

My Wife is a Hacker by Summer

Chapter 816

□ □ □

Chapter 816

Nicole suddenly thought of the project Sean had just mentioned.

"Isn't the McCarthy Corporation also bidding? Maybe I can find something useful for Sean here."

Her fair fingers swiftly typed on the keyboard.

"Not this. Not this, either."

"The records of the McCarthy Corporation are a mess; they are all over the place."

All Nicole searched frustratedly.

She told herself to be patient and searched again, then an encrypted file popped up in front of her eyes.

"This file is encrypted. It must be a very important document."

Nicole pondered for half a second and decided to crack the encryption.

Sure enough, it was a half-completed draft tender document.

"Could this be the project Sean was talking about?" She picked up her phone and called Sean. It rang for a while before he picked up.

"Hello, Nicole?" Sean's voice came from the earpiece.

"The project you just talked about, which company is it, and what is its name?"

Nicole wanted to check if it was a company.

"Aegis Corporation. Why ask? You have got news from Mr. Wyance?" Sean asked excitedly.

"Don't get excited yet. There's no news. I'll tell you as soon as there is. I will hang up now."

Without waiting for Sean to respond, Nicole hung up at once.

"Hello, hello?"

Sean called out a few times into the phone, and no one answered.

Nicole put down the phone and looked at the name of the project and the company to which the project belonged on the tender document.

"That seems to be it."

She immediately copied the file and stared at the progress bar on the screen.

0%...

5%...

10%...

"Come on."

90%...

100%.

"Yes. It's done."

Nicole got the information in her hand and happily texted Sean, then shut down the computer and went downstairs.

"Nicole, it's ready. I have just made some sushi."

Gloria called out to Nicole when she was coming downstairs.

Nicole picked up a piece of sushi, put it in her mouth, and chewed it carefully.

"Wow, it's better than what is sold outside. Thank you, Mom."

"Don't mention it. I'm glad that you like it."

Nicole picked up another piece and handed it to Gloria's mouth.

"You eat a piece too, Mom."

As Nicole was feeding her for the first time, Gloria was so excited that her eyes welled up.

"Mom, are you okay?"

Nicole looked at the tearful Gloria and did not know what to do.

"I'm okay. I'm just too happy."

Gloria ate the sushi that Nicole had fed her.

"You're so blessed to have Nicole feeding you sushi."

Daniel, who was watching TV on the couch, was envious of Gloria.

"Of course, I'm blessed."

Gloria smiled.

"Dad, you don't have to be envious. I'll feed you a piece."

Nicole walked over to Daniel with a piece of sushi.

"I'm blessed, too."

The two of them ate the sushi that Nicole fed them, feeling so satisfied as if they had the whole world.

While the three of them were enjoying the sushi happily in the living room, Sean suddenly hurried back in.

Daniel was stunned at seeing him.

"Why did you come back?"

Sean looked at Nicole.

"I asked him to come back."

She then took out a flash drive from her pocket.

"This is the tender document that McCarthy Corporation has drafted. Unfortunately, it has not been finished. But you can still take it back and study it first." Nicole handed the flash drive to Sean. Sean was stunned, not expecting Nicole to get this important information so quickly.

"Where did you get this from? Is it credible?"

Sean attached great importance to this project and would not tolerate any mistakes, so he was cautious about all the information he got, lest it was a trap set up by the rival companies.

"It's credible. But I guess this is only the first edition, and they may revise it later. So this information can only be used as a reference."

Nicole did not explain much, and there was determination in her eyes.

□ □ □