

Vampir Lord: Erotic RPG Chapter 7

I knew that what I had just done was probably something very important for this beautiful spider girl. Since coming to this place, I felt my EQ was improving. Instead of acting oblivious. My hand reached towards her face, gently stroking her cheek. The skin on her face was silky smooth. Honestly, I became engrossed. Unable to see her crimson cheeks and shuddering body.

In order to avoid Earl being in trouble. I shouted back to him, "I'll pay whatever they are both worth. Give her sister a light contract, only stopping her from harming me and my interest's. I will employ them as maids to clean my mansion. I don't want any forced sexual clauses. They are free to roam the garden and mansion after they finish serving meals and cleaning."

After I finished speaking, I threw a sac of multiple golden coins to Earl. The game's currency was rather strange. Like all RPG's it had a normal currency: gold, silver, copper. But when you reached the endgame, people deal with mana gems or crystals. The sac contained around 200 gold. Lucian trusted Earl would give him the right price.

When he heard my words, Earl sprinted out of the room. His fat little body wobbling to each side.

My head turned back to Marina, feeling a wet sensation along my fingers. Her eyes were dripping with tears. I wasn't sure why she seemed so happy, but I just gently stroked her slightly lowered head. She was over 210cm tall when standing.

"Are those conditions fine with you both?" I asked both Marina and her small silver sister, Alice. They both nodded, shocked, as the initial contract stated they had to perform those kinds of acts.

To be honest, although I would love to sleep with these lovely women immediately. Isn't it kind of boring to just force them? Wouldn't it be amazing if they snuck into my bed themselves? Also, I think the system doesn't view forcefully binding them as completing the task.

[Alice +5 Affection]

Come to think of it. "System, is there an affection bar I can see? Or is it just your arbitrary words?" I thought to myself, wondering if the system would answer honestly.

[Turn on the affection display: (Y/N?)]

"Yes, please."

My usual status screen changed with a flicker. It now added several numerical values and bars.

[Carmilla: 200/100]

[Rosa: 40/100]

[Chuchu 999/100]

[Marina: 100/100]

[Alice: 25/100]

The bars had indentations at several points.

25 = Friendly

40 = Likes you

60 = Wants to be your lover

80 = Loves you deeply.

90 = Will stay with you till death.

100 = Devoted will accept only your words.

100+ = Love has exceeded normal levels. Beware of dark alleys and knives.

Alice was currently looking at Lucian. She felt his actions were very kind. But the fact her sister looked so elated at his touch made her feel jealous for the first time. Because of her small body, it was she who pampered when growing up. But now this man was only crazy about her sister Marina and didn't even glance at her.

"Are you sure you wish to give us such freedom?" Alice asked him with her soft voice.

Lucian finally broke free of his fixation on the system and Marina's soft skin. His head turned to the girl he'd failed to notice. She was truly beautiful and he could see she would be more attractive to normal humans. Unlike Marina, who was a spider and human mixed. Alice was a human girl with little white spider legs coming from her back. It was rather charming.

"Mmm, I only need you to help clean my house and the occasional meal. If you are willing, you can join me to hunt in the forest near the capital sometimes."

Marina's face showed her joy at the thought of hunting with her husband. She loved fighting, especially monsters. Alice was lazy and preferred to read in her room. Both girls gave a quick nod, just in case he changed his mind. Lucian saw everything was good and grasped both Marina's front spider leg which caused her to shudder and Alice's hand.

Alice move close to Lucian's ear and whispered. "Something closely links our lady parts to our front legs. If you don't want her sexually assaulting you in the middle of the street. Grab her normal hand."

Lucian gave an awkward laugh. His eyes looked at her woman's face. She was now drooling slightly. Her eight eyes look like a predator. He let go of her reluctantly and grasped her soft, pale hand as he led the two out of their cell. When the girls walked past, it shocked many of the previously absent women and made them regretful. They acted that way because this weird noble covered in blood like some kind of psychopath and a dead iron rabbit around his neck.

But the rabbit was just sleeping. The noble must've been a good man to pass the twins' test. Now the various women were angry at themselves. They stopped doing these pointless acts next time they see him.

"We missed out on such a handsome master..."

"Look how happy big sis Marina looks!"

With one last look at the handsome mans back, they all communicated with eye contact. Alice thought theses women were stupid. Marina was oblivious. She wondered if Lucian would like to ride on her rear, not walk. As for Lucian, he was currently enjoying the feeling of the twins pressed against him.

It didn't take us long to get upstairs. Now I was sitting on the sofa with Alice in my lap. She said my legs were comfortable. Marina was a little big, so she was sitting on the floor beside me, her hand stroking through my blonde hair.

"Mr Lucian Silver. We have calculated their price to be 160 Gold coins. Is this satisfactory?"

These two high-class beauties were so cheap, there wasn't any catch right? "Wow, I didn't expect you two were so cheat. Haha! That price is fine. Use the remaining coins to provide them with maid clothes suitable for the pair. This isn't a problem, right?"

[Alice +5 Affection]

The twins leaned towards each other and began whispering with joy, but I couldn't hear them. Marina had a fiery gaze towards me. Alice was smiling happily on my lap now, leaning against my chest comfortably.

The details were tedious to work out. So I left it all to Marina and Alice as I looked through the catalogue. There was another girl I wanted. She would end up being a capturable heroine. Her race was rather normal. She was simply a lizard race. However, her mother was actually a pure dragon. If she evolved, would one day be as powerful as her mother?

"She's still not captured. Earl, if you get a lizard girl with the name Emura, please contact me at my residence. I will buy her at a higher than asking price."

I needed to be realistic after the next five months ends. My handsome ass will clash with Lance. Not only that, I am sure he will try pursuing Carmilla, so I have to pierce her last barrier before then. Lance hates non-virgin's and impurity after all. It's totally not because I want to lose my virginity. Nope!

Earl was rather generous. He had seven different maid sets created for the girls. They weren't normal clothes but build durable for both their human and arachnid forms. Honestly, when I saw them, my mouth blurted out I'd prefer if we made them from the twins' spider silk, which caused them both to blush deeply and cling on to me tightly.

[Alice +10 Affection]

I could swear Alice was sniffing the scent of my sweat from within my opened tunic. She will not develop some strange fetish, right? I'm sorry for corrupting such a cute girl! Don't blame this old man. The system was really quiet today. Honestly, I missed her voice.

[System +5 Affection]

"Hah?"

The system's joke stunned me for a moment. Many of the nobles looked at my cute maids with disdain. So I shall sleep with their wives in the future. "Dare look down on my supreme Arachne maids! I condemn you to be cuckolds!"

"Of course, this was just bravado for now, but when I lose my virginity..."

We arrived at my large mansion. Carmilla was still out, thankfully. Today is the day she learn's her parents died. However, it's vital I don't interfere. This is where she changes from an airhead with talent. To the most powerful vampire general in the country.

If she comes to me, I will comfort her. The pain of losing a family is far greater than most people realise when they haven't lost their parents. No matter how bad they were to you.

Just when I was about to tell the girls to enter the house, during my state of daze, the trees near the servants' wing were now filled with a beautiful web like scene from tree to tree. My eyes filled with joy at seeing the two girls frolicking in mid air. Maybe Alice seemed very excited as I saw several lethal wind blades fly towards her sister, who pulled a large great axe from somewhere. Wait!? Are they trying to kill each other for real? Chuchu jumped from my neck and entered the fray.

"Girls... Stop! Don't kill each other..."

My first day in another world concluded with a fight between two spiders and Chuchu. The rabbit beat them both single-handed, now sitting on their unconscious bodies. Chuchu asked me where her maid outfit was.