Seeing that the mother and daughter were in a deadlock, Raymond said, "No, don't force Qingqing like this. There's an ancient saying in your Xia country. You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink." After finding out that Feng Qing was already married, he had already decided to give up. Feng Qing was right. Even though he felt very uncomfortable, he wanted to be like a gentleman.

A faint reflection appeared in the corner of Feng Qing's eyes. She subconsciously raised her head to take a look and realized that Feng Jianing was hiding on the second floor and secretly taking a video of them. However, she didn't expose her on the spot. Instead, she looked at Fu Anlan and said, "What era is it now? The country advocates free love. Although you're my parents, you have no right to decide who I want to marry. Forcing a marriage like you is against the law. Moreover, I've already married someone else, so I definitely won't marry Duke Raymond."

Fu Anlan's expression froze. She looked at Feng Qing in confusion and felt that her tone and attitude had changed subtly. It was as if she was different from before, but she couldn't tell what was different.

"Parents like you are really disappointing. For the sake of your own interests, you forced your biological daughter to divorce and remarry. All you wanted was the betrothal gift from the Duke, right?" Feng Qing continued, "Since you like money so much, I'm willing to pay five times the betrothal gift no matter how much the Duke gives you!"

Upon hearing the word 'five times', Fu Anlan hesitated. Her constantly trembling eyes indicated that she was very conflicted. A betrothal gift of one billion, five times would be five billion. How tempting was this number?

Feng Qing's lips curled up. She knew the Feng family too well. They were greedy, unscrupulous, and shameless. They had no morals in their hearts, they only cared about whoever could give more benefits so she used this to counter the Feng family.

Fu Anlan frowned and said, "Five times? Do you know how much cash is in the living room now?"

"One billion!" Feng Qing replied.

"Five times is five billion. My silly daughter, you have to be more reliable when you're angry. Can you fork out five billion?" Fu Anlan smiled.

No matter how much she liked money, she was not a fool. She did not understand the concept of five billion yuan in cash anyway. She only knew that this money was an astronomical figure, and it was not a small sum even for the Duke.

Feng Qing's expression calmed down, and she said firmly, "Madam Fu, listen carefully. Five billion, I'll return you the favor of giving birth. Five billion, I'll draw a clear line with the Feng family from now on and I'll never contact you again. Five billion, I'll no longer be the Feng family's daughter and sever all ties with your Feng family!"

Feng Yuanzhou and Fu Anlan looked at each other and saw confusion in each other's eyes. Could Feng Qing really fork out five billion? They didn't believe it. What a joke, it wasn't worth a billion even if they sold the entire Feng family.

"Let me remind you, the Duke sent a billion yuan in cash. It's not a house, car, a cruise ship or plane. It doesn't count if you use those things." Feng Yuanzhou said.

Fu Anlan took a step forward. "That's right. Five billion. We want cash!"

The couple understood what Raymond had said just now. They knew that Raymond had given up, and they couldn't persuade Feng Qing, so Feng Qing and Raymond's marriage had been canceled. This meant that they were about to lose a billion yuan betrothal gift and the other things that Raymond had promised. The Feng family couldn't afford this loss, so they could only make up for it from Feng Qing.

Five billion was a wealth they had never possessed. When Feng Yiru was still alive, the Feng family was at its peak, but at that time, they only had two billion.

Until today, the Feng family's business was not doing well. All their companies were rapidly shrinking, and they had even sold many companies. Now, including their real estate, the entire Feng family's value was less than a billion. This value was not enough in a place like the Capital.

Looking at the calm Feng Qing, they all felt that Feng Qing was speaking out of anger. She was only 19 years old this year.. Even if she started to earn money from fertilized eggs, she wouldn't be able to earn so much money, let alone she had been blind for so many years. But even if she did, where did she get the five billion? If she really had five billion, would she have more money?
