“Haha, Qingqing is really not bad. She’s young, pretty, and talented. You two are so disappointing. When can you marry such a wife? You two would be lucky if you do get such a wife.” Old Master Gu waved his light stick and smiled.

On the stage, after giving her thanks, Feng Qing walked down the stage elegantly. As the guest of honor for the concert, her scheduled performance had ended, and the remaining stage was handed back to Li Shaoqun.

Just as she walked to the side of the stage, the scene on the LED screen changed. The black and ugly middle-aged woman who had been exposed on the Internet previously appeared on the screen and immediately attracted the attention of the audience.

“Oh? What’s going on? Is this a broadcast accident?”

“D*mn, what’s going on backstage? They actually managed to get this auntie onto the screen. It’s so painful to the eyes.”

“It’s all this auntie’s fault that we misunderstood the Siren. Luckily, Young Master Li insisted on holding this concert. Otherwise, the Siren would have been wrongly accused by everyone.”

Looking at the LED screen, the audience immediately scolded. Many people took out rotten eggs and prepared to bomb the LED screen.

Feng Qing stopped in her tracks when she heard the audience's discussion. She turned to look at the LED screen before turning to look at Li Shaoqun. Li Shaoqun shrugged his shoulders, indicating that he didn't know either.

In the backstage, the executive director found the staff member in charge of the LED and roared, "Do you f*cking wants to die? How dare you release such a thing?!"

The staff smiled bitterly and said, "Director, you're mistaken. This has nothing to do with me. The computer system that was controlling the LED was hacked by someone. It's not under our control at all."

Looking at the video playing on the monitor, the executive director was also stunned. He didn't know what to do, but after watching for a while, his worried heart finally relaxed.

In the video, a few people wearing masks pushed the black and ugly auntie into the recording studio. These people put the headphones on the auntie and forced her to show all kinds of singing poses. There were even sounds of insults and beatings.

"Eh, why does this voice sound familiar? This voice sounds like the number one female singer of Jia Le Records, Wang Jingwen!"

"F*ck, this is really big. After all this, it's all Wang Jingwen doing behind the scenes. I really didn't expect that although she looks kind, she's so dirty behind the scenes."

"This is too much. She actually framed Miss Siren like this. The internal departments of Jia Le Records should really be purged!"

After the video was played, the audience understood. At first, everyone only guessed that the person in the video might be Wang Jingwen, but later on, the video confirmed that the person was Wang Jingwen.

At the same time, the Internet exploded. The three hot searches about the Siren had disappeared. One of the posts was titled 'Dirty Top Gun Wang Jingwen framed the Siren Goddess. We have both the pictures and the truth!' and it quickly took the number one spot on the hot search.

Without waiting for the concert to end, various video clips of the truth crazily spread across the Internet. Instantly, Wang Jingwen became a rat across the street, hated by everyone. And her name became a synonym for filth. A blogger made Wang Jingwen's past videos into mischief videos.

Not only that, but Wang Jingwen was boycotted by the entire Internet. Her accounts on her respective media platforms were also banned by the officials. According to Xia country's requirements, immoral artists were not allowed to be given any opportunities to show their faces.

After Wang Jingwen's disgusting behavior was exposed, her Weibo was attacked by the Siren's fans. Even her own fans left her. Jia Le Records also announced at the first moment that they would terminate their contract with Wang Jingwen and pursue the damage she had caused to the company by bringing negative effects.

Compared to her, Feng Qing's image changed from black to white. The video of her performance with Li Shaoqun was liked by countless netizens. In particular, the video of her solo performance exceeded 100 million views in an hour.

"Encore! Encore!" Seeing Feng Qing bow again and prepare to leave the stage, the audience collectively shouted, wanting to continue asking her to return to the stage.

Helpless, the executive director and Li Shaoqun could only invite Feng Qing to return to the stage. The two of them sang three songs together before Feng Qing left on the elevator.

The Feng family in the Capital.

Feng Jianing and Cao Beining sat on the sofa and watched the television. They didn't manage to get the tickets and could only watch the concert at home.. They originally planned to watch the 'Siren Auntie' and laugh at her, but when Feng Qing fell from the sky, they were so shocked that they forgot to breathe.
