At this moment, Netherworld's phone vibrated. The eyes under the golden mask swept across the screen, and then the corners of his lips curled up slightly. Although he didn't really like Xing Yue, there was something Xing Yue said that was right. Spending money on Feng Qing would indeed improve his mood. Moreover, the more she spent, the happier he would be.

Looking at the booth owner who was grinning from ear to ear and praising Feng Qing while helping her pack, Feng Jianing's face was almost the same color as coal. She never expected that Feng Qing could actually take out money. Didn't she just give the Feng family five billion?

Feng Jianing didn't see the joke she wanted to see and instantly lost interest. She didn't ask the booth owner to wrap it out either. She grabbed the piece of Ten Thousand Fragrance wood and prepared to leave. In the end, just as she turned around, the Ten Thousand Fragrance wood in her hand shattered into a few large pieces. The hollow tree trunk and the color-changing spice made Feng Jianing's expression gloomy.

This was what she had just spent 2.5 million to buy? Not to mention extracting any spices from it, this was simply a broken piece of wood that had been eaten by worms. If she planned to find any useful spices from this, she would probably have to observe it with a microscope.

Feng Jianing's veins popped up. The broken Ten Thousand Fragrance Wood in her hand creaked from her grip. She didn't expect her luck to be so bad. Not only did she not see Feng Qing being embarrassed, but she also lost all her face. So she snatched a piece of firewood from Feng Qing for 2.5 million? However, on second thought, if her piece of Ten Thousand Fragrance wood was not good, Feng Qing would have to compensate even more. After all, Feng Qing had bought the rest.

At this moment, Feng Qing casually picked up a thirty-centimeter-long piece of Ten Thousand Fragrance wood from a corner of the booth. She weighed it with her hand and threw it to the booth owner. "Help me cut it. You can cut it however you want."

The booth owner did not hesitate. Anyway, Feng Qing had already paid the money. These Ten Thousand Fragrance Wood were no longer his. Feng Qing could do whatever she wanted.

"Hehe, originally, cutting of wood also requires handmade fees and machine wear and tear fees, but you're my big customer. Today, we'll cut as much as you want. It's all free." The booth owner was very good at being humane.

A few minutes later, the cutting machine stopped. The boss opened the lid of the machine, and immediately, the extremely rich and pure smell of Ten Thousand Fragrance wood wafted out. This fragrance was very special. It was the fragrance of grass and plants, as well as the fragrance of tree balsam from wood.

The booth owner took out the split Ten Thousand Fragrance Wood from the machine and walked to the bright spot to take a look. Then, his pupils trembled violently. "Azure, Azure Wood? It's actually the Azure Wood? How is this possible?!" The booth owner said in shock.

In an instant, the entire Ten Thousand Fragrance Wood exhibition area immediately became chaotic and noisy. The surrounding owners also came over. After looking at the Ten Thousand Fragrance Wood that had just been cut, they all discussed excitedly.

"Heavens, it's really the Azure Wood. I wonder which buyer is so lucky. That person got lucky."

"Is there a mistake? Such a material with such an appearance can actually produce such a thing. It's really the first time I've seen Azure Wood."

The Azure Wood is formed from the mutation of the Ten Thousand Fragrance Wood over the years. It's extremely precious and an extremely rare wood spice that can only be chanced upon by luck. It's definitely the king of spices!"

Upon hearing the words "Azure Wood", Feng Qing was also shocked. Although this was the first time she had seen it, it did not stop her from knowing about it. According to the records in the ancient books, the Azure Wood was a top-grade spice that was rarely seen in hundreds of years among the Ten Thousand Fragrance Wood. In Xia country, the ancients regarded it as the top of the ten thousand fragrances. It could be seen how much they liked it.

In fact, the Azure Wood was not as exaggerated as the ancients had said. Many good quality and old Ten Thousand Fragrance Wood more or less produced some Azure Wood. However, it was at most the size of a piece of rubber. It was already rare to find one that was as big as a cup.

The Azure Wood was an intrinsic variation caused by the accumulation of the Ten Thousand Fragrance Wood's fragrance over time. The environmental requirements for it to form were extremely harsh. Even if the temperature was slightly irregular, it would be impossible to form such a precious spice.

If Feng Qing remembered correctly, twenty years ago, a foreigner happened to find a piece of Azure Wood the size of a brick. Later on, it was bought at a high price by the country and was preserved in the Botanical Museum.

Everyone looked at Feng Qing with envy and jealousy. When she spent a hundred million to buy all the wood just now, many people treated her as a fool. But now, such a large piece of Azure Wood's value has already exceeded one billion. This means that Feng Qing had earned nine hundred million in a few minutes..
