

My Wife is a Hacker by Summer

Chapter 859

□ □ □

Chapter 859

"What is there to say? We bid on our own merits."

Nicole instantly poured cold water on Sean's suggestion. Immediately, a leader from Aegis Corporation came on stage to say some words of thanks, and then a staff member read out the bid evaluation principles and things to note before he proclaimed the start of the bidding process.

"The bidding has now officially started." The person in charge of the project walked up to the stage and started introducing the project.

"The above is the content of this project."

Next, a staff member confirmed that all the bidders were present and then went through some more procedures.

"It is the bid opening time." Harvey looked at Nicole and reassured her.

"Don't be nervous. We'll get it."

"I'm not nervous. It's just too boring to sit here." Nicole gave an unexpected reply.

After the bid opening and quoting, the project manager made the last announcement.

"The winning bid for the Aegis Corporation project goes to Riddle Corporation." Sean and Harvey breathed a sigh of relief .

At this time, the McCarthy family members stood up to oppose the outcome of the bid. Mr. Harmon gave Luke a sharp look, and Luke immediately flinched.

The project manager stepped forward and looked at Luke with impartiality.

"Aegis Corporation's bids have always been fair and impartial. Are you questioning Aegis Corporation???"

Luke and the others were too scared to speak again.

After the bidding was concluded, Nicole, Harvey, and Sean were heading out the door when Luke suddenly came over and said with a smile, "Sean, Riddle Corporation was expected to win this time.

After all, your company is already strong enough.

Not to mention you now have the Ellison family backing you up.

Congratulations." Sean exchanged a look with Nicole and Harvey, wondering what this cunning man was trying to pull here.

"Thank you, Mr. McCarthy." Sean did not want to say more.

He walked past Luke and left.

Seeing the three of them leave, Luke was exasperated. "If it weren't for Mr. Harmon, do you think you could win the bid?"

In the car, Nicole made a phone call to Daniel.

"The bidding session is over.

We won the bid." "Really?" Daniel was holding the phone in excitement.

"When you guys return, we will celebrate.

By the way, invite Harvey to join us." "Okay." Nicole was happy to win the bid today, so she did not mind having Harvey come along.

Today, Nicole went shopping and ran into Norah, who was happily chatting with her friends.

When Norah looked up, she saw Nicole, whose face reminded her of what happened on the sports day, and things still clouded her sanity.

"Nicole, I didn't expect to run into you, yokel." Norah had taken to using that phrase to belittle her.

Nicole did not bother to respond but wanted to walk past her on the other side, but Norah stood in her way.

"You feel so proud of yourself now, don't you? Not only did you steal all the limelight from me, but you also caused me to be scolded by my teacher. Why did you do that to me?"

Norah spilled her guts in the street.

“Don’t blame others here for your ineptitude. You might as well go improve yourself if you have the time,” Nicole retorted.

"Do you think you are qualified to lecture me just because you’re a famous person at school? I think you deserve a good beating.” Norah was furious and reached out to slap Nicole.

But Nicole parried her attack and knocked her to the ground instead.

Lying on the ground, Norah felt so humiliated.

Nicole walked past her and left.

At first, she thought of coming out for a break, but bumping into Norah had ruined her day.

After Nicole left, Norah sat on the floor and called Gloria.

Instead of going home, Nicole went to the café.

Seeing Nicole come in, Claus greeted her, sat her down, and made her a cup of coffee. He also noticed that

Nicole was not in a good mood. So he took out his phone and sent a message to Jared...It did not take long before Jared appeared in the café’s doorway.

□ □ □