

My Wife is a Hacker by Summer

Chapter 898

□ □ □

Chapter 898

The hoodie man ordered a meal, quickly finished eating, then got up and walked out. Carl immediately followed. He knew hackers were vigilant, so he did not dare to follow too close but tailed him from a distance.

Every time coming to a fork in the road, the hoodie man would look back to see if there was anyone following him. After making sure that no one was following him, he would continue to walk forward. Carl had followed the hoodie man for several intersections, but the hoodie man had not gone into any buildings.

It seemed that this man was extraordinarily alert. He led Carl to roam around several intersections, then made sure it was safe before entering a small, inconspicuous door.

Carl watched the door close from a distance, and instead of getting close to check, he went into a nearby shop. He knew that the hoodie man must be watching from behind the door.

For days on end, Carl watched the hoodie man's movements nearby that door. According to the coordinates, this hoodie man should be the person whom Nicole asked him to find, but he still needed confirmation from Nicole before he took action. After sending several messages to Nicole without receiving a reply, Carl had no choice but to stay near the door to observe the hoodie man.

Nicole and Jared stayed on an island for several days. After the honeymoon, Jared flew her back to the office. "Go ahead and get busy. No need to see me off. I'm going back to the villa." Nicole kissed him on the cheek before leaving.

As she walked downstairs to the lobby, she bumped into Chloe, who was walking in.

"Nicole? You're here to see Mr. Johnston?" Chloe acted like a big sister.

"You have a problem with that?" Nicole asked rhetorically, without answering.

Last time she was forced to apologize to her in Jared's office. This time, she wanted to redeem herself.

Chloe suddenly changed her attitude and looked at Nicole kindly. "I have something that needs a favor from you."

Nicole just wanted to get back to the villa quickly.

“What is it?”

“Henry knows Grandpa likes to collect diamonds , so he specially asked someone to buy a Dresden Green Diamond from abroad and asked me to pass it to Grandpa. But if I take it back to Grandpa now, it will be late for the commercial shooting, and it will affect the launch of the new products of Johnston Group.”

“I know you are cautious, so I want to ask you to help me deliver it to Grandpa.” Chloe looked at Nicole and softened up.

Nicole sized her up and thought about Johnston Group’s new product launch. “Where’s the stuff?”

“It is in my bag. I have been carrying it around with me for fear of losing something so valuable.” Chloe took out a beautiful box from her handbag and carefully handed it to Nicole.

“Be careful. This is expensive and the only one. “Chloe looked as if she was afraid Nicole would lose it.

“You can deliver it yourself if you are worried.” Nicole handed the box back to her.

Chloe hurriedly pushed it back and smiled. “Don’t worry, don’t worry. I trust no one else but you. Bring it to Grandpa quickly.”

“Okay, I’m off.” Nicole took the box and walked out. Looking on as Nicole went, Chloe let out a triumphant smile. “I will make it impossible for you to explain yourself this time.” She then spun around and walked back into the building. Nicole took the box and went without delay. She hated Chloe, but she would do it for her grandfather’s sake. She waved down a cab and got in. “Crimson Street.” Soon, the cab stopped in front of her grandfather’s house.

She got out of the cab and walked into the house with the box. Before Nicole even came inside , she could already hear Raine and Snow’s voices. ‘What are they doing here?’ Nicole walked in with curiosity.

Raine was giving her grandfather a shoulder massage when she saw Nicole coming in.

“What brings you here?”

□ □ □