Chapter 25 Of Cheaters and Liars

Anthony pretended to be hesitant. He scratched his head and smiled awkwardly at Logan, "Chief Logan, hang on a second. This old man seems cool too. Let me talk to him first?"

Logan was startled and fumbled. Looks like this Master Healer is determined to claim this dude as his apprentice. "Hey bro, don't need to talk. Come, let's go. I tell you, the girls in New York are pretty and naughty!"

While speaking, Logan nudged Anthony and prepared to take him away. What the heck! Does he know who the Master Healer is? He stems from a generation of sacred healing hands and saves countless people. The accumulated contacts and network made along the way would be too great and impossible to count. Being an apprentice of the Master Healer means that you can fully inherit the power of these connections. It is not an exaggeration to say that it is a power beyond one's imagination.

Now this bastard doesn't seem to have any clue about this. If he waits for him to figure it out, he will definitely not join the Orbtagon. He must not let them talk in- depth!

Poppy, who stood next to him, knew the causality of the incident. Just now, Anthony and the old man had agreed upon a mentorship between themselves. And now why are they pretending that they didn't know what's going on? What exactly is this master and apprentice duo up to?

"Don't need to rush. Come, let's talk more on the details!" Louis reached out and pulled Anthony back, "I tell you, you follow me. I can teach you medical skills and let you dictate life and death. What is money and beautiful women when you could have the decree to life and death?"

Logan felt challenged. He twitched his lips, "Master Healer, lest you forgot, we also have Thomas Odinsen in Orbtagon. He is also good at healing people. As long as Anthony joins us, Thomas Odinsen can teach him too!"

Louis said dismissively, "Thomas Odinsen? Do you think he would easily teach a new kid?"

Louis asked Logan, and the latter was caught in a daze, "This..." Logan was only a chief in Orbtagon, and above the supreme leaders, there were the Seven Kingsmen and the Three Lords... As for the wishes of Thomas Odinsen, Logan had no say in that.

However, Logan was witty. Thomas had not accepted apprentices for so many years because he had not found a potential apprentice. If Anthony was good enough, Thomas would definitely agree.

Thinking of this, Logan hollered at the two men around him, "Bring the measuring instrument!" This was a measuring instrument specially used by the Orbtagon, which used sodium metal and other raw materials to make this potential measuring instrument. On the measuring instrument, there was a scale level from one to ten. As long as the human blood gets on the instrument, one can immediately tell the potential level of the Awakener.

Previously, through visual observation, Logan confirmed that Anthony had the potential of at least a level 5. If Anthony was measured at level 7 or above, then Thomas would agree to accept an apprentice.

Logan's member handed him something that looked like a blood glucose meter. He took the measuring instrument and poked Anthony's finger, then stared intently at the scale on the measuring instrument.

Level 1...Level 2...Level 3...

Level 7...

Logan was shocked. His eyes bulged in disbelief, but the scale on the measuring instrument was still rising!

Next to him, Anthony was startled at Logan's reaction, "Master... Old man, what are they doing?" Anthony asked Louis and almost slipped his tongue.

"Hehe... They are measuring your potential. The higher the potential, the better the treatment you will get!" Louis Darcy touched his beard with a rather mugger smile.

And Logan, who stood next to him, watched the scale on the measuring instrument jumping to level 10. And he sprung up in shock, "Damn, it's full on the scale? A genius, a genius with no limitation!" In Orbtagon's history, there had never been a full-level Awakener.

Is the measuring instrument broken?

In disbelief, Logan took the other two measuring instruments and measured several times again. However, the results came back the same. And, they were all at full-level.

At this moment, Logan was not calm at all. No, in any case, this kid must be won over. This was a serious matter and must be reported to the Kingsmen, "Sam Wilson, this is Logan. There's a case here. I have found a full-level Awakener in New York, but the Master Healer wants to train him too. What should I do now?"

On the other side of the phone. At the Orbtagon base. Sam heard Logan's report and was flabbergasted in excitement, "What? A full-level Awakener? Are you sure? Fuck... Why are you still hesitating? Give him all the best of perks, we will give everything the Master Healer offers, and we must get in... Forget it. Turn on the loudspeaker, and I will talk to him..."

A tenth-level Awakener, an exponential potential, would definitely be able to reach the power of class S. Not only that, but it would also be possible to make a further breakthrough and enter the unforeseeable realm. If it ever gets to that state, Orbtagon would rise that day. Now in the Federation, Orbtagon, HEXALT, and the board of Shikari were the three powers equivalent to the three empires. Although Orbtagon represents the authority in the country, the reality wasn't as glamorous but frustrating.

After Logan turned on the loudspeaker, Sam first greeted the Master Healer and then said to Anthony, "Anthony, I can guarantee that Thomas will definitely teach you medical skills. You are rest assured to join Orbtagon!"

Anthony did not speak. He glanced at Louis, who was standing next to him. Louis snorted coldly, "Huh, is it just Thomas Odinsen? I can ask Dorian White and Obsidian Witch to teach him martial arts. Who else do you have?"

Sam was taken aback during the call. Louis was right. Although the people Louis mentioned weren't ranked in the board of Shikari's ranking for some reason. Yet, their power and ability were absolutely at the top in a certain aspect.

The most remarkable thing was Master Healer had saved the lives of these great Masters. They had owed a great favor to Louis. They would oblige if he asked them to teach Anthony martial arts now.

"We... We have the Three Lords of Griffin, Pegasus, and Unicorn. Anthony has such great potential. I can guarantee that they will teach him!" Though a bit risky, but to win Anthony over, Sam didn't spare an ounce of effort.

Louis puffed coldly. He took out his mobile phone and dialed a number, "Hey, Griff. Your subordinate, Sam Wilson, said you want to teach a new kid who has just joined Orbtagon. Is there such a thing?" Louis didn't bother Sam. He called one of the three Lords, Lord Griffin, also known as Michael Murdoch's private phone.

Logan smiled bitterly, and Sam, who was put on loudspeaker, too, was ill-at-ease. This old Mater physician is making a scene against them.

Louis purposefully let the loudspeaker turn on. On the other side of the phone, Michael suddenly rebuked in anger after hearing the Master Healer, "Damn, that Sam must be crazy! I am busy watching the ladyboys. Ain't nobody got time to disciple. Where the fuck is that kid?! I'm going to give him one tight slap!"

Sam was shivering in fright on the other end of the phone, "Lord, please don't be angry. This Awakener possesses exponential potential. He is measured at level 10. Are you sure you don't want to train him? If you don't, Master Healer is about to snatch him away!"

What?

Michael was taken aback for a moment and then diverted his attention and shouted at Louis, "I see what you're doing there, you dead old man, Louis Darcy. You want to steal someone from the Orbtagon? Never! I am taking this boy. Not only will I be the one to train him, but both Pegasus and Unicorn would also personally teach him too. Haha... There's finally hope for Orbtagon to rise above..."

Chapter 26 Absolutely Kick-Ass

What Logan and the others didn't notice was that after Louis got the initial affirmation from Michael, he sneaked a triumphant smile on his face, "Only a few of you old men to teach him? I still have enough Reiki Origiums in my hand to enable him to power up immediately. Do you guys have the resources to do the same?"

The reason why Louis ranked so highly in the Board of Shikari was that he didn't just possess extraordinary medical skills, Louis' predecessor had left him a lot of Reiki Origiums. In a planet where scarcity of Reiki emanated and percolated, to be able to train with rare Origiums can be said to be foolproof and surefire for someone to level up.

At the end of the phone call, Michael stomped his feet anxiously, "You... It's just some Reiki Origiums. I can give him a seat to practice at the relics. You don't have this, right? Hah."

Recently, according to the joint speculation of the high technology and the historical and antiquated standards, the dormant relics had begun to show signs of activation. And, these relics were strictly controlled by the Orbtagon. The biggest advantage of the relics was the ability to emanate an abundant amount of Reiki than the Origiums.

A lot of people dreamed of upgrading their prowess with the help of Reiki during the opening of the relics. Except for the apprentices and members of the Orbtagon, even those powerful ones in HEXALT and the Board of Shikari were not eligible to enter the relics! The reason being was that the Orbtagon had the Federation as its spine.

After Michael finished his promise, Louis quickly marked his words, "Okay, you have promised placement in the relics for Anthony. No lip service as I am keeping tabs! Haha! So, I'm leaving my baby apprentice in your hands now. Haha, I'm relieved..."

"My apprentice... This..." Michael, Logan, and Sam were all bewildered on the other end of the phone. Damn, what's the situation? Have I been set up in this game? When did Anthony become Master Healer's apprentice?

Louis explained casually, "Oh yea, I forgot to tell you guys that I have accepted Anthony to be my apprentice just a day ago. Sigh. Actually, I didn't want to accept an apprentice, but I saw such a good one, and I couldn't help it. Thank you, everyone! Come on, Anthony. Let's thank your fellow uncles!"

Although Anthony was confused, he believed that Master Louis would not lie to him. He turned around and said onto the phone, "This is Anthony Stewart. Thank you, uncles. Pleased to learn from all of you in the future!"

"Fuck! Damn..." A timely sulky exclamation exploded from both Logan's and Louis' mobile phones. The deafening wham almost shattered their phones in crumbs.

Son of a bitch. It took them so much effort to coax Anthony to join Orbtagon, but now he's someone else's apprentice. Although he has joined Orbtagon now, that wouldn't change the fact that he was Louis' apprentice.

Michael, who was in Thailand at that moment, felt sorry after thinking about giving away such great resources, "Damn!" He got so angry and smacked at the huge statue next to him. After that, Michael realized something was wrong and quickly slipped away, pretending that nothing had happened.

And less than ten seconds after leaving the Griffin throne, the huge statue crashed and fell into a pile of ruins.

Michael strutted away angrily. It suddenly occurred to him that it wasn't a bad thing for Anthony to be Louis' and Orbtagon's apprentice. Given time, if Anthony had garnered Louis' network and connection, plus Orbtagon's resources, that would be an expandable authority and power to exist in this world.

Thinking of this, Michael quickly issued an order through a phone call, "Sam, set off to New York immediately, and..." Hey, old man, do you think you have cheated me? Heh. Let's see who has the upper hand!

At the countryside of New York, Logan looked at Louis dubiously, "Master Healer, this... Brother Anthony, should he go with us now or..."

Logan was not feeling it. Son of a bitch. There used to be so many people begging and clamoring to be part of Orbtagon. And now they had to stoop so low and begged Anthony to join the Orbtagon. Fucking hell, what has become of this?

But Anthony was such a kick-ass material, and his master, Louis Darcy, was even more cool and impressive. He couldn't disagree with the fact.

Louis caressed his beard and said, "Not in a hurry. Since this is our first encounter, we have much to talk about between us as master and apprentice. Well, you should go back first. You may deliver the Orbtagon's insignia tomorrow! No need to make a fool out of yourself with bronze or silver ones. It must be a gold insignia. My apprentice deserves the best!”

“...” Logan felt the world hadn’t been fair. Damn. A gold insignia? And I must deliver the insignia to him all the way to the doorstep? Why is Anthony so fucking cool? But thinking of Anthony’s terrifying potential, coupled with the overwhelming connections of the Master Healer, Logan backed away immediately.

The Orbtagon’s gold insignia possessed equivalent authority to a leader’s authority like him! How not to be mad at this unjust treatment? Michael had given orders just now to give Orbtagon’s best effort to train Anthony, “Sure! If there is nothing else, I will leave first!”

I can’t stay on any longer. This is just too defeating for me.

“Of course. Also, this guy was accidentally beaten to death by Anthony. You guys deal with it!” Louis pointed at Joel next to him as if it was not worth mentioning.

Logan nodded, and allowed the two men to drag Joel’s body before walking towards the Land Rover. Orbtagon was an organization led by the Federation, so there was no problem dealing with such a petty issue.

Logan’s members walked over to the Land Rover with Joel’s body. Justin Hammel, who was in the Audi, couldn’t sit still. His cousin was beaten to the ground just now. Justin thought they would fight Anthony as Logan and his members rushed over. But the outcome did not develop as Justin expected. Instead, his injured cousin was lugged away like a sack of potatoes.

“Hey, what are you doing? Why are you dragging my cousin?” Justin clutched his butt, and jumped out of the car to block Logan and his members.

Logan and his members were depressed. They snorted when they saw Justin, “Get the fuck out of here! This is Orbtagon’s business.”

But Justin was a regular bully and didn’t know how powerful Logan was. Logan was fed up and frustrated at the unjust treatment he witnessed on Anthony, so he cursed directly, “Damn, keep your dog eyes open! Do you know who I am? I am Young Master Justin Hammel. You and your members from Mount Beastial, let Joel go right away... Or I will fucking kill you...”

“You...” Two of Logan’s members were shoved away by Louis, and they had no chance to vent their frustration. Hearing Justin, they were about to go savage.

However, Logan stretched out his hand and said, “You want us to let him go? Okay... I will...” While speaking, Logan lifted Joel’s body from the hands of his men. He tossed Joel’s body and smashed Justin’s Audi. The front Audi was severely dented.

"I x&%... You..." Justin was frightened. Were these beasts humans? "I want to call the police, call the police..." Justin tremblingly retreated and panickily looked for his mobile phone.

Logan and his members didn't bother Justin, "Go! Go back and tell your father that Orbtagon has killed Joel due to suspicion of deliberate murder. I am Logan Howell. I am currently staying in Hotel Agoura!"

As soon as he finished his sentence, Logan and his members left the scene in the Land Rover. He slammed onto the accelerator, and the car fled... Even the car exhaust sounded resentful...
