

My Wife is a Hacker by Summer

Chapter 823

□ □ □

Chapter 823

“What do you know? Boss sweats a lot by nature.”

“Gary, is this what you have got? If you are not going faster, I will.” With that, Nicole shot out like an arrow and left Gary in the dust in just a few seconds.

Gary was stupefied, wondering if this was still the same Nicole he knew.

“Did you see? I told you Nicole was holding back.”

“Go, Nicole.” Gradually , someone in the group shouted Nicole’s name.

Soon Nicole finished two laps. She looked on and gave Gary a gesture of encouragement as Gary still had half a lap to go. Finally, Gary also crossed the finishing line, followed by the other classmates. They had all com pleted serving the punishment. Nicole waited for Gary to catch his breath before speaking. “It is time to deliver on your promise, Gary.”

“Sure. Jack, you and Wayne give everyone a leg massage.”

“Did I hear you correctly, Boss? You want us to give many people a leg massage?” Jack and Wayne looked at Gary, dumbfounded.

“Yes, is there any problem?” Gary stared at the two of them with a serious face. “No problem. But can I find someone to help us both?”

“Whatever.”

Jack heard that and felt relieved. He immediately called a professional masseur. Later, the entire sports field turned into a massage parlor.

Gary came up to Nicole. “I lost, and as promised, I will give you a leg massage.”

“That won’t be necessary. You go and help others.” Nicole did not need him to massage her legs. She was afraid of giving the wrong impression to others.

“Are you questioning my skill?” Gary was going to get started. 1

“What are you and Gary doing, Nicole?” Raine asked when she saw Gary’s hand about to touch Nicole’s leg. Nicole pulled back her leg as soon as she saw Raine. “Nothing.”

“I saw it all. You are already engaged, so why are you still fooling around with another man? If Jared knows about this, you will h ave a lot of explaining to do.” Raine sounded as if she was concerned about Nicole, but she was actually mendacious.

“We’re training. What are you doing here?” Nicole knew

Raine was making things, so she would not entertain her.

“Training?” Raine looked doubtful at others who were enjoying their massage.

“Yeah. If nothing else, please leave. We’re going to keep training.”

“Time’s up. Everyone, get to your feet.” Nicole turned her back on Raine and stood up to look at her classmates.

“What an ingrate. You just wait to be scolded.” Raine turned away angrily.

Nicole did not even look back at Raine but continued training with her classmates.

In the dormitory, Nicole had finished cleaning herself up and was now resting on the bed. Lulu and June were dragging themselves

After a while, Lulu said, “I’ve never felt so good lying in bed.”

“Yeah, it isn’t even this tiring during military training.” “You two are weak, already exhausted on the first day. How are you two going to continue?” Nicole looked at the two half-dead humans.

“Nicole, are you an Iron Man? Aren’t you tired?” Lulu said.

“Yeah, I’m so tired I don’t want to talk. How can you still be so energetic?” June now felt like breathing was a waste of energy.

“It seems that you two should usually strengthen your exercise. Starting tomorrow, I’ll take you two along when I get up and work out.”

Nicole decided to take them along. Being mentored by Nicole was something that many people, including Gary, envied.

□ □ □