

My Wife is a Hacker by Summer

Chapter 926

□ □ □

Chapter 926

“Do you have your computer with you?” Nicole asked Carl.

“Yup.”

“This is the message Zane sent me the other day. Try going through the coordinates sent in this message to see if you can find out where Zane is.” Nicole looked at Carl. 2

“Okay, I will look into it right away.” Carl quickly searched with his computer.

There was no signal detected. Carl looked at Nicole and shook his head. Nicole took a long exhale, wondering what kind of opponent Zane had met and where he was now.

There were many questions on Nicole’s mind. She leaned back in her chair and closed her eyes as Carl continued to search for Zane’s coordinates. As long as Zane appeared once, he could pinpoint his approximate location.

Two of them stared at the computer, one meditating in the chair until dawn.

“I’m getting some breakfast . You wait here,” Carl said and went out.

Nicole got up and moved around, looking out the window at the city of tall buildings. She had only one goal in mind, which was to find Zane.

Soon, Carl returned with breakfast. They ate it and continued to search for Zane's coordinates. Suddenly, Nicole's computer received a new message. She hurriedly checked; it was from Zane.

[Don't come to me.]

"Carl, get a quick lock on where the message is sent from." Nicole gave a quick command.

With his left hand on the keyboard and right hand on the mouse, Carl quickly searched for the coordinates of Zane's message and soon found an approximate location.

"Roca Este."

Nicole took out her cell phone and dialed a number. "Rowan, I need weapons."

"The address has been sent to your phone. There's everything there." Rowan helped her arrange it without asking questions.

"Good."

"When do we leave?" Carl asked.

"In ten minutes." Nicole looked like a leader.

"Aye."

Carl drove Nicole to the address given by Rowan. As the massive shutter slowly rose, Carl drove the car inside.

“Hello, Rowan asks me over to pick something up.”

Nicole’s face was frosty and expressionless.

“Inside, please.” A man in a suit led them inside.

“Feel free to pick anything inside.” The man in the suit made a gesture of invitation.

Nicole and Carl walked in and grabbed some needed weapons, then left. As they were leaving, the man in the suit gave Nicole a pager with unlimited distance. “When in trouble, call us.”

Nicole gave him an affirmative look before leaving in the car into the distance.

“Navigate to Roca Este.” Nicole commanded.

“The destination has been set to Roca Este,” the intelligent assistant said.

Carl drove the 4×4 toward Roca Este. The road to Roca Este was surprisingly empty.

“Not a single car here. I’m afraid this place is being monitored.” Carl warned.

Nicole looked out of the car. “Even if there’s a volcano ahead, we’re going to drive through it. Keep your eyes open.”

In the video, the 4×4 was driving toward Roca Este.

□ □ □

