suddenly, Feng Qing's ears twitched. She raised her eyebrows and picked up the gun Raymond had just loaded on the table like an afterimage. She also turned around and raised her gun to look at Madam Mingxue, who was standing at the back.

Feng Qing's movements were smooth. Everyone was shocked by her actions. However, Madam Mingxue could see very clearly that the expression in Feng Qing's eyes was completely different from before. It was a coldness that only those who had killed before could possess.

The silver gun was coldly aimed at Madam Mingxue, making everyone's hearts tremble.

Bang! Feng Qing pulled the trigger and fired.

At such a close distance, with Feng Qing's shooting skills, Madam Ming Xue had no time to dodge, let alone in such a sudden situation. However, Madam Ming Xue stood on the spot without moving. It wasn't that she didn't want to dodge, but she didn't react at all.

Everyone couldn't see, but Madam Mingxue could clearly feel the bullet flying past her neck and hitting the door.

The next second, the bullet pierced into the glabella of a service staff. The huge force brought the person's body flying back to the ground. Dark red blood was flowing out of his forehead.

Madam Mingxue suddenly turned around and saw another waiter take out a black gun from under the tray and pointed at her. From the waiter's actions of holding the gun, he was obviously a professional assassin. Moreover, after the matter was exposed, he was not afraid at all. Instead, his entire body exuded a suffocating killing intent.

Feng Qing pulled the trigger again, prepared to shoot the second assassin. However, after she pulled the trigger, she realized that there were no more bullets. In the critical moment, Feng Qing rushed forward and grabbed Madam Mingxue's shoulder, pulling her to the side.

Bang bang! The assassin fired twice. The bullets flew past Mingxue's crippled body and hit the bulletproof glass of the shooting range.

Feng Qing was quick to react. She kicked the table beside her that was filled with bullets and pulled Madam Mingxue to hide behind the table. This table was made of solid wood, and the thickness of the table was estimated to be at least 15 centimeters, but it's enough to stop pistol bullets.

Bang bang... Another few shots rang out. The killer pulled the trigger crazily, and wood chips flew everywhere.

All of this seemed to have happened for a long time, but it actually happened very quickly. From the time Feng Qing shot the first assassin to the time she hid behind the table with Madam Mingxue, it took less than five breaths.

Everyone was stunned by this sudden scene. Not to mention reacting, some of them were even dumbfounded. At that moment, a few bodyguards in black suits rushed over. They took out their guns and shot crazily at the wooden table. Clearly, they were on the same side as the two service personnel.

Feng Qing frowned. If they continued to shoot like this, it wouldn't take long for the wooden table to be smashed into pieces. However, Feng Qing didn't panic. She picked up the gun that she had shot the waiter and started fighting the killers.

Unlike Tessa's shooting just now, in a life and death battle, Feng Qing's marksmanship was more accurate, her shooting angle was more tricky, and her firing speed was fast. Eight black-clothed bodyguards and one service personnel, a total of nine killers, were all shot by Feng Qing. Some had their hands smashed while others had their knees shot. For a moment, the nine killers became blood gourds.

Boom! Boom! Just as Feng Qing defeated a few assassins, the huge shooting range started to tremble and violent explosions sounded. In an instant, black smoke lingered in the shooting field, and flames rose everywhere. The pungent smell of gunpowder began to fill the air, and even the bulletproof glass exploded.

"Hahaha, explode, explode. Since the mission has failed, die with us." A bodyguard who had fallen to the ground shouted hysterically.

At this moment, another group of bodyguards rushed in. Seeing them come, Tessa hurriedly ran over. These were the bodyguards she had brought. They belonged to the President's Manor in Country F.

Feng Jianing curled up in the corner and covered her ears with her hands, letting out a scream that sounded like a pig being slaughtered. Be it the gun battle or the explosion now, none of it was something she had seen before. From the moment Feng Qing killed the first person, she was already so scared that she couldn't move. Fortunately, Tessa was very kind and let the bodyguards drag her away..
