Feng Jianing finally understood what the ladies were discussing. It turned out that her status was too low, so she couldn't come into contact with the top luxury brands like Heavenly Rainbow.

"Haha, my good sister, you really dare to say anything. This boast has been blown to the sky. But since you said that this little gown was produced by Heavenly Rainbow, please show us the evidence." Feng Jianing teased.

"Because it's not a product that is sold, there is no trademark on this dress. However, in order to prove that it comes from Heavenly Rainbow, the designer embroidered a hidden logo on the inner edge of the dress." Feng Qing said. With that, she pulled up the corner of her dress. There was a tall logo embroidered on the corner. It was the trademark of the world's top luxury brand, Heavenly Rainbow.

Everyone looked at each other. They didn't even have the clothes of the Heavenly Rainbow dress, so they couldn't tell if it was real or fake at all. They could only tell that the dark patterned logo seemed to be embroidered with very thin golden threads.

"I can prove it. The tie on me also has the hidden logo of the Heavenly Rainbow. On my father's birthday last year, I ordered a customized business suit from the Heavenly Rainbow. However, no matter how much I offered, they didn't accept my orders. In the end, they were annoyed by me and used this tie to chase me away." The Duke said in a self-deprecating manner. With that, he removed his tie and flipped open the inner shirt to show everyone. There was indeed a logo identical to Feng Qing's dress embroidered on it.

The Duke waved his tie and said, "At that time, I even took this tie to the Christie Auction to consult. Their appraisers even specially held a small meeting for this. The result of the discussion was that if I agreed to the auction, they could guarantee that this tie would be sold for no less than two million, but I rejected it."

“Wow...” Everyone was in an uproar. Even as the young masters of wealthy families, this was the first time they had heard of a tie that could be sold for more than two million. Even if it was made of pure gold, it should not be much, right?

“Therefore, I can guarantee to everyone in a very responsible manner that only one fashion designer in the entire world knows such an embroidery technique and such a hidden pattern logo. This designer is the last disciple of the chief designer of Heavenly Rainbow.” The Duke continued.

The big-breasted lady said, “Lord Duke, may I ask what’s so special about these hidden patterns?”

Everyone knew that with the Duke’s status, he would definitely not lie in public. Hence, everyone wanted to know how amazing the hidden pattern design of the Heavenly Rainbow was.

The Duke smiled and said, “You’ve asked a good question. The hidden pattern design of the Heavenly Rainbow is impossible to imitate. Even the most advanced machines can’t imitate it, because under the strong light, this hidden pattern can reflect a peach color. If you don’t believe me, I can show it to everyone now.”

As soon as he finished speaking, the Duke took out his phone and turned on the flashlight. A strong white light shot out of the back of the phone and brought the light closer to the hidden pattern on his tie. The next second, the originally dull golden color disappeared. The entire hidden pattern turned peach red, and the outermost part of the peach red was covered in a thin layer of fluorescent green.

Looking at the colorful hidden patterns on the tie, everyone believed the Duke’s words. They couldn’t help but turn to look at the hidden patterns on Feng Qing’s dress.

Feng Jianing’s expression was gloomy. She clenched her fists tightly, and her nails dug into her flesh. Even if the Duke had proven it, she didn’t want to believe that this was true. How could a wild girl like Feng Qing, who came from a poor mountain ditch, be qualified to obtain the clothes produced by Heavenly Rainbow? F country's Duke could only take a tie, so who was she? Why is she able to get a dress from them?

"Feng Qing, do you dare to let the phone shine on it?" Feng Jianing gritted her teeth.

"You still refuse to give up?" Feng Qing asked.

Feng Jianing sneered. "Ha, this hidden pattern of yours should be fake, right? That's why you don't dare to verify it in public."

"Why wouldn't I dare? Feng Jianing, open your dog eyes wide and look carefully!" Feng Qing said coldly.

As soon as she finished speaking, she switched on the flashlight and shined it on the hidden pattern. In an instant, the dark gold color seemed to come alive, turning into a green peach. The bright and beautiful color was imprinted on everyone's faces, making them forget to breathe..
