

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 651

Chapter 650

The men under Jared's command had struck him in a way he could not see and disarmed him without a sound, and then used his own gun against him.

When Sliver recalled what happened earlier, his eyes shrank as he wanted to rip Jared apart.

"I will kill you. Mark my words."

He had brought so many men over, and yet he could do nothing to Jared at all.

Aside from the last time when he was just that close to killing this powerful man, to make him pay for the power he wielded, Janus could see what he was thinking and gave Sliver a kick in the back as he hissed coldly. "How many years have you been scheming and plotting against the JJ Johnston Group? Have you ever succeeded?"

Sliver looked at Janus as a look of mockery flashed across his cold eyes. "Stop joking. Without S, you'd all be dead."

Rhein also thought the same as he looked at Jared with a look of jealousy and resentment.

a little as he was impatient with the crowd. He twirled his hair as he said, "You sure don't know when to stop. I've already deployed satellite surveillance that day, and we have men in every spot you think you've occupied. Also, we've long emptied the chambers of your snipers. Even if they could fire, our airborne defensive web would intercept the shots regardless. Also, our choppers to deal with the snipers were standing by a kilometer away, and not only that, but the surrounding villas were also occupied by our people, and we rigged them with explosives. If activated, we could've blown you lot to kingdom come..."

"With all that, do you think you can do anything to our boss?"

Both Rhein and Sliver's expressions changed. They looked at the man who had casually walked to the monster and confronted it silently with a look of fear that could not be hidden.

Even Simon was stunned. He did not know such a thing had happened, but hearing Janus' description alone was enough to give him goosebumps all over.

"This man, he is so strong it's terrifying."

Both Sliver and Rhein had more contact with him, and they knew what Jared was like that day.' Jared had made such preparations, yet he still stayed his hand, waiting for us to gleefully divulge their motive and to provoke us by ignoring our threats. It was all to see what sort of "surprises" we had arranged for him and if any would exceed his expectation...'

Thinking of this, they were stunned.

'What deep planning and deployment are this?' They have prepared a net they thought was flawless to capture him. Yet Jared was like a vast ocean that and it was futile no matter how they tried to capture him, and he could not even be bothered to set off a wave to sink that tiny little boat they were proud of.

"Oh right, I forgot to tell you."

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 652

Chapter 651 Janus looked at their faces and added. "What's scariest about Boss is his martial ability." Rhein and Sliver watched on as Jared gently moved his wrist. His long fingers seemingly possessed powers unimaginable as he twirled a dagger in them. The dagger looked extremely thin and was just a tad bit longer than a normal one. He raised his hand a little and the dazzling dark purple crystal inlaid on the hilt radiated a cold yet alluring glint.

He then sank it straight into the monster's body.

Rhein had just wanted to laugh that this was pointless and could not affect the monster at all. Yet, reality soon turned to slap him in the face as he saw a deep gnash at the back of the knee where Jared had stabbed it, and it was unsteady like a person with a wounded leg!

'How could that be?!'

Sliver also had a look of shock in his eyes. He had seen that his men's weaponry could do nothing to the monster at all, and yet, Jared managed to wound the monster with just a dagger.

The monster seemingly sensed something as it let out an angry roar. Immediately after, it stretched its hand out to grab Jared. The latter pulled the dagger out and did not dodge the oncoming attack. Many thought that Jared could not react in time and would soon be squashed by the raging monster. Yet, Janus only stood there with an impassive face and did not move. Simon spat. "This is your idea of loyalty? To watch your boss die?"

Janus straight up ignored him as he only gave him a faint glance before turning to look at Jared.

“He’s gonna die anyway. What’s with the act?” Simon let out an audible tch. Many of Sliver’s men thought that Jared was dead meat as they mockingly waited for the moment Jared was squashed. If that was the case, they could use the moment when their enemy is leaderless to seize their weapons back. Yet, Sliver could only frown as he looked at what was unfolding, seemingly still caught up in Janus’ words. He watched Jared’s almost unfathomable speed as he slowly said.

“With what you’ve said, he is so strong, but why did he allow himself to be targeted by us?” Before their supposedly good ending would come, they saw the proud man had rushed forward and just deftly dodged the oncoming giant hand that was almost impossible to dodge with a back step. He then sank the blade onto the top of the hand and used its momentum to propel himself onto the machine as he darted towards its neck along the line of the monster’s arm.

His speed was simply just too fast that the monster was stunned for a good three seconds. It was only then did it react in fury as it tried to frantically shake its head, trying to draw the bug on its back off.

Unfortunately for it, the man was not thrown off, and instead, one of its fingers was shorn off by the dagger Jared had plunged into its hand. The monster let out a roar, and the damaged leg could no longer support its movements as its mechanical body collapsed half-kneeling onto the ground. It then tried to use its mutilated fingers to try to grab Jared, who was still on its

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 653

Chapter 653

“What is the meaning of this?”

Jared looked at Sliver and seemingly recalled something as he smiled, but just as quickly, he retracted the smile and coldly walked past the latter.

“My wifey told me not to get involved with you.”

He was quite the obedient one.

Sliver did not expect such an answer. He had subconsciously thought that Jared was just being perfunctory. He wanted to get up to chase after the latter, but two clamp-like hands grabbed him tightly, causing him to not be able to take a step further.

A menacing look appeared in Sliver’s eyes as he looked at Janus. The anger in his eyes was palpable.

Janus was, however, unfazed. He gave him a polite smile, yet his hands did not stop moving as he dragged Sliver out of the way.

He then patted his hands together as if he had touched something dirty. Then, as if he recalled something, he looked at Sliver and said slowly.

“You want to work with Mr. Jared now? That now depends on whether we want to or not.”

Janus gave Sliver a thoughtful look. After saying that, he then signaled his men to follow Jared out. On his way out, he dragged the terrified Simon, who was kicking and screaming, out, leaving only Sliver and Rhein sitting in the garden. Rhein looked at Sliver, who had always looked down on him, just sitting there on the grass, his head down, and did not speak for a good while.

No one could see his expression clearly.

When Jared got back, Nicole was explaining the blueprint to the members of the Turmann family, with many admiring boys and girls surrounding her. Jared looked at the scene and raised his eyebrows slightly.

Nicole immediately sensed it and looked towards the door. Their eyes met one another, and when Nicole saw him standing there looking cool, a smile appeared in her eyes. She gently motioned to pause the lecture before walking toward Jared.

Many of the branch family members looked enviously at the two; the boys were envious of Jared and the girl, Nicole.

From a certain level, the two of them were really a match for each other.

Nicole looked at Jared, her eyes gentle as she asked.

“How did it go?”

She knew that he must have gone to resolve the issue with the Thorne family and the Federals. She knew very well that after Simon stole her blueprint if they were to rush production day or night, this was about the time they would be able to produce a batch of detective Mobile AMOT.

Jared looked at Nicole, his eyes filled with tenderness. “Everything went as planned.” Nicole nodded. The two of them had already gone through all countermeasures, and everything had gone as they had imagined.

Janus looked at Nicole in surprise. His eyes were filled with curiosity, and he was a person who could not hold his tongue, so he immediately asked, “You’re the person who designed that monstrosity?”

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 654

Chapter 654

When Jared heard Janus' question, he immediately frowned and turned around to give the latter an icy gaze, so much so that Janus felt a chill down his spine. The latter then whispered." What's wrong?"

It was because he would always trigger his boss for no reason, and the latter would always look at him like this.

Seeing that gaze, he immediately understood he was about to go back to a god-forsaken mining zone to be a hardworking staffer again. He desperately wanted to remedy that. 'If I cannot stay by Boss' side, then staying by the lady boss' side is fine too!' Even with that caution, he still had questions in his heart. When Nicole heard the question, she frowned a little and then turned to Jared.

"What's that about?"

Jared looked at her cold eyes and helplessly stroked her cheek as Janus said, "Something probably had gone wrong during production. It was extremely violent and had literally torn the Thorne family apart. If it weren't for Boss, that monster probably would've leveled the whole of Laurendale."

Immediately after, he ignored Jared's icy gaze as he told her everything he saw. When he got to the rather gory part, he self-censored in consideration of Nicole being a lady. When Nicole heard what he said, she was slightly surprised. She had only left a series of false information on the most critical sections in the blueprint, and that would, at most, cause the Mobile Armor to fail to start. There was no possibility of someone creating a berserk monster out of it.

'Something must've gone wrong somewhere.' At this moment, Simon was brought in by Jared's men. The latter was seriously traumatized, and when he saw Elijah standing in the middle of the crowd, he scampered over to his side. "Brother, save me!" Elijah looked at Simon at his feet. He had already heard the conversation between Nicole and Jared, and so he asked Simon with a sullen look "Do you know what happened with the monster that appeared in the Thorne family's place?" When Simon was asked that, the scene of him nearly being squashed into paste appeared in his mind. His face turned pale as he said, "Brother, I was wrong. I shouldn't have handed our Mobile Armor blueprint to Rhein. It's all my fault..."

A look of panic appeared in his eyes.

Hearing Simon confessing his own guilt. Eber erupted in a fury. Just as he wanted to yell something, he heard Simon spilling everything out. "The reason I teamed up with Rhein is that I'm the ugliest in the family and the most with the least authority. I was just too angry... I wanted the master of the family to prove myself, and Rhein said he could help me. He told me that the Tunnann family has lost the government's trust, and then he would connert me to the Intercontinental Party and then allow me to take over the role of the patriarch from the one that is distrusted..."

Simon was scared out of his wits and told them everything.

When Nicole heard it, she knew it went the way she had guessed. The moment Simon spoke about that terrifying monster, his entire person shuddered. Nicole was sure he was not lying, so she asked.

"Do you know who created that monster?"

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 655

Chapter 655

When Simon heard it, a look of confusion appeared in his eyes. He lowered his head, seemingly trying to think, but in the end, he shook his head. "I'm not sure."

He looked at Nicole. Her expression was calm and seemed trustworthy. Seemingly looking like she was encouraging him to continue speaking, he finally plucked up the courage to continue,

"Rhein told me not to supervise the work. He went behind me to make a deal with the Federals. I suspect that the reason he kept me out of the process was to do something behind my back."

Nicole looked at Simon's expression and figured that he was not lying. The latter was still in a state of surviving death, so his mental state was in tatters, and he should have no will to die.

He had already lost all confidence in Rhein and the others, so the moment he saw Elijah, he spilled the beans on everything.

Nicole turned to look at Jared. The two had an idea of what had happened at the same time.

She gently tapped her index finger on the table, seemingly in thought. Elijah, standing by the side, knew that she had already gotten what she wanted out of him, so he turned to Simon before him and sighed.

"Simon, it's too late for you to realize your faults now."

“You almost dragged the entire family into this quagmire for your own greed. Have you not considered that if Nicole had not come, and the other party got the traitor label to stick on us, how long can you be patriarch even if you manage to be one?”

Elijah’s dark green eyes opened with a pained look within. “The Turmann family can and will never forgive traitors. So, leave.”

For him to need to deal with two siblings in one day, a pained look appeared in Elijah’s eyes. However, he was the patriarch of a huge family, and if he could not be fair with his judgments, then what should he do if someone were to betray the family for their own gain in the future?! Nicole knew this very well as she looked coldly at Simon with nary any sympathy

‘One reaps what one sows.’

Moreover, Simon was not a good person even before his confession.

Simon could not accept this outcome. When he heard Elijah’s merciless words, a look of disbelief appeared on his face. Even Eber, who had always been nice to him, did not say anything this time.

“Yeah, fiber is a stickler to rules. He doesn’t dare do anything that goes against the family (teed, but I just made a mistake Why must they hold onto this trivial matter and not give me a way out?!”

Thinking of this, Simon gave everyone a resentful look, especially Nicole. She was the one who had Pryoulaged him to tell everything, yet when he spilled the beans, she refused to help him

He could now see that the person Flijah valued the most was not his owui son but this Nicole who had popped out of nowhere. If she could speak up for him, even just asking for mercy, perhaps he might have a chance to stay in the family and continue to enjoy its wealth and power...

Simon looked at Nicole as he slowly spoke. His tone was, however, almost directive.

“Nicole, I’ve told you so much. Why you can’t help me say a word or two to calm Elijah down and allow me to stay?”

Nicole had never heard such a plea before as she looked on impassively at Simon before saying, “I’ve not even settled the score of you sneaking into my room to steal the blueprint. I’ve only gotten you to admit what you did wrong so we can come up with a plan on how to salvage this mess. You think this is some sort of contribution?”

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 656

Chapter 656

'This entire mess is because of Simon's greed, and now he is the one feeling wronged?'

Simon looked at her. Her words were piercing, and he could not refute what she said. 'I've divulged so much because of her question; she could at least show me some gratitude!' 'Why must they back me into a corner?'

Simon got up; his eyes reddened as he wanted to say something to Nicole. At that time, he wanted to stretch across the table to grab Nicole's clothes, yet the moment he was about to touch her, he suddenly sensed a sharp chill that was so terrifying it was as if he had taken another step forward. He would be losing his hand.

Simon looked up and saw Jared by Nicole's side. He was leaning lazily against the chair, playing with a dagger in his hand. It was that same dagger that decapitated the monster earlier!

Cold sweat started to form all over his head. The man beside Nicole had always given him a harmless feeling that he, for a moment, forgot how brutal his blows were and how inhumanly strong he was.

Simon immediately froze as he looked at Jared and started shivering uncontrollably, not even daring to withdraw his hand.

Janus looked at Simon and sensed the chilly vibe coming from Jared. He immediately stood beside Nicole to support her.

He then coldly said, "What were you thinking of doing there?"

Simon's face turned pale. He gave Janus' neurotic smile a nervous glance before fleeing outside.

'That attitude of his is quite intriguing.' Nicole gave Jared a thoughtful look, and he shot a smile back at her. It was only then did she look away and get up as she went upstairs.

Jared, however, gently hooked in fingers, motioning for Janus to act before getting up and following behind Nicole. Elijah looked at the two and was a little startled. His subordinates were holding down the blueprint Nicole had sent over, and Jared did not make any demands from him. 'Perhaps Nicole had already told him.' Eber came to his side and whispered. "Brother, do you think the two of them can deal with this matter?"

Elijah put the blueprint in his hand down as he looked assuredly at the direction the two had left and said, "I don't know about the others, but Nicole, she's a woman of her words."

Eber nodded. He believed Elijah, and after witnessing the strength Nicole had displayed this morning, he had to admit that he had gradually developed a trust in Nicole as well.

It was the type of trust where disaster would surely pass if she was there.

Elijah, seemingly recalling something, turned to Eber and frowned. "Things are still not yet settled. Go and drag Simon back. Otherwise, we'll be on the back foot again if we were to have another confrontation."

Eber nodded and made a phone call to gather his men. He then gave his watch a glance before leaving with his men in tow with a serious look on his face. Elijah looked at the blueprint before him and let out a soft sigh before turning to the servant behind him and saying, "Go and look for Carl." 'Ever since that boy found out about Nicole and Jared's relationship, he seemed very reluctant to show up at home. God knows where he has gone to.'

Yet, Carl's voice rang out behind him, sounding somewhat flaccid. "Dad, you're looking for me?"

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 657

Chapter 657

Elijah squinted as he looked at his son before disappointedly slapping the blueprint into the latter's face as he said, "Go to the foundry and get the first batch out ASAP! If there're any flaws in them, just you wait!"

Carl gave him a slothful response before turning around and walking outside. Yet, his eyes earnestly scanned through every corner of the blueprint.

The blueprints Nicole personally drew had always been terrifyingly accurate. This batch also probably required her to design the data chip herself.

Elijah slowly raised his head and looked at the gradually darkening sky. He then recalled the words Elijah told him after Nicole had rejected him.

"The Turmann family owes Nicole far too much. Even if she had rejected you, you must still be by her side. Even if she does not require your protection, you must still ensure that she is safe and sound."

When Carl thought of this, his hand holding the blueprint grasped tightly. 'Yeah, without Nicole, there would be no Turmann family.' 'What am I doing feeling dissatisfied for?' Jared and Nicole returned to their room. For the past two days, they had no chance to use the room together. The two were always separated during time off work and rest, so even if they were to use the same bed, there was no opportunity for them to share it.

It just so happened today that the both of them had no business to attend to, so Nicole lazily leaned by the window as she raised her eyebrows and looked at Jared, who was seated facing her and asked.

“Out with it. What happened today?”

When Jared saw her like this, a smile appeared in his eyes. He was sitting very naturally opposite her, but due to both of them having long legs, Nicole actually felt a little cramped as they sat before the huge French window. Seeing the man facing her showing a frown of dissatisfaction, the latter then went to her side and casually pulled her into his arms. He gently rubbed his chin over her head before finally replying with some satisfaction. “When I got there just at the nick of time, Rhein and Simon were already locked inside the villa. It’s Sliver’s usual MO. I’m sure there’s a gulf between the three of them now. Nicole nodded. She adjusted her position to allow her to lean into his arms more comfortably before motioning him to continue.

When he spoke again, an incomprehensible cheer appeared in the man’s voice.

“I’ve ordered Janus to personally contact the Intercontinental Party. Sliver’s performance has been poor of late, and he’s not even smart about it as a blade. With hin failing against me so many times, I suppose the top brass must be very dissatisfied with him.”

11 Janus was here, he would definitely be excited to tell Nicole about Sliver’s flubbing After all, when the Federals previously destroyed soine of Boss’ resources back then, he smacked them so hard that they spat everything out in restitution, and he even made a fortune out of it.

‘What kind of brain does this man even have?’ Upon hearing Jared’s words, Nicole could imagine Sliver’s grim, livid face. When she was in the organization, he was the same as well. Everything he did was for his personal benefit, and if something went wrong, he would thoroughly snap. “Sliver even wanted to represent the Federals to negotiate with me.” Jared chuckled, his voice extremely clear. Yet when it rang by her ear side, it sounded extremely alluring. “He actually thinks he’s fit for that?”

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 658

Chapter 658

When Nicole heard that, her eyes dimmed somewhat. She then turned towards Jared, with the look of “good job” in her eyes, Jared knew what she was thinking as he looked at her. Looking at her delicate face, a surge of emotions welled in his eyes.

Nicole was just too cute in his eyes.

Many times, he had to fully suppress his desire to kiss her with all his might. Like now...

Seeing that he suddenly stopped talking, a curious look appeared in Nicole's eyes. She turned towards Jared. The man suddenly covered her eyes. He eagerly bit onto her lips and rubbed against them gently for a while. He wanted to do it gently as he pecked her lips again and again, then came the powerful deep kiss, not giving her any chance to react.

Nicole was forced to take the kiss. The man's noble and cold scent rushed to the tip of her nose. Even though it was a clean smell, it felt extremely invasive after a while. It was like a beast finally having its facade cracked, yet she did not refuse him at all.

She simply just closed her eyes. The forest after the rain became misty, and the fog slowly rose, yet there was also a much truer side to it. It was no longer only fresh and natural; it was also scarred and fraught with danger. Nicole was slowly opening herself up to him, and so was he.

The two kissed for a long while, and by the time Jared let go of her, it was already dark. Only a few faint afterglows of twilight shone into the room, and as he looked at her, his eyes radiated both love and restraint.

Love meant possession, and love meant fighting with himself and restraining himself to protect her.

Looking at Nicole with a gentle gaze, he slowly said, "You're a kind person, Nicole, but I'm not."

He placed her hand on his face. The rare coldness on it contrasted with the warmth of the palm.

"If I'm not as immaculate and perfect as your love, or if I'm much more sinister, dirtier than you had imagined, will you still choose me as you do right now?"

Jared looked deeply at Nicole, his eyes gleaming. His entire person felt like an ephemeral yet beautiful dream floating in mid-air. He was unable to fall, yet he could not bear the anxiety of hiding his true self either. He gave Nicole a look of a person who had gone all in as his hair dropped down. They were words that were gloomy and sad, yet he said them so smoothly and calmly.

Nicole looked at him and smiled.

"How many times do you want me to confirm that, hm?" She took the lead and placed both her hands on Jared's cheek, pulling herself up to kiss his face, kiss his beautiful eyes, kiss his tall nose, and then finally, kiss his pale lips. Jared, in her eyes, was like the most beautiful landscape painting, with just the right shade, with nary a stroke, not a beauty engraved upon her heart. Jared stood still. Ever since the moment, Nicole said that he was like a statue, his expression totally retracted as he just looked at her.

“There is no truly good person in this world.”

She said cryptically. Yet, in Jared’s ears, her words were like the sweetest mead. “I can heal and also kill. I can be extremely stubborn for the things I stand for.”

“I don’t know when I made you feel so insecure.”

Nicole had finally completed her masterpiece. As she looked at Jared, she slowly let out a clear smile.

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 659

Chapter 659

“I know who I fell in love with. So no matter what happens, I will love you,” Nicole said with a deep gaze.

“No one can tell me if I can or cannot choose you. Only I know if I made the right choice, and there’s no turning back when I do.”

At this time, Jared’s heart was beating faster and faster. He could not hold it in any longer. He pressed against Nicole with his lower body and began kissing her passionately.

Nicole was flustered. Nobody had ever wanted her like this before.

But Jared forced himself to stop.

“Jared...”

“Get some rest. I’ve got to go.”

“Oh...”

Nicole did not understand why Jared had to leave. She thought he was mad. But all she could do was bite her lips.

She still did not know how to butter a man up.

She felt disappointed when she saw Jared leave, but she quickly shook her head.

'Why are you disappointed, Nicole? Did you actually want him to continue?' she thought to herself. The next day, the Turmann family held a family meeting to announce Simon's execution, while the Thorne family suffered huge losses because of the monster. Moreover, the Throne family had a fallout with the Intercontinental Party. So, they lost the ability to fight back.

The Turmann family waited for their opportunity to fight back and gained the upper hand in a day with Jared's help. "Thank you, Mr. Johnston," Elijah said when he waited upon Jared. 'Nicole really is the lucky star of the Turmann family. She had brought Jared to cooperate with us against the Intercontinental Party and the Thorne family at such a critical time. We would not have done it without him,' he thought. "Well, my wife's the boss," Jared replied as he smiled at Nicole. This statement made a few people uncomfortable, especially Carl, who was standing behind Elijah. Then, Elijah returned to his senses and said, "Thank you, Nicole. We couldn't have done it without both of you."

"Oh, it's nothing. After all, Carl and I are friends," Nicole said and smiled at Carl.

Carl was down in the dumps these few days, but his sadness disappeared when he saw Nicole's smile.

Yes, It doesn't matter what type of relationship we have as long as she's by my side, right?' he thought

My Wife is a Hacker Chapter 660

Chapter 660 Things were coming to an end.

Nicole had not talked to her family much these few days, but her elder brother still sent a message in the mornings.

'Mom and dad must be worried,' she thought.

She then turned to Carl and Elijah and said, "I'll leave the follow-up to you. There are still matters I need to attend to at school."

Eber and the others looked at each other in dismay when they heard Nicole's words.

'Why does a genius like her need to go to school?' they thought.

"Okay, I'll send someone to drive you," Elijah said.

"There's no need for that. I've prepared a private jet. We'll go back in an hour," Jared replied with a smile.

He looked at Carl when he said those last few words as if to provoke anger.

Carl ignored him and turned to Nicole, "I'll be back in a few days after everything here is settled."

The family matter has not been fully resolved, so Carl could not leave yet. Though, he would go with her in a heartbeat if everything was under different circumstances.

"You better stay here, Carl. You will be a target if you go back after this," Nicole said solemnly while everyone fell silent.

Carl was the head of the house's son, but he rarely appeared in public in the past. This time, it would be different

Although the Thorne family had been suppressed for now, Carl would be their target once they regain their strength.

"It would be best if you followed the arrangement."

Nicole had once exposed Carl's whereabouts when she answered his call rashly, but she will not make that mistake again.

Carl felt helpless. He could only lower his head and say, "Okay..."

After Nicole felt reassured, she nodded and said, "I've got to go now. Don't worry. We'll see each other soon."

"Okay..." Carl knew that they would meet again, but he was heartbroken to see Jared and her leaving together.

Everyone began to say their goodbyes to Nicole and left after she and Jared got into the car.

Elijah did not know what to say when he saw the disappointment plastered across Carl's face. So, he thought it would be best for Carl to figure it out on his own.

Chapter 660

Nicole and Jared were back in the country in less than half a day with the private jet.

As she got off the plane, she yawned. "Still sleepy?" Jared asked with a smile on his face.

'She was asleep the entire trip, but she's still sleepy?' he thought.

"Well, I didn't get much sleep last night. I was up making improvements in the blueprints for the Turmann family," she replied.

Jared felt for her after he heard that. He reached out his hand to pat her head and said, "It breaks my heart to see you so exhausted."

Nicole felt a warm sensation in her heart. When did this unaffectionate guy become such a romantic?'

She then looked back at him and said, "Aren't you mad anymore?"

"When was I mad?" Jared frowned as he did not know what she was talking about.

Nicole thought of what happened yesterday and felt a little embarrassed.

"Umm... When you left the room yesterday..."

Jared immediately understood what she meant. He then smiled playfully and whispered something into her ears. Nicole blushed. She did not know where to look.

"Stop talking nonsense," she said. 'When did he become like this?'

"I'm not. What can I do when my wife is this attractive?" He teased.

Nicole rolled her eyes and said, "Stop it. We're home. Don't scare my parents."