Chapter 280: Get Out!

The audience outside was roaring like a tsunami, shouting Li Shaoqun's name one after another. Compared to the tense atmosphere backstage, everyone was thinking of countermeasures.

Seeing that there was not much time left, the executive director said, "We can only risk it. We can't always hide backstage and not go out, right? I'll get the bodyguards to come over and let them accompany Young Master Li on stage."

It was too difficult to control a venue with 80,000 people. Just the security company had hired 20-odd people, but facing 80,000 viewers, it was still a drop in the bucket. The only solution was to let the bodyguards accompany Li Shaoqun on stage to ensure his safety.

Although they had already confiscated many dangerous items when they passed the security check, they had not confiscated the fan lights. If anyone threw the lights on the stage...

Seeing how nervous they were, Li Shaoqun curled his lips. "Don't worry. Wait a while more. If the Siren doesn't come, I'll sing alone. There won't be a problem."

Everyone was silent. Other than that, it seemed like there was nothing else they could do. They hoped that the audience would not make things difficult for Li Shaoqun, and would not take it too seriously.

Time passed second by second, and everyone was disappointed. There was still no news of the Siren. The audience couldn't sit still anymore. Li Shaoqun knew that he couldn't wait any longer. Hence, he took the microphone and walked to the elevator. He planned to sing alone. This was his solo song in the first place, so it was normal for him to sing from start to finish.

Just as the elevator was halfway up, a stage manager scrambled over and shouted, “Young Master Li, I’ve contacted Miss Siren. She said that you can go on stage freely. After the song begins, she will meet you on stage.”

Li Shaoqun was confused, as was the rest of the staff. What did she mean by meeting you on the stage after the song started? Could it be that the Siren could fly?

There was no time to ask any questions. The elevator had already reached its highest point. Under the spotlight, Li Shaoqun walked towards the center of the stage alone. The beautiful prelude rang out at the same time.

Li Shaoqun focused his attention. After the prelude, he started singing into the microphone. His voice was filled with texture and his voice was unique. The first sentence he sang captured the hearts of many people.

As the audience watched Li Shaoqun sing alone on the stage, they started discussing. According to the program list, the fifth song was the one Li Shaoqun and the Siren released a few days ago.

“What about the Siren Auntie? Didn’t she say that the fifth song was a duet between her and Li Shaoqun?”

“What’s going on? Did the Siren Auntie stand us up? If she doesn’t appear, who will use the stinky egg I secretly brought in?”

“D*mn! At least two-thirds of the audience is here to denounce the Siren Auntie. If she doesn’t come out, she’ll be finished!”

“Hmph, what do you know? What Siren Auntie? I think it’s clearly Jia Le and Li Shaoqun using the matter of the Siren as a gimmick to promote their concert. Otherwise, why would so many people come?”

“Siren, come out quickly. You can run, but you can’t hide forever. Get out quickly!”

Whatever they were afraid of would happen. However, contrary to the expectations of the backstage personnel, the live audience was agitated and filled with hoots. No one was listening to Li Shaoqun sing.

Listening to the waves of hoots, Gu Qingye smiled bitterly. “Xiao Hao, it’s not that I want to discourage you, but the Siren might really be an auntie, so she would rather offend the public than come out.”

Xie Shihao looked pained. “Siren, come out! Regardless of whether you’re a human or a ghost, I like to hear you sing. If you don’t come out now, you won’t have a chance in the future...”

Just as the audience’s voice drowned out Li Shaoqun’s singing, a loud roar came from the sky above the stadium. The audience looked up and saw a black helicopter appear in the sky at some point.

“Look, it’s a helicopter. Why is there a helicopter here?”

“What’s going on? This helicopter is still carrying missiles. Does it want to bomb the stadium?”

“D*mn, it’s the military’s newest air-to-ground helicopter. It’s so freaking cool!”

The hoots disappeared as the audience was attracted by the helicopter in the sky. At the same time, the cabin door opened and a graceful figure peeked out.. The figure had her back to the crowd as she stepped on the escalades and floated in the air.
