as the long sword struck the woman's shoulder and knocked her spear off target. It lightly cut the edge of my neck.

"So you're stronger than I thought!" She said. A delighted smile filled her face, she was also blushing deeply with heavy breaths.

'Why is she getting so excited? What is this woman!?' I thought.

We continued to clash as if caught in an exotic dance. Spear clashed with sword, Red clashed with white. I felt my elation only growing with the dwindling mana inside my body. Her glow also faded rapidly. There was a silent agreement as we both ended our dance with one ultimate attack.

She pulled back her spear as her remaining mana collected at the tip. I also gathered what mana remained, as my skill was nearing its limits. Unlike her, my entire body was coated.

"Well, fuck the term ladies first. I'm going to crush your pride, little Elven war maiden!" I shouted as my body moved forward.

"Heh you, dirty vampire! I will pierce you where you stand!" She responded as I saw her lunge forward.

We were almost within striking distance as her spear extended with extreme speed, aiming towards my heart. I dropped my swords and turned my body to the side, her spear's tip only grazing my new black suit. I used the momentum to give her a left uppercut right on her unprotected, dazed chin.

It hit her with a massive impact as she had zero defence ready. She thought I had surrendered when I released my weapons. I just had Suu transform into a steel like gauntlet to improve my punches power. The woman fell to the ground like a sack of potatoes as her legs buckled and her eyes turned white.

The force from the punch drove me too far as I ended up falling over her body. She was almost as tall as me, so our faces were at the same height. 'I had to admit she was my type if we were back on my last planet.' My hands pressed forward to stop myself from falling completely, only for them to grasp two massive, soft and squishy objects.

"Ahhhhhhnn~ Lucian! It's still early!" Mira's voice sounded from below me.

Her body slowly returned to the nerdy little elf who enjoyed my scent. There was no trace of the battle maiden I'd just danced with. I was just left with a stunned Mira with a bright red face and a naked body lay under me. If somebody walked past, it would look like an assault scene.

I fondled her breasts a few more times. She had been driving me insane with her daily sessions, after all. It's a fair payment, right?

"Mmmnnn~ Lucian no, let's do it on the bed."

'Ah, this is so tiresome... The game explained her skill but she never changed figure?' I thought.

freewebnovel.com

My hands kept fondling her while trying to figure out the reason for this to happen. 'In the games cut-scenes and art, she never had blonde hair. Is that a clue? I mean, she wasn't even nerdy in the game, right? She was a fierce battle orientated heroine?'

Her body was squirming below me as I felt hard buttons pressing against my hands. She grabbed my back with both her arms, holding me tightly.

"L-lushan Mmmm~ It's like a dream hehe."

My eyes peered down and my mouth opened and said something stupid.

"Wow, didn't expect elves to be so hairy."

"Heh?" she responded.
