Because he had waited too long and the Healer had not come out, Duke Raymond felt that something must have happened to the Healer, so he brought his men in.

Netherworld swayed and stood in front of Feng Qing, Although he was protecting her behind him, he was not afraid that Raymond's men would make a move, he just did not want Duke Raymond to see Feng Qing's shoulders and beautiful back exposed.

Madam Crimson Snow also realized this and immediately shouted at Raymond, "Get out! Who let you in!"

Raymond was stunned by the roar. He looked around the bedroom and was shocked by the mess in front of him. At that moment, he smelled something burnt and was confused. He also heard a sizzling sound. He looked around and finally his gaze fell on his feet. Duke Raymond's pupils dilated instantly because he saw that the soles of his shoes were melting. It was as if he was stepping on hot magma instead of the ground.

"Mother, what's going on?" Duke Raymond was confused.

"Raymond, I repeat, please get out now. I will let you in later," Madam Crimson Snow repeated.

Duke Raymond looked in the direction of Madam Crimson Snow. After seeing that she looked very good and that there was no blood or injuries on her body, he left the bedroom with his bodyguards. Before closing the door, he turned around and said, "Mother, I'm outside. If anything happens, call me immediately."

He was completely confused now. He didn't understand why there were so many corpses in the bedroom. Blood had dyed the room red. Moreover, what was with the blood on the ground? Why did it look like sulfuric acid?

Actually, he knew that Madam Crimson Snow was originally the leader of the Blood Demon Group, but after many years of secret observation, Madam Crimson Snow rarely used this force, nor did she accept missions like other assassin organizations. The missions the Blood Demon Group's assassins went out to carry out were basically ordered by Madam Crimson Snow.

Standing outside the door, Duke Raymond frowned and stared at the door. For some reason, he felt that he had seen a familiar person just now. It was the most perfect woman in his heart, Feng Qing. He shook his head violently. He felt that he must be hallucinating. He must have missed Feng Qing too much recently, that's why he became like this.

Another half an hour later, the bedroom door opened. Feng Qing and Netherworld walked out one after another. However, Feng Qing was no longer disguised as the Healer. Instead, she was wearing a long dress that Madam Crimson Snow had worn when she was young. Netherworld still wore a golden mask on his face. Although his clothes were tattered, he did not change them.

Hearing the commotion, Duke Raymond hurriedly turned around. When he saw Feng Qing and Netherworld coming out, he was petrified on the spot.

Duke Raymond exclaimed, "Oh my god, am I really hallucinating? Miss Feng Qing, why did you come out from there?"

Feng Qing was also very helpless. Her disguise mask and clothes were corroded to the point that she couldn't wear them anymore. She didn't bring any spare clothes, so she could only come out with her real face.

After taking a closer look and confirming that it was indeed Feng Qing, Duke Raymond's eyes were about to fall out. Then, he picked up his eyes and looked at the door. He wanted to see why the Healer hadn't come out even though Netherworld was out. However, what made his eyes fall to the ground again was that no matter how he looked around the entire bedroom, he did not see the Healer. Where was the Healer?

But he adjusted it very well and asked with a smile, "Miss Feng Qing, when did you come to the Duke's Manor? Why didn't I know anything? And how did you get in? I've been waiting outside and didn't see you go in." Duke Raymond smiled as he spoke to Feng Qing. Netherworld beside him suddenly turned to look at him, and an indescribable aura rushed towards Raymond.

At this moment, Madam Crimson Snow walked out of the bedroom. She whispered to Raymond, "Son, the Miss Feng Qing you know is actually the Healer of A Dark Organization. After the treatment just now, she used her magical medical skills to pull out the Blood Venomous Bug in my head. Therefore, she is now the benefactor of our entire Duke's Manor and also my benefactor."
