Chapter 2121: Bipolar Black Orchid's whereabouts (7)

Liu Buyan paused for a moment and when he lifted his head up, he met with Li Moying's eyes for the first time today.

As they both exchanged glances, they were a little stirred up as well.

Once they had been best buddies who had trusted each other with their lives and their understanding towards each other was naturally extremely deep.

As compared to the overbearing and resolute Li Moying, Liu Buyan's reserved character and stable manner of handling matters, no matter if it was in terms of words or action, if there wasn't a eighty or ninety percent chance, he would not casually make a decision.

So even if the suggestion he made for Huang Yueli took part in the competition sounded unreliable, or perhaps it was more suitable to be wild, so much that even Huang Yueli herself didn't believe that she could do it.

But Li Moying was very sure that since Liu Buyan had said this, then this matter was something that she probably would be able to achieve.

After some time, Liu Buyan then gave a sigh as he spoke out firmly, "That's right, Little Junior Sister, just relax. As long as you're able to coordinate with me and Master's drill, then the possibility of you obtaining the champion in the Pill Master Rising Star Competition would at least be forty percent!"

The possibility of forty percent didn't sound a lot, but Huang Yueli and Li Moying both nodded their heads at the same time.

They had experienced various kinds of competition and were very clear that this kind of inter-Continent competition had strong competitors which were like clouds everywhere, and the numbers weren't little at all. Even if she was able to crush them in terms of ability, that didn't mean that she would necessarily obtain the champion so forty percent was actually the display of a certain assurance.

Liu Buyan continued, "My Master, I know him very well. His eyesight is extremely high and if it wasn't for the fact that Junior Sister's innate talent is extremely outstanding, he would not possibly keep begging you like to, for you to acknowledge him as Master. Moreover, he had not left the Alchemist Guild Headquarters for the past decade and this time, because of you, he actually went on such a far journey to Blue Profound Sect, so that meant that your innate talent is optimal!"

Actually, Liu Buyan himself felt extremely stunned.

Because Huang Yueli still remained as an Armament Master in this lifetime and that meant that her Fire and Metal attribute innate talents were already at first rate but Dai Boqi looked up to her so much so that also meant to say that Huang Yueli had at least a ninth grade talent in Earth attribute!

Trio attributed ninth grade talent... this was a little too ridiculous!

But since the truth was shown right in front of his eyes, he had no choice but to believe it!

Liu Buyan had been thinking while speaking, "Looks like my Junior Sister's innate talent isn't any worse off than mine. That year when I learnt pill refining skills under my Master, I only spent ten days to become a second ranked Pill Master. That was still under the situation when I wasn't even concentrating hard. If Junior Sister starts learning, I'm sure you will be even more hardworking than me so ten days should be sufficient."

Liu Buyan didn't mean to show off when he said these.

But in Huang Yueli's ears, she still felt rather shocked.

Generally speaking, to enter the entry level for pill refining skills, it was actually extremely difficult and even for those pill refining apprentices with not bad innate talents, they would spend several years' time on learning before they have the chance to take part in the Pill Master's assessment and those who were finally being able to pass the assessment sometimes resulted in none in every ten.

In the Alchemist Guild Headquarters, third ranked Pill Masters below twenty years old were just so rare like phoenix feathers and unicorn horns that they could be termed as first ranked pill refining geniuses already.

Whereas for Liu Buyan, he actually used a total of ten days to achieve to second rank!

No wonder everyone said that Liu Buyan was a virtuoso in pill refining skills, he indeed lived up to his name!

From what Liu Buyan analysed, Huang Yueli was much more confident about herself as she nodded and said, "Alright, since all of you trust me so much, then I will definitely try my best!"

Chapter 2122: Bipolar Black Orchid's whereabouts (8)

Liu Buyan smiled, "This matter should not be delayed, let's go meet Master right away!"

Huang Yueli nodded her head and brought Liu Buyan to the biggest side chamber in Levitation Sword Palace.

Dai Boqi was right there and moreover, Li Moying had specially set up a pill refining room for him so that it would be more convenient for him to study the prescription.

On seeing Liu Buyan, Dai Boqi let out a surprised and shocked expression but subsequently he settled down and patted his shoulder, "Disciple, melons which are forcibly twisted off their vines are not sweet and there are many good ladies under the heavens so just wait for Master to find you one! Even if there's none in Soaring Heavens Continent, just continue hard on cultivating and in future when you reach God Realm, there are plenty of beautiful ladies with outstanding innate talents! If I were to say, you are much more handsome than Young Sect Master Li, your Junior Sister just doesn't have the eyesight!"

Seeing Dai Boqi so concerned about him, Liu Buyan couldn't help but felt a little touched as he spoke out softly, "Master, don't worry, I know what I should do."

Li Moying who followed at the back, had his face turned black instantly when he heard Dai Boqi's words.

On seeing that, Huang Yueli immediately tugged him hard as she instructed softly, "Not allowed to disrespect my Master!"

Li Moying snorted coldly but didn't say a word.

Huang Yueli pouted her lips and stretched out her fingers to poke him, "Did you hear me?"

Li Moying lowered his head to take a look at his little fox and on seeing her big eyes winking back at him, he couldn't help but purse his lips, "I know."

Huang Yueli then pulled him along as she walked upwards and bowed towards Dai Boqi, "Master!"

Dai Boqi looked at her and saw Li Moying who was beside her as an awkward expression appeared on his face, "You're all here, quickly come in and take a seat!"

As Huang Yueli and the rest walked at the back, it was only until now that he realised that Li Moying was present and he had definitely heard himself praising his own disciple while belittling him. Although there was a reason for saying so, but it still made him the elderly man felt that his face was hanging loose.

Liu Buyan cupped his fist into his other hand and said, "Master, we will not go in. Today we've come because there's something extremely important and need your help."

Dai Boqi asked curiously, "What's the matter?"

Liu Buayn immediately related the entire matter regarding the Bipolar Black Orchid and Pill Master Rising Star Competition to him.

When Dai Boqi heard it midway, he already understood what was going on, "You're intending to let your Junior Sister take part in the Rising Star Competition to win the Bipolar Black Orchid back?"

Liu Buyan nodded.

Dai Boqi said, "If it was your Junior Sister who took part, that bunch of trash naturally couldn't be compared to her and the champion would definitely be hers. But now, her thoughts aren't on pill refining at all and This Master is having a headache over this!"

Hearing that, even Liu Buyan was stunned for a moment, "Really? Junior Sister's innate talent... is really that outstanding?"

Earlier when he said an estimation, it was merely forty percent success but in Dai Boqi's words, it became a natural success.

Didn't that meant that in Dai Boqi's eyes, Huang Yueli's innate talent was even more outstanding than his?

Dai Boqi gave a hehe and said, "Yan'er, your Junior Sister is incredible!" Saying that he turned around and looked at Huang Yueli, "How is it, Li'er? Every time This Master asks you to learn pill refining skills, you'd always find various reasons to reject it. This time round, for your future husband, surely you need to set out some determination?"

Huang Yueli laughed dryly, "Master, what are you saying? I've never intentionally tried to push it away, only... I really have no time..."

She thought that the excuse she found was already perfect but whoever knew that it had long been seen through by Old Master Dai.

Chapter 2123: Crash Drill (1)

Dai Boqi gave a hum and said, "Anyway, this time round, it's all because of that lad, so you ought to work hard right?"

The minute Huang Yueli saw that his expression wasn't that nice, she immediately leaned over and acclaimed, "What Master lectures is correct! Disciple I will definitely work hard at learning! With Master this kind of super powerful Pill Grandmaster as a tutor, the championship will be a piece of cake!"

Liu Buyan couldn't help but burst out laughing while listening by the side.

Huang Yueli had always been able to stretch and bend at will and when she was tough, it was enough to infuriate one to death but when she intentionally acted obedient, she'd become extremely agreeable.

Indeed, when Dai Boqi saw his little disciple's sparkly big eyes with an obedient look, his anger immediately subsided and moreover, he was feeling comfortable all over from her fawning.

He fiddled with his beard and spoke out delightfully, "Isn't that so? You are my, Dai Boqi's disciple, it would be strange if you can't get Number One!"

Liu Buyan immediately added, "Let's not delay any further, there's not much time left! Since Little Junior Sister has already decided to register for the examination, then let's hurry and get prepared?"

"Right, right, right!" Dai Boqi was suddenly enlightened as he knocked his head, "Although your innate talent is very good, but you have started off a little later so a few old fellas from the Alchemist Guild, was said to have taken in a few outstanding disciples so you can't lose to them and embarrass This Master!"

Saying that, he looked at Huang Yueli, "Li'er ah, Master wants to ask you..."

Before Dai Boqi could say a word, Liu Buyan suddenly coughed, thereby interrupting him.

"What's the matter?" Dai Boqi frowned.

Liu Buyan's lips curled as his vision turned towards Li Moying who was seated in the corner and he spoke out slowly, "Master, there's an outsider around!"

After Li Moying followed Huang Yueli into the room, he then found a place to take a seat as he just silently sat there and listened to the Master and disciples' interaction, not butting in at all.

At this moment, when Liu Buyan suddenly mentioned about this, he slowly put down the tea cup in his hands and his handsome face which bore an aloof and cold intention met with Liu Buyan's line of sight.

The two men exchanged glances for a moment and Liu Buyan's intention to send the guest off couldn't be any clearer but Li Moying still sat firmly on the chair as his posture was erect with a sophisticated and laid-back look, as though he totally didn't realise that he wasn't welcome there at all.

Liu Buyan waited for a moment and finally couldn't bear it any longer, "I say.. Young Sect Master Li, you're at least the main personnel for a large Sect so do you know the rules of the jungle or not? We Master and disciples are imparting an exclusive skill and you, the outsider is just sitting there and listening to us, it seems... not very suitable isn't it?"

Li Moying's brows then rose as he spoke out lazily, "Outsider? Who are you talking about? Are you talking about yourself? Li'er's my wife!"

When Huang Yueli heard what the shameless man said, her eyes opened wide as she simply could not believe her own ears.

Liu Buyan was even more annoyed, "Li Moying, what are you trying to pretend? My Master is going to teach his disciple, so will you please stay away for a moment!"

This time round, he couldn't even be bothered about image as he simply opened his mouth and chased him away!

Li Moying still remained leaning against the chair as his thin lips curled upwards, "Young Master Liu, This Sovereign.... Ouhh!"

Before he could say a single word, he suddenly felt pain coming from below his ribs. Huang Yueli had used her elbow to knock against his chest as her embarrassment turned into anger, making him almost not being able to breathe.

"Li'er..." He clutched his chest, as he looked begrudgingly at his little fiancée.

Huang Yueli stared hard at him.

Chapter 2124: Crash Drill (2)

"Enough, there's nothing for you here! Go back and rest first!"

"But, Li'er, I'm worried about you. Won't you let me stay here to accompany you?" Li Moying looked at her affectionately with a longing gaze as his handsome face leaned closer to her cheek, lowering his tone.

Huang Yueli's face flushed red as she immediately reacted in time, this man... he was really shameless! He actually tried to use the trick of seduction to lower her guard!

She wasn't moved at all but instead she shoved him hard, "Enough, stop fooling around! You don't even know pill refining skills so what bustle are you trying to join in here? Quickly go settle your Sect's affairs! Good bye!"

Saying that she turned her head around and couldn't be bothered to take another look at him.

Li Moying's lips twitched as his heart had an unspeakable grudge and agony, especially when he met with Liu Buyan's gaze, it made him even angrier with no place to vent it.

But he knew that if he continued staying here, it was purely just creating trouble and earlier he had intentionally tried to infuriate Liu Buyan which was why he wasn't willing to leave.

But now that his fiancée had already said that, there was no way that he could stay.

Li Moying stood up and stretched out his long legs as he walked out of the door, brushing against Liu Buyan as he left.

Liu Buyan's lips curled as he smiled, "Young Sect Master Li, take care! I will definitely teach my Junior Sister properly!"

Li Moying casted a fierce stare at him as he really wanted to beat this fellow up good! However, thinking that Huang Yueli was just at the side staring at him.... he still left silently.

When Li Moying's figure disappeared behind the door, Liu Buyan's face had just revealed a slight delight when he heard Dai Boqi said, "Yan'er, please leave for a moment as well!"

Liu Buyan's smile froze in an instance as he asked astonishedly, "Master, why can't I stay? I can also help! I'm not like Li Moying, who will only create trouble here!"

Dai Boqi gave a harrumph as he blew his beard, "With you around, I'm afraid that you'd create even more trouble than Young Sect Master Li! In the past when This Old Man taught you, you'd just ask all sorts of ridiculous questions to make things difficult for me! Later on if you continue to talk rubbish, by then will your Junior Sister listen to you, or listen to me?"

Huang Yueli blinked her big eyes as she looked left and looked right, and understood what happened in an instance.

Looked like in the past, Liu Buyan was a problematic disciple who made Master had a great headache, asking unreliable questions in the past daily and that left a dark psychological shadow in Old Master Dai's heart.

As expected, Liu Buyan instantly became awkward as he scratched his head, "Master, I admit my mistake alright? I guarantee that this time I won't do it again! Don't chase me away!"

"No way! Get out first!" Dai Boqi spoke forcibly out of a sense of righteousness.

Liu Buyan had a difficult expression on his face, "But..." But if he were to leave like this, he would definitely be laughed to death by Li Moying! But Dai Boqi was extremely insistent and Liu Buyan had no choice but to leave dejectedly.

In the room, it was only left with Dai Boqi and Huang Yueli, that pair of Master and disciple.

Dai Boqi coughed slightly and put on a solemn face, "Li'er, since you've already decided to learn pill refining skills properly this time round, then in the next ten days, put all your energy into pill refining and as for cultivation or other matters, you have to leave it all aside first."

Huang Yueli immediately replied, "This disciple understands!"

Dai Boqi satisfactorily nodded, "Alright, then This Master shall first ask you, the last time I asked you to read through those medical books, how much have you finished reading?"

Before officially starting to refine pills, the first step was to grasp the basic knowledge of medicinal herbs and principles of medical science.

Only with a good foundation would they be able to go into in-depth learning, thereby putting it into practice after that.

Chapter 2125: Crash Drill (3)

So after Dai Boqi took in her as his disciple, the first thing he did was to create a long, long list of books for Huang Yueli.

Ordinary pill refining apprentices would usually spend their first year reading medical books and just that alone, there were already hundred over books. Just the list of book titles on the paper already took up seven to eight pages.

Whereas in the booklist which Dai Boqi had given Huang Yueli, was on a whole different level which comprised of forty to fifty pages and adding them up, there were a total of five hundred and thirty books! Moreover, a majority of the books had already surpassed the category of basic foundational knowledge, and those belonged to rather in-depth skills and logic.

These books, if it were given to ordinary disciples, they might not be able to finish reading within three to five years' time and even if they did managed to finish reading it, it would be too difficult to comprehend all of it.

Of course, from what Dai Boqi saw, his disciples were all geniuses and if they were to devote fully into it, spending a year and a half would probably enable them to barely finish reading it all.

Only thing was Huang Yueli was apparently not very interested in pill refining skills and the time she spent to read the books was simply too little so he was afraid that she probably hadn't read a few books at all?

Dai Boqi didn't had much hope as he just merely asked casually.

However, Huang Yueli sat upright as she spoke solemnly, "Master, I haven't been reading books properly in this period of time so I'd like to admit my mistake to you first....."

Dai Boqi nodded and was just about to lecture her when he heard Huang Yueli continuing, "In the book list that you've given to me, I've already read one hundred and seventy books and there's still two thirds which I haven't had time to finish reading but from today onwards, I will definitely work overtime and work a little harder..."

"Wait, wait!" Dai Boqi thought that he had heard wrongly, "You said you... you read how many books?"

Huang Yueli was stunned, "One hundred and seventy books..."

"One hundred and seventy books! Are you joking!" Dai Boqi patted his palm on the table and almost stood up in agitation! "You've read a hundred and seventy books in such a short period of time?"

Huang Yueli has only just acknowledged him as Master for roughly a total of ten days or so, and moreover she could only afford four hours to read books daily and if they were to calculate it all, that was merely twenty over hours so how could she possibly read so many books?

Huang Yueli blinked, "Ughh.... I know I read a little too fast but...."

“What’s called a little too fast? It’s too ridiculous isn’t it?” Dai Boqi stared at her for a moment and frowned, “Li’er, I saw finish reading, means you have to understand the knowledge written on the book and moreover you should be able to copy out the contents basically and not just simply flipping through and that’s it! You must read carefully when you read and not just gain superficial understanding from cursory observation! Even if you were able to read around thirty books in detail, that would be much better than you just skimming through roughly a hundred and seventy books!”

Huang Yueli spoke out in an extremely innocent tone, “But Master... I didn’t just gain superficial understanding from cursory observation! My memory’s not bad and as long as I’ve flipped through the book, I am able to remember all the contents on it so although I’ve read very quickly, but those parts which I should remember, I’ve remembered it all! If you don’t believe, you can draw some parts out from a few books, and I can recite the original text out!”

Dai Boqi’s eyes opened wide as he simply could not believe that such a matter could happen.

“Recite the original text? You... are you having a fever? In such a short bit of time, you’ve read through a hundred and seventy books and you can still recite it?”

Huang Yueli nodded her head earnestly.

Speaking of that, when she was still in the Alchemist Guild Headquarters, she had once spent a quarter of an hour to recite the thick <<Understanding Medicinal Herbs>> book smoothly and now that these books were much thinner than <<Understanding Medicinal Herbs>>, as long as she had to recite it normally, to her, it was actually a simple thing to do.

Chapter 2126: Crash Drill (4)

However, the last time when she had a recitation competition with the younger Pill Masters, Dai Boqi did not witness it personally so naturally he wouldn’t believe in that there was anyone who had such great memory power.

But since Huang Yueli put on such a certain look, it made him slightly suspicious.

“Since that’s the case, then.... this old man shall then test you?” Dai Boqi spoke out uncertainly.

Huang Yueli had a solemn expression on, “Master, please test me!”

Dai Boqi himself was an esteemed Pill Grandmaster so naturally he had already

Remembered those books to heart. At this moment, he didn’t even look for those original text but took two steps with his hands placed behind his back as he casually said, “There’s a book <<General Regulations of the Golden Chamber >> which introduces the Emperor Grass’s twelve commonly used prescriptions, do you still remember it?”

He picked a simple question as Emperor Grass was a kind of first level medicinal herbs and it was rather common but it had an extremely important healing efficacy and was widely used in various kind of medicinal pills for treatment and that was a knowledge which low ranked Pill Masters must grasp.

Huang Yueli replied without thinking, “The first kind of prescription is the Flesh Growing Pill, and mainly used to treat...”

Her speech was rapid and there wasn't even a bit of pausing in between and not too long later, she had already listed out all twelve prescriptions and moreover, everything was exactly the same as the original text in <<General Regulations of the Golden Chamber >>, not even a single word was different.

Dai Boqi's brows shook for a moment as he came out with the second question, "In the <<Miscellaneous Jottings on Plants>>, it was recorded that there were twenty three kinds of medicinal herbs which are third level and below, which could be used to treat damages on meridians, do you still recall those?"

This question was much more difficult because the medicinal herbs for the treatment of meridians was much higher level and ordinary pill apprentices seldom understood such high levelled knowledge. Even if they read the contents related to the medical skills, it would be hard to completely understand it.

However, Huang Yueli continued to recite the original text out in a composed manner and not only so, Dai Boqi even specially asked her some questions related to the fine details, just to see what was her standard of her understanding only to discover that Huang Yueli had totally understood the contents in the book clearly.

This time round, Dai Boqi was truly astonished as his face revealed a shocked expression.

He hurriedly continued to ask the third, fourth question.....

Huang Yueli remained calm and composed, neither too hasty nor too slowly, as she gave a completely rounded answer to the questions posed.

Dai Boqi's expression was getting more and more shocked by the minute and at the same time, his heart was growing more and more agitated, as he got more excited as time went by.

Finally, he patted his palm hard on the table as he burst out into laughter, "Hahahaha, this old man has really picked up a gem! Your memory is this good, you're simply born to be a Pill Master! Even if it was your Senior Brother, he can't even be match up to half of you! This is great, simply too wonderful! Looks like in future, your achievements will be much higher than Yan'er's!"

Dai Boqi kept walking round in circles as he rubbed his hands, extremely excited to no end.

"Since you've already read a hundred and seventy over books, then your basic theory should almost be all there. So what's left now are the knowledge from the classics to advancement and it's not too late to read those after you've handled with that Rising Star Competition! Now come with This Master to the pill refining room and let's see how your innate talent for controlling fire is!"

Saying that, he pushed the door and headed out first.

A dull thud was heard and the door seemed to have hit against something.

Dai Boqi was shocked as his footsteps took a halt and lifting his head, he realised that Li Moying and Liu Buyan were both standing outside the door.

Chapter 2127: Crash Drill (5)

From the looks of this, it was apparent that they were eavesdropping from the outside.

Originally, after the two of them had been chased out of the door, they didn't go far and actually remained at the door, shooting gazes at each other which was filled with biting coldness and disdain.

"Indeed, a fellow who draws disdain, even your Master can't stand you?" Li Moying's brows lifted up coldly.

Liu Buyan was almost put on the spot but he couldn't throw his face as the Number One Divine Doctor so he put on a brave front and sneered, "I left automatically because I didn't want to interrupt Master and Junior Sister, unlike some other people who is apparently an outsider but still insisted on staying on shamelessly? What are you here for, trying to eavesdrop?"

Li Moying wasn't angry as he folded his arms and swept a cold gaze over Liu Buyan, "Then why aren't you leaving as well?"

"Me? I'm worried about Master and Junior Sister's safety so I am specially standing guard over here! If there's some sudden situation happening, surely they need someone to handle it, isn't that so?"

Liu Buyan lifted his chin with a righteous expression as he slanted his head at the same time, evidently indicating Li Moying to get lost quickly!

However, Li Moying didn't even bother lifting his eyelid as he gave a slight snort, "Oh, then I'm here standing guard too!"

"You..."

The two of them almost started arguing but luckily Levitation Sword Palace had wonder sound isolation array otherwise Huang Yueli and Dai Boqi would had been irritated by then long ago and would have charged out to chase them away.

The two of them stood at the entrance for a while but unknowingly, they started to get nearer and nearer to the room door...

Just as this moment, Dai Boqi suddenly opened the door from the inside.

The two of them totally had not expected this to happen and could not evade in time as the door crashed onto the both of them.

"You two... what are you doing here?" Dai Boqi asked in astonishment.

Huang Yueli walked out from his back and on seeing Li Moying and Liu Buyan standing at the door, she immediately understood what happened. She gauged that these two men must be quibbling again!

Really! Weren't they childish or what?

"Junior Sister, Master, why have the both of you came out so fast? How is Junior Sister's learning? If there's anything that you don't understand, Senior Brother can..." Liu Buyan smiled wholeheartedly as he walked up.

However, before he could finish his words, the young lady was pulled to one side by Li Moying.

"Li'er, how is it? Are you tired?" He lowered his head and touched Huang Yueli's face, as he asked softly.

Huang Yueli lifted her eye to look at him speechlessly, "I'm alright, I'm heading over to the pill refining room with my Master. Go back and rest, there's no need to follow me around."

"I'll go along with you..." Li Moying immediately said.

Huang Yueli shook her head and said, "No need, what's the point in you having to wait outside? Moreover, you will disturb me..."

"I promise not to disturb you....."

Dai Boqi couldn't stand it any longer as he coughed out, "Lass, enough, let's ignore them. If they like to stay at the door, then just let them be! When they're tired of staying, they'd leave on their own! Let's not waste any more time, hurry on and let's go!"

"Li'er..."

Li Moying and Liu Buyan wanted to say something more but they saw Huang Yueli walking away with Dai Boqi without even turning her head back.

Inside the pill refining room.

Dai Boqi stood in front of an exquisite primitive simplicity pill furnace as he fiddled with his beard and spoke out delightfully, "Li'er, do you see this Pill Furnace? This Pill Furnace is called the Amethyst Gold Gem Cauldron and it was something that this old man had obtained from an early historical remain so this should be something that the ancient God Clan left behind. At that time, the furnace still had a God Pill which had not been refined completely!"

Chapter 2128: Crash Drill (6)

Huang Yueli was an exceptionally intelligent person so she naturally knew that at this moment, as his disciple, it was time for her to fawn on him with all that she'd got.

Hence, she put on an exclamation in admiration expression as she spoke out loudly, "Master, you're incredible! You're indeed the Continent's first rated Pill Grandmaster, even the Pill Furnace which you use is so extraordinary!"

As expected, Dai Boqi became even more delighted as he continued to boast, "According to this old man's textual criticism, this Amethyst Gold Gem Cauldron is able to refine god grade medicine pills during the ancient times. But a pity that many God Pills' prescriptions are already lost for many years and plus the fact that Soaring Heavens Continent's Heaven and Earth's Qi isn't sufficient, many God grade medicinal herbs are already extinct so no matter how this old man tried, I've not been able to refine any God Pills at all..."

Saying that, Dai Boqi shook his head while lamenting, as he put on a sobbing look.

Huang Yueli understood his feelings very well because having already standing on the top in Soaring Heavens Continent, they naturally wanted to improve further.

As a ninth ranked Armament Master, she had always wanted to refine a God grade Profound Armament.

But alas, due to the lack of materials, due to the disparity of Profound Armaments and refining methods, it was practically impossible to achieve this.

Dai Boqi sighed for a while more before he regained his senses, “Alright, let’s not talk about all these. This Master shall use this Amethyst Gold Gem Cauldron to give you a demonstration, on what is the genuine pill refining skills!”

When Dai Boqi finished whatever he wanted to say, he immediately straightened his body as he congealed his senses.

In an instance, the aura from his aura was changed completely.

If it was to say that usually when anyone met him, they probably only felt that he was a tough old man, then that Dai Boqi who was standing in front of the Pill Furnace was like a changed person, with the demeanor of a transcendent being, with the temperament of someone who lived outside the boundaries of this earthly world.

Huang Yueli subconsciously retreated a few steps as she stood quietly by the side, watching him perform.

Dai Boqi’s fingertips pointed and two light sparks flew out respectively from his left and right hand!

Huang Yueli’s pupils contracted as she immediately recognised that these were two different kinds of extremely rare deviant flames –Rainbow Core Flame and Vientiane Spiritual Flame.

Based on Dai Boqi’s cultivation, to be able to subdue these two deviant flames was naturally not a surprise, but what’s surprising was his control and merging of these two flames’ method, as it was extremely skilled.

The two deviant flames in his palm rolled about rampantly as it spiraled upwards and changed into different colours and irregular forms in succession until it was totally mixed together as one before he carefully sent it out into the fire entrance under the pill furnace.

This scene made Huang Yueli made a pondering expression.

When she usually refined Armaments, she would also often made use of several deviant flames but she had habitually placed the deviant flames underneath the armament furnace before using the powerful fire attributed power and affinity to proceed with the temperature control.

Whereas what Dai Boqi showed earlier was a totally different method which instead, first adjusted the flame to the peak.

Dai Boqi lit up the furnace and explained at the same time, “You Armament Masters are also good at controlling fires, so this old man is considered as displaying slight skills before an expert. But as compared to refining armaments, pill refining is a little more meticulous. The materials which armament refining uses are mostly metal ores or some kind of dead materials and in order to refine them, you will usually require powerful fire power. But when refining pills, the medicinal herbs and plants that we use are all living thing. Just like what you saw in the auction, those medicinal herbs are being kept in the jade box because we can’t afford to waste even a little bit of its medicinal effect! The bigger the fire power, it actually isn’t a good thing, which will lead to the loss of the medicinal effects.”

Chapter 2129: Crash Drill (7)

Huang Yueli's eyes flashed past a glint of light.

She could not help but admit that Dai Boqi was an experienced Pill Grandmaster and those theory that he said made Huang Yueli enlightened.

In the past, she had never got in touch with pill refining skills and did not had much understanding towards Pill Master's control of fire so naturally she assumed that it was not much different from Armament Masters.

Now hearing Dai Boqi's explanation, she then realised that Pill Masters had their own knacks and moreover, these.... seemed as though it could be used on armament refining skills as well.

With this in mind, Huang Yueli's train of thought widened up and just thinking of the creative new pointers which she could utilised on armament refining skills revealed an expression of elation as she couldn't help but started to deduce the steps in her mind.

As Dai Boqi was demonstrating and explaining at the same time, and after quite a bit of time later, he suddenly realised that his disciple didn't have a single bit of reaction at all? His actions took a pause as he turned around to take a look at Huang Yueli and in the end, he saw her dazed and looked absentminded.

Dai Boqi couldn't help but gave a hard cough, "Ahem!"

Huang Yueli's senses instantly returned and on seeing Old Master Dai's displeased look, she immediately readjusted the expression on her face, "That... Master, haha, your pill refining skills are indeed incredible, your disciple I have gone into a daze just from seeing it..."

Dai Boqi stared hard at her and spoke out in displeasure, "Stop talking crap! This old man will only demonstrate once and later on, you will do it on your own! Anyway, since your memory is so good and you have such high innate talent, as long as you really heard what I said earlier, you will definitely be able to acquire the skill. If you didn't manage to acquire it... that would only prove that you weren't listening seriously..."

"Cough cough, how could that be? I've always been prickling up my ears and listening!"

Huang Yueli immediately placed her hand back onto her knees as she sat upright and still like an obedient child, just short of prickling up her two rabbit ears.

Dai Boqi couldn't do anything to his little disciple as he could only shake his head and continued with his own demonstration.

"... to refine medicinal herbs, the most important thing is to do it in sequence, step by step and we must raise the temperature of the flame slowly which will then allow the medicinal effect to slowly disperse out and to prevent losing too much of it..... like this....."

"..... at the same time, you must focus on sensing the energy within the internal portion of the plants. Earth attribute represents life source attribute and it's alive so you must remember this well. If you wish to release all the medicinal herb's medicinal power in the herbs, you must go through a kind of interaction method to explore and not forcibly destroy..."

Dai Boqi skillfully controlled the flame as his eyes were slightly shut and both of his hands were waving around in mid-air.

Amethyst Gold Gem Cauldron was slowly enveloped with a pale green halo and as the halo turned brighter and brighter, the medicinal power in the herb were totally restrained in the furnace with no sense of dissipation at all.

Huang Yueli gasped in admiration at Dai Boqi's skills. The ginger gets spicier as it gets older, just from Old Master Dai's skill, one was able to tell that it was the genuine connoisseur!

What Dai Boqi had refined this time round was one of the most basic first level medicinal pill – Blood Clotting Pill and that was something that all low levelled practitioners all required and the main purpose was to recover their qi and blood, treating the external injuries caused by Profound Energy.

He added all the medicinal herbs in succession according to the prescription and gradually released all the medicinal power within it.

Later on, his right hand waved and he covered the lid on as he began to concentrate on controlling the flame, allowing different kinds of medicinal power to merge, then after allowing the moisture to dry up to form into a pill.

To Old Master Dai, just a Blood Clotting Pill was simply too simple.

Chapter 2130: Crash Drill (8)

In just a quarter of an hour, the medicinal pill had already started to take shape.

Dai Boqi abruptly lifted open the furnace's lid and waited for the Amethyst Gold Gem Cauldron's mist to dissipate.

In the furnace, ten over pieces of medicinal pills laid quietly on the tray and each piece were completely round as it dissipated a dim fragrance, moreover all of it were all second levelled medicinal pills!

Dai Boqi used first levelled medicinal herbs and refined out second levelled medicinal pills!

Huang Yueli naturally offered various praises and flattering words as she coaxed the old grandpa to break out into smiles.

But very soon later, Dai Boqi kept away all his smiles, "Alright, Lass Li, now is your turn to refine pills! You are the only pill refining genius with the greatest innate talent whom this old man has ever seen in my entire life so don't disappoint This Master..."

Huang Yueli nodded her head and walked towards the Amethyst Gold Gem Furnace as she took a deep breath and immediately following that, she closed her eyes slightly and began to sense the roving Heaven and Earth Profound Qi around her.

After that, she began to copy the skills which Dai Boqi had demonstrated earlier and beckoning her hand in mid-air, she called upon the flame which she had prepared in advanced into her palm.

The flame she used was not her own deviant flame, but just an ordinary open flame which was exactly the same kind of flame which ordinary people used to cook.

According to Dai Boqi's saying, when one started to learn pill refining, they would habitually use the open flame and if they were able to refine pill which were passable with that, then they would change to using deviant flames before they were able to progress.

The flame in her palm slowly changed as the temperature also changed and displayed different colours.

Not too long later, the flame then reached a satisfactory temperature and her right finger pointed slightly as the flame flew into the fire entrance.

Immediately following that, she opened the furnace lid and started to put in various kinds of medicinal herbs.

Huang Yueli was doing all these earnestly and had always remained careful and totally focused because earlier when Dai Boqi was demonstrating, she had gained a lot of revelation with regards to armament refining and had momentarily lost track. She was worried that she might have forgotten about some steps and if she made a mistake, she could be criticised by the old master hence she put all 120% of her concentration, for fear that she might made a mistake.

It was until the first kind of medicinal herb was being refined normally in the furnace before she heaved a sigh slightly.

She waved her hand and put in the second kind of medicinal herb.

Following the different kinds of medicinal herbs being added, she became even more prudent and even more focused and at the same time, she also followed Dai Boqi's instructions as she unleashed her own Earth attributed Profound Energy, entering into communication with the plants.

Initially she wasn't able to get it but slowly, she begun to feel the slightly weak Earth attributed energy from the medicinal herbs that had begun to sing in harmony with the Profound Energy that she unleashed.

That was a kind of subtle sensation, as though those medicinal herbs were alive and had their own feelings and actions. Although she wasn't able to talk to those herbs, but she was able to sense distinctly that they were interacting with herself, and slowly, the bond between the both of them became closer as the medicinal herbs unleashed more and more of its medicinal power...

Unknowingly, the medicinal herbs in the Amethyst Gold Gem Cauldron begun to be masked with a layer of pale green halo, which was exactly the same as what Old Man Dai had demonstrated earlier...

Huang Yueli was totally indulged in this strange and comfortable feeling as the duration that she had placed the medicinal herbs grew shorter and shorter.

She was totally focused and could not be bothered about the surroundings so she naturally wouldn't discover that by this time, Dai Boqi's expression was one of shock and astonishment!

Old Master Dai rubbed his eyes hard, "Is this old man's eyes getting blurry?"
