

Watch Out, CEO Daddy by Wine Warms The Flowers

Chapter 151

Chapter 151

His grip on her chin tightened as he said, "I'll let you know who I am now!" Then, he lowered his head and kissed her intensely.

"Oh..." The man's lips were slightly cold. Taking a deep breath, he decided to be her antidote. However, someone knocked on the door just then. His eyebrows furrowed together as he stared coldly in the direction where the door was. "Open up! Sharon Jeans, open up!" It was Fiona. She was the one knocking as well. Then, he heard her say, "Dad, Penelope, I saw with my own eyes Sharon hugging a strange man as they walked into this room. She must be getting up to no good with this man behind Simons' back. She did the same thing with Howard in the past!"

Simon's gaze turned cold. It was Fiona! She had brought his dad and sister along with her?

His cold eyes glinted. Was she trying to catch Sharon in the act of adultery? Indeed, Fiona had brought Douglas and Penelope to the door. She swore that Sharon was messing around with another man in the room. Douglas would usually distance himself from such ugly situations, but Sharon had just kissed Simon in front of everyone just now. If she had gone to have relations with a savage man right after, he would never allow her to remain in the Zachary household, nor would he allow Simon to be with her.

As long as he witnessed Sharon misbehaving with his own eyes, his stubborn son would not be able to protect her any longer. Penelope had the same thoughts in mind. She had just kicked Sharon out of the Zachary household, but the woman managed to return in less than two days. That did not mean she would tolerate Sharon staying together with Simon. If this meant she could kick Sharon out of the household once and for all and ensure she would never come near her brother again, it would be worth making this trip. As she thought of that, she asked coldly, "Aren't you going to open the door?" Fiona had made preparations in advance. She beckoned for the hotel's manager to come over and gave him a look as she said, "Open the door."

The manager did not dare ignore their request. He immediately procured the master key and opened the door for them.

Fiona was barely able to contain her excitement as she watched the manager. Once the door was open, they would see Sharon with a vulgar man inside. Sharon would never be able to enter the Zachary household again!

The door was open. Fiona desperately wanted to be the first to go in, but she controlled herself and allowed them to go before her.

Penelope let Douglas hold on to her arm as the two entered the room with grim expressions on their faces. Fiona was right behind them.

The two did not see anyone when they entered the room. However, they did see a man and a woman's clothing scattered on the floor beside the bed.

Fiona pointed at the black party dress on the floor as she said, "Sharon was wearing this dress at the party. They must still be here!"

Fiona laughed coldly to herself as she looked at the clothes on the floor. It seemed her plan had worked. Both Sharon and the man would be charged with adultery!

Penelope felt both shame and anger as she gazed at the tangled clothes on the floor. Anger burned in her chest as she said coldly, "Find out where they are!"

Watch Out, CEO Daddy by Wine Warms The Flowers

Chapter 152

Chapter 152

Douglas was so angry that he could not bring himself to look at the sight,

"How shameless she is, having relations with another man behind Simon's back! I'll drag her out right now!" Fiona replied eagerly as she walked toward the bathroom.

Just then, a figure came out of the bathroom. It was Simon, who only had a towel around his waist. Water dripped from his sculpted chest, and his hair was still damp as well. 1

When he saw his father, sister, and sister-in-law, he frowned and asked, "Why did you enter without my permission?"

Fiona was shocked when she saw that it was Simon. Her eyes widened as she was rendered speechless. How could it be him?

How was it possible that the man Sharon was having relations with was Simon?

No! That was not right! It was not what she had planned!

The father-daughter duo was also surprised when they saw Simon walk out of the bathroom, but they were not as shocked as Fiona.

Douglas furrowed his brows together as he stared at Simon and asked in displeasure, "What are you doing here?"

Then, he looked at the clothes on the ground. Could he and Sharon...

Simon had a cold expression on his face as he said, "I should be the one asking that question. What sort of emergency is there that you entered my room without even knocking?" 1 When he finished speaking, he turned to gaze coolly at the hotel manager and asked in a cold voice, "Are these your hotel rules?"

The manager broke out in a cold sweat as Simon stared at him. "I'm... I'm sorry, President Zachary..."

"Alright, your business here is done. You may leave now," Penelope said abruptly. She did not want any outsiders to witness the ugly side of the Zachary family.

The manager wiped the layer of cold sweat off his forehead as he hurriedly said, "Alright..." He then scurried off.

It took Fiona a long time to calm down. When she managed to calm down slightly, she stared at Simon in shock and laughed awkwardly as she said, "Hey... Simon, why are you here? Where's Sharon? Who's the woman with you?" Damn it, where was the man she had arranged to have relations with Sharon?

Had she made a mistake? Was this not the correct room and the woman with Simon was not Sharon?

Simon's eyes narrowed. An odd look appeared in his eyes, but the expression on his face remained calm as he asked, "Fiona, what do you mean? Do I need to report to you when I'm having a little fun with my wife?"

"You're doing that with Sharon here?" Fiona's voice took on a disbelieving tone, and the pitch of her voice rose an octave.

Simon seemed to be holding back a smile. "It's a hotel, and we thought it would be more fun here. I don't think you would understand the fun in it, Fiona."

Fiona's face turned red. How could he talk in such ab*stardly manner?

She had lost her husband and did not know much about such matters, but that gave him no right to speak to her in such a disrespectful manner, right?

Penelope had a gloomy expression on her face. It was the first time she had seen Simon act in such a dissolute manner. Doing that in a hotel with Sharon...

Even less needed to be said about Douglas. His face was dark, and he did not speak.

The expression on Penelope's face was frosty, and she refused to take another look at the mess of clothes on the floor. Trying to douse the flames of anger within her, she took a deep breath before once again looking at Simon coldly. Her voice was low as she said, "Tonight's the anniversary celebration for the corporation. Instead of being at the ballroom; why are you ..." She stopped mid-sentence. After all, this was a shameful matter.

(

Finally, she curled her hands into fists as she berated coldly, "This is so inappropriate of Sharon. How could she want to do something like this in a hotel with you at such a time?"

Penelope was livid. She found it hard to believe that her younger brother, whom she had brought up herself, was so bewitched by a woman! "Oh..." The sound of a woman's moan came from the bathroom.

Different expressions flitted across the faces of everyone in the bedroom when they heard that sound. It was a sight to witness.

Watch Out, CEO Daddy by Wine Warms The Flowers

Chapter 153

Chapter 153

It was Sharon.

Unable to stand it any longer, Douglas bellowed, "Femme fatale! She really is a femme fatale!" Pointing his cane at Simon, his voice quivered as he said angrily, "I don't want to see her anymore. You'd better make her move out of the Zachary household. Either that or the two of you get divorced!"

Douglas was furious, but he still had his young grandchild Sebastian in mind. That was why he had only asked Sharon to leave the Zachary household and did not force Simon to divorce her.

He did not want what had happened the last time to happen again. His little grandchild had made such a fuss and nearly injured himself when he fell out of the tree.

He did not want to see Sharon, and the best way to handle things was to have her move out of the house and only return when she wanted to meet the child.

If there was a way, he hoped that the child would never have to go near a mother like that again. However, that seemed impossible with the way things were currently. Penelope thought to herself that it seemed a good idea to have Sharon leave the Zachary household too. She would think of ways to get Simon to divorce her after that.

Glancing coldly at Fiona, she said, "So, is this what you meant when you said Sharon was having relations with a vulgar man in the hotel? Where's the vulgar man? Is it Simon?" Fiona did not know where things had gone wrong. Why was the scene different from what she had planned? "Penelope, my... My eyes might have been mistaken .." Fiona felt indignant, but she had no choice but to admit her mistakes first.

"Mistaken? How could you even make a mistake like this? Are your eyes failing you because of old age?" Penelope did not bother with manners, nor did she care about the relationship she had with Fiona when she berated her.

Fiona had an ugly expression on her face, but she could not even retaliate. Her heart was filled with hatred, but... at least she had gotten Sharon kicked out of the Zachary household.

Douglas stared at Simon as he repeated his orders, "Today is the anniversary celebration. You two had better not be so reckless! You should return to the ballroom immediately!"

Simon frowned but said calmly, "Dad, I'll have her move out as you wish. As for the anniversary celebration ... If you and Penelope are there, I don't think it'll matter if I excuse myself for a while longer. Besides, I'm busy tonight." "What are you busy with?" Douglas had a furious expression on his face as he nearly lost his temper.

Simon did not seem to be afraid of infuriating him as he replied slowly, "Shar isn't feeling well. I need to stay with her."

Then, he turned and walked back into the bathroom. He did not feel comfortable leaving her alone in the bathroom for such a long time given the condition she was in now.

Douglas, who did not know what was going on, thought that Simon and Sharon had not made

wrapieros

212

enough of a fuss and wanted to continue having 'fun'. His chest heaved as he sighed angrily." B*stards!"

His face was stony as he turned to leave. He found the whole situation embarrassing.

Penelope was about to call out to Simon, but he was too fast for her. She could not bring herself to check on what they were doing in the bathroom and could only go help her father as her face turned frosty. It seemed she had to get Sharon to leave Simon as soon as possible. Else, he was going to get destroyed by her! Fiona had no reason to stay after they left. She hesitated for a split second before hurrying after them. "Dad, Penelope, wait for me, let me explain..." However, they did not want to hear her utter another word. Perhaps she should utilize her authority as the eldest sister and force Simon to divorce Sharon and accept her arrangements to get married to a woman who was befitting of their family. Frankly, Fiona had no idea how she should explain things to them. She was still confused about why her plan failed. Could it be that the man she had arranged to desecrate Sharon did not show up at all? If so, why was Simon in the room? Could Simon have found out about her plans? She was filled with trepidation and indignation. Damn it. She had never expected her plan to fail!