

The Wife I Picked Up Is Too Chapter Chapter 649

Chapter 649: Full-Level Main Account Bullying Noobs the Newbie Village

The Strongest Assistant In The Universe: "There's a very important corporation meeting in the afternoon. Can you attend?"

Feng Qing typed on her phone. "I don't have time. I have lessons all day. Just send me the minutes of the meeting."

The Strongest Assistant In The Universe: "You're taking lessons?"

Feng Qing replied, "According to the class schedule sent by the school, I should have two big lessons in the afternoon, and they're both 'Financial Theory'."

The Strongest Assistant In The Universe: "Boss, is this the legendary max-level account bullying noobs in the newbie village?"

Feng Qing smiled. "Although my business is considered successful, I'm not a professional after all. I have to learn everything about finance. Moreover, it's not wrong to learn more, right?"

Sun Hao did not force Feng Qing when she did not agree to change seats. Although he was a little unhappy, he did not take it seriously. Hence, he started today's teaching.

To Feng Qing's surprise, the content and actual cases Sun Bin explained were all about the Xie Corporation. As Madam Xie, she naturally knew those cases very well, but the students were listening with relish in private. After all, the Xie Corporation was the top three corporations in the world.

Every time Sun Bin talked about how Xie Jiuhan relied on his own strength to push the Xie Corporation to the peak in just a few years, the students would reveal yearning expressions. In their hearts, Xie Jiuhan was the god of the financial world, the legend of the entire Xia country's business world.

Feng Qing listened calmly. She even knew more than Sun Bin for a lot of things, so she started to multitask. As she listened to Sun Bin's lecture, she flipped through the 'Financial Theory' book.

After Sun Bin finished analyzing all the cases, Feng Qing leaned on the table and continued reading. Lu Yingying, who was sitting in the last two rows, saw her lying down and thought that she was sleeping. She immediately revealed a disdainful expression. She thought that Feng Qing didn't understand, so she slept on her table.

"Since everyone understands, I'll arrange this week's homework now. I hope everyone can complete this week's homework well because this week's homework will become a golden key to the internship at the Xie Corporation's financial center. I'll choose the five best students from this week's homework to send you to the Xie Corporation's financial center for an internship. It will depend on your abilities whether you can stay in the Xie Corporation," Sun Bin said when he saw that it was almost time for class to end.

Sun Bin's words instantly caused an uproar in the classroom. The students started discussing in shock. As a student of finance, what they yearned for the most was to be able to work in the Xie Corporation. It was something they dreamed of even if it was just an internship. Even if they were not chosen to stay after the internship, other companies would fight for them in the future. After all, anyone who could make the Xie Corporation give an internship opportunity was undoubtedly the best of the new generation.

The way Sun Bin gave his homework was very special. He let the students copy the questions through the projection on the curtain and then go back to answer them. Feng Qing looked at the homework question on the curtain with disinterest and then leaned on the table to read.

When Sun Bin saw this, he frowned and said, "Student Feng Qing, although this is the first day you've listened to my class, according to the school's rules, you have to hand in the homework. Otherwise, I'll deduct your credits according to your homework. When I was teaching just now, you had been sleeping. Although you might not understand this class, as long as you listen carefully, you can learn a little. In my opinion, if you dare to sleep during class, it means that you understand the content of my lecture, so you don't have to listen anymore. You have to hand in your weekly homework, and it can't be zero. Otherwise, you can just return to the music school."

In fact, although Feng Qing had obtained the school's approval to transfer to the Finance Department, many professors in the business school were dissatisfied. There were even professors who protested to the principal. In their opinion, letting an art student come to the business school to study finance was simply an insult to the entire business school.

Originally, Sun Bin was neutral about her matter. He did not support or object to it. However, Feng Qing had fallen asleep in his class just now, and it was even the first financial class. She really did not respect Sun Bin, causing his impression of Feng Qing to plummet, so he deliberately made things difficult for her.

According to the school's rules, if the student did not hand in their homework or the quality of the homework was too poor, the teacher had the right to stop the student. No matter what Feng Qing thought, Sun Hao left with the glass of water. Before he left, he even gave Feng Qing a look that said, "I'll wait and see your performance."
