Chapter 1281

Everett was laying on the bed.

He was fast asleep with his eyes closed, his face pale. He looked aloof and noble. He looked peaceful and harmless.

His limbs were tied up with satin at the four corners of the bed.

When Ninian saw this, her heart ached, and she had the urge to cry.

She knew that Everett had requested to be tied up like this. He feared that he would lose control and hurt someone.

'He has always looked aloof. But now, he's trapped here like a prisoner, with his hands and feet tied up, robbed of all his freedom.

'God knows how long this will continue.'

The more she thought of it, the more her heart ached for Everett, and the more she hated Rowan.

"No, you don't have to..."

The two of them stood facing each other and were close to fighting.

The Craig family's subordinate could not stand watching them.

Both Duncan and Alden were the two most powerful men in the market and hacking network, but they were arguing like two kindergarteners.

Just as their voices rose, the door suddenly opened.

Ninian walked out and said, "Al, Everett is asking for you!"

Right as she spoke, she saw the two of them in the middle of a heated argument. She was stunned.

"What... are you two doing?"

Alden immediately stood up straight.

Alden's gaze was sharp and dangerous, while Everett looked calm.

He then explained, "I'm sorry, Mr. Winters. I didn't mean to look into your family's secret. I found out about it by accident when I looked into Ninian's disappearance when she was a child.

"When I learned that Rowan had planted a biochip in me,

it reminded me of Mrs. Winters. We were both victims, us in the future. So, we must join hands to root out the group that has been working behind this project of theirs.”

After a long time, Alden’s vigilant and hostile gaze gradually faded.

He then said, “You mentioned you’ve been following this case. So, do you have any clues about them?”

“Yes:” Everett said without beating around the bush, “ When Rowan was plotting to manipulate my body, I Ninian turned and saw Everett's sly gaze. He then asked, How did I do?"

Ninian looked at him in resignation. "Duncan will hate you for it."

'He put up a weak front and sacrificed his brother to get Alden's approval.

'Why did I even believe that he's a righteous person?'

As they chatted a little more, his expression suddenly changed.

He smiled and said, "Honey, I'm tired. You can go home first. I'll rest."

"I knew you'd come, girl."

Rowan said as he laughed loudly, stretching the wound on his body. His expression was sinister and distorted with a hint of pain.

His hoarse and mocking voice sounded like a ghost as it echoed in the empty secret room.

Ninian looked at him coldly. After a while, she asked, "Are you done?"

"Of course, not! I want to have the last laugh, too!"

Rowan stared at her and smiled. "Are you here because you're feeling sorry for your lover? Listen, if I want him alive, I will keep him alive. If I want him dead, I'll make him kill himself! You better get on your knees and beg me. If you do, I'll let him marry you. Or else you can watch him die!"

When she heard this, she dug her fingernails into her palms under her sleeves.

She forced herself to stay calm, and kept reminding herself, 'Everett is currently locked up, and he can't hurt himself. I must not get triggered by Rowan.'

She took a deep breath. She looked at him with an icy gaze and suddenly sneered, "Are you being overly confident of the person working behind you? Didn't they tell you that there's a way to remove the biochip implant?"

"That's impossible! Ha, don't you dare trick me!"

Ninian's eyes welled up immediately. She never would have guessed that Everett would try to bite his own tongue!

Guilt slowly crept into her heart. She could not imagine what she would do if something bad happened to Everett as a result of her actions earlier.

Duncan rushed over quickly with a towel in hand and forced Everett's mouth open. There were already signs of bleeding within the mouth cavity.

"Bite the towel, Everett!" Duncan said sharply.

Everett continued to struggle and would not listen to any of the words.

"Everett! Everett!" Ninian said anxiously while patting his face in an attempt to bring him back to consciousness. "Please listen to us, Everett. Open your mouth and bite the towel. Don't worry, everything will be okay really soon!"

Her words had an immediate effect.

Despite being disoriented, Everett still obeyed and opened his mouth.

Duncan quickly shoved the towel into his mouth.

When Rowan passes out, Everett could finally relax a little.

"You can't let him pass out as well," Alden grumbled. " He has to stay awake and go meet Rowan in a normal state."

Only by convincing Rowan that the so-called chip is a hoax would they be able to completely destroy his psychological defences and reveal everything covered up behind the scenes.

Otherwise, Everett would still have to endure some suffering.

Both Duncan and Ninian fell silent after hearing that.

Everett had already endured a lot while being tied up. How could he stand and face Rowan as if nothing had happened?

It was an impossible idea.

"We'll talk about that later. Let's take it slow for now," Duncan lamented. "Everett has been through enough in these two days. I really can't bring myself to force him to do it."

Also, it was not something that could not be forced.

Seeing the look on her face, Duncan hurriedly asked, “Who is it? Who's still opposed to you and Everett getting together? Tell me, and I'll give them a piece of my mind.”

“You won't be able to settle him, Duncan,” Ninian lamented. “That person is my dad.”

“Your dad?”

‘The business legend of the last generation, Duke Winters?’

Duncan almost choked.

Oh boy. He really could not deal with that man.

Duncan immediately deflated.

It was better for him to just leave Everett to deal with his father and mother-in-law when he got better.

Alden's words immediately attracted the attention of everyone in the secret room.

Duncan was the first to stand up and asked, "What other way?"

Ninian showed her eagerness as well, and even Everett, who had always been stoic, looked over.

"George, my eldest brother, just called," Alden explained. "He said that my parents had been conducting a study for years.

"Now that the preliminary research has been successful, perhaps we can actually extract the implanted chip inside Everett's body."

As soon as his words were out, Duncan's face flushed with excitement.

"I didn't hear it wrongly, did I? What did you say? Can we remove the implanted chip in Everett's body?!"

"Alden? Is that true?" Ninian's eyes were filled with disbelief as well.

“Stop crying, Grapie. I’ll help you solve all of your problems. My little princess must be happy at all times!” While stroking Ninian’s soft long hair, he expressed his distress.

Ninian responded with a little whimper and nodded.

“All right, don’t cry. There are so many people watching.” Adina laughed gently. “You’ll end up with an ugly face if you don’t stop crying.”

Only then did Ninian come back to her senses. ‘Oh right! There are so many people watching.’

She emerged from Adina’s arms flushed, her face red, and she was slightly awkward to meet everyone.

Standing at the side was Everett, who had tidied himself up nicely. “Mr. And Mrs. Winters!” He walked over and politely said.

Duke turned to face the source of the sound, and his gentle gaze sharpened in an instant. While releasing a degree of pressure, he asked, “So you’re Everett?”
