

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 291

Chapter 291

Both of them turned toward Gary behind them with a look of disbelief on their faces. "Hey, Gary, why is Nicole so talented?" Gary's face bore no expression as he turned and left the classroom, ignoring both Jack and Wayne. Wayne looked at his back as he looked on quizzically at Jack. "What's the matter with Gary?" A thoughtful look appeared on Jack's face as he glanced at Wayne. The expression on his face was unclear. Even he felt that Nicole had thoroughly surprised him, much less the extremely proud Gary.

Gary was heading outside when someone suddenly came up beside him. It turned out that Raine came over to ask Gary out for a meal together. Gary was walking very quickly, and Raine had to break into a jog to catch up with him as she spoke continuously. "Gary, where are you going? Let's look for a five-star restaurant to dine in? There are a few new restaurants opening in San Joto recently..." Gary did not even turn back, and the indifference in his voice was palpable. "No need."

He was not in the mood to eat.

Seeing him like this, Raine remembered what Snow said to herself. 'Gary is acting like this because of the stress from studies. I should be more considerate of him.' When Raine thought of this, she put out a smile that she thought was empathetic as she looked even more gently at Gary. Her voice became even sweeter as she whispered.

"Gary, is Nicole not studying hard causing you a lot of stress?"

Gary's originally impatient expression froze for a moment as he suddenly turned toward Raine, his eyes unabashedly chilly.

"Do you know what's the relationship with the guy in that café with Nicole?" Raine was dumbfounded and did not know who he was talking about. Ever since she was chased out by the server the last time she went there with Gary, she had never returned to the café.

Seeing that she did not even know who Jared Johnston was, a layer of frost seemed to appear on Gary's face as he straight up ignored Raine and walked outside.

He immediately got into the car that came to pick him up as he ignored Raine's calls behind him and left the Royal Creek Institute.

The chauffeur seemed to notice that Gary was in a bad mood and asked worriedly, "Master Gary, what's the matter?"

Gary ignored him as he took out his phone and replayed the video Jimmy had uploaded to the web on repeat. When he saw Nicole and Jared together, he squeezed his phone as if he wanted to crush it into pieces.

When the chauffeur saw it from the rear-view mirror, he clenched the steering wheel nervously.

The young master had been difficult to get along with since young, and now when he was about to get angry, he looked even more terrifying.

He hurriedly stepped on the accelerator as he muttered to himself that he must get back as soon as possible.

Only Master Ryder could control him when Master Gary is on a temper tantrum.

After entering the Finley family manor, he ignored the chauffeur who had scurried away as Gary headed straight toward Ryder, who was sitting on the sofa looking at something before him in a daze. He did not care about his brother's odd behavior as he handed the footage on the phone in his hand over.

"Do you know this person?" He then asked coldly.

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 292

Chapter 292

Ryder saw that familiar figure on the screen and raised his eyebrows in surprise. He put away the thing in his hand as he looked at Gary, his voice a little unnerved. "Why would you ask about him?"

Seeing his expression, Gary knew that Ryder must know about this man. He was not in the mood to beat around the bush and said bluntly, "You don't have to bother about that. Just tell me who he is."

Ryder looked at his younger brother and frowned a little. "He is that young master that is the most favored by Mr. Johnston Sr, and also the boss of JJ Johnston Group." 'WHAT! Gary thought that Jared was just a scion of a lowly family and was just fooling around with that pretty face of his. He totally did not expect Jared to have such a background! 'How did Nicole get to know such people!' Thinking of this, Gary's expression turned solemn, yet Ryder did not notice it. He looked at the girl beside Jared in the footage as a thoughtful look appeared on his face. 'Why does this girl look so familiar?' After thinking for a good while, he slapped his thighs as he said, "Wasn't she the girl that Christo Rogers invited in personally?"

Gary looked at his elder brother. His entire expression had changed.

Christo Rogers was Mr. Rogers Sr. that he knew. 'However, isn't Nicole a village girl? Why is Mr. Rogers Sr. giving her such treatment?'

Gary thought he would be better off not asking his brother because he was even more confused after doing so.

He looked at Ryder and whispered, "Ryder, you're sure you didn't mistake her for someone else?"

Ryder gave Gary a miffed look. "I still don't need reading glasses yet; I won't mistake one person for another at the very least!"

After that, he looked at his little brother as he said with surprise. "What's the matter with you? Why is your face so grim?"

Gary shook his head to indicate that he was fine. Ryder did not pay much attention to that as his eyes remained affixed to the footage on Gary's phone as he muttered to himself, "I did not expect her to still be at Mr. Jared's side, is he for real?"

"That young lady from the Rogers family will not be easy to deal with.' He thought.

Gary took his phone back from Ryder as he looked at the latter with a trace of determination in his eyes.

"Ryder, I need you to do me a favor." Ryder was taken aback. He had rarely seen his baby brother ask a favor from him like that. Gary had always been independent and had a mind of his own. This was the first time he wanted to use the help of the family.

"Gary, what is it?"

Gary looked at Ryder as he simply flicked his finger across the screen and closed the video as he said, "I want all of the information about the girl you saw just now." "Can you do that?" With his current ability, achieving that was rather difficult, but his brother might be able to do

Ryder was stunned for a moment as he totally did not expect his baby brother to make such a request. As he heard the question, his face brightened as he said. "What's so difficult about that? I'll go get someone to investigate. I'll let you know as soon as I get something." When Gary saw him agree, he heaved a sigh of relief. He then turned around and walked upstairs with an inexplicable air of despondency about him.

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 293

Chapter 293

Ryder looked at his baby brother with a strange look in his eyes. He called the chauffeur over as he squinted his eyes and asked, "Tell me everything that had happened to Gary in school lately."

Just as Nicole was just about to sit down in the cafeteria and order her meal, a vibration came from her phone.

She looked on with some puzzlement and found it turned out to be a message from Stanley. He said that Gloria had prepared her a meal, and he was already waiting for her downstairs at her dormitory and wanted her to quickly come and take it.

Nicole looked at her seat, which was barely even warm, as she sighed and walked out. Along the way, she encountered a lot of strange stares. She ignored them as she walked toward the dormitory block

Even when she was a distance away, she could see Stanley standing beneath the cherry blossom tree. He was wearing a white shirt; his entire temperament was immaculate. Around him were many girls pretending to be passing by but actually taking a peek at him, hoping that he would look back at them.

Stanley was not only handsome; he was also the president of the student council of the Royal Creek Institute and was the sweetheart in the dreams of many a girl in school.

Yet, Stanley did not notice these girls secreting watching him, and when he saw Nicole walking lazily toward him, only then did a smile appear.

He did not wait for Nicole to walk toward him but instead quickly went over in her direction.

When the girls in that direction saw Stanley smiling and walking in their direction, they were on fire as they looked shyly at Stanley. The affection in their eyes was palpable. Yet it was like throwing a wink to the blind.

Stanley ignored them as he walked to his little sister. He handed the thermos container to her as he smiled. "Mom said that she saw your complexion pale yesterday, so she prepared this soup for you. You must finish it." Nicole looked at the thermos container, and although she bore no expression, Stanley could inexplicably sense a rejection from her.

He could not help but let out a smile as he patted her on the head. He said softly to her, "Be good, Nicole, Listen to us. Your health is the most important."

Taste and what else are all secondary.

Nicole looked at his caring eyes and took the thermos container somewhat helplessly. She had soup last night, this morning, and now in the afternoon too?

However, it was the Mom and Stanley's kindness, so Nicole had no reason to refuse as he said softly to Stanley. "Thank you."

Stanley looked at him, and a trace of warmth appeared on his face as he said, "What are you thanking me for? We are family." He then thought for a while before saying, "Mom asked us to bring you back tonight. What are your plans?"

Nicole pondered for a bit and said, "I might have something to do at night. Don't worry, I'll go back myself."

Stanley knew that she always had secrets, so he did not ask. After a few more reminders to take care of herself and to drink the soup, he then bade her goodbye.

Many saw the intimate behavior between the two, and many girls were so jealous they turned green with envy.

'What was going on? Is this woman not content to seduce Harvey? She is even after the president?'

'How many men does she want around her before she stops?!'

Many girls angrily took pictures of this scene and uploaded them to the school forum.

Casting aspersions against Nicole aside, they even questioned if Jimmy had uploaded a fake video.

'Nicole clearly has a problematic character!' Many had originally changed their view about Nicole after watching Jimmy's video, yet when they saw this set of photos, they immediately lit up like a powder keg.

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 294

Chapter 294

Seeing Stanley patting Nicole on the heart, with the dotting look in his eyes, many of the girls that were obsessed with him gritted their teeth with hatred.

And once again, the school forum exploded.

When Snow saw the rumors going around the web, her lips curled a little as a gleeful look appeared in her eyes.

'Even that useless Jimmy no longer wants to help her, Nicole is destined to never turn things around,' she thought.

Nicole had no idea that her relationship with Stanley had been misunderstood once again. She carried the rather large thermos container toward her dorm room, and just as she got to the third floor and was about to take a turn, a hand suddenly stretched out and pushed toward her.

A glint appeared in Nicole's eyes as she leaned slightly sideways to dodge the push.

She then stretched her empty hand out as she grabbed the other party's ill-intentioned hand and pulled it using the latter's momentum.

"AHH!"

The girl did not expect Nicole to react so quickly, and she was not prepared at all as she was dragged onto her knees in the middle of the stairs, tears coming out at the sudden pain.

Nicole looked coldly at her, her gaze impassive.

She grabbed onto the thermos container and continued her way up, ignoring these troublemakers.

She assumed that kneeling would cause the girl to wake up.

Yet, what came behind her was the girl's extremely resentful voice. "Nicole, are you only content after seducing every single man in school?!"

Nicole looked at the girl. She was quite good-looking, with very decent features, yet before Nicole's delicate and immaculate features, she seemed very inadequate.

The girl, too, had realized this. Comparing her appearance that she was proud of against Nicole was like rubbing her face against mud, her self-esteem totally shattered. She looked at Nicole with even more hatred.

Nicole was totally impassive as she asked somewhat quizzically, "I wonder which eye of yours saw me seducing a man."

When the girl saw her like this, she was sure that Nicole was deliberately provoking her. She was so pissed off that she lost all control as she yelled, "Don't you gloat at me here! You're only just a pretty face! I'll ruin that face of yours sooner or later, and I'll make you experience what it is hell on earth!"

If her push were to land, the shattered thermos container and the hot soup would have definitely ruined Nicole's face. Yet Nicole was so skilled and straight-up dodged the attack!

Thinking of this, the girls' eyes radiated resentment. Nicole's gaze slowly turned chilly as she did not give the girl another look as she turned away and continued to walk upstairs. She had no time to waste with this kind of unreasonable person. Moreover, Stanley had told her to drink the soup while it was still hot. Nicole went back to her dormitory without much of an expression on her face. When she got in, she heard Lulu smashing the keyboard as she typed. When the latter heard the sound and turned around to find Nicole, her eyes lit up. "Nicole, you're back! I bought for you some super delicious dishes!" Nicole looked at Lulu and nodded as the chill in her eyes slowly faded away.

'Now, this is a cute girl,' she thought. She placed the thermos container on the table and looked at Lulu's combative mood somewhat quizzically as she asked, "What are you doing?"

Seeing her walk over, Lulu angrily showed Nicole the pictures and those unsightly comments on her computer as she said. "They are running their mouths like that, not knowing that you are a member of the Riddle family! This pisses me off!" When Nicole saw Lulu struggle to speak up for her, she smiled as she opened the thermos container. The rich aroma immediately wafted out, drawing Lulu's entire attention.

She could not help but look over. Although her eyes were still on the computer, her soul had already floated into the thermos container.

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 295

“Woah, what Stanley gave you, Nicole? This is just way too fragrant!” Nicole looked at the chicken soup inside the thermos container, and then at Lulu’s eager eyes, she chuckled.

“Haven’t you eaten already?”

It’s water at most. Who said I cannot drink soup after having my meal?”

Nicole felt that she had a point, so she raised her eyebrow and hooked her fingers at Lulu. “Come, let’s drink it together.” Lulu laughed happily as she immediately pounced at Nicole and exclaimed, “Nicole, you’re the best!”

Nicole looked at the roasted lamb rack Lulu brought back on the table; a surge of warmth flowed across her heart.

The two were eating slowly as Lulu suddenly said to Nicole, “Nicole. Thank you.” Nicole looked at her as Lulu gently stirred the soup in her bowl and finished it in one gulp before looking up. Nicole, however, saw the faint tears in her eyes, ‘What was going on?’ Seeing that Nicole was worried, Lulu smiled at her as she whispered. “If it weren’t for you, I would no longer have a brother.” ‘Is Lulu’s brother Jimmy?’

She did not expect Jimmy to be Lulu’s brother. What a coincidence.

Lulu immediately wiped off the tears in her eyes as she looked a little embarrassed. “I don’t know how to thank you. How about my brother and I treat you to a meal?”

But when Lulu recalled that Nicole was a member of the Riddle family, she had no need for Lulu to treat her to a meal.

Seeing Lulu being a little down, Nicole gently patted her on the shoulder. “I should be the one treating you for a meal with how you’re fighting for me online.”

Lulu looked at Nicole in surprise. She did not seem to expect Nicole to say something like this, but when she looked at the latter in the eyes, when she saw the gentleness that was different from her cold exterior, she slowly relaxed.

Lulu then whispered, “Okay.”

After the two were done eating, she did not forget that Jared had asked her to go to the café, so she immediately left for the café,

It was also a good opportunity to check up on Austin and the rest’s homework as well.

She sent Austin a message, and seemingly recalling something, she pulled out that black phone that had not been used for a long while as she calmly sent something over.

There was no response, and Nicole was not in a hurry, so she walked on slowly. When she got close to the café, she saw Austin and the others waving excitedly at her, causing many girls beside him to cast a contemptuous gaze over her. Yet, due to Austin’s presence, none of them dared to say anything.

Nicole got into the café, and Austin immediately bellowed, “Boss, where have you been these past few days? We missed you!”

Sammey, too was excited as he nodded alongside Austin.

Looking at the few of them, a smile appeared as Nicole said, “I went on a trip.”

Seeing the expression of the few at a loss for words, the smile in Nicole’s eyes grew deeper.

“Come, let’s go. Let me see how is your study progress while I was not around.”

Austin and the others did not panic at all. They had been diligently revising for the past few days and had thoroughly digested what Nicole had taught them. The group then went upstairs, and the atmosphere was joyous.

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 296

Chapter 296

At this moment, Edwin was casually scrolling through his phone, and his originally bored look suddenly changed when he saw something. He looked at Harvey, who was working on some documents, and made a clicking sound for the latter to look at the thing in his hand. Harvey originally gave Edwin an impatient look, yet when he saw the content on the mobile phone, his expression immediately changed. "What is this?" Edwin shrugged. Someone had posted an ambiguous photo of Nicole and Stanley together on the school forum.

And someone also put up the photo of Harvey confessing to Nicole back then as well. This set off a tsunami as many left very unpleasant comments about Nicole, saying that she was not only seducing Harvey but also being intimate with the Riddle brothers and that she

As Harvey looked at the unsightly comments, he felt his blood rushing into his head, his face looking so grim as if he was about to murder someone. 'Nicole is my prey. Only I have the final say on whether she was good or bad. The others have no right to do so!' As he thought of that, he grabbed his car keys and headed out. His entire person radiating an icy chill. Seeing his demeanor, Edwin raised his eyebrow. "Where are you going?"

Harvey did not answer him but instead ran out of the company as he started his car and raced toward the Royal Creek Institute.

He sped all the way there and parked the car directly beneath the student council building. He straight up ignored the staff on duty as he rushed toward the top floor. Stanley was in a meeting with other cadres of the student council. Seeing Harvey coming in angrily, he raised his hand to stop the meeting as Stanley got up and walked out.

Harvey was the grandson of the school principal and was also a member of the Royal Creek Institute student council. However, he rarely showed up for meetings. Harvey coming here aside, his expression was so sullen one had to wonder what was going on. The two stood in the hallway, and Harvey suddenly grabbed Stanley's collar, his voice almost a hiss. "I thought you lot loved Nicole so much it was but an act, but I did not expect it to be fake!"

Stanley was stunned. Harvey had always been calm and measured, so why was he so agitated today?

"I don't understand what you're on about." Even a gentleman would get angry having his collar grabbed like that as Stanley unceremoniously pushed Harvey's hand aside, and his normally calm voice had a tinge of anger to it. "Master Harvey, I'm afraid we are not that close. Also, my little sister has nothing to do with you, so please mind your own business." 'Since when did Harvey have the right to interfere in the matters of the Riddle family?' When Harvey saw Stanley being so indifferent, he was even more furious. After letting out a sneer, he struck a punch out toward Stanley without any restraint. If the blow was to land, it would cause some serious injury.

Stanley took a backstep and intercepted his fist as his voice turned icy. "Harvey Ellison, have you gone mad?"

Harvey was unaffected as he lashed a kick out of nowhere. Stanley could not dodge in time and almost fell onto the ground.

Stanley was clearly infuriated by Harvey as a cold glint appeared in his eyes, and he struck at Harvey like a thunderclap.

Many people who were passing by were so shocked they gasped.

The usually warm and gentle Stanley was fighting. And his opponent was the gentle Harvey!

Harvey was angry within, feeling that these lots were just pretending to care, but in fact, they did not care about Nicole at all, allowing her to be bullied online. Stanley, on the other hand, was assaulted out of the blue and had no reason not to fight back.

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 297

Chapter 297

The two kept exchanging blows, and soon, both were bruised all over. With Stanley being attacked, someone soon called Spencer and Samuel over. When the two arrived and saw Stanley fighting with Harvey, they were shocked, but Spencer reacted faster as he kicked Samuel in the butt and spat, "What are you staring there for? Pull them away!" Only then did Samuel react as they rushed over and each pulling one back, taking several blows in the process. It was only when the four were completely separated that they were panting for air. Spencer held on to Stanley, and he had taken two kicks from Harvey in the waist. It hurt so bad that he could not maintain a dignified look. As he seethed in pain, he asked, "Stanley, what the hell are you two doing? Why are you guys fighting?" Stanley had never fought anymore after fourth grade in elementary school. Although Stanley's face had no bruises, he was punched several times in the ribs by Harvey. It took him all his might to maintain his demeanor, and when he heard Spencer, even his usually temperate self was on the verge of exploding.

"Ask him then!"

'If the latter had not acted like a maniac, how would he end up in such a sorry state?'

Samuel then panted as he asked, "Master Harvey, what's wrong with the two of you?"

Why were you guys fighting all of a sudden?" Harvey was originally sneering as he looked at the two. When he heard that, he turned around and back. Just as he was about to say something, he seemed to realize something as he looked toward Samuel and asked somewhat worriedly, "What's wrong with YOU?"

Both Stanley and Spencer also looked over, and when they saw Samuel's face, they were shocked.

Samuel was standing there with two bruises around the eyes of his handsome face, looking no different than a badger. He was a little giddy yet did not seem to have realized what was going on as he looked at the three of them blankly.

The moment he was stunned, a stream of blood slowly flowed down from his nose.

Samuel wiped his nose by reflex, and his pupils shrank upon seeing blood. "Blood, Spencer, Stanley! I'm bleeding!"

With him that agitated, his nose twitched out of control, and blood flowed down his nose like a breached dam,

Both Stanley and Spencer could no longer be bothered with Harvey as they ran over and dragged Samuel straight to the school infirmary,

After some chaos, Samuel's bleeding finally stopped as he speechlessly pointed at the two bruises on his face and said, "Can the two of you now tell me why the heck were you fighting?"

Stanley, too cast a puzzled look at Harvey. He was not in the same year as Harvey, so they rarely communicated.

He supposed Harvey could finally tell him now why he suddenly came to fight him.

Harvey was wiping his bruised face with alcohol-soaked cotton, and when he heard the voices, he sneered as he flicked his phone to reflect a page and tossed it to them.

"Just look at this yourself!"

Both Stanley and Spencer quickly grabbed the phone, and as they looked on, anger replaced their originally confused expression.

Samuel was leaning back so he could not see what it was, but as a twin, he could sense what Spencer felt as he subconsciously let out a curse.

"Those fucking sons of the b*tch!"

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 298

Chapter 298

Stanley oddly did not reprimand him for swearing this time as he stood up with a gloomy face as he looked at Harvey with a tinge of guilt and gratitude in his eyes. "I shouldn't have retaliated." He said sincerely. Harvey looked at him and rubbed his face somewhat helplessly. He then touched a wound, causing him to hiss in pain. "I was too impulsive too. However, don't you guys ever visit the forums? Back then, when Samuel and Spencer ate with Nicole, she was being cursed for so long. Are you going to let them talk about her like that?"

Stanley looked at him. He usually paid his full attention to his studies and rarely went online.

Thus, he did not expect Nicole to be subjected to cyberbullying in school. He then turned toward Spencer and Samuel; both too wore an innocent look.

They were busy every day and very rarely visited the school forum. After seeing the words insulting Nicole on the forums, Samuel was so pissed off he almost jumped, but Spencer firmly held him in place. "You'll bleed even more!"

Samuel growled in reply. "What's me bleeding a little compared to how Nicole is being insulted?"

Spencer thought of it and agreed as he let Samuel go. The latter immediately jumped to Stanley and Harvey as he shook his fist, his voice seething with anger. "Master Harvey, you are well connected. Can you check who is the one behind this? I want to let them have a good taste of my fist." For those people to make such a scandal out of them eating with their little sister, what are they even thinking? Spencer, too, nodded.

Although he was not agreeable to Samuel using violence to settle this, what happened was something that was really hard to end without direct action. Stanley's eyes were alight with fire. He had only just sent a meal, and people spun the entire thing into a scandal like this!

Harvey looked at the two brothers before him with a puzzled look.

"You guys don't know about this at all?"

When the three heard this, they glared at him and roared in unison, "Bullshit!"

'If we had known, we wouldn't have our little sister to face these insults?'

Harvey shrugged. He now believed that the few of them really did not know, so he dropped the saber-rattling with them as he said, "So, what do you guys want to do about this?"

Although he could find out who was the one responsible, he was still the principal's grandson, and everything he did would be constrained by his identity. Stanley looked at Spencer and Samuel. A glint appeared in his eyes as his voice still had a tinge of iciness in it.

"All of you, come with me." The few looked at one another. Stanley was, after all, the president of the student council; his authority was far greater than the rest of them. The four of them looked at each other and left. Samuel took out the ball of cotton from his nose as Harvey, too, threw the gauze aside as all of them hurriedly left the school infirmary.

Under Stanley's lead, they went straight to the office building and took the elevator to the level below the principal's office. Samuel was wondering why Stanley was bringing him here, but a look of understanding appeared in the eyes of Spencer and Harvey. Stanley did not stop as he went directly to the room in the far corner and opened it. Everyone inside the room looked at him in shock. Stanley's expression did not change as he took out his identification card. His voice was calm but authoritative.

"I need this room for something." The few people looked at each other, and the leader walked over and had a good look at the ID. His expression changed from rejection to faint respect.

"Ah, the student council president. Please go ahead."

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 299

Chapter 299

As he said that, he waved his hand and led the five to six people inside out. Not forgetting to close the door on his way out.

Samuel's eyes widened as he looked at the scene before him and muttered in amazement, "This is..."

Spencer did not react. He was a music student, so he was familiar with the equipment in front of him.

He found a chair to sit down as he crossed his leg and quipped with some amusement, "Stanley, nice." Stanley's expression was impassive as he walked into the broadcasting room and calmly adjusted the equipment.

The few students from the broadcasting club were wondering why Stanley suddenly wanted to use the broadcasting room. A girl then cautiously asked, "Say, why did the student council president come here? Is there something that he needed to use the broadcasting equipment?”

The boy by the side responded, “He probably has something important to announce.” As they said that, everyone started to gossip as a girl who was scrolling through her phone while chewing a piece of gum quipped, “Could it be something to do with Nicole?”

All of them had seen the posts about Stanley and Harvey and were extremely disdainful of Nicole.

As she said that, everyone fell silent, and soon a boy said, “How is that possible? Stanley is known to be very just. If someone tells you he’d take over the broadcasting room for a woman, will you believe it?” Everyone felt that what the boy said made sense. After all, Stanley had a good reputation, and all of the comments were calling Nicole shameless. ‘Why would Stanley use the broadcasting room just to help rehabilitate a woman?’ “Oh right, don’t you ever tie Stanley to that bitch, Nicole...” Before they could even finish, Stanley’s gentle voice rang out across the loudspeakers in the school, with a slight electrical static. He then first briefly introduced himself. “Hello everyone, this is Stanley Riddle.”

Immediately after, two other voices came through the microphone.

“I am Samuel Riddle.”

“I’m Spencer Riddle”

When everyone heard Stanley’s voice, all of them could not help but stop and listen. They did not expect the Riddle twins to show up as well. They were all famous figures in school!

Everyone, be it the high school or the university departments, perked their ears up to listen to the broadcast.

Soon, Stanley’s voice came from the loudspeakers again. His tone was calm, yet there was a tinge of iciness to it.

“The reason we are here today is to deliver a message to all students at the Royal Creek Institute.”

He paused for a bit as if trying to suppress something. Everyone was even more curious because of the pause. ‘What was it that required the student council president to broadcast in person?’ They wondered.

“We’ve noticed that you people have been mercilessly slandering Nicole on the school forums. She is, in fact, our dear little sister, so please stop the malicious slanders.”

Stanley’s words were exceptionally clear, his every word carefully chosen.

Everyone heard that clearly as a look of shock appeared on everyone’s faces. Many even thought they heard things. ‘Nicole was actually Stanley’s little sister! ‘Is this for real? Why haven’t they heard of it?’ ‘If she is really a member of the Riddle family...’

...then Stanley, Samuel, and Spencer are all her elder brothers.’

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 300

Chapter 300

‘Then why didn’t she see so?’ The few that were trying to draw a line between Nicole and Stanley, too, had their mouths shut as their expression froze in shock. They had heard Stanley proclaim that Nicole was his little sister. One of the girls who had been keeping quiet looked mockingly at the few before her as a half smile appeared on her face..

'Say... do you guys even have brains? Isn't Nicole's family name Riddle too?'

Many in the group were Stanley's fans and found it difficult to accept the truth. Yet, they could only look at her in a daze and could not find the words to refute her.

'If Nicole really is Stanley's little sister, then the things they've said on the forums about her...' 'It was more than enough for Stanley to hate them to the core of his being!' Inside the broadcasting room, Stanley did not stop. His voice was slow and steady, yet what he said was inexplicably chill-inducing.

"Nicole may not mind it, but that doesn't we, as her elder brothers don't. To anyone who had insulted or verbally attacked my little sister, I'll give you 24 hours to delete all those posts and personally apologize to Nicole. Otherwise, I'll be filing a lawsuit against each and every one of you for libel, so do what you must." As he said that, he gently raised his eyebrow, and Samuel, no longer able to hold back, rushed forward as he added a few words, "Stanley may be merciful to you lot, but I'm not. If anyone of you does not follow what he asked you to do, believe me when I say that I'll personally drag you over to apologize to my little sister!"

Before he could finish, Stanley turned off the broadcasting equipment.

Samuel does not have a good grasp of what not to say when he speaks. It would be bad if ill intentions were to use his words against him. Samuel was scratching his head somewhat frustratedly as he said, "Stanley, what are you doing? I'm not done talking yet!" Stanley did not say anything else as he just got up and walked out. Spencer then dragged Samuel to follow on before Harvey finally followed them out. The four walked past the students by the broadcasting room, ignoring their shocked expressions as they went. It was Samuel who tilted his head a little as he looked at Stanley's fans as a cold yet playful light gleamed in his eyes.

The fans shuddered as he looked at them, and they thought he had heard what they were saying outside. They were so scared that they almost cried. After the four of them left, the president of the broadcasting club looked away with a complicated look as he waved his hand. "Let's go. Revise the draft, quickly... and those who need to apologize, do so." None of them were in the mood after this fracas. They only wanted to apologize to Nicole for fear of getting into trouble with the Riddle brothers.

As they thought of this, almost all of them were witless as fear filled their hearts. The school's broadcast system was shared by both the high school and the university department. So, both Snow and Raine heard the broadcast, and their pretty faces gradually froze. When Snow heard the sons of Uncle Daniel protecting Nicole like that, a look of deep jealousy appeared in her eyes.

She had never thought that Nicole, who had only returned not too long ago, would get the brothers to look after her so wholeheartedly.

Even Stanley, that bookworm who had good grades and character, also knew how to defend her.

Raine was so pissed off. She, who had little control over her tongue, could not help but curse out loud, "Weren't Uncle Daniel's punks doting Norah all this while? Why are they speaking up for that bitch now?"

Snow immediately covered her mouth. This was at school, not at home. If Raine's words were heard by someone else, this would be really bad for their image.