

Madam Winters's Fight For Her Children Chapter 1046-1048

Chapter 1046

The sunlight from the setting sun shone in, and the room glowed with orange light.

Adeena stood by the window as she looked out the window and indifferently asked, "What would you like to say to me, Mr. Winters?" "I've seen the news online, but please believe me. It's definitely not what the Internet says."

Join Telegram Group For Fast Update And Novel Query

Duke's voice was husky, and he spoke seriously.

Adeena did not expect him to go straight to the point. She initially thought that he would be avoiding it.

She turned around with an indifferent smile and said, "I was curious, so I searched for Mdm. Winters' photos. Then, I realized that we look really alike. Mr. Winters, how do you explain that?"

Right after she spoke, Duke became silent.

He had encountered dozens of projects that cost tens of billions of dollars, yet he could handle them without any difficulty and a single frown.

But he did not know how to explain the current situation.

Could he say that she and Mdm. Winters were actually the same person?

If he told her that, would it trigger her old memories?

If she ended up in the same condition as she did four years ago, what should he do?

He would rather she remember nothing than suffer through the pain again.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Winters. I shouldn't ask such personal questions." Adeena's smile became brighter. "I just didn't expect to be favored by you only because my face resembles that of Mdm. Winters. I wonder if I'm lucky or unfortunate."

Duke looked at her affectionately.

His black eyes were full of emotions that she did not understand.

She turned around. "Mr. Winters, please leave. I'd like to rest now."

"Addy, no matter what you're thinking, I just want to tell you..." Duke took a breath before he softly said, "I love you. I love you more than you can imagine."

He dared not hear Adeena's reply.

He turned around and left the room hastily.

Daniel was still in the living room, staring at the door that was tightly shut.

Meanwhile, Ruth lowered her head and clenched her fists.

She had never felt ugly, but ever since Adeena showed up, she had seemingly become an ugly woman.

It happened in Cloud City and later in Sea City.

She had never been more aware than now that she was not as good as Adeena. Whether it was in terms of inner beauty or outer appearance, she was much worse than Adeena.

“Dan, you really love Adeena, don’t you?” Ruth spoke in a resigned tone.

“What nonsense are you talking about?” Daniel frowned.

“Don’t lie to me. Your gaze is too obvious!” Ruth chuckled in defeat. “Those presents were initially for Adeena, right? It just so happened that my family name is Willis and I’m from Cloud City too, so you mistook me for her, didn’t you?”

Daniel looked at her.

He saw disappointment, sadness, and reluctance in the girl’s eyes.

He pursed his lips and said, “I’m sorry. My attitude made you misunderstand. I can make it up to you—”

“I don’t want your compensation !” Ruth’s tears fell. “I just want you to tell me why Adeena’s better than me. Why do you like her?”

Daniel frowned again. “It’s not what you think. She and I aren’t in that kind of relationship. You...”

Halfway through his sentence, the room door was opened, and Duke came out.

Daniel immediately rushed toward Adeena’s room.

It had been four years since he last saw his sister.

He wanted to ask her if she had lived well over the past four years. Duke instantly grabbed his arm. “There’ll be plenty of chances to talk. Come back with me first.”

He dragged Daniel out by force, and the living room door was slammed shut. Brady had been totally dumbfounded from the beginning. “What’s happening?”

Ruth was stunned too.

Duke and Daniel did not look like love rivals to her...

Although both of them were there for Adeena, there was no competition between them.

Chapter 1047

Had she misunderstood? She turned around, looked at Brady, and softly asked, "Brady, do you know how Daniel and Mr. Winters are related?"

Brady had been involved with people from Winters Corporation recently, so he had naturally heard some things.

"Mdm. Winters was the daughter of the Jones family, and she's also Daniel's sister. Mr. Winters should be Daniel's brother-in-law."

Join Telegram Group For Fast Update And Novel Query
Boom!

Ruth's mind was instantly blown.

She suddenly went weak in the knees and fell on the couch.

"What's wrong?"

Brady immediately went over to help her up.

"I... I'm fine."

Ruth massaged her head.

All of a sudden, she understood what was happening and instantly pieced everything together.

Adeena was likely Mdm. Winters, hence the reason Duke would fall in love with her at first sight.

It would explain why Daniel rushed over too.

If Adeena was truly Mdm. Winters, the Winters and Jones families must have been sparing no expense to find her for four years.

If the two big families from Sea City learned about Adeena's life over the last four years, especially her experience in that year, the Willis family might really be doomed!

Ruth trembled.

Right then, Adeena stepped out with her suitcase. "Have you packed your things? Are you leaving?" she asked indifferently.

She could not wait to leave the place.

Ruth stopped shaking. She stood up and said, "I'm done packing. Let's go."

If she continued to stay there, those things that the Willis family did would be uncovered one day.

She did not know how to tell her parents about this.

Brady booked the flight tickets for them.

The two of them boarded the plane at night, but the stewardess brought them to the first-class cabin.

Ruth was slightly surprised. "Didn't Brady buy us economy-class seats?"

Since they bought the flight tickets at the last minute, they could not book the first-class seats. The stewardess smiled warmly and said, "Ten minutes before boarding, someone changed the seats for you in the system." Right after the stewardess spoke, Ruth received a text. [Have a safe flight.]

Ruth felt extremely conflicted. She held her phone tightly while she blankly looked down at her knees.

After a few seconds, she snapped out of it and softly said, "Daniel got us the first-class seats."

Adeena nodded indifferently. "Mr. Jones is actually pretty good."

When she previously heard his name from Ruth and what he did, she suspected this man of having bad intentions. However, when they met last night, Mr. Jones' gaze was bright, and his features were clear as well as elegant. He did not seem like a bad person.

"I'm sorry. I used to judge him with my narrow mind," Adeena said. "You should continue getting to know him. I think he's pretty nice."

Ruth was slightly taken aback.

She did not expect Adeena to admit her mistake so easily.

Ever since Adeena came to the Willis family, Ruth had been competing with her. Ruth would lose every time, but she would go against Adeena the next time in hopes that she would win.

She never surrendered to Adeena.

Adeena rarely put up with her bad temper either. This was Adeena's first time apologizing to her. What about her? Could she still apologize after making so many mistakes?

If it were not for the Willis family, Adeena would have gone back to Sea City and continued being Ms. Jones or Mdm. Winters.

She would also have a cute child.

Chapter 1048

At 9:00 pm, their flight landed at the airport in Cloud City.

The Willis family did not know that they would be back that night, so they did not arrange for anyone to pick them up.

Join Telegram Group For Fast Update And Novel Query

Ruth looked at Adeena with a complicated gaze. "Are you going to return to the Willis family or..."

"}

Adeena raised her arm and stopped a car. She helped Ruth put her suitcase in the trunk before she nonchalantly said, "I'll go back to my own place. Be safe."

Ruth bent down and got into the car.

For the first time, she noticed Adeena taking good care of her.

Their relationship had not been close over the four years, but when Ruth thought about it, Adeena had always accommodated her.

It was because the Willis family had abducted her using the excuse of life-saving grace.

In Adeena's heart, the Willis family had saved her life.

In reality, the Willis family members were killers.

Ruth suddenly trembled.

If Daniel discovered everything, her relationship with him would be doomed.

No... The truth was, Daniel and her never really started anything.

She raised her head and looked out the window. Adeena's figure slowly disappeared from the street.

Adeena then entered a cab and went back to her place.

She was really tired after the last few days, so she fell asleep as soon as she lay in bed.

When she woke up the next day, it was sunny. She looked at the clouds in the sky outside the windows. They were stacked together like grapes for some reason. Right then, she abruptly remembered what she had been missing

Out of nowhere, Adeena had the urge to see the little girl whose eyes were as watery as grapes.

She had free time, anyway, so she got changed and drove to the orphanage. She knew that the orphanage would not easily reveal the information about the child's foster parents. She had initially planned to put some effort into hearing from the director. But when she reached the orphanage, the director told her everything before she even asked.

"I remember you. Aren't you the kind person who sent Grapie back to the orphanage the other day?" The director sighed. "Something happened to Grapie a month after she was adopted." Adeena's heart suddenly seized. "What happened?"

"Her foster parents took her to the theme park, and a car accident happened on the way. Her foster parents were mildly injured, but Grapie..." The director's eyes turned red. "When the accident happened, the girl hugged her foster mother's head. Her foster mother turned out fine, but a car accessory pierced Grapie in the back. Her lung was punctured, and she experienced massive bleeding. She's still in the ICU..."

Adeena's heart instantly sank.

She felt her hand shaking. "Which—Which hospital?"

"A few days ago, Grapie's foster mother came to me and asked me to help her find Grapie's biological parents." When Adeena heard what the director said, she immediately asked, "Don't they want to adopt Grapie anymore?"

"That's not the case," the director said. "Grapie's severely injured, and she bled a lot. Her blood type is extremely rare. I forgot what blood type it is, but it's the type that only her biological parents would have. That's why I have to find her biological parents so that she can be saved."

Adeena pursed her lips.

Her blood type was extremely rare too. Perhaps...

She softly said, "Give me the hospital's address. I'll go and have a look."

The director nodded and gave her the information.

Following that, Adeena drove toward the best hospital in Cloud City.

After she parked her car, she rushed toward the ICU. She walked with haste, not caring about her image.

Just as she entered the corridor, she saw Adeline sitting on the chair outside. Her hands were on her knees, and she had a blank stare.

Adeline did not turn around either when she heard the sound of footsteps. Her expression was of someone at a loss.

Adeena only noticed that Adeline had dark circles and looked tired when she walked closer. Adeline must not have been sleeping well for a few days.

“Hi!”